TWO LANDOWNERS AGAINST WHITE HOUSE BOAD SCHEME.

Declare the Project Not Practicable for Part of the Distance-No Formal Action Yet.

Objection to the letting of a contract to widen the White House road from 60 to 80 feet was made at the meeting of the Board of County Commissioners yesterday, by W. L. Brewster, an attorney. Mr. Brewster said he represented Milton W. Smith and the California and Dupont Powder Companies. They would have to give up some land if the improvement was made, Mr. Brewster said, and they protested against it.

Mr. Brewster argued that the County commissioners have no authority to build the road 80 feet in width, or more than 60 feet. He further said the proceedings were irregular because it was announced that the road was to be widened from a point in the city limits to the White House, a distance of four miles, and it was utterly impossible by reason of hills and other obstructions to widen the southerly end of the road for a distance of about one and one-half miles. The attorney stated that he would probably file a remonstrance later on. Judge Cake answered that it was too late to file a remonstrance under the law, as the proposed widening of the road had en under consideration for many onths, and the time to remonstrate had been under long ago passed. The attorney said someabout an injunction, and then left, contract for the work is all ready to be let, and the Commissioners have held it back until they reach an agree-ment regarding the best way to have drain pipes put in.

Commissioner Mack says that under the circumstances, in order to protect the county, it will be specified in the contract that, if a suit is filed which stops the work, the county shall not be responsible for the entire amount of the ntract, but only for the value of the work performed, or loss sustained by the contractor when the work is stopped. Mr. Brewster states that he does not know yet if he will file a remonstrance or a sult, and that this depends on how far things have already progressed in connection with the improvement. He He said the county authorities have no inwiden the mile and a half of the road to 80 feet, but would leave it as it now is, and merely widen the road as far south as the cemetery gate, or some distance beyond it. He admitted, after having looked the question up, that the Commissioners have jurisdiction to make an 80-foot road.

RELICS AT THE COURTHOUSE. Curious Collection of Old Documents

Found in Woodshed.

A number of interesting relics were found in the old woodshed at the Court-house yesterday by H. P. Emory, the Courthouse carpenter. The shed is used to store election booths, and for other pur-poses, and Mr. Emory has been moving everything out of it, preparatory to put-ting in a new floor. In a box which has been hidden away for 40 years he discov ered many old papers and documents of an interesting character.

Few Bankruptcy Cases A petition in bankruptcy was filed in the United States Court yesterday, the first for several weeks; in fact, the num-bet of such petitions filed has been very small for several months, from which it small for several months, from which it is natural to suppose that times are im-proving and the number of persons be-coming involved in financial difficulties has been rapidly decreasing. When the bankruptcy law came into effect, in August, 1898, a large number of persons has tened to take advantage of it to free themselves from financial troubles in which they had become involved, during preceding years, and as soon as these cases were disposed of, the number began to fall off and has been gradually lessen

TWO MOTHERS' MEETINGS.

Two well-attended mothers' meetings were held yesterday afternoon-one in the Brooklyn and the other in the Williams-Avenue school. At the Brooklyn building, Miss A. L. Dimick welcomed the audience, and introduced the opening speaker, who was Frank B. Gibson, president of the Lewis and Clark Civic Improvement League. Mr. Gibson talked about the work of the league, and said that it was the intention of the league to secure the co-operation of the pub-lic schools of Portland in the effort to make a cleaner Portland. This would be done, he said, if the children could be interested, and if all the parents would co-operate in cleaning up rubbish of the neighborhood. Mr. Gibson called attention to the accumulation of refuse, tin cans and scrap that could easily be disposed of. He said that it was a good thing for the children to engage in this work, as it intended to make

A design was adopted for marking the graves of all the Indian War Veterans of this state at a special meeting of Camp McMillen, No. 1, Indian War Vet-erans, held yesterday at the home of Mrs. Laura V. Mutch, 14 Union avenue. It was considered that if the date 1847-1856 inclusive was used on the marker would be sufficiently comprehen 31 sive, and it was adopted. Captain J. H. McMillen and Hosea Wood, committee on designs, were present.

The design is a maltese cross, 5% inches square, with 1847 at the top and 1866 at the bottom, and "I. W. V.," all in gfit letters. The marker will be of cast iron. It will be supported on an iron staff, 2 feet high, similar to that used by the G. A. R. Further testimony was heard by Judge Sears yesterday in the divorce suit of Ma. bel Carr against Robert Carr, and indica-tions are that the trial will last for two days more.

Carr was on the witness-stand all day, and his cross-examination by his wife's lawyers is not yet over with. Mrs. Carr occupied the witness chair for nearly two days. Carr testified, among other things. that he and his wife lived for a while or Whitaker's farm, in Polk County, adjoin ing his own place and that he worked for Whitaker. Carr stated that Whitaker appeared to be very fond of Mrs. Carr. and was a frequent visitor at the house where they lived. He said Whitaker would send him off a distance of about two miles to work, and when he came home to lunch he would see Whitaker leaving the house. Whitaker, he stated, also gave Mrs. Carr presents, and worked various movement was started.

WHEELMEN MUST KEEP OFF.

Roadway on Bridges, Not Sidewalks Is for Them.

Persons will no longer be allowed to ride blcycles on the sidewalks of the various bridges crossing the Willamette River, but instead must use the wagon roadways. An order was made by the County Court yesterday that any one riding a bicycle on the sidewalk of a bridge shall be subject to arcest and a fine of $5. Bridge tenders will be notified to enforce the order and authorized to make ar-rests and file complaints in the Justice Courts against persons violating the order of the court. The explanation of this order is that the sidewalks on the bridges are so narrow that wheelmen seriously discommode foot passengers; and also that permission was never granted to bicyclists to ride on these sidewalks. The wagon roadway be-
