AMUSEMENTS TONIGHT.

MARQUAN GRAND THEATER—Matinee at 2:15 o'clock. Kathryn Kidder in David Garrick's delightful comedy, "The Country Girl." Evening at 8:15, Alexander Dumas' emotional drama, "Francillon."

GREAT TIME FOR PIONEERS—Preparations for the thirtieth annual reunion of the Oregon Pioneer Association are going on in a very satisfactory manner. All details are being as carefully attended to as possible, so that the honored pioneers, both men and women, may enjoy their next Wednesday and renew old acquaintanceship and live over the scenes of days gone by, with the least possible trouble to themselves. There are a great many, even yet, who have never attended an annual reunion. There has already a party passed by during the year past but that the secretary has found persons who are entitled to membership in the association, and yet have never attended a meeting. To all such a cordial invitation is extended to attend for once and get into the spirit of these annual gatherings.

The Woman's Auxiliary has all matters relating to the banquet well in hand. No time in the history of this most helpful organization has the interest in the reunion been so general and enthusiastic. It is the desire of the auxiliary, as well as of the secretary and executive officers and all committees, that each recurring reunion shall be an improvement upon the one preceding. Responses to the call of the women to have a very hearty and generous, yet bread and cake is still needed. The women will also be greatly obliged for donations of flowers for decorating the tables, and these may be sent early Wednesday morning.

Mrs. DUNWAY FOR PRESIDENT.—At the annual meeting of the Portland Women's Club yesterday afternoon, in the Sealing-Hirsch building, Mrs. Abigail Scott Dunway was elected president of the club by an almost unanimous vote. Mrs. Dunway was a pioneer in promoting public spirit and progress in Oregon, and the women of the club are proud to recognize her leadership by making her their president. Mrs. Dunway has also been elected honorary vice-president of the Oregon State Federation of Women's Clubs, and this is a life honor. The executive officers elected yesterday were: Mrs. Sarah E. Evans, vice-president; Mrs. S. Wynn Johnson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. A. H. Freyman, financial secretary; Mrs. G. M. Gilman, recording secretary; Mrs. H. W. Games, treasurer; Mrs. George Watt Ross, auditor; Mrs. Henry Heppner and Mrs. W. E. Thomas, directors. Several amendments to the constitution were offered and voted upon, but all were lost, with the exception of the proposed addition to the executive board of an auditor and a financial treasurer. It was also voted that standing committees and departments should make their reports at the meeting preceding the annual meeting, in order to avoid the press of business on that day.

PREPARING FOR SCHOOL ELECTION.—School Clerk Allen is busily preparing for the school election, which will take place on June 16. The new law increases the duties of the clerk to some extent, and so work has been begun yesterday at an earlier date than usual. Under the law the School Board this year will furnish all the ballots, with the names of the candidates on each and a space for voters to vote yes or no on the kind of school question. Heretofore the candidates or their friends have supplied the ballots, but this year all they will have to do will be to furnish samples outside of the polls. There are several vacancies in the ranks of the judges and clerks election afternoon. Clerk Allen requests that all who have been appointed and cannot serve notify him by Monday morning.

E. P. S. C. E. CONVENTION AT ASHLAND.—The state convention of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor will be held at Ashland, Oregon, Thursday and Friday, June 13 and 14. A special round-trip rate from Portland and all points north of Eugene has been granted on the train leaving Portland at 8:30 P. M., June 13, and returning from Ashland at the 4:30 P. M. train on Friday. An excellent program is promised, with Rev. Mac H. Wallace, of Eugene, and Rev. T. P. Revelle, of Seattle, and Rev. Hugh K. Walker, D. D., of Los Angeles, among the principal speakers. The $1 rate is for Endeavorers and their friends. Tickets will be on sale today at J. H. Ewing's bookstore, or they may be secured upon application to J. A. Rockwood, 67 Everett street.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH REVIVAL.—The revival meetings now being conducted at the First Christian Church by Dr. Charles Reiser Schell are being largely attended. Last evening the evangelist preached a masterly sermon on "Beginnings." Three more persons responded to the gospel invitation last evening, making 21 coming into the fellowship of God's church during the week thus far. This evening an interesting feature of the meeting will be the singing of "The Holy City," illustrated by stereoscopic views. The public is most cordially invited.

