Eection Board Hears Lively Argument as to Right to Open Ballot Boxes for Tally Sheets.

The official canvass yesterday of the cast in Multnomah County developed quite a number of changes, and there was also an argument concerning the opening of four ballot boxes which were scaled by mistake with the tally-sheets inclosed. This was done in precincts 32, 58, 68 and 69. According to law only the ballots should be placed and scaled in the ballot boxes. It was necessary, in order to complete the offi-cial count, to remove the tally-sheets from the ballot boxes in these four precincis. When precinct 31 was reached County Clerk Swetland suggested that the ballot boxes be opened and the tallysheets taken out, and the boxes be then scaled up again by the election board. The other members of the board assentand also the candidates present, and W. N. Gatens, representing the Demo-cratic ticket. Judge Webster, who appears for the Republicans, said he had no objection, and S. C. Spencer, the fu-sion ticket representative, agreed with John Manning, appearing for Mr. Chamberiain, said Mr. Furnish ought to be represented, even though it was only a technical matter. Several persons rearked that as Judge Webster was appointed by the chairman of the Repub-lican state central committee to appear for the Republicans at the count, he also appear for Mr. Furnish. Judge Webster did so.

N. H. Alexander stated that he repre-sented Mr. Furnish and had no objection to offer. This caused John Manning to remark that Mr. Alexander would not represent Mr. Furnish if it became necessary for him not to do so. Mr. Alexander rehim not to do so. Mr. Alexander re-torted in kind, and said Manning had no right to make any such statement.

Justice Kraemer said he hoped personalities would not be indulged in.

Judge Webster said the members of the board should proceed and open the box and take out the tally-sheets, and he would assume the responsibility so far as the Republicans were concerned. The ballet box of precinct 23 was then The seals used are of paper which are

GUARDIAN MAKES DEFENSE. W. H. Warrens Denies He Has Mismanaged Affairs of Phillippi.

W. H. Warrens yesterday filed an answer in the County Court to the petition of Mary Kramer asking for his removal as guardian of the estate of her son, Frank Phillippi, a minor. He admits that it was provided in the will of A. eased, that on the death of Frederick Phillippi, without children, onehalf of the estate should go to Frank

Concerning the amount of rents and profits of the property collected by Frederick Phillippi since 1892, Warrens says he has no information sufficient to form a belief. He denies that Frederick Phillippi refused to pay out moneys for the education of the minor, and says that moneys were sent to his mother in Ins diana for that purpose. As to whether or not since the death of Frederick Phillippi, his wife, Annie Phillippi, has reunt for the interest of Frank Phillippi, Warrens says he has no knowl-

Warrens denies that he has not performed his duties properly, or that he has mismanaged the affairs of the estate and he says the estate of Frederick Phil lippi must be closed before he, Warrens, as guardian of the minor, is entitled to collect the rents of the property, but he eavs Annie Phillippi has advanced $499 the minor, $275 of which has been paid to his mother.

Warrens asserts that Mrs. Kramer is not a fit and proper person to act as guardian of the estate of her son, because she has married again and is more or less under the control of her husband, the stepfather of the boy, and it is further alleged that on substantially the same grounds a petition for her appointment as guardian was denied by the County Court.

ASKS FOR AN ACCOUNTING. Albin Floss Sues Myrtle E. Reed for

Share of Business Profits. Albin Floss has commenced suit in the State Circuit Court against Myrtle E. Reed, for an accounting of a fishing bus-iness on the Columbia River in this county. He also asks that she be restrained from collecting certain moneys due or assigning or disposing of certain claims, and that a receiver be appointed to take charge of the property and ac-

Floss in his complaint says that on February 10, 1889, he leased to Mrs. Reed for a term of five years, lands, buildings, fishwheels and appliances, and that the consideration named was that he should receive one-half of the profits realized on the sale of fish caught. Weekly settle ments were to be made. It is alleged by W. H. Reed, who has acted as her agent. has at all times during the year 1901 re-fused to render an account of the profits or to pay over to him (Floss his share of the same. He asserts that she has col-lected from those to whom she sold fish large sums of money, and Floss further been taking and catching daily not less than 350 pounds of salmon, 150 pounds of other fish, and from 1500 to 2000 pounds of eel, all of the value of not less than $25 per day, and has been making a profit not less than $22 per day.

Floss says that he has not received any of this money, and also that Mrs. Reed and her agents deny him access to the premises to inspect the same, and threat en to eject him by force if he enters upon the premises. R. C. Wright appears as attorney for Floss.

GENTLE PIONEER PREACHER But Three Members of Old Pacific Conference Survive Dr. Dillon.

