THE OREGONIAN'S HANDBOOK.

The Oregonian's Handbook tells all about Portland, the entire Columbia River watershed and the 1905 World's Fair, commemorative of the Lewis and Clark expedition to Oregon. The book contains over 150 handsome illustrations, and it is printed on enameled book paper. It will be mailed to any address in the United States or Canada for 7 cents a copy.

SALMON PACK BEGINS TO MOVE .- The first carload of this Spring's pack of Co-lumbia River salmon was shipped yesterday by Pillar Rock Cannery, over the O. R. & N. Railroad. It is going to New Orleans, where Columbia River salmon is in favor, and being the new pack and of prime quality, will doubtless bring a good price. The run of salmon is "picking up," as 1800 pounds of fine fish were taken by the seine at Oliver's Sands, Wednesday, which is the largest catch made there on any day so far this season. Over a ton and a half of shad was caught by this seine the same day. These fish were shipped here, arriving yesterday morn-ing, with quite a lot more shad from oth-er places. Dealers send them to all parts of the state, as these fish are growing rapidly in favor. The catch of salmon on the Lower Columbia this season has been much larger than is generally supposed, some of the cannerymen, with a view to influencing the market, giving out misleading information in regard to the take. The fact is that many fisher-men at Astoria have been selling their big fish to the cold-storage men on the sly, receiving a cent per pound or so more for them than the canners are paying, and leaving the cannerymen, to whom they are indebted, to take the small fish and leaving those who do not devote their attention to the fishing business in ignorance of the amount or fish that has been taken. The big run of salmon confidently expected may be looked for any time now, and without doubt there will be a large pack this VACCINATED AGAINST HER WILL-Speaking of the number of persons afflicted with smallpox who come into Portland from all parts of this section to be taken care of at the expense of the city, a citizen who has just returned from a busi-ness trip to British Columbia remarks that they manage such matters better across the line. When the train on which he was traveling reached Northport, the last station on this side of the line, an inspector came on board to examine the passengers and ascertain whether they had been vaccinated or not, before the train could cross into British territory. The men generally bared their arms for his inspection, and if they had not been vaccinated he vaccinated them then and there. A woman passenger, presuming on her sex, refused to bare her arm, whereupon the inspector defily cut a silt in the sleeve of her dress and obtained a view of her arm. He found that she had not been vaccinated, and before one could say "Jack Robinson," he had scratched her skin with his lancet and dabbed on some vaccine matter, and gave the conductor the signal to a silver of the second of the Portland Cremation Association was held yesterday at the chambers of Judge Bellinger. Grium Salz Does Not Stick.—The sale of 1200 five-tael cases of opium, made by the United States Marshal on May 5, to Wong Hock, a very fly Chinaman, who stated that he was from New York, has turned out a flasco. The opium could not be delivered the day of the sale, but Wong Hock, who bid $4 70 per can for the stuff, or $5640 in all, was to pay the the stuff, or $5540 in all, was to pay the money at 1 P. M. the next day and receive the oplum. He failed to do so, and has ever since falled and neglected to do so, and has finally repudiated the transac-tion entirely. He says that a pool of four was formed to make the purchase, and that his associates refused to con-summate the bargain, on the ground that he had bid too much, and he further al-leges that the opium is not what it was represented to be, but is from a new factory. As Wong Hock made no deposit or gave any security to bind the bargain, the sale is off, and the Marshall will have to readvertise the opium and sell it again. He says that he will take care to see that he is not fooled again.

FATHER OF E. C. WOOLRIDGE SOUGHT FOR-Chief of Police Green, of Waukegan, Ill., has written to Chief McLauchlan asking information regarding the father of Edward Clarence Woolridge. The latter is under detention at Way egan, and the statement is made that a is suffering from mind trouble and has threatened to take his life. His father is supposed to be living on a ranch near this city. E. C. Woolridge is about 60 years old, is 5 feet 11 inches tall, slightly built, sandy hair, blue eyes, and says that he is a member of the Modern Woodmen, Eastern Star Camp, No. 728. The police wish to communicate with the man's relatives, if they can be found.

CHARGED WITH DUMPING GARBAGE .- P. Reimes, a brewery employe, was ar-rested yesterday by Special Officer Lillis, charged with dumping garbage, old hops, broken bottles, etc., in the Alder-strest gulch, near the High School. People in the neighborhood complained to City En-gineer Chase that so much garbage has been lately thrown into the guich that they were afraid of an epidemic starting in the location when warm weather arrives. Lillis, who is a sidewalk inspector, was detailed to watch for violations of the ordinance relating to the dumping of garbage, and Reimes' arrest followed.

BETTS RECOGNIZED AS OLD CONVICT .-Henry Betts, who was sent to the Oregon Penitentiary April 28, charged with burglary at the house of L. H. Adams, at Midway, where he was arrested by Jalier James F. Johnson, was recognized last night by Detective Joseph Day as Andrew A. Crawford, who was sentenced to seph years, imprisonment at the Oreston eight years' imprisonment at the Oregon Penitentiary for burglary, and who was only released there March 26.

