THE OREGONIAN'S HANDBOOK.

The Oregonian's Handbook tells all about Portland, the entire Columbia River watershed and the 1902 World Fair, commemorative of the Lewis and Clark expedition to Oregon. The book contains over 150 handsome illustrations, and it is printed on enameled book paper. It will be mailed to any United States or Canada for 7 cents a copy.

HENRY'S WHERE THERE'S SPRING.—A man who arrived over the Teton Pacific yesterday morning direct from Southern Pennsylvania said he thought he had arrived in Paradise when he reached Portland and saw the green fields, the orchards and gardens white with the blossoms of fruit trees and magnolia trees, and many different kinds of shrubs and plants in the grounds of residences here in full bloom. From the time he started until he reached The Dalles he had seen nothing that looked as if Spring had arrived, and as he came along down the Columbia signs of Spring became more evident, and when he reached Portland he was happy. A passenger who came in on the same train from Arlington said he was glad to get where he could breathe without inhaling dust. The country around Arlington is as dry as a bone, dust two inches deep everywhere, and rising before every passing team in a cloud which would double discount the price of the produce of the people of Israel when on their way to the promised land. There is dust enough kicking around in Eastern Oregon, he said, to form people enough to populate Jupiter. The inference is that occasional showers are not a bad thing for any region.

WORK ON FOURTH STREET BRIDGE TODAY.—Sound the hearse, bang the buzz-saw, and let everybody make a joyful clamor—the work of carrying up the old pavement on Fourth street preparatory to laying a new one is to be commenced this morning. This announcement was made by the Carboliteum Wood-Preserving Company yesterday, and unless it should rain cats-and-dogs or pitchforks times first there will be no postponement. Operations will begin at the intersection of Third and Fourth, and the block between Marion and Washington will be cleared and repaired first. There will probably be some repairs needed by the concrete foundation, and Daniel Frawley of the Portland Railway Company, will remove the bit of cable road in the intersection of Fourth and Alder, but it is hoped to have the two blocks between Marion and Washington Monday, when it is expected that the public will be astonished by the manner in which treated wood blocks will be juggled with, and the rapid transformation in the character of the street which will take place. People will be going miles out of their way Monday to see whether work has been started on that long-talked-of pavement.

WORK ON THE UPPER RIVER.—Captain Langitt, United States Engineer, reported yesterday from a visit to Independence and Corvallis, where he went to look over the situation in regard to the needs of the river in the vicinity of those towns in the way of improvement under the proposed river and harbor bill. Some time ago there was a great improvement constructed along the bank of the river opposite Corvallis to prevent the current from cutting away the bank and changing the channel of the river, and to leave Corvallis away from navigable water. This revetment or protection, it was found, will need more repairs to maintain its efficiency; but it is not likely that any other work of this nature will be required there. The river bank at Independence is caving in, and there is some danger that the river may leave the present channel. If any work of this nature is to be in the nature of bank protection.

CAPTAIN HOPKINS' TROUT CATCH.—Captain L. P. Hopkin came down from the Cascades yesterday with two dozen handsome trout in his creel which he caught in Geer's Lake in the short space of five hours. There are a number of lakes on the first bench of the mountains on the north side of the Columbia in the Cascades, in all of which there is good fishing at the proper season. It is too early for fly-fishing there yet. Captain Hopkin is an old and experienced fisherman, and says that one day two years ago he caught in one of these lakes in a few hours 51 trout, the weight of which aggregated 80 pounds. Many of them weighed two pounds or more. Some were magnificent, and guided unbelievers who are addicted to telling fish lies may pretend to discredit this statement, but Captain Hopkin has the proofs.

TO PRESERVE FINE APPLES.—The magnificent apples displayed in the window at the permanent exhibit for several days past, and which have attracted attention even here, where the fine apples are so rarely, were sent in by B. R. Tucker, of Hood River. They are of the Yellow Newtown and Black Arkansas varieties, and are very handsome and in the preservation for this time of the year. The apples are of such a deep, dark red that they actually appear black on one side. There were 45 of the apples in a box, and they filled it completely, unspiced. The same person will have them preserved in glass jars today. It is really too bad that they had not been sent in in time to be forwarded to the Charleston Exposition.

COLORADO WOMAN FRODOUR.—Both bearing evidence of having recently been engaged in a fight, two women, named Blaque Baby, colored, and Ada Smith, were before Municipal Judge Cameron yesterday. Ada Smith accused the other woman with having struck her, and insisted that the affair started over "nothing." "She struck me first," asserted Blaque Baby, pointing to the other woman. "From what the court knows of her record, it may be taken for granted that Blaque Baby would not turn the other cheek," commented the judge. "It has been remarked that she is the worst woman fighter in Whitechapel. Both women are fined $5 each."

PORTLAND MAN DIES IN TACOMA.—George E. Deane, a former resident of Portland, died at 2:45 P. M. Wednesday at his home in Tacoma. Deceased was 62 years of age, and death resulted from Bright's disease. The remains will arrive in this city at 4 A. M. this morning over the Northern Pacific Railroad, and will be taken to Finley & Son's undertaking establishment, where they can be viewed by friends during the forenoon. Interment will be made in Riverview cemetery.

