DIAMOND MYSTERY IN COURT.—The mystery connected with the disappearance of the diamond cluster valued at $1500 and $1460 in currency from C. H. Read's house, 306 East Clay street, last Saturday night, on the occasion of the big fire, was inquired into yesterday by Municipal Judge Cameron, when Ernest Gernaux was charged with the larceny of the articles. Policeman Connors told of the arrest of Gernaux when the latter was caught with Read's clothing in his possession along the Southern Pacific Railroad track. "Shortly before the fire started I was called over to this side of the river," stated Read. "I left the diamond cluster and the money in a bureau drawer, thinking that they would be all right when I came back. But the fire took place in the meantime, and when I returned to my place I found that neighbors and others had removed my furniture, etc., along the railroad track for safety. Nearly everything had been turned out. The police have shown me the clothing found in Gernaux's possession, and I have identified it as my property. Portions of my property have been recovered in various houses, and this morning I recovered a ring which is a memento of the Mountain Meadow massacre. Where did I get this ring today? In a friend's house; it had been kept for me." The case was continued until today to give Gernaux an opportunity to present his side of the case.

NEW STAMP LAW TO GO IN EFFECT.—The war-revenue tax which was placed on beer and tobacco in 1898 will under the law passed by Congress in April be removed on July 1, and Colonel Dunne, Collector of Internal Revenue, is sending notices to his deputies in Oregon and Washington advising them of that fact. The tax on beer at present is $1 09 a barrel. Under the new law it will be $1, the tax which was in force previous to June, 1898. The tax on tobacco will be reduced from 9.6 cents per pound in original packages to 6 cents. As the new issue of stamps cannot be sold at the general office in Portland or at the stamp offices in Seattle, Tacoma and Spokane before midnight of June 30, the Collector will make every effort to fill orders so that the brewers may receive their stamps on July 1. The office in Portland will be kept open from 7 to 10 P. M. on June 30 to receive orders, and will be reopened at 6 A. M. Tuesday, July 1, to supply the demand. During the first few days old stamps will not be accepted in exchange, and cash must be paid for the new issue. When all the orders are filled, however, the old stamps will be redeemed and the rebate allowed by Congress, amounting to 60 cents per barrel on beer and 3.6 cents per pound on tobacco in original packages, will be paid.

GRIEVANCES OF THE CHINESE.—The patriotic Chinese are already preparing to celebrate the Fourth of July, and incidentally to profit by it. In nearly every window in Chinatown enough firecrackers and other explosives are stored to blow all the small boys of Portland into atoms. The Chinese merchants are complaining bitterly that the Americans are infringing on their ancient and alleged inalienable rights in making and selling firecrackers of the cannon variety, which are loaded with dynamite and capable of producing a detonation which would make the explosion of Mount Pelee sound like the dropping of a camel's hair. These bombs are far more dangerous than any sold by the Chinese, as well as far more noisy, and for that reason are in greater demand by the American youth, who desires to be blown just as high for his money as possible. In smaller firecrackers, however, the Chinaman still drives a thriving business, and the output of Second street will without doubt fill its full share of hospital wards during the coming celebration.

DONATIONS BY FLORISTS.—In the report of The Oregonian of the mass meeting of the Lewis and Clark Civic Improvement Association, held at Cordray's Theater, Monday evening, it was stated the plants given to the children were entirely the donation of George Otten. While Mr. Otten was very generous in his donations, and aided the association greatly in arranging for the meeting, other florists of the city also responded most cordially to the request of the association for plants, and to the following firms it wishes to extend its thanks: Martin & Forbes, Clark Bros., Burkhardt Bros., P. Johnson, H. Lowitz, Superintendent City Park, and John Alstedt.

MOONEY'S STORY DIDN'T GO.—John Mooney, a cripple, who once held an enviable record for swimming from Oregon City to Portland, was again before Municipal Judge Cameron yesterday, charged with the larceny of brass journals from the O. R. & N. Co. Evidence was presented by Detective Snow showing that Mooney had tried to sell brass journals at Second and Everett streets, and that the stolen articles belonged to the O. R. & N. Co. "I didn't steal the articles; I wouldn't do such a thing, now," spoke up Mooney. "I'm reformed. After I got out of jail the last time I went to California, and then to Montana. One day I found myself at Wallula Junction, Wash., and I met a man that I once had worked with. His name? I forget it. He saw that I was down on my luck, and he gave me a lot of old pieces of brass and said the sale of them would help me after I arrived in Portland. He said the pieces of brass were old and not of much value to the company, and that he had the right to give them to his friends." "You want me to believe that this alleged good man sits along the track giving brass goods away to any one who comes along?" spoke up the Judge. "Mooney, you have been in this court too often, and your promises to lead a better life are no good. You will be sentenced to six months in the County Jail." Mooney never said a word as he walked to his cell. "There goes a man who has had lots of excitement in his life," remarked a police official. "I remember some two or three years ago, when Mooney was arrested for stealing railroad iron, that he asked the Judge to let him go on the plea that he had caught the iron as it floated down the Willamette River."

