E. M. PEASE, HEAD OF THE LATIN DEPARTMENT.

Professor E. M. Pease, who was dropped by President Jordan, of Stanford, is 42 years old. He is a graduate of the University of Colorado, where he received his A. B. in 1882, and his master degree in 1885. In 1884 he held a fellowship at Johns Hopkina, and again in 1886. In 1885 he was a student at Bonn, also in 1891. In 1886 he was appointed instructor in Latin at Smith College, but was, that same year, promoted to a professorship at Howdoin, where he remained until the offer of a head professorship brought him to Stanford, in 1891. As an editor and investigator along lines of classical study. Professor Pease has a National reputation. With Professor Harry Thurston Peck he is joint editor of the "Students' Series of Latin Text-Books." His own work includes "The Relative Value of the Manuscripts of Terence," "Development of Latin Satire," and various other articles and reviews. In his work at Stanford Professor Pease has been regarded by the majority of his students as a conspicuously successful instructor and source of real strength to the university. It has long been current rumor, however, that between the major professor and other members of the classical faculty there has been any-thing but harmony. Several times before has an open rupture seemed imminent.

The Proceedings.

At 11 o'clock the House resumed the executive session of yesterday to complete the consideration of the bill to amend the District of Columbia code. It was pa a few minutes before noon, and at the latter hour the House met to begin a new legislative day.

The consideration of the immigration bill, which was discontinued last Thursday, was resumed. Several verbal amend-ments were adopted. Clark (Dem., Mo.) moved to strike out the proviso in sec-tion 16, which exonerated masters and owners of vessels of responsibility for the safe-keeping of aliens during the time aliens were held in immigration in the tion buildings for investigation of their right of admission. After a some-what long debate, the amendment was Speaking to a pro forma amendm Ball (Dem., Tex.) at this point seve Ball (Dem., Tex.) at this point severely criticised the conduct of the committee on library, which he said had shown favoritiem on the occasion of the unveil-ing of the Rochambeau statue last Suturday, by reserving sents for certain members of the House, after assuring other members that there were no re-served seats. He mentioned the chair-man of the committee. McCleary (Rep., Minn.) by name, and denounced the action of the committee as a gross and flagrant indignity upon the membership of the House McCleary, who was present, made no reply. On motion of Clark (Dem., Mo.) an amondment was adopted to strike out the words "knowingly and negligently," which

Perkins (Rep., N. Y.) moved to strike out the provisions anthonizing the Com-missioner-General of Immigration to appoint and fix the salaries of immigrant spectors. Defending the provision, Shattuc (Rep. Ohlo), in charge of the bill, said that such authority should be given the Commis-sioner-General. The present Commission-er-General, he said, had uncarthed a lot of rascality, and for that reason was be-ing forced out of his position. The amendment was withdrawn. Bowersock (Rep., Kan.) at this point fered an amendment to make it unlawful to sell intoxicating liquors in any igrant station. Shattuc made a point of order against the amendment, but it was overruled, whereupon he offered the following substitute for Bowerstock's amendment "Provided, that beer may be sold in any immigrant station owned or used by the United States, or on the grounds apper-

Shattue raised a point of order against the latter amendment, and was sustained by the chair, where-upon Wheeler appealed from the decision. The chair was sustained-102 to 16. Landls' amendment to prohibit the of intoxicants in the Capitol was then addpted-105 to 19. There was much ap-plause on the floor and in the galleries when the announcement was made. An amendment was adopted providing that nothing in the act should be construed to interfere with the Chinese exclusion ct. The bill then was passed. Dalzell (Rep., Pa.), from the committe on rules, presented a special rule to make the bill to increase the subsidiary silver coinage a continuing order until disposed of. It provided for two hours' general de-bate, and the reading of the bill for amendments under the five-minute rule. Dalzell read a letter from the Secretary of the Treasury, urging the necessity of the proposed legislation. Shafroth (Pop., Colo.) vigorously op-posed the consideration of the bill, first on the ground that there was no necessity for a change of the existing law rei-ative to subsidiary coinage, and, second, because it proposed to suspend entirely the coinage of silver dollars. The pre-vious question on the rule was adopted but, with the vote pending on the resolu-tion, the House, at 4:55 P. M., adjourned.