SLOW ABOUT PAYING LICENSES.—Business men and others who are required to pay city license have been delinquent in this matter, owing to the leniency shown by the city. Although the 10th of the month was the last day of grace for paying licenses, about $2000 worth of licenses are still delinquent. The license officer is preparing to have all delinquents arrested in order to secure their licenses, and give a warning to the delinquent.

BANQUETS AND GRATE TORMENT DOOR.—A letter from Commissioner H. E. Doech, at the Charleston Exposition, under date of April 12, was received by George Lamberson yesterday. He writes: "The jury is with us now, and I feel confident, notwithstanding that we have so little fresh fruit, that we will capture many a medal. They are through with our forestry, grains and grasses, and tomorrow will judge fruits, and Monday minerals." Mr. Doech says the weather has been hot and close for several days, and he is awfully tormented by gnats and mosquitoes. He appears to be suffering also from an over-dose of banquets, having attended five in seven days and two in one day. Every state represented at the exposition has its day, with appropriate exercises and a banquet. Of course, Oregon will have the exercises, as they cost nothing, but "we are too poor to give even a sandwich lunch to our visitors. While we feel big on account of our exhibits, we feel mighty small when it comes to entertaining our visitors." People who find fault with the Winter weather in Oregon may credit this state with two points against South Carolina—it is not infested with gnats or mosquitoes, nor banquets.

BARREN SERVICE TO VANCOUVER.—The Portland Railway Company has inaugurated the first of the improvements which will be made in its service by giving better service on the Vancouver line. Cars will run on the city end of the line 12 minutes apart, instead of 15 as formerly, during the busiest part of the day, and Vancouver cars will run 45 minutes apart instead of 45, with one more car a day than formerly. The through cars will make no stops between East Davis street and Highland, and will thus be enabled to make much better time. An extra trip will be made by the ferry Sunday, leaving Vancouver at 7:45 instead of 8:45, which was formerly the leaving time. The new service, it is believed, will take care of all the travel during the summer, except on special occasions, when excursion cars will be run, as has always been the custom. The service has been in operation for three days, and has been eminently satisfactory both to those residing on the line and to through passengers.

WESTERN CAPITALISTS HERE.—Several capitalists and business men from the West, old schoolmates and friends of Auditor T. C. Devlin, are visiting the city. Among them is Anthony Ganglous, of Edina, Minn., who has made large investments in Oregon, and who starts back home this morning to bring out his family. He has purchased property in Tillamook, and contemplates residing there and engaging in the business of handling dairy products. Among the party is Tyrone Cook, of Edina, Minn., a capitalist, who owns a large farm in the vicinity of Edina, and with his family spends his winter in Southern California. He is here looking over the country, with a view to investments. Another of the party is William Cole, a wholesale cracker and candy manufacturer of St. Paul, who is accompanied by his wife. A brother of James Soule, of Wells, Fargo & Co., of this city, who hails from Illinois, is also with the party.

THIRD AND YAMHILL CROSSING.—Rapid progress has been made on the work of putting in the complicated and massive crossing curve and switches of seven-inch grooved rail at the intersection of Third and Yamhill streets. Cars were running across the work up Third street and down Yamhill street yesterday, and today they will be switching on Yamhill, between Third and Fourth, and the job will be practically completed for the present. When the ship arrives with the girder rail for a track on Third from Salmon to Gilliam, the cars will be temporarily transferred from Third to Second while the new track is put in and connected with the new crossings, the whole laid on concrete and paved with stone blocks, and then Portland will have a piece of as permanent and well-constructed railway as can be found in the United States.

DRUNKEN MAN ON THE WAR PATH.—A "terrible" Swede, who after a refusal to give his name, drank more liquor than was good for him last night in saloons around Second and Burnside streets, and then started north along Second street, to clean out disorderly houses and their inmates infesting that section near Everitt street. "Look out for me; I'm worse'n a Carr Nation!" he yelled, and a policeman told him to go away. "I'm yourself!" roared the Swede, and he struck the policeman in the face and ran. He was pursued by three policemen and caught after a violent struggle. When locked up at the police station he fought so violently that he was bleeding profusely. He threatened to "go for" the entire police force.

SNAP FOR THE RETAIL GROCER.—A carload of fresh vegetables was received from California by the Richet Company, corner Front and Washington streets, and will be sold today at the following prices: Calflopper, $1.25 per crate; cabbage, $1 per crate; celery, $3.25 per crate; green peas, 50c per box; asparagus, 6c per pound; carrots, beets, turnips, etc., 75c per sack. Snap like these do not occur often, so why not take advantage of them when they do? First come first served. No favors.

TO DISCUSS ST. LOUIS EXHIBIT.—The Board of Directors of the Lewis and Clark Centennial and the Board of Trustees of the Chamber of Commerce will meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock at 242 Washington street to confer with Messrs. Reeves and Taylor, representatives of the St. Louis Exposition. The subject of discussion will be an Oregon exhibit at the exposition.

