UPCHURCH WINS, 6 TO 1. Defents Hillsboro Diamond Ws in Opening of Amnteur League.

In the opening game of the Oregon State Lengue, played at the professional bail grounds yesterday, the Upchurch team, of this city, defeated the Diamond W. aggregation, of Hillsboro, by a score of 6 to 1. The day was perfect, and the 600 spectators enjoyed one of the best amateur games played here in many a day. Ex-Mayor W. A. Storey launched the destinies of the league by tozzing the first ball, and, had the throw been counted, it would have been a sure strike, Mr. Storey is somewhat of a baseball fiend himself, having played on the Se-attle Reds some 25 years ago.

Yesterday's match was a fine exhibition of the great National sport, but the home team showed general superiority of play, although the visitors rallied at times and made things lively. Johnny Harkins, a Portiand lad, occupied the box for Hills-boro, and his work was good, although he was touched up for a number of safe ing of Belt, who struck out 12 men in

GAME CALLED A DRAW. Monograms and Oregon City Play an

Errorless Game. OREGON CITY, May 4.- The first game of the Oregon State Amateur League was played at the Willamette Park grounds this afternoon, between the Mo this afternoon, between the Monograms, of Portland, and the Oregon City team. The game was even throughout. Oregon City having a shade the best of it. During the game Umpire Hedges was substituted for Conway, who did not give any more satisfaction to the home team than did Hedges to the visitors. At the beginning of the first half of the ninth, the score stood 2 to 2, and in the ninth inning, with the Monograms at the bat, one run was made after the side had been called out. Owing to a misunder-standing over the decision of the umpire, some of the players had left the field, and the game was terminated. The man-agers of the two teams agreed to call the game a draw, with a score of 2 to 3. The feature of the game was the pitch-

Haynes, the weighty third baseman of the Port-land aggregation, made any number of safe lits, and in the third inning lined out a three-bagger. Shortly afterwards Rich Parrott made a two-base hit, bring-ing Haynes from third and Davey from

TRACK TRIALS DELAYED

TRAINERS HOLD THEIR PAST HORSES FOR WARM DAYS.

Good Time Is Made by Eastern Oregon Animals to Be Entered in Portland Races.

Wet weather during the past week prower weather during the past week pro-hibited any fast trial driving on the Irv-ington track. A great deal of work was done by the trainers in expectation of warm days, but as the weather did not moderate the promised track trials were not forthcoming. All the racers are in fine condition, and a few days of sunshine will give an idea of the speed they can make. In the Eastern part of the state horses have been making good time. Starkey, a favorite at Salem, is being worked by James Erwin at Pendleton, On early trial to have made 2.25 and this On early trial he has made 2:35, and this mark may afford an idea of what he will do in the Summer and Fall. Erwin also has Ollie M., Oregon Sunshine and a 2-year-old by Chehalis. Hassnio, Frazier at the reins, is clearing 2:25, and Nat White has five Happaner horses owned by White has five Heppner horses, owned by Swaggart, in training, Swearingen Bros-have a S-year-old son of Chehalis, which is expected to make a mark. Tom Thompson is jogging W. J. Furnish's Beauty, by Chehalls, and is making a good showing. Nearly all these Eastern Oregon horses will be entered for the Portland meet.

One of the prize horses which G. E. Perringer, of Umatilia County, owns is Mount Hood, which has been entered on the Eastern circuit. Mount Hood, Heller working at Pendleton, has stepped eights in 0:15, and a future is predicted for him. The entries made for him are as follows: Denver, Colo., June 21, purse $1000; Columbus, O., July 28, purse $2000; Buffalo, N. Y., August 25, purse $2000; Providence, R. I., August 25, purse $2000; Hartford, Conn., Beptember 1, purse $2000; Enterprise City, Y., September 10, purse $5000; Baitiore, Md., September 15, purse $5000.

News has reached Portland that Che halls, formerly owned by Frank Franker, will be raced this year. Chehalls, 2:04%, broke down after the Pendleton horseman disposed of him, but there has al-ways been a belief that he would recuper-ate. Few horsemen think that he will ever meet the record to which he was driven by Frazier, but there is an impre-sion that he will make trouble for other horses and money for his owner. Chehalis is new about 12 years old, but he still has good mettle.