TWO MISSING PERSONS.—Two letters inquiring for information for lost persons were received by Chief of Police McLaughlin yesterday. One was from Mrs. Mary Kilborn of 121 Lyon street, Des Moines, Ia., who is anxious to learn the whereabouts of her son, Charles E. Kilborn, 23 years old. Kilborn started for Portland some time ago, and his mother has not heard from him for several months. He is a machinist by occupation, and is a member of the Order of the Macabees. The second was from C. A. Naimon, of 164 Montgomery street, San Francisco, who is endeavoring to locate a barber named Salvador Palma. Some money was recently left Palma, and the writer is desirous of informing him of that fact.

MR. ADAMS' FORTH LECTURE.—Henry Austin Adams delivered the fourth of his series of lectures at the Baker Theater last night. His subject was "Brains and Beliefs" and he handled it in the masterly way that characterized his previous lectures. From history he proved that the men who have achieved greatness in the realms of literature, science and art in the past were men of belief as well as of brains. He laid these facts succinctly before the audience, which was the largest that has yet greeted him, and he was often applauded to the echo. Adams will give the concluding lecture of the series. His subject will be "America's Debt to the Catholic Church."

NO MORE FUN FOR THE CROWN.—With the completion of the official canvass of the election returns, the crowd which hung around the Courthouse has departed, and things will now assume their customary aspect. The republican committee is in attendance at the count which has a tally-sheet of all the candidates, so that it will be possible to check up with the total figures given out by the clerk, W. A. Stokes, who watched the count with several friends, said, at the close, that he is worn out, and will leave town for a few days to take a rest. Some of the other successful candidates may do likewise.

DEATH OF MRS. BLOOM.—The funeral of Mrs. Hannah Bloom, widow of the late Jacob Bloom, took place at 2 P. M. yesterday from her late residence, 133 Tenth street. Mrs. Bloom had a wide circle of friends, being an old pioneer and giving much to charity, both in money and time. Shortly after her husband's death, which occurred two and one-half years ago, she contracted the disease of paralysis, and gradually declined until her death, which occurred Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock, and which was sudden and painful. Four grown children survive her, three daughters and a son.

Body Found in Rogue River. GRANT'S PASS, June 13.—A. F. Gieseman, a miner on Grant's Pass this morning, reported the finding of the body of an unknown man on Paradise Bar, on Rogue. Gieseman and his companions buried the remains. The man was apparently about 35 years of age, six feet in height, and was dressed in miner's attire. In his pockets were found $20 in coin and gold dust, though nothing that would identify him. It is supposed that he had been prospecting, and in attempting to cross the river was drowned. The body had been in the river three weeks or more.

Delayed Bridge Traffic. An accident to a horse belonging to Dr. Fred Frith, 380 East 1st street, which happened on the Morrison-street bridge last night at 11 o'clock, delayed traffic for over half an hour. One of the horse's hoofs became wedged in the opening between the bridge and the draw, and streetcars and teams were blocked. The bridge-tenders worked for a long time trying to lift the horse's hoof out, but finally were compelled to cut away part of the draw and bridge with axes. This was not done without injury to the horse, and it was feared the horse's leg was broken.

AMUSEMENTS. Kathryn Kidder in "The Country Girl" at the Marquam. THE CAST. Peggy, Miss Kidder. Alice, Mrs. Ashworth. Lucy, Miss Flinch. Bloody, Norman Hackett. Harcourt, Robert V. Ferguson. Sparkish, Mrs. Salsbery.

Kathryn Kidder, whose well-nigh perfect performance of Lady Tessa in "The School for Scandal" was well remembered in Portland, and whose dignity and stifle as a reader have won her distinction in Shakespearean roles, came to the Marquam last night as Peggy in David Garrick's bolshoi comedy "The Country Girl." Although the rollicking humor of the piece afforded much amusement, Miss Kidder's share in it is distinctly disappointing. She is unsuited to the hideous lab pranks which comprise the chief duties of the heroine, and has little if any opportunity for the display of the talents with which Nature has endowed her. The letter-writing scene with Peggy and her guardian was really good, but the work during the performance, and even that was in many respects overplayed.

