CAMPAIGN LIE EXPLODED

WILLIAMSON DID NOT OPPOSE EM-PLOYERS' LIABILITY BILL.

Measure Was Proposed and Defeated in the House, and Therefore Never Reached the Senate.

PENDLETON, OR., May 20.-J. N. Willtamson, Republican candidate for Congress in the Second district, accompanied by ex-Judge J. C. Moreland, of Portland, arrived here this morning from a campalgn tour of Morrow, Grant, Harney, Malheur and Baker Counties. The attention of Senator Williamson was called to the fact that an effort was being made throughout Eastern Oregon to turn the railroad vote against him on the charge that while in the State Senate two year ago he had made a speech in that body against a proposed act known generally as the "Employers' liability bill." Judge Moreland, who was present, and had copies of the journals of the House and Senate of two years ago, with him, prepared the following statement of the facts from the record:

The statement has been made and in being circulated all slong the lines of railroads in the Second Congressional dis-trict, that Senator Williamson, now a candidate for Congress upon the Republican ticket, and a member of the Senate in the last Legislature, spoke and voted against a bill in the last session of the Oregon Legislature, relating to the liability of the principal for the negligence of fellow-servants. I have not seen this statement in print, but have heard of its being circuinted in various places. The facts of the matter, concerning said bill are as follows, and they show conclusively that Senator Williamson had not, and could not, have had anything whatever to do with it: "Page 77 of House Journal of the session of Legislature for 1908 has this: "First reading of the bill by Mr. Poorman, House Bill No. 80." 'A bill for an act fixing the liabilities of corporations, owning and oprating railroads within the state for in juries to employes, and for the protectio of railroad employes in general," Mr. Rot erts moved that the rules be suspended and House bill No. 80 read the first time by title. On this question, the roll was called and 57 voted in the affirmative; none against; absent, three." "On page 215 of the same journal is this:

'House Bill No. 80 coming on for the sec-ond reading. Mr. Smith of Marion moved that the rules be suspended and the bill read the second time by title only. On this question, 55 voted yes; none nay; ab-On sent, five. So the rules were suspended and House bill No. 80 read the second time by title only. On motion of Mr. Poorman, the bill was referred to the committee on rallways and transportation."

"On page 543, is this entry: 'Mr. Story moved that the railroad bills (including 80) read to the House today, he made special order for Wednesday evening next at 7 o'clock. Mr. Barrett moved to amend making the hour for special order at $:30 o'clock P. M. Monday next; amendment carried, and motion as amended prevailed. "On pages 545 and 547 of the journal appears two reports of the committee on rallways and transportation. The majority report, signed by George L. Story, chairman, recommended that the bill do not pass; a minority report, signed by F. A. Heltkemper, of the committee, recom-mended that the bill pass, with certain amendments, which are set forth in said report. On motion of Mr. Heltkemper, e report and amendments were adopted. 'On page 585, we find that the bill was considered in committee of the whole, and the chairman reported that the committee had reached no conclusion as to the bill. "On page 603, we find this: "Mr. Story moved that House hill No. 80 be referred to the committee on railways and trans-portation for amendment; motion carried." 'On page 512, we find that the committe on railways and transportation reports the bill back to the House, with the rec reported ndation that it pass, with a certain amendment therein stated, and on motion of Mr. Story, the report and amendment were adopted, and on motion of Mr. Poorman, House bill No. 8) was made a special order for the next day at 10 o'clock A. M ; and on the next day, which was Februnry 17, 1501, we find this on page 64 of the House journal: 'House hill No. 80 trad the third time, the question being, "Shall the bill paus?" The roll was talled and the vote was: yeas, 22; mays, 31; not voting. 1; abrent, 6," so the bill failed to THERP From this it will be seen that the bill never came up for consideration in the Senate, and neither Mr. Williamson, nor any other Senator had any opportunity to vote or express themselves in regard to this bill. On the contrary, it is a well-known fact that Senator Williamson, in this bill. private, during the session of the Legis nture expressed himself in favor of the principles of the bill," After Judge Moreland had given the foregoing statement, it was submitted to Senator Williamson, who stated to the ident that the facts set forth by Judge Moreland were absolutely true; that Senator Fulton, in a speech at The Dalles ad declared himself and Senator Willismson in favor of the principles of the hill, and that both Fulton and Williamson would have voted for it had it reached consideration in the Senate, Senator Williamson added further that he had traced this malicious campaign slander to its source, and regretted to find that it originated at The Dalles, impossible for anybody connected with either House to be absent for such a length of time. "I hope that Representative Tongue will have the biggest majority he ever had. He was a strong man when he first came to the House of Representatives, and his long service has given him such a familiar-ity with his public duties as to very great-ly increase his usefulnces. The House of Representatives is a peculiar place. No amount of ability does a man any good in its deliberations unless he has the expe-rience and the reconvilian which come rience and the recognition which come from a long term of service. The state has been wise in keeping Mr. Tongue at his post. That gives him his place on committees, and for practical purposes, his right to participate in the proceedings of the House. Mr. Tongue was recognized when he first came here as a safe coursel-lor and a man of prudence and wisdom. Every year has added to his influence, and today he stands among the recognized leaders in the House of Representatives. I have no doubt he will be re-elected handsomely, for the state cannot afford to lose advantages which his services have already given it. "We will all await the elections of June