GREAT REED-RAISER HERE.-Colonel E. H. Morrison, well known here in the time H. Morrison, well known here in the time of H. Villard et al., but who now culti-vates a large farm at Fairfield, Wash, where he cultivates wheat and sugar-beets, with garden needs as a side lasue, beets, with garden seeds as a side issue, is spending a few days in the city, renewing his acquaintance with old-time friends. One of his friends, who is a reliable man in some matters, was telling a party of his friends yesterday about Colonel Morrison's feets in raising flower and garden seeds. He said that last year Colonel Morrison had six acres in sweet peas, and shipped carloads of the peas. This year he had agreed to furnish $0.000 carloads of radish seed to an Eastern dealer. This statement was taken with a shovelful of sait, but as on this Coast radishes grow as big as parsnips under radishes grow as big as parentps under favorable circumstances, and send up flower stock as high and broad-spreadflower stock as high and broad-spreading as blackberry bushes and produce seed versels as long and large as cucumbers, there might be a possibility that the statement was true. On tracing the matter down, however, it was found that Colonel Morrison had a contract to supply a dealer with 40,000 pounds of radish seed, and expected to raise 80,000 pounds. The difference between a pound of seed and a carload is not so great as it might have been, but the discrepancy is oufficient to cut quite a figure in the total amount of seed.

ALLEN A. WRIGHT WANTS HIS DOG

ALLEN A. WRIGHT WANTS HIS DOG Back.—Allen A. Wright, of the Portland Hotel, mourns the loss of his only dog, a very valuable fox terrier. "A King's Rival," Presented at Cordray's by John Griffith Company.

An interested and attentive audience listened last night to the production of "A King's Rival," by the John Griffith Company. The plot is one that holds the interest of an audience to the last, and the different parts were well presented. Mr. Griffith as Don Caesar, and Miss Kathryn Purnell as Maritana are true artists, and their work called forth many demonstrations of appreciation from the audience. Mr. Arnim as Don Jose, and Miss De Beau as Lazarillo, were well received.

Maritana is a wandering dancing girl, whose beauty has aroused the passion of the King. Don Jose loves the Queen and attempts to cause dissension between her and the King. He arranges a marriage between Maritana and Don Caesar, who is condemned to die within an hour, thus leaving his title to his bride. He then arranges for the King to meet Maritana, and informs the Queen of the meeting. Meanwhile Don Caesar, who was saved from death by Lazarillo, appears and dis-covers the treachery and explains it to covers the treachery and explains it to the King. MUST CHANGE RAILS.

Those Prescribed by Council for Fourth Street Not to Be Had.

The City Council some time ago passed an ordinance providing for relaying the track of the Southern Pacific Company and stipulating the kind of rail to be used. The engineer of maintenance of the Southern Pacific Company lately informed R. Koehler, manager of the comformed R. Koehler, manager of the com-pany's lines in Oregon, that careful in-quiry had been made at all the steel mills in the country, and it was found that none of them roll a "full-groove" rail with the groove large enough to ac-commodate the flanges of cars and en-gines used on steam roads. This kind of rail is used exclusively for street-car traffic, the wheels of which have amalier flanges than those used on steam roads. frames that those used on steam roads, from which it appeared plain that the company could not comply with the requirements of the ordinance defining the rails to be used on Fourth street. A blueprint accompanied the communication, showing the kind of rall extensively used in San Francisco where steam railroad tracks are inle on paved streets, with entree satisfaction to all concerned. It is a 5-inch girder rall of 80 pounds per yard, and forming a groove with a light rall laid on brackets.

In view of these explanations, Mr. Kochler asked for a modification of the ordinance so as to permit the Southern Pa-cific Company to substitute for the rail therein described the rail shown in the blueprint, and submitted a draft of the proposed modifying ordinance, which proved satisfactory to the committee on streets and was to have been taken up at the Council meeting Wednesday. The committee, however, received a request that it be taid over, as Manager Koehler had seen a notice in some rallway jour-nal to the effect that a certain rolling mill was making full-groove rails suitable for steam roads, and he wanted time to investigate the matter and find out if it might not be possible to secure the kind of rails for Fourth street which the Council had stipulated for. Yesterday he received an answer to his dispatch informing him that the state-ment seen in the railway journal was incorrect and that such rails as the Council had stipulated for were not to be had in the country. The ordinance modifying the original ordinance, so as to allow of a rail with a groove formed by a light rail on brackets being used, will probably be passed at the next meeting of the Common Council.

ROYAL FLUSH MAN JAILED Game to Beat Cigar Machines Is Frustrated.

Light was expected to be shed on the plan to strike a "royal flush" on cigar slot machines, when the case of John Bishop was called in the Municipal Court yesterday. The charge against Bishop was "suspicion," but in the absence of witnesses the case was continued, no witwitnesses the case was continued, no wit-nesses being examined. From informa-tion supplied by the police, it appears that Bishop and another man whose name is not known walked into John Wey-hoffer's cigar store, 301 East Morrison street, Wednesday night, and conspired to play the slot machine. Connor's revolver.

Only a short time ago, three men beat cigar machines in several of the principal cigar stores in the city by using a wire to assist them in the operations, and walked off with several hundreds of cigars before the victims were aware of the trick practiced upon them. The police say they will have difficulty in convicting any one caught beating the cigar machines, as the latter are gambling de-vices. It is intimated that the sleight-ofhand man using the wire may be fined or sent to jail for vagrancy.
