AMUSEMENTS TONIGHT.

THE BAKER THEATRE (order Third and Family-Fuller's Music Opera Company in "A Gaiety Girl" 8:15.

Many New Street-Cars Building.—That Portland is growing and improving is shown by the fact that the two principal street railway companies are engaging large forces of men, building new cars for extended lines in the suburbs and for quicker service on the city lines.

FINE ROSES AT AID SOCIETY HOME.—What may be done in the way of rose culture has been demonstrated by S. S. Palmer, of the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society, who brought some fine large specimens of the white and red La France, Augusta Victoria, Cascade and other varieties to the Oregonian office last night.

CADETS OF HIGH DEGREE.—The cadets of the Hill Military Academy, who obtained the highest standing in the fourth quarter of the school year ending June 11, are as follows: In the primary department, Robert E. Porter, with honorable mention of Walter Smith, San Francisco; preparatory, Allan Fletcher, Portland, with honorable mention of Frank Fabi, Portland; academic, Renton K. Brodie, Palestine, Or., with honorable mention of Robert C. Brodie. In addition to the above, the following cadets also are on the quarterly roll of honor for excellence in scholarship and deportment: William H. Burton, Ray P. Dempsey, William M. Fraser, J. R. Holman, Edmund S. Levy, Malcolm H. MacSwain, Wilson P. Mays, Eugene Minor, Young Tong, all of Portland; Earl G. Dedrick, Harry Duckworth, Fred of Sumner, Charles A. Houston, Missoula, Mont., Charles L. Moore, Salem; Harland H. Olmsted, Baker City.

Now for the Rose Show.—The Portland Rose Society asks that roses intended for the exhibition be left at the rose tent in the center of Multnomah field as early as possible Friday morning. A committee of ladies will be there to receive them as early as 7:30. This receipt is made in order that all contributions may be labeled and placed before the hour set for the reception of guests. Any and every person having fine roses is earnestly asked to contribute to this display, and thereby to aid in the success of the finest floral exhibitions ever seen in the Northwest. Persons who have roses and cannot conveniently bring them Friday are asked to leave them to be just as acceptable Saturday.

FOR THE CIVIL SERVICE.—The United States Civil Service Commission announces that on July 8, examinations will be held in this city for the position of engineer, Bureau of Reclamation, Department of Agriculture, watch officer in the Coast and Geodetic Survey, and Finnish interpreter, qualified to speak Russian and Swedish, in the immigration service. On July 11-12, for the position of aid in the Coast and Geodetic Survey; and on July 15-16, for assistant (piece work) computer in the National Almanac office. Persons desiring to compete should apply to the address Z. A. Leigh, Postoffice Department, MARKED COUPLES WHILE HEARING DIVORCE SUIT.—While engaged in the trial of a divorce suit yesterday, Judge George ordered a recess in order to take time to marry a couple who applied to him armed with the necessary license, and asked to have the nuptial ceremony performed. The nuptial couple sat in the courtroom with their attendant witnesses, while the pair seeking to be married and their witnesses were escorted into the Judge's chambers, and united in the due legal manner. The judge presided over the affair conducted that neither couple knew of the presence of the other.

HOTEL CLERK IS DEAD. John C. Pendegast Succumbs to Heart Failure.

John C. Pendegast, day clerk at the Edmond Hotel, and who was well known to the traveling public of the Northwest, died suddenly in his room yesterday morning. Death was due to heart failure. At 5 o'clock Pendegast complained of violent pains in his left side, and Dr. George H. Stronberg was summoned to attend him. The doctor administered a heart stimulant, and when he took his departure his patient appeared to be greatly improved. About an hour later a hellow called to see how Pendegast was, and found that he had passed away. The coroner was notified, and decided that death was due to heart failure, and that an inquest would not be necessary. The attack is supposed to have been caused by excessive use of ice water. While playing a game of cards with friends the previous night, Pendegast had drunk no less than seven glasses of the icy fluid.