3 with anxiety," said Mr. Dolliver in con-clusion, "but with confidence that the people of the Pacific Coast will not be the first to turn their back upon the prin-ciples which have resulted in the present fortunate industrial and commercial con ditions."

Josephine Promises a Great Victory for the Republican Leader.

GRANT'S PASS, May 21 -The Josephin County Republican candidates and lead-ers began their county campaign last night, the first rally being beid at Wil-iams. All of the county candidates were present. Judge Hale, fominee for representative, made the principal address. The hall in which the meeting was held was packed to the doors, and many were not able to obtain admittance. Enthusiasm reigned supreme. Furnish buttons were greatly in evidence, and loud cheers for the Republican state leader were given at the close of the meeting. A more suc-cessful political rally has never been held in Williams' Valley.

The final rally will be held in this city May Si, when some of the prominent Republican lead-ers of the state will be present and amist. Republicanism seems promised a great vic-tory in Josephine County this coming Joint Meeting at Cottage Grove. COTTAGE GROVE, Or., May 21.-The Republican and Democratic nominees for county and Legislative offices held a joint meeting here this afternoon. The attend-ance was not nearly as large as was expected on an occasion of this kind, and was not as demonstrative as was hoped that it would be. From indications, a good Republican majority will be given by this end of the county on June 2. UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, May 2L UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, May IL-Dr. Arthur Lachman, who has just re-signed the chair of chemistry in the Uni-versity of Oregon, was born in San Fran-cisco in 1872. He graduated from the High Schcoi in that eity in 1890 but spent two years of his school period in a German gymnasium. He attended the College of Chemistry in the University of Califor-nia, and graduated from it in 1893, having completed the four years' course in three completed the four years' course in three years. sity of Michigan as assistant in chemistry in the Spring of 1896. In the Summer of that year he was promoted to the posi-tion of instructor there. The following year (1997) he was appointed to the chair of chemistry in the University of Oregon, which he has accurded continuously until which he has occupied continuoutly now. Two years ago he was made dean of the College of Science and Engineering. Since his arrival here the department of chemistry has steadily grown until it is now one of the best to be found in the West. At the end of his first year the old laboratory at the top of Deady Hall was completely remodeled and modernized. But this moon proved inadequate to the growing needs of the department, and last year the new inboratory building, called McCfure Hall, was occupied by it. The McClure Hall, was occupied by it. The plans for the equipment of this laboratory were drawn up by Dr. Lachman, and the work of carpentering, cabinet-making and plumbing superintended by him in person. McClure Hall is now fully equipped for the highest grade of university instruction h chemistry. In spite of the demand upon his time for the work of instruction and administration Dr. Lachman has published a large amount of research work based upon esuits of experimental study.

Besides his own investigations, Dr. Lach-man has stimulated his students to orig-inal work, and a number of them are now pursuing investigations under his direc-tion in the isboratory. In addition to hi technical papers he also published an advanced text-book on organic chemistry, entitled "The Spirit of Organic Chemistry," which was issued by the MacMilhans in 1899.