LADIES OF PORTLAND ARE ENTHUSIASTIC in their praise of the elegant Turkish and Russian baths, 300 Oregonian building, North 12th.

MONEY FOR SOLDIERS' MONUMENT.—A meeting of the Riverview Monument Association committee was held in the office of Adjutant-General Gantenben, Oregon National Guard, in the Chamber of Commerce building, last night, and was attended by General Summers, General Gantenben, Captain T. N. Dunbar, George Wieg, E. W. Wells and Mr. Nicholson. General Gantenben reported that 726 volunteers had received their extra allowance and had subscribed $991 to the fund. Three hundred yet remain to be paid, and he thought that the receipts from them would amount to $300 at least. The designs and specifications for a monument were received, and after consideration given to the committee consisting of Messrs. Gantenben, Dunbar and Nicholson, with instructions to make a report April 25.

SALMON CATCH LIGHT.—Advises from canneries on the Lower Columbia are to the effect that there is no prospect of many salmon being received for a while. About every canner received several tons the first day of the season, and nearly as many on the second day, but there is no prospect of salmon by the ton being received for a while. It is probable that the fish received on the first two days of the season were the results of fishing for several days before. A few Columbia River shad came up yesterday morning. In a week or two they will probably be plentiful and will drive the late Sacramento River shad out of the market. The shad is a delicate fish, and, fresh caught, is much better than when out of the water several days and shipped long distances by rail.

RISE FOR LIFE.—Ouida's thrilling story, "Under Two Flags," which is such a success at Cordray's, is drawing to a close. The Arab band buried in flying sand, the thrilling ride for life up the rocky gorge, the brightly uniformed soldiers, the love story told in the palace on the lake, appeal to all hearts. The story is such a success that the rush for Saturday matinee. Twenty-five cents to all parts of the house, children 10 cents.

TROUBLES AT BANQUET.—The Typographical Union were the guests of the Blake-McFall Company at the Commercial Club, Chamber of Commerce building, last night, when a sumptuous dinner was enjoyed and a pleasant evening spent. The musical programme was so fine one, and a number of interesting papers were read on subjects relating to the craft.

GALLERY INTERRUPTED.

Couldn't see merit in "When Reuben Comes to Town."

"When Reuben Comes to Town" was the title of the vulgar musical comedy which played at the Marquam last night. The advance man promised that the show would surprise a big audience, and it did, for the crowded house that witnessed the affair had not before believed a show of the kind could last a week on the coast. A few tolerably good-looking girls, a little bright music and one entertaining number were the only extenuating circumstances. The gallery took the center of the stage and the advance man promised that the show would surprise a big audience, and it did, for the crowded house that witnessed the affair had not before believed a show of the kind could last a week on the coast. A few tolerably good-looking girls, a little bright music and one entertaining number were the only extenuating circumstances.

The "Ostler Joe" Company. The leading players, members of the company which will present "Ostler Joe" at Cordray's next week, are well known in the theatrical world. Mr. Frederick Montague, who plays the leading part, was formerly with the Potter-Bellevue Company; Walter Corbet, late of the Modjeska Company; Miss Louise York comes from the La Fayette Theater, Washington, D. C.; Hattie Laurent, from the Dearborn Theater, Chicago, and Gertrude Shields, of Julius Cahn's Eastern companies. The engagement will continue for one week, commencing Sunday, April 20, with Saturday matinee.

COLONEL FRENCH ARRIVES

Salvation Army Commander Here for the Self-Denial Movement.

Colonel F. G. W. French, commanding the Pacific jurisdiction of the Salvation Army, has arrived in Portland and will, excepting a trip to Oregon City, remain in the city until Monday. Meetings in the interest of the self-denial movement will be held here under his direction, and when they are over he will visit other Williams Valley cities and then Hawaii, where the Army has a great deal of work under way. Colonel French has been a member of the Salvation Army for 21 years. He has been an important mission in England and Holland, and on the Pacific Coast he has charge of a jurisdiction embracing Oregon, Washington, Idaho, California, Utah and Arizona, and also Hawaii. He has his headquarters in San Francisco. Two weeks ago he left the Bay City to visit all parts of the district, and in every place he stopped he found the people very willing to contribute to the movement. He thinks the fund, which will be used for missionary purposes, will exceed that of last year, which amounted to $287, and which won for the jurisdiction the banner of the Army. So far he has conducted meetings in Salt Lake City, Boise, Seattle and Tacoma, and everywhere he has been welcomed by large crowds. Seattle, which has four branches, subscribed $700, and Colonel French thinks the five branches of Portland will exceed this amount, at the meetings to be held Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

When he completes the tour of the Coast, Colonel French will go to Hawaii, where the Army has strong posts established on four islands. A strong working force is maintained in Honolulu, and a large number of soldiers, sailors and stevedores have been converted. Regular services are held at the penitentiary and on the plantations, which are worked by Japanese and Porto Ricans. A Home for fallen women has been opened at Honolulu, and Colonel French says that when he visits the islands, he will find the moral state of the natives, and others with whom the missionaries brought into contact, greatly improved.
