

CHASE IS RESUMED

Convicts Tracy and Merrill Are Again Seen.

HUNGER DRIVES THE MEN OUT

Secure Breakfast at Farmhouse Eight Miles From Vancouver—Bloodhounds Again Pressed Into Service.

Tracy and Merrill yesterday appeared at two farmhouses, about eight miles from Vancouver, and asked for something to eat. The officers at Vancouver were informed a short time of the visits of the escapees, and again set out to capture them. The two men on horseback, Wednesday, who were believed to be the convicts prove to have been miners bound for their claim.

VANCOUVER, Wash., June 18.—(Special correspondence.)—Tracy and Merrill's stomachs may yet cause their undoing. The notorious outlaws went this morning, shortly after 9 o'clock, to the Targerson ranch, in the Salmon Creek country, two miles north of the Tenney Schoolhouse and eight miles from Vancouver, to get a breakfast of flour and bacon, but as the family supply of these articles was already low, the convicts were turned down. Nothing daunted, however, they hurried on to the next ranch, where they ate breakfast, in which strawberries and cream formed the principal feature, and one of the men paid $1 to the woman of the house. This done, Tracy and Merrill disappeared in the brush near by.

Boy Gives the Alarm. Up to 11 o'clock this morning, Vancouver men had given up the chase and the idea that Tracy and Merrill might yet be captured around La Center. Everybody had a worried and disgusted air when one happened to ask: "Well, have they caught them yet?" But excitement grew and new life was felt in the momentous topic when Reuben Targerson, 29 years old, rode into town on his bicycle and announced: "Tracy and Merrill were at our place this morning, wanting something to eat." He was hurried before Sheriff Marsh, and diligently examined and cross-examined to see if some mistake had not been made in the identity of the visitors at his father's place, but the boy stuck to his story.

Story of Youth. "I was working near my father's barn when I saw two men walking across our field from the direction of the woods," said Reuben Targerson. "When they were about 25 feet from me, I said, 'Hello,' and they returned the salutation. They then asked for flour and bacon, and I said I would see my father, and went to the house for that purpose. They followed me, and told my father what they wanted, saying: 'We have plenty of money to pay for what you let us have.' Father replied that our provisions were very low, and that we were going to town today to replenish our stock. Father asked them if they were hunting for Merrill and Tracy, and one of them replied that they were. The other one said: 'We noticed some tracks near the woods across the field, and with that remark the visitors departed, entering the woods at the place from which they came.'

Convicts Tired and Worn. The boy stated that he recognized the convicts from the picture of them published in The Oregonian, and that while they were talking to his father, he observed them closely. When asked in regard to the dress and condition of the visitors, the boy replied that they looked tired and worn, and one of them, the one he took to be Tracy, had several scratches on his forehead. He said one stranger wore a pair of jean trousers, a blue woolen shirt, and a knit cap. The other wore striped trousers, a blue coat and a campaign hat. Both carried Winchester rifles, which looked almost new. The boy did not know whether they had revolvers, but said they might have had them in their back pockets, although he did not see them.

Pose Again Starts Out. Sheriff Marsh, on receiving the above report from young Targerson, was satisfied that the men seen were none other than the much-sought Merrill and Tracy, and immediately set about making preparations to renew the hunt.

Guard Carson and posse, who have been awaiting developments at Woodland, were notified by telephone, and Marsh's posse immediately set out for the new hunting ground. The party consisted of: Sheriff Totten of Skamania, Bert Biesecker, Luther Davidson, Guard Ferrell and Constable Tomlinson, and a number of others, the most determined hunters that have yet followed the trail. The posse left here at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon with the intention of meeting the Woodland party at Targerson's place.

Horsemen Not Escapes. The horsemen whom the posse followed so diligently yesterday proved to be two miners, on the way to the mining district in the north end of Clark County. One wore a cap, and one a hat, and both carried rifles. John Anderson, who lives on the Pioneer road, reported that they had passed his place, and that he knew both of them, one being an elderly man, and the riders undoubtedly had a narrow escape, and if the posse had overtaken them they probably would have been killed.