Lachman ranks easily among the first men of the faculty, and his resigna-tion is a severe loss to the state univer-sity. Among the students he is very popular, particularly with the young men pur-suing advanced courses in chemistry and mining. Deep regrets from the students are heard on every hand, and those who feel deeply for the interests of their alma mater realize what the University of Oregon is losing in the resignation of Dr.

Dr. Lachman refuses to discuss the reasons for his resignation from the field in which he has been so successful, but it is rumored that he is dissatisfied with the lack of harmony and co-operation between the faculty and the Board of Regents, Salem School Election.

SALEM, Or., May IL-The first annual election for a Director of the Salem pub-its schools, under the provisions of the new school law, will be held on Monday. June 16. The retiring member, H. A. Johnson, who is chairman of the board, has served the Salem schools on the Board of Directors for more thus eight years and has declined to be a candidate to succeed himself. M. L. Chamberlin succeeds to the chairmanship of the board upon the relirement of Mr. John-son, since he is the oldest member of the son, since he is the oldest member of the board in point of service. Liftlie interest is being manifested in the coming election. J. B. T. Tuthill and Max O. Buren have been mentioned as suitable successors to Mr. Johnson, but no candidates have been named. There is no controversy or issue involved in the coming election, which will very probably be a tame affair, since any disatisfaction that may have existed has been harmon-lared in the recent election of Professor L. R. Traver, of Roseburg, as City Super-intendent of Schools.

RURAL MAIL ROUTES.

Four Leading From Gresham Will Cover Territory of 40 Square Miles. GRESHAM, May 21.-The new rural free delivery mail routes to be established from Troutdale and Cleane have both been ap-proved by the special agent and will be in operation within a fax seeds. They will proved by the special agent and the be in operation within a few works. They will join the two routes from this place, and will practically cover all the territory from the nine-mile poats eastward to Ori-ent, lying in Multnomah County. The four routes will comprise about 40 square outer with comprise about 40 square miles, but there still remain several iso-lated sections mear and in Clackamas County; also further eastward and west-County: also further easiward and weak ward, which can be served by carrier, and there is now a movement on foot to reor-sanise the routes from this office and es-tablish two more routes. When this is done, there will be free delivery from near Russellville to Pleasant Home. A recent ruling of the Postoffice Depart-ment movides for the discontinuous of ment provides for the discontinuance o all postoffices lying on rural routes which all postoffices lying on rural routes which have no delivery service of their own, This order will affect Rockwood. Terry and Powell Valley offices, and possibly Orient, in the event of two more routes being established from here. Up to this time it has been the policy of the Depart-ment to allow such offices to dis a natural death, and two near bere have aircedy succumbed-Eycamore and Sweetbriet. With free delivery, such offices are not needed, and the cost of their maintenance will help materially to put the rural routes on a paying basis.

CALLENS.

THE PARTY

to work on the Wilson River and determine, if possible, how valuable a stream t 1s.

"Some few months ago the peopl Mediord petitioned the Board of Fish Commissioners, asking that they close the Rogue River to all salmon-fishing except-ing with hook and line above its conflu-ence with the Illinois River. As the Grant's Pass district would be affected by this matter, I visited those sections in order to find out personally what the gen oral feeling was, so that the matter be properly submitted to the board. The feeling was that the stream should be set aside as a trout stream, and nothing but e book and line should be permitted on its upper waters.

SCHEVIE'S FIRST STORY.

Coroner Rehearses It in the Schulkowskie Murder Trial.

ST. HELENS, May 2L-Coroner H. R. ST. HELENS, May IL-Coroner H. R. Cliff was examined in the Schovie trial this morning. He testified that August Schevie identified the body of Joseph Schulkowskie as soon as the sheet which covered the body had been removed from the head and shoulders, and that he iden-tified the breeches before he had even them they being still under cover. A seen them, they being still under cover. A great portion of the testimony before the Coroner was not reduced to writing, as the law provides, but the court decided to admit such portions as was reduced to writing. In this manner the testimony of the defendant was given to the jury. He admits having left home on