Mr. Pendegast was a native of Woodland, Cal., and was about 35 years old. His mother and brother live in Woodland. He came to Oregon about 25 years ago, and with the exception of his brief stay at the hotel when it had a Coast reputation as a fashionable hostelry. Subsequently he was employed as clerk in hotels in the larger Washington cities. He returned to Portland about six years ago, and has since been employed as a clerk in several hotels, but some time ago he returned to the Edmond. It used to be said of Pendegast that he could give more information about the town in which he lived than any other person, and that he always picked the best points of interest for tourists. He always made it his business to get acquainted with the guests in the hotels where he was employed, and he had such an excellent memory for faces and names that travelers who probably had not met him more than once would be surprised when they arrived, and before they registered at the hotel, to be saluted by, "And how are you, Mr. —? How are things up in —?" Arrangements for the funeral have not been completed, but it is probable that the remains will be shipped to Woodland for burial.

What men need most in the hurly and burly of life and the strain of it is something which can be used judiciously, with discretion, as a relief against the wear and tear of business. Thousands of the most active business men in all pursuits would be benefited by the use of a pure and pleasant all that is needed, and hence temperately so many make use of the best. The object is, imperatively, in the use of a stimulant, to find the purest type of the purest stimulant, and that is the unqualified reputation of Hunter Baltimore Bire. The American Gentleman's Whisky, found in favor everywhere in the hotels, clubs and clubs. The reason of this is evident. It has become the favorite because the utmost care, regardless of expense, is given to its production, and it is placed upon the market with the purity that is pure and mellow, and hence the preferred for use under a physician's direction. It is the favorite of its age and rich flavor it is the favorite of a large majority of those who use it, and hence the demand for it has so rapidly increased it is never disappointed, but find what they expect to find, a stimulant followed by age, of delicious flavor and pure beyond question.

RATES EAST GREATLY REDUCED. Call at O. R. & N. ticket office, Third and Washington, for quotations on round-trip tickets to the coast, which will be offered for sale on June 20 and July 1.

STOCK AT STATE FAIR

OUTLOOK GOOD FOR GREATEST EXHIBITION YET KNOWN.

Management Offer Liberal Premiums—Inducements for County Exhibits.

W. H. Wehrung, president, and M. D. Wisdom, secretary of the Oregon State Board of Agriculture, will start out this morning on a tour through the Willamette Valley and Southern Oregon in the interest of the coming state fair, to be held at Salem September 25-30. The prospects for a successful fair are regarded as very bright.

The circuit of fairs arranged early in the year will bring out a large number of exhibitors of live stock that will attend all the fairs of the circuit. Several carloads of blooded stock brought into Oregon since the last fair will be on exhibition this year.

Secretary Wisdom says to state in the Union will have a better live-stock show than Oregon this year. Large sums of money have been added to the premium list by both local breeders, and the National Live Stock Association, which shows that Oregon is recognized by Eastern people as a breeding state.

The county exhibits that attracted so much attention last year will be made one of the leading features of the fair this year, and it is desired that no county of agricultural pretensions in the state should go unrepresented. These exhibits are what attract the attention of the homeowner and are worth many times their cost to the county as an advertisement.

The following premiums will be given on Short-horn cattle at the State Fair this year. Competition is open to the world, which means that Oregon is not afraid to meet cattle from any section of the United States or Canada.

L. N. Fleischer gave the report of the music committee to the effect that bids had been received from three bands, and that $50 would be needed to furnish the music of the celebration.

STASHUS TRIAL BEGINS. Charged With Assault With a Dangerous Weapon.

The trial of Fritz Stashus, accused of having assaulted George Buckley with a dangerous weapon on the night of May 17, was begun in the Municipal Court yesterday afternoon. Buckley and Stashus are the men who had a quarrel in a saloon in the mill district in North Portland, and the former nearly met his death at the hands of the latter. Stashus was at first held without bonds, as it was thought that Buckley's wounds would prove fatal. Buckley recovered, however, and only a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon was placed against Stashus.

The first witnesses examined yesterday were Louis Miller, Jacob Cole and Andrew Castro, and their evidence was substantially the same as their previous statements. The last witness on the stand was Miss Julia Stickley, who lives in the house where the men room. She testified that she saw Buckley standing at the door of his room, and that Stashus, with a knife in his hand, had sprung at him two or three times and had been pushed away each time. Most of the men in the house, she said, did not like Buckley, because "he was a jobber and they did not know how to josh or how to take a job."

As there are about a dozen witnesses to examine, the case was continued until 10 o'clock this morning.
