Victor C. Dolliver Addresses Audience at Ashland.

MADE SOME TELLING POINTS

HIS INITIAL SPEECH

The Brilliant Iowa Orator Pleaded for a Continuance of Republican Prosperity, and Was Enthusiastically Applauded.

San Street Street

ASHLAND, Or., May 22-Hon. Victor B. Dolliver, the Republican orator from lows, who made his initial speech in this state under the auspices of the Republican State Committee of Oregon at Ashland tonight, more than sustained the reputation that preceded him as a campaigner of brilliancy and ability. President J. R. Casey, of the Ashland Republican Club, presided at the meeting, which was held at the Chautauqua Tabernacle, and which was attended by a large and appreciative audience, and the Ashland male quartet furnished a programme of vocal music to enilven the occasion. Mr. Dolliver spoke for an hour, and so full of pertinent points dressed in polished language and expressed with all the arts of oratory was his speech that his every sentence was punctuated with applause, which grew into enthusiastic outbursts of approval by the audience.

speaker opened up with a discussion of the importance of the stump, and the stump speech, as a useful element in po-ditical affairs, and spoke particularly of the bearing of the election in Oregon upon subsequent state and Congressional elections in other portions of the country seeking to impress upon the voters the importance of returning to the National Congress the Republican representatives and electing an entire state ticket, in order that the policy of President Roosevelt might thus receive an indorsement and the efficiency of the present Republican Administration be approved. He expressed himself as approving the larger policy keeping the campaign upon a high level ditical disc ssion, and not re it to a campaign of personality and abus-

The speaker made a plea for continuing the present splendid state of prosperity existing throughout the Union, and es-pecially the Pacific Coast, saying: "It would be less rational for the people of Oregon to turn away from the present Republican Administration and go into the camp of Bryan and Carmack and Tillman than it would be for a very sick man, hopefully convalescing under the skill and care of a great physician, to turn him out of the house for the purpose of en-gaging the services of a neighborly talkative borse doctor."

In a somewhat detailed discussion of the conditions that prevalled before the first election of President McKinley, Mr. Dol-liver briefly pointed out the causes of the panie of 1893, which, he said, so far as it arose from political conditions, dated from the very day upon which it became certain that every department of the Federal Government had fallen into the hands of the Democratic Party. He intimated very strongly that any time the people of Ore-gon, or of the United States, desired a repetition of the conditions prevailing in 1888, and up to 1885, they might secure it by voting the Democratic ticket.

The speaker dwelt for some time upon the improved agricultural conditions in the Mississippi Valley, on the Western coast, and throughout the Union, and at-tributed much of the revival in agricultural interest to the wise tariff legislation of 1997. His discussion of the new Demo-cratic issues of imperialism and war in Philippines was somewhat detailed elaborate, and in the nature of a de-ent, saying that he thought it augured well for Republican success. Mr. Fulton WOULD OPEN UP A WAR poke for almost two hours, delivering his friends say, the best address he hat made during the campaign. Mr. Furnish and party will leave for the west on the early morning train. Mr. Furnish said tonight that he was well satisfied with his canvass in this county.

PRODUCTION OF NICKEL.

Pinces Where Deposits Are Found in This Country.

WASHINGTON, May 18.-Mineral Re-ources of the United States, 1901, pubished by the United States Geological Survey, and now in press, will contain among other things, the report of Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt on nickel, for 1901. The two principal sources of nickel are the nickeliferous pyrrhotite, the most widely spread of the nickel ores, and gen especially the garnierite variety In this country the domestic product of nickel has been as a by-product from the lead ore of Mine Lamotte in Missouri, since the shutting down of the Gap nickel mine, in Lancaster County, Pennsylva-nia, about 50 miles west of Philadelphia about 10 years ago. This mine was worked from about 1863 to 1880, when work was discontinued because of the abundant supply of nickel matte from Canada. Traces and small amounts of the nickel minerals genthito and garnierite have been found genthite and garnierite have been found in North Carolina, but not in commercially sufficient quantities, though a de-posit of nickel ore averaging 1.5 per cent nickel is reported near Morgantown, Burke County. Similar occurrences of nickel silicate are found in Oregon, where the percentage of nickel ore is much miles a little north of west from Riddles, a station on the Southern Pacific, and a steaders coming in would take up their fense and vindication of the policy of the high-grade cobalt ore deposit is being de eloped in the Eastern part of the state. Nickel ore is reported to occur in some quantity at the Congress mine, in Upper Nine-Mile section, about 14 miles north of Keller, Ferry County, Wash. This section was formerly worked for copper and gold, but was abandoned. In the latter part of 1901 the claims were again taken up and are now being developed for nickel.

