SENSATION AT DAWSON.

Suspended Customs Collector Hands In His Resignation.

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 23.—A special from Dawson says: One of the latest sensations of the day culminated in the resignation today of D. W. Davis, Collector of Customs of the Port of Dawson, who was suspended yesterday night by Alexander Cook, formerly of Vancouver, who also resigned, and has severed his connection with the Customs Department. The upheaval in the government office was the result of an examination of the books of the entries made by S. W. McMichael, Chief Inspector of the Canadian Customs Department, and by his assistant, Mr. Belton. Mr. McMichael and Belton, in Dawson, two weeks ago, since that time have been making expert examinations of the affairs of the office.

NO TRACE OF CONVICTS

BUT POSSE IS STILL OUT AFTER TRACY AND MERRILL.

Will Be Reinforced From Time to Time—Sheriff Marsh Returns Home.

VANCOUVER, Wash., June 23.—No tidings of importance were received from the pursuers of Tracy and Merrill today. The present whereabouts of the outlaws are unknown. Sheriff Marsh, of Clark County, who has been prosecuting the search for the desperadoes almost constantly for eight days, has returned home from La Center utterly worn out from the exertion of the chase and loss of sleep, and well-nigh discouraged over repeated failures to locate the convicts. He left Guard Carson and the bloodhounds, Walter Lyon, Ekipson, Farnsworth, and C. Sanderson, the Williams in the neighborhood of the Dunlap House, a mile and a half east of La Center, where the convicts were seen last Saturday. The men, reinforced

JUMPS TO HIS DEATH

MAN BOUND FOR OREGON BECOMES INSANE ON THE WAY.

Left Train in Washington and His Body Was Later Discovered in a Creek.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 23.—Investigation proves that John Yeschick, the Oregon-bound immigrant, who was believed to have been murdered for his money at Stampele last Saturday, met death accidentally while temporarily insane. It was learned from witnesses that the man was seen running up and down the track in his bare feet with his coat off, and it is thought he either jumped or fell off a high city the sharp stones and sharp roots inflicting the wounds that look like knife-thrusts. On Saturday last the body of Yeschick, who was a resident of Renville, Minn., was found in the creek near that station. The legs of the dead man were bruised and out a wound had been inflicted on the right hip, and another wound three inches deep was present under the right arm. He had considerable money in his possession. Yeschick and his mother were on their way to Portland, Or., from their Minnesota home, where a widow and five children were left behind when the train stopped at Stampele. Yeschick left it, presumably to get a little exercise. He missed the train, his mother continuing to Portland. His dead body was found on the creek the following day. The clothing contained but 50 cents in money and a cheap watch. The man's money and a cheap watch.

WARREN GIVES HIS SIDE OF CASE.

Cannerymen Says Competitors' Are Back of Treasort's Suit.

ASTORIA, Or., June 23.—In the Circuit Court this afternoon arguments were heard on a motion filed by the defendant in the case of C. B. Treasort vs. F. M. Warren and the Treasort Packing Company, asking for a vacation of the order made by the court last Friday, by which a receiver was appointed for the Treasort Packing Company. In support of the motion an affidavit was submitted stating that the Treasort Packing Company's business competitors of the defendant to obtain possession of the company's books in order to secure valuable information from them. After hearing the arguments the court, Judge P. M. Warren, as joint receiver to act with John Adams, previously appointed to take charge of the affairs of the company.

Burial of Underwood Frank.

ABERDEEN, Wash., June 23.—Frank E. Underwood, returned from Seattle yesterday, bringing with him the body of the Underwood infant he having satisfied the charges of the British undertakers for their work in embalming the body. The little casket was taken to a local undertaking parlor and no one but a few interested friends, aside from the family, knew of its arrival this morning. The body was quietly interred in Fern Hill cemetery. The Underwood case is rarely mentioned here now, all interest in it seeming to have died out, the only news being one of sympathy for the parents of the misguided young couple.