WOOL PRICES SOAR HIGH

Large Lot Commands 15 1/2 CENTS AT SHANIKO. Highest Figure Paid in Eastern Oregon in Several Years—750,000 Pounds Total Sales. SHANIKO, Or., June 18.—Ten buyers attended the public wool sales at this place today. About 750,000 pounds were disposed of, at prices ranging from 12 1/2 cents to 15 1/2 cents, the latter being paid by E. W. Brigham, representing the wool firm of Whitman, Farnsworth & Thayer, of Boston, for the first clip of the Baldwin Sheep & Land Company, amounting to 250,000 pounds. The growers are well pleased with the prices paid today, as they are the highest reached in Eastern Oregon for many years.

ALL READY FOR CAMP MEETING. Annual Meeting of Christian Church of Oregon Begins Today. TURNER, June 18.—Everything is in readiness for the 27th annual session of the Oregon Christian Endeavor convention, which will be convened in the Tabernacle here tomorrow morning. The campmeeting will be continued for 10 days, the concluding meetings being held on Sunday, June 23. Ample accommodations have been provided for the increased attendance that is expected this season.

MILLIONS OF GRASSHOPPERS. Leaves of Lemon and Orange Trees Stripped From Trees. MODESTO, Cal., June 18.—Millions of grasshoppers have made their appearance in this county, the principal place being affected by La Grange, 26 miles east of here in the Sierra Nevada foothills. Albert J. Cardozo reports the leaves of his fine orange and lemon orchard have been stripped from a tree. Others report the same. The grasshoppers are apparently here in great numbers, and are doing much damage to the crops. A large number of them were seen on the alfalfa fields, devouring all the green leaves. The grasshoppers are apparently quite young, as they retain the appearance of having just been hatched.

Young Hair That means rich hair, heavy hair, no gray hair. Is yours thin, short, gray? Just remember, Ayer's Hair Vigor always restores color to gray hair, all the dark, rich color it had years ago. It stops falling of the hair, also. Has been tested for 50 years. "About a year ago my hair nearly all came out. I thought I would try Ayer's Hair Vigor. I used only one bottle of it, and now my hair has come in real thick and a little curly."—Mrs. Lizzie M. Smith, Saratoga, N. Y.

human affairs and drain equality out of caste. Freedom out of slavery and liberty out of tyranny. America can no longer be the old America. Events have been forced upon us. We have been crowded into a wilderness, and a greater wilderness. The die is cast, the Rubicon is crossed, retreat is impossible, advance we must or perish. With the landmarks of history by which to steer our course, with precedents of jurists and statesmen at the helm, we will boldly face the future, and in the words of Montaigne: "Behaving respectfully to the past, doing justice to the present; we value the future and true progress."

Pacific Students Put On a Drama. PACIFIC UNIVERSITY, Forest Grove, June 18.—The commencement exercises of Pacific University closed last night with the junior exhibition, which was the rendition in English of Euripes' "Iphigenia at Aulis." The drama was exceptionally well rendered. Most of the members of the class took part in the Greek play given last year. The following was the cast of characters: Agamemnon, King of Argos... W. G. Hale; Servant of King... Fred Day; Menelaus, brother of Agamemnon... W. G. Hale; Helen of Troy... W. G. Hale; Clytemnestra, wife of Agamemnon... Mary Bailey; Iphigenia, daughter of Agamemnon... O. D. Caples; Creteas, son of Agamemnon... Mary Bailey; Queen's attendants—Minesa English, Irvin, Sorbonne, Mosley; Agamemnon's guards—Messrs. Baker, Shively, Harrel, Fletcher; Menelaus' guards—Messrs. Everson and Peters; Achilles' myrmidons—Messrs. Hall and Markham. Business manager—Frederick Vrooman.

Waterston Asked to Be Orator. BAKER CITY, June 18.—The Fourth of July committee has at last secured a man to make a balloon ascension in this city on the Fourth. The committee is now in search of some one to deliver the oration. They have set their mark high in this particular, and are determined, if possible, to bestow the honor of orator of the day on Editor Henry Waterston of Kentucky. Mr. Waterston is to speak in Portland July 19, and in view of the fact that he is coming West at that time, the committee hopes to be able to induce him to come on a few days earlier and be here on the Fourth. Mr. Waterston has been communicated with, but has not replied as yet.

Money for State Soldiers' Home. SALEM, June 18.—State Treasurer Moore today received $1575 from the general treasury of the National Home for Disabled Soldiers, as the allowance for the quarter ending March 31, for the support of the Roseburg Soldiers' Home, the remittance being made on a basis of 4 inmates at the Roseburg institution.