After the death of Rev. Isanc Dillon, who is supposed to have been drowned in Puget Sound, there remain only three of the original pioneer ministers of the Methodist Conference, when it included Oregon, Washington and California. These are Rev. J. W. Miller, of the East Side; Rev. John Flinn, of Vancouver, Wash.; and Rev. N. Doane, of Portsmouth. The former two enjoy good health, but Mr. Doane is very feeble. Mr. Miller, who lives at 620 East Ankeny street, came to Portland two years before Dr. Dillon arrived, and was on intimate terms with the latter through many years when the Oregon Conference was being formed. In speaking of the dead pioneer minister last evening, Mr. Miller said:

"I was intimate with Dr. Dillon for a number of years. He came to Oregon in 1852, two years after my arrival. For a time he taught in the old Oregon Institute, at Salem, before the Willamette University building was erected. He was well-fitted to be a teacher. At that time this was called the Oregon Missionary Conference, and it extended from Lower California through to the British boundary. After leaving the Oregon Insti-tute, Mr. Dillon engaged in the active work of the ministry, and served as pre-siding elder of the Walla Walla district before that territory was cut off from the Oregon Conference.

"He was a very useful man along edu-cational lines. In committee work Dr. Dillon was very effective and his influence was important in shaping the con-ference on a great many important mat-ters. He was a man of education and culture, and an effective writer, although not an orator. Still he was a cogent talker. When an editor was wanted for the Pacific Christian Advocate to take the place of Dr. Benson, Dr. Dillon was elected, as he was regarded as wellfitted for that important position. He was a success in that line of work. While editor he frequently preached for me, as I was pastor of Centenary Church. He was succeeded as editor of the Advocate by Rev. J. H. Acton. Rev. H. K. Hines and Rev. W. S. Harrington. "When Washington' was cut off from

HE WILL NOT BE A CANDIDATE FOR SCHOOL DIRECTOR.

In Order to Avoid an Unpleasant Contest With Present East Side Director, He Withdraws.

W. W. Bretherton, who was asked to become a candidate for School Director at the coming election by his neighbors and friends several days ago, yesterday decided that he would not be a candidate. It seems that he did not care to be a candidate against J. V. Beach, Mr. Breth-erton had already received assurance of hearty support, and his announceme withdrawing from the race leaves the field clear for Mr. Beach, provided no other candidate comes out between now and canolitate comes out between now and next Monday. Mr. Bretherton sets forth his reasons for withdrawing from the contest in the following letter:

Portland, June 11, 1902—Messrs. L. E. Kern, J. R. Stoddard, P. Van Hoomissen and others—Gentlemen: Since accepting your very kind and faitering invitation to become a candidate for School. Although no other candidate has so far accepted a nomination for the office, I understand from Mr. Wittenberg and others that the present Director from the East Side will accept such nomination and seek a relection, and that the best interests of the district, and more especially those on the East Side, will be served by having no unpleasabt contest between candidates, both residing on the East Side. Under these circumstances, as my only desire was to serve the best interests School Director for our district. I have recor my only desire was to serve the best interest of our public schools in every way. I have con-cluded to withdraw from the contest for the directorship. Thanking you and all my friends for your very kind and hearty support of our mutual interests, a support that developed be-yond my utmost expectations, I have the honor to be, yours, respectfully. W. TO PREVENT CRUELTY TO ANIMALS. Stephens Band of Mercy Will Ask Humane Society for Membership. At the closing meeting for the year of the Stephens School Band of Mercy, held yesterday afternoon in Gruner's Hall, it was decided to petition the Oregon Humane Society to permit members of the Band of Mercy to become junior mem-bers of that society, and also to ask that organization to extend the work among school children of the city.

Miss Mary E. McGraw, a teacher in one of the San Francisco schools, made a brief but interesting talk to the children present. She told them about the London Humane Society, which had pro-vided a pasture of about 1990 acres for the rendezvous of worn-out horses. This society, said Miss McGraw, had authority This to take a worn-out horse from anywhere and place it in this pasture until the ani-mal had recruited and was able to go into service. If the owner was a poor man, another horse was given him to take the place of the one taken away.

Miss McGraw told the children that the world was becoming humane and looking after the dumb creatures to see that they were not abused. She told about what was being done in the schools of San Francisco, where she said that every school had a Band of Mercy, and each member was a member of the Humane Society of that place. Each wore a badge and was actively engaged in watching for every case of abuse of horses, beating or overloading. With so many school children watching for cases of abuse those inclined to mistreat their horses had largely ceased to do so for fear of being reported to the humane society, for that meant a fine. The speaker showed what the school children can do for the dumb animals in preventing their being abused, and in closing urged that the organization continue its work.

It was moved and carried that a petition should be sent to the Oregon Hu-mane Society asking for junior member-Miss Eugenia Kern will prepare ship. copies of this petition and have them in the rooms of the Stephens School for the teresting programme of songs and recitations was given. This was the last meetat the opening of the Fall term of school,

FOUNDATION FOR BOILERS.

