Miss M. A. Gibson. Secretary of the Metairie Literary Club of Brooklyn, N. Y.

THE woman who travels continually, whether on business or pleasure, frequently hazards her health. The nervous excitement of catching trains, hurrying here and there, sleeping in cold beds and hastily eating ill prepared meals will even break down the health of the strongest man.

There are thousands of women like Miss Marion A. Gibson, of 47 Hoyt Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., who go into business and travel a great deal of their time. These women know full well the trials they undergo. Out on the road they do not have the opportunity to care for themselves as they would have at home.

At the time I was miles away from a physician and as the friend with whom I was visiting had some Wine of Cardui in the house she recommended that I try it, and while I had little faith in it I soon found that it brought good results and kept taking it for six weeks and found then I was cured. I am never without it now and I am glad to recommend it.

This article appears in this paper today to tell you directly that Wine of Cardui will relieve the suffering of sick women. It regulates menstruation and restores health to women who know they are weak but do not believe that it is possible to be strong and healthy. Miss Gibson can travel and not suffer because she has a remedy that keeps menstruation regular and preserves her health and energy. How much more interest she takes in her club only she and her associates know. But we all know she is a useful and active woman instead of a sufferer. You can make the choice by securing a bottle of Wine of Cardui and getting relief from suffering. Miss Ada Shaw, of Phoenix, Miss., has made the choice you should make and she joins Miss Gibson in praising Wine of Cardui in the following letter:

"I was a great sufferer of female troubles. I tried every doctor in this country, but none did me any good. Last week I couldn't move any further than some one would move me. I got a dollar bottle of Wine of Cardui and a package of Thedford's Black-Draught and took it. Already I am able to do most anything I want in my house and am gaining flesh rapidly. I think your medicine is a God-send to poor suffering women. I am trying to induce every suffering woman in this section to use Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught."