Some of Tom D. Condon's horses made od time on the heavy track at Irvington, during the week, but no effort was made to test their speed. It has been generally reported that Mr. Condon has had offers for Maymont and T. D. C., but he said yesterday that he would sell neither racer to anybody. Mr. Condon did not deny the report, but he did say that he had received inquiries for good trotters, and that trotters appeared to be Freddie C., purchased by the Hamlins of New York, from the Clancy brothers of Seattle, is being entered on the grand circuit under his new name, Prince Di-rect. Freddie has a record of 2:14%, and to maintain his standing he will have to lower the colors of a lot of good, stiff pacers.

John Green, the well-known driver, left Saturday afternoon for Vancouver, B. C., where he will take charge of a stable of fine trotters and pacers that will represent British Columbia or a part of it on the North Pacific circuit.

E. M. O'Brien's runners, Meringo and Doreen, which arrived from California last week, were jogged around the Irv-ington track and made a good showing.

CORVALLIS, Or., May 4.—(To the Ed-ltor.)—It appears, from a recent news report from Eugene, that the athletic com-mittee of the faculty of the University of Oregon has refused the students of that institution the privilege of meeting the students of the Agricultural College in athletic meets, because a Corvallis newspaper accused a professor of that institu-tion of misconduct on the field of play The committee seems to have dethis action necessary, after Oregon Agri-cultural College students had refused to make a public apology for the news-paper's article. A man from "way down East," who Portland, where he built him a home and cleared off a patch for a garden, is anxious to find out how he can kill out the fern on his tract. He states that he had no trouble in grubbing out and get-ting rid of the young fir trees, the hazel, dogwood, aider and other trees and bushes which covered his tract, and that he plowed and raked and harrowed it, and carted off all the fern roots that came in sight, but that the fern is apringing up as thick as ever. He has made investiga-tions, and finds that every bit of fern root tions, and finds that every bit of fern root left in the ground is sending up from one to haif a dozen or more shoots, and he is beginning to feel discouraged and would like to find out some way of killing out the pestiferous weed.

The fertile soil and genial climate of Oregon gives plant life of all kinds greater vigor and vitality than the rude climate and infertile soil of way down hast and consequently weeds and noxious East, and consequently weeds and noxious plants are much more difficult to ex-terminate here. Quite a number of plants which are grown with difficulty in gar-dens down East have gone wild and strayed out into the fields in the Willamette Valley, and become pests to the farmers which it has been found very difficult to get rid of. The "bachelor button," or French pink, or corn flower, as the Germans call it, is one of these, and there are several others.

The fern in question can only be eradi-cated by patient endeavor and careful cultivation for several years. Its roots cultivation for several years. Its roots extend far and wide, but they lie so deep in the soil that they really do little if any harm to field or garden crops, except such as can be injured by being overshadowed by the broad spreading fronds. Fine crops of wheat and other grains, potatoes, etc., are raised where the fern grows rank among them. Some farmers go over their fields in the early Summer and cut down the ferns which is outtopping their wheat, as is done with the thistles down East. This prevents the fern from doing any injury to their crop. fern from doing any injury to their crop. There is one way of killing out fern which sometimes proves quite successful, which is to inclose a patch and put a lot of pigs in the inclosure, and leave them to grub fern roots for a living. The tender shoots of the fern roots are quite nutritious, being muchaginous and pleas-ant to the taste, and the pigs under the ant to the taste, and the pass that the stimulus of hunger will burrow tunnels and follow the roots as far as they can, but they do not get fat on them, as there is too much work in proportion to the amount of food secured. Careful cultivation and persistently destroying every fern that appears above the ground will exterminate them in a few years.

Otherwise the Eugene tryout presented no striking features, nor was the Forest Grove exhibition above medicerity. F. H. The latter insti-tution has lost a number of its old-time stars, and Pacific is likely to make a good showing, although the chances of winning appear to lie with Oregon, if the try-out records represent the compara-live strength of the two teams tive strength of the two teams.

The white-winged dove of peace is now novering about Pullman and Moscow, and it is probable that the Washington Agricultural College and the University of have been hanging fire for some weeks and agree to re-establish athletic rela-tions. The whole trouble arose over Pullman's charge of professionalism against H. C. Tilley, the speedy lidaho sprinter. Tilly lives in the Coeur d'Alene mining district, and the "Agrics" say that he has run for money on several occasions. A protest was filed with the Idaho facuity, whose verdict was that Tilly was an amateur, free from taint or suspicion. This aroused the ire of the Pullman students, and athletic relations with Idaho were immediately dissolved. This occurred some weeks ago. However, the missionaries of peace have been at work, and it is quite likely that the two col-leges will hold a dual field meet at Pullman May E. It is the general opinion among athletic cranks that football and other contests will be resumed, and that in future the feeling between the people of Pullman and Moscow will be of a friendly nature.