Building Will Be Removed. Work on the concrete foundation for the Babcock boilers and engine for the chair, an power plant of the Portland City & Oresecretary. gon Railway Company, on the Rosa Wal-lace truct, at the foot of East Mill street, is progressing. The engineer in charge is having a board retaining wall built ready for the stone and concrete. The powerhouse will stand at the extreme south side of the Wallace tract, and the top of the foundation will be above high-water mark. Stone from the old stone works on the grounds will be worked into the foundation with the concrete. The powerhouse itself will be about 50x50.

This foundation for the boilers is all that is under way on these terminal grounds, but the other buildings will no doubt soon follow the erection of the power-house. These will be the machine shops and car barn, docks, and the saw-mill. On the grounds secured, which extend from Inman, Poulsen & Co.'s sawm and East Clay, including also the block occupied by Johnston's boatyard, between cocupied by Johnston's benyard, between East Clay and Hawthorne avenue, there are 15 buildings, which are to be removed. The hardware factory owned by W. E. Robertson and others on the Alger block has suspended operations, and will move away. The company held a lease on the property, but sold it to the railway com-pany. On the Southern Pacific Railway is also a machine shop occupied by cock & Co., which also will have to be moved. The row of buildings facing on East Clay street will be torn down All the buildings of the oar factory will be removed. On the east side of the tract the old stone works' structure will be torn down. Most of the structures that have been occupied are either vacant or will be soon. The agent of the railroad company jumped up the rent in every case to prohibitive rates, with the object, of course, of causing the tenants to get out as expeditiously as possible. Where there is a lease the agent has negotiated to-get possession. Machinery of the hard-wood factory will be stored until another site shall have been secured. The rail-road company evidently wants the use of the entire tract of land as soon as possible for its terminal facilities.

NEWS OF PLEASANT HOME. Prospects of Trolley Line to Portland

Causes Much Rejoicing. The prospects of a trolley railway to Pleasant Home cause great rejoicing all through Powell's Valley on to the Sandy River. A crew of surveyors of the pro-posed electric railway are camped near Stone's & Co.'s sawmill, and lines are being run and rights of way secured. It is thought at Pleasant Home that the rali-way will at least be started on this year. Parmers are inclined to make concessions to the railway, as they feel that it will be an immense advantage to send their produce to Portland quickly by railway.

Proctor & Beers have put in a new planer in their sawmill near Pleasant Home, and will soon be turning out planed lumber. They are also doing a considerable business sawing out rallway ties, and keep the haulers busy taking them to est, using it every morning, and a won Troutdale. O. A. #### FRUITGROWER'S TEAM RUNS AWAY

Mount Tabor Gooseberries and Bouquets Scattered Along the Street. F. Brotje, a Mount Tabor fruitgrowe met with a runaway accident yesterday morning at 6 o'clock, while driving in from his farm to the Portland market with a load of gooseberries and flower plants. He drove in with two horses and a wagon. As he came to East Thirteenth on Belmont strect the strap holding up the neck yoke of one of the horses broke.

The swinging of the tongue frightened the horses, causing them to run away. They dashed down the steep grade Belmont street at a great speed. Goose berries and flower plants were distributed along the street. Brotje was thrown out, striking heavily on the plank street, but quickly got on his feet and pursued the wagon. At the southwest corner of Grand avenue and Belmont street the horses collided with the sidewalk. Here the horses broke loose. One disappeared south on Grand avenue, but the other one was caught about a block away. When the wagon struck the sidewalk the rest of the load of gooseberries and flower plants was split out. The horse that escaped ran about three miles and was caught near Richmond. Neither animal was injured. The wagon was damaged to the amount of $5. Brotje was considerably bruised by his fall from the wagon

Steam Was Turned On.

At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon the en-gine of the Schmitt & Co. planing mill on East Taylor and East Eighth street, was started up for the first time, and the machines made a great roar. Nor-man Schmitt, son, and Dottie, daughter of Frank Schmitt, started the engine and the whistle respectively. There was quite a crowd in the building to see the first whirl of the machines. The boiler and engine seemed in perfect condition from the start, while the machines ran without trouble or vibration. Boards were sent through the planer, which is an improved machine. Souvenir hunters were on hand to carry off acraps of the first board planed. Mr. Schmitt expressed his satisfaction over the result of the first run of the machines. He said that within few days the mill would be in full opera-

Talked With Captain Langfitt. Joseph Buchtel, who is chairman of the committee of the East Side Improve-ment Association, having in charge the matter of regulating the opening and closing of the bridge draws, had a talk with Captain Langfitt yesterday. The engineer has yet made no recommendation, and is still gathering opinions and information. There is some surprise expressed that so few East Siders, who are supposed to be interested, have taken any part in the movement, while the whole burden has fallen on Mr. Buchtel's shoulders. Captain Langfitt is willing to hear from all interested

A family figured carefully on the co of food, taking into consideration the strength and health that Grape-Nuts furnished. The report is interesting.