T. C. Hamilton, as Moody, and Norman Hackett, as Harcourt, are the most worthy members of the support, although Monroe Salsbery answers the requirements of the part of Bellville in a manner that is fairly satisfactory. Robert V. Ferguson, as Sparkish, does some good comedy in the second act, but his drunken scene in the last act is a little too much of comic opera for a legitimate comedy. "The Country Girl" will be repeated this afternoon. Tonight Alexander Dumas' "Francillon."

MATINEE TODAY. "The Country Girl" Will Be the Bill at the Marquam. "The Country Girl," which was given by Kathryn Kidder and her company at the Marquam last night, will be repeated at the matinee this afternoon. There has been a large advance sale, and a crowded house is expected.

COMING ATTRACTION. The Pollards at the Baker. A pleasing novelty will be the appearance at Baker's Theater commencing Sunday with a matinee June 15, of Pollard's juvenile opera company. The artistic work of these young performers is still fresh in the minds of all who had the pleasure of witnessing their productions on their former visit to the city, and the very clever work of Little Daphne Pollard was commented on by every one. The entire company returns for a season at Baker's Theater, and the delightful nautical opera, "H. M. Pinafore," will be the opening opera. It will run up to and include Wednesday evening, and will be followed by "A Gaiety Girl" for the rest of the season. The last named opera that made such a hit on its previous presentation in this city. The usual prices of Baker's Theater will prevail during the engagement. Seats are now on sale.

INTEREST IN ROSE SHOW. Prominent Growers Will Have Flowers on Exhibition. More and more interest is being manifested in the coming rose show as the opening day approaches. Rosegrowers of every class are expressing their intention to be represented at the display, and little doubt is now entertained but that one of the most extensive and complete rose exhibits will be given that Portland has ever seen. A number of fine prizes have been offered by the business men for the finest decorations at the floral parade, and this year the greatest collection. Tea roses may not be shown in the same abundance as would have been possible, had the dates been a week earlier, yet in higher or more shaded locations they bloom later, thereby assuring a good display of hybrid teas will be at their best, so that this class will be seen at the height of their beauty and profusion. With the change of date to Friday and Saturday, it is desired that any one contributing roses for the exhibition will hand them into the large tent in Multnomah Field as early as possible Friday morning. A committee will give a magnificent display of early as 7:30 o'clock; this request is made in order that all may be well placed for the public display, which will be made early in the afternoon. The Rose Society is not offering prizes, but will have a sale of a book entitled "Roses of Portland, Oregon," which is full of valuable information for the rosegrower, or any one interested in roses.

Fugitive Chinaman Captured. GRANT'S PASS, June 13.—Long Oak, a fugitive Chinaman from Happy Camp, Cal., where he is wanted for murder, was brought into Grant's Pass this morning, having been captured in the Applegate mountains by pursuing officers. Long Oak murdered a fellow Chinaman at Happy Camp several days ago, cutting him to pieces with a pitchfork. He is escaped across the line into Oregon, and was captured in the mountains yesterday. He has a notorious reputation in Northern California.

TO CLOUD CAP INN. Portland Party Goes Partly Up Mount Hood. "The first attempt to ascend Mount Hood from the north side was made Friday by Isadore Lang and M. M. Hingler, of Portland, and Horace Meeklen, of New York. On account of the great amount of snow in the timber belt, the party only reached Cloud Cap Inn, and as they wished to return the same day, they went no further up the mountain.

Mr. Lang and Mr. Hingler left Portland Tuesday with the intention of reaching Cloud Cap Inn if possible, but found, upon arriving at Hood River, that no one had been up since last Fall, and that the stage was not running. Fortunately, Mr. Meeklen, clerk of the inn, was in the city and offered to accompany them; so they engaged a team, and Wednesday drove as far as the Elk Beda. Here the horses were left and the party proceeded on foot. The snow extends down through timber for three miles, and is from 4 to 20 feet deep. The climb was rather severe, but the party succeeded in reaching Cloud Cap Inn by 2 P. M.

Mr. Meeklen said that there was four times as much snow in the timber this year as last, but hoped to have the road open by Friday. This is the first party that has reached Cloud Cap since last August.

Mr. Lang and Mr. Hingler were to leave for Trout Lake Saturday morning, and hope to be able to climb Mount Adams.
