> The Court Accepts His Statement, Gives Him Nine Months in Jail, and Frees C. C. Wood.

There was an unexpected ending yesterday in the Municipal Court in the cases Contractors are Setting Up a Camp

—May Borrow City Boller.

Smyth & Howard, who have the contract for widening the White House road from 60 to 80 feet, are getting a camp ready near the cemetery gate, and will commence work in a few days. County Commissioner Showers states that when the time comes to roll the roadbed hard he will try and borrow the new 12-ton steam roller recently obtained by the city. The county has an eight-ton roller, but one of 12 tons is better, and it is cried and sobbed on the witness-stand, The charge of larceny was withdrawn against C. C. Wood, as Elmer Wood took all the blame. C. C. Wood said that he is a Socialist and believes in the doctrine of equality.

The brothers were defended by Danlei R. Murphy and John F. Watts, the prosecution being conducted by Deputy District Attorney Spencer. The latter made a motion that the charge of larceny against C. C. Wood be dismissed, in view of the statements made by Elmer Wood, and to this Municipal Judge Cameron agreed, A. Hansen, a member of the firm of Hansen Bros., testified that parts of the mechanism of a steam wood saw and other bits of machinery had been stolen from his of machinery had been stolen from his firm's yard, and had been recovered by Detectives Kerrigan and Snow. The value of the articles was probably $50. With his chaggy hair and beard and ragged clothing, Elmer Wood mounted the witness-stand and said defiantly: "Yes, I took the stuff. I placed the machinery in horse and carried it to the chinery in bags and carried it to the scow. I never used a boat. I want to say right here that my brother, C. C.

"Yes, that's it," answered the witness.

"What drove you to steal?"
"Months ago I became crippled with rheumatism, and I thought my brother and I could get a good living if I went around with a steam wood saw, I had an old boiler anyway, and I looked around the steam of the steam for some connecting machinery. I wanted it cheap, as I hadn't much money." "So you stole the machinery? You could not get it much cheaper," remarked the Judge.

To the surprise of most of the spectators in the courtroom, Elmer Wood bowed his face in his horny hands and sobbed out: "Yes, I stole. I am very sorry. Oh, dear." He was excused from sorry. Oh, dear." He was excused from testifying further. The other brother, C. C. Wood, proved

He was carefully deposited on the sidewalk, and the mother again plunged through the smoke and succeeded in carry-ing out his three little brother kittens. By this time the old cat was about ex-hausted with her tramp over the partially burned timbers, and she snee with the smoke she had inhaled. Evidently conscious that she had lost her home, and that the people she had lived with were gone, the cat mewed dispully, after all her heroism. "That cat deserves a good home," served a jolly-faced man in the crowd, "I'll take her in until her ship comes." So he seized the kittens, and the mother contentedly trotted after him to her new

PHILIPPINE SOCIETY MAY COME TO PORTLAND.

"Have you ever been arrested?" asked Effort Will Be Made to Induce It to Hold Its 1903 Convention in This City.

The fourth annual convention of the National Society of the Army of the Philippines will be held in Council Bluffs, Ia., on August 13, 14 and 15, and the Ore-gon delegates who will attend it will make a determined effort to secure the gathering of 1903 for Portland. General Owen Summers, who is fifth vice-president of the organization, said yesterday that at the convention of 1991 Portland lacked only two votes of being selected as the place of meeting this year, but Council Huffs put in a strong bid and carried off the prize. Many of the volunteers who belong to Oregon, Washington, Idaho. Montana, California, Wyoming and Ne-braska are in favor of holding the con-vention in the Northwest in 1903, and Genchinery, carridges, dynamite, etc., are in charge of the police.

"Those who served throughout their terms of enlistment to the end of the Spanish-American War, and especially those who served voluntarily beyond that time, on account of the emergency situa-tion due to the Filipino insurrection, undoubtedly deserved travel pay as much or more than those who were discharged before the expiration of their enlistment in the early part of the campaign and received this travel pay.

"The members of this society were actuated by patriotic motives in enlisting for the war against Spain, and continu-ing to serve in the unexpected war against the Filipino insurgents after the treaty of peace with Spain, and the expiration of their enlistments, and are therefore loath to take any action that would appear in the light of a demand upon the ton, president, asking him to call a spe-Government for extra compensation for clai meeting for next Monday evening, such service.
