Ashes and Smoke Pour From Mount Blackburn for Ten Minutes-Explains Mysterious Earthquake Shock.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 2 .- A special to Times from Skagway, under date of May 28, says:

counts of a most thrilling nature reganding the volcanic action of a suppo inactive mountain in Alaska were brought to this city by J. C. McFarland this forenoon. Seven weeks ago a slight earth-quake shock was felt in all parts of Alaska, and until today the phenomenon re-mained unexplained. Mr. McFarland, who is a geologist of no small nets, happened to be within a few miles of the cause of this earthquake shock. The story is best told in Mr. McFarland's language: "On April 11, about 7:30 o'clock in the morning. I was just packing my cooking utensils, when the air about me suddenly became oppressed with a distinct and uncommon silence. In my wanderings through different wilds, I had become used to any strange freaks of Nature but this one appalled me. I was in a rough, moun-tainous country, I should judge about 10 miles from the base of Mount Blackburn, in Southeastern Alaska, not far from the starting point of the glacier, which, as it rears its face on the North Pacific Ocean, is called Muir Glacier. As this silence gained on my senses, the bright, sunny morning seemed to darken. Samething unusual was going to happen; but I knew not what. All of a sudden the earth beneath my feet shock; a low, mouruful, rumbling sound accompanied this guaking of the earth. Almost with instinct, I clanced up at Mount Black-burn. Of a sudden, it seemed as if the peak had opened and the points burst out as if some mighty demon were forcing its way upward. Then a cloud of ashes and smoke shot into the air several hundred feet, and then there seemed to flow from the opening in the top a stream of dirty stuff, mixed with large and small boulders. This only continued for about 10 minutes. and then ceased as suddenly as it had begun. The air cleared and Nature seemed

"It was three days, after many perilous attempts, before I succeeded in reaching the base of the mountain. Then I dis-covered that the country for miles around had been very much affected. The small undergrowth of trees had been entirely covered up. This stuff which poured from the top of the mountain was not even warm, but seemed to consist solely of dust, tocks and earthy substances. I only stayed on the spot a couple of hours; then loft for the coast. As near as I can find out, this mountain had never been consid-ered of a volcanic nature."

For weeks the owners of the Rich-mond claim have been tunneling through what was supposed to be a barren por-phyry dyke, having crosscut it for 185 feet. Now tests have been made of samples taken from 25 places in this supposed worthless dyke, and it is stated that it yields returns of $15 @ in free-milling gold with assays running as high as $75. MACHINERY FOR MINE.

Large Badger Concentrating Plant Nearing Its Destination.

SUMPTER, June 2.-All the machinery for the large Badger concentrating plant in the Susanville district is now at the mine or near it. This plant is to have rolls with a 30-ton capacity, besides the 10 stamps now possensed. No effort will be made to save values on the plates, as all Badger ore has proved quite base, yet all Badger ore has proved quite base, yet a good concentrating proposition. In the past, while the inine was owned by Seloy smeller interests, ore was shipped out without any concentration. As the haul without any concentration: As the haul is a long one, over a new country, where roads are very bad, only high-grade ore would justify this expense, in addition to that of shipment by rail to San Fran-claco. With the large reduction in freight charges that will follow through concen-tration, it is expected that the Badger management can handle much lower grade ore than in the past and if it grade ore than in the past, and if it should prove true, as often reported, that some of the railway lines now looking toward the John Day are constructed, the output of the mill will be still further increased.

The Badger is the property recently purchased by Bunker Hill & Sullivan interests, of the Coeur d'Alene, for $50,-000. It is regarded one of the large prop-erties of the district. Near it is the Stockton, a prospect, yet quite fully de-veloped, and recently reported to have a fine hody of ore that enhances its values several thousand dollars. It is exseason, further increasing the output of the Quartisburg and Prairie City districts.

American Jockey Suspended.

VIENNA, June 2.-An American lockey named Vandusen, of St. Louis, who rode Hazafl, the favorite in the Austrian Derby, which was run yesterday, was sum-marily and perminently suspended on charges of bumping and crossing. It is alleged Vandusen endangered the lives of four jockeys. This decision prevents Van-dusen from riding anywhere in Europe and the United States. Vandusen said to a representative of the Associated Press that he was at a loss to understand the charges, and as-serted that his riding had been perfectly straight. The race was won by Llubar, an outsider.