THE TRUSTS INTERESTED IN THE OREGON ELECTION

The trusts do not conceal their hostility to President Roossvelt. They are not pleased with his instructions to the Attorney-General to proceed against the Northern Securities Company a short time ago and now against the Meat Trust. They will seek every opportunity to rebuke the President. It is understood that they are preparing to bring what influence they can to bear against the Republican party in Oregon for the purpose of rendering the President's recent action apparently unpopular. If the election should be adverse to the Republicans, it would be halled with quiet satisfaction by the trusts, it would be heralded as an evidence of the unpopularity of President Roosevelt and of his policies. Just now it is distinctively a fight between President Roosevelt va. the Trusta. It is for the voters of Gregon to say which of the parties to this contest they indorse. The President is waging this battle in the interest of the people against combined wealth. Will the people of Oregon sustain him? Will they prove that they are sincere when they ask public servants to fight combined wealth in their behalf? They will have an opportunity to prove their sincerity in the Oregon election. The outcome will be watched with great concern by both the trusts and the people. Which is it to be?

There is another issue that will excite some interest. Vigorous forces are opposing the construction of the Isthmian Canal. The President is outspoken and emphatic in its favor. He insists that Congress must page a bill at this session. Is he to be rebuked or sustained?

The other members of the public lands com-some time ago the Cooks and Walters' mittee admit that the bill is honest in purpose, and far more desirable than any leasing bill that has yet been brought forward, but they are generally not inclined to support any bill.

But what is more interesting is the fact that the very cattle interests which were working for the passage of the Millard and Bowersock bills are now found vigor ously opposing the Lacey bill. Instead of being drawn in the interest of large stock owners, its provisions favor the small and operate against the cattle Many of the cattlemen are now older kings. contending that no leasing law is prac-contending that no leasing law is prac-ticable; that is, any inw which would permit the making of homestgads on lands covered by lease. Some time ago the Cooks and Waiters' Union asked the hotels and restaurants to employ white cooks. The proprietor of the Sagamore complied, but the cook-ing was so vile that after two days the guests of the hotel notified the proprieto that he could change cooks or they would leave the hotel. He at once re-employed the Chinese cooks. Mr. Ernest, of the St. Lawrence, said he would employ white cooks if they would give him a bord to cover loss if they got drunk. This the union refused to do.

that the states were entitled to select lands in lieu of those sections. Later the Secretary of the Interior held that the

He spoke with great sarcasm of the modern, latterday villfiers and maligners of the American soldier in the Philippines, and held up in contrast to these men General Joe Wheeler, whose career in the Spanish-American War challenged the admiration of the whole world. As evidence of the complete restoration of good feeling be-tween all sections of the United States he cited General Wheeler's action in the war as an illustration, saying: "The spien-did figure of old General Joe Wheeler, too sick to sit upon his horse without as-sistance, holding the lines before Santiago, gives to the National Army today a sam ple of that soldierly daring which 'made the Confederate cavalry almost invincible a generation ago, and stands for the larger patriotism which turned its back upon the past and lifted its eyes to the sublime destiny of a reunited country, standing together once more under the flag of our fathers, now forever one and insepar-He paid a graceful tribute to the Oregon boys who so readily gave their names to the Arms, many of whom died in the dis-charge of their duties. On the other hand, the triends of the homesteader assert that the covering of sections of the public domain by large leases would tend to intimidate settlers, and prevent their settling on land covered by a grazing lease. They say settlers would not dare go upon these lands, against the wish of the cattlemen, A Western member, who is familiar with cattle and range problems, says that the enactment of any leasing law would open up a vicious war between stockmen and settlers, which would surely end in bloodshed. He says that if present conditions are allowed to continue, this dif-ficulty would be obviated, as there is a general understanding as to what lands are to be grazed upon, and certain lands are set apart for sheep and others for cattle. There is practically no friction;

certainly, in his opinion, nothing like the disputes that would follow the enactment of a leasing law. An effort is now being made to preven a report on any of the pending bills, in-cluding that urged by Mr. Lacey. It is claimed that even a favorable report would give the topic undue notoriety, and the opponents of the leasing law are now concentrating their efforts to have all leasing bills either smothered in committee or reported adversely. The chances are that this effort will be successful.
