men riding bicycles, and several others joined in pursuit. Cooper ran up Second street to Madison, thence to Third street, and through the Plaza Hotel, and entered the rear door of a saloon at the corner of Fourth and Salmon streets, and Mr. Matthews, who was notified by the Goldman boy of what had taken place, followed the man and placed him under arrest. Cooper was hiding in a small room in the rear of the saloon, but was easily located. He was taken to the Sheriff's office, where he protested his innocence. Deputy Matthews started out to make an investigation, and came back with a purse belonging to Morest, which was found in the alley by Rev. Frank H. Burkholder, Rev. J. M. Paument, Rev. O. H. Roach, Rev. C. H. Little, D. D., and Rev. J. B. Little, D. D.

Immediately after his arrest Cooper telephoned to Attorney Edwin Mays, with whom he is acquainted, to come and see him, and Mr. Mays responded to the call. They talked the matter over for a long time, Cooper steadily maintaining all along that it was a mistake; that he did not rob Morest, but that the latter had dropped the purse himself. Cooper said he was not aware that any one was pursuing him, and that he merely entered the saloon to get a glass of beer. Cooper has relatives here and is well known. He telephoned to friends to come and furnish bonds for him, and said they would be sure to do so.

QUEER WAYS OF A "U" CAR

Comes Down Eleventh Street; Why Shouldn't It Go Back?
An amusing incident happened yesterday afternoon on a Lower Albion car, in which the passengers indulged in a hearty laugh at the expense of an indignant conductor.

A week-looking man boarded the car just east of the steel bridge, and when he paid his fare for a transfer to the U car. Soon a U car was met, which the conductor halted, and he instructed the week-looking man that here was the place to transfer.

"But I am going the other way," he said.
The conductor gave the bell rope an angry pull and stalked up in front of the man, indignantly demanding: "Where you going? Up Eleventh street?"

"Yes," said he.
"Then, why can't you say so, and not keep the cars both waiting like that?" The passenger seemed greatly moved to think that he had so seriously delayed City & Suburban traffic, and burned under the good will of a car full of people. Yet he could not quite understand why the blame fell so heavily upon him.

"Doesn't the U car go up Eleventh street?" said he.
"Yet, but there is a big difference between a U-car transfer and an Eleventh-street transfer, retorted the conductor, with a laugh which which brought the unhappy individual to a full realization of the smallness of his position.

NEW CHURCH ORGANIZED.

Presbyterian Denomination Establishes Itself at Ellsworth.
A Presbyterian church has been organized in Ellsworth, Wash., and a two-year lease obtained on the Ellsworth Hall, which will be used exclusively for church purposes. The project has been ratified by the Presbytery of Olympia. Following is the committee that participated in the organization: Rev. J. W. Willett, Rev. A. H. Burkholder, Rev. J. M. Paument, Rev. O. H. Roach, Rev. C. H. Little, D. D., and Rev. J. B. Little, D. D.

Meaning Made Clear.
In yesterday's issue of the paper you kindly printed some comments on the recent Chicago city election. The last sentence of the letter, as published, was as follows: "The foregoing is largely indicative of what will be in this city on the adoption of the new charter." This does not express what I intended to say. I intended to say that "the foregoing is largely indicative of what will be in this city on the adoption of the charter by a very large majority."