BICYLIST ON THE WAR PATH.—Richard W. Montague, who was recently thrown from his bicycle by Deputy Sheriff L. C. Welr, who was looking for unlicensed wheels near Seven Corners, on the Section Line road, has announced his intention of bringing suit against Sheriff Frazier for damages. Although Mr. Montague had not yet paid his bicycle tax, he contends that the deputy had no right to throw him from his wheel, and asserts that had the officer shown his star he would have stopped and paid the sum he demanded for the license, although he denies the right of the county to impose a penalty. Deputy Sheriff D. D. Jackson was with Weir when the bicycle was stopped, but did not participate in the assault excepting verbally. Immediately after the occurrence Weir was removed on complaint of Mr. Montague, but was the same day restored to his position. Sheriff Frazier yesterday received a letter from Mr. Montague announcing the latter's intention of holding the Sheriff responsible for the assault committed by his deputy, and demanding the return of the penalty of $1 50 which was paid for the release of the wheel. The Sheriff says that he is not responsible, and that the deputy did not exceed his authority in any way. He declines to return the $1 50. Mr. Montague says he will begin suit within the next week or two.

CHECK FOR $250 FOR FIRE DEPARTMENT.—That people whose property is saved from flames by the efforts of firemen appreciate the efforts of the department was shown yesterday by the receipt by Fire Chief Campbell of a check for $250 from R. M. Wade & Co. Wade & Co.'s building was one of the few big places lying near the Madison-street bridge which escaped the conflagration of Saturday night. It was saved by the firemen, who, with the limited water supply at their command, saw that their main work was to check the progress of the fire eastward. The Wade building, in which there was a large stock of agricultural implements, etc., was in danger several times, but was saved. In recognition of the good work of the department, the manager, Edward Newbegin, sent the check to Chief Campbell with a request that it be distributed among the men as he thought best, and a compliment upon the successful fight which they had made against the fire. Chief Campbell, after thanking the company, turned the check over to the sick fund, from which every sick or disabled fireman receives benefit.

EPISCOPAL MISSIONARY AUXILIARY TO MEET.—The annual meeting of the diocesan branch of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Board of Missions will be held in St. Stephen's Church, corner of Thirteenth and Clay streets, tomorrow, June 26, at 10:30 A. M. The Holy Communion will be administered and an address made by the Rt. Rev. Frederic Keator, the newly consecrated bishop of Olympia. At 12:30 luncheon will be served by the ladies of Trinity and St. Stephen's, in the parish-house. At the afternoon session several new speakers will be present, Rev. Mr. Glover, the diocesan missionary; Rev. Mr. Goodheart, of Canyon City and Sumpter, and others. A cordial invitation is extended to all interested in missionary work throughout the diocese.

COMPANY TO RUN MINIATURE RAILWAY.—An attraction which, although already quite popular in many of the Eastern cities, will be a novelty for Portland will soon be introduced by a company consisting of George W. Simons, James Glisan, Herman Moeller, M. F. Brady and F. Fenwick. A miniature railway, consisting of a small engine, the exact facsimile of an ordinary railroad locomotive, and 10 small cars, holding 4 children or two adults, will be started soon at Cedar Park, St. Johns. An 18-inch-gauge track will be constructed around the park, and this novel little train will make the circuit at great speed. A track will also be laid around the Multnomah Field, and this railway will be one of the attractions at the Street Carnival.

LAW COULDN'T STOP HIM.—The cool rains of the past week have made endurable the temporary tying up of the free baths, and as a consequence the youngsters around town are not as happy as they would be were it good swimming weather. Several hundred of them stood on the Madison-street bridge the night of the fire and held their breath while the Hoo Hoo was towing the baths into safety. One of them, looking upon the proceedings on the river with the deepest anxiety, said: "Well, if them there baths goes up we'll just hike up an' make the Council let us go in anywhere. We can't be kep' out o' goin' swimmin' by no law, an' that's a fact."

FOR SELLING WATERED MILK.—Henry Westerman, a milkman of South Portland, was arrested by State Food and Dairy Commissioner Bailey yesterday on a charge of selling adulterated milk. Mr. Bailey says he learned last week that Westerman was selling watered milk to various restaurants, and he gave him orders to discontinue the practice. Westerman did not do so, and his arrest followed. The case will come up in the Municipal Court today.

FOR A FAMILIAR OFFENSE.—Frank Wilson, who was arrested for selling whisky to Indians at Hood River, and who was examined by the United States Commissioner at that place, was brought to Portland by Deputy Marshal Proebstel yesterday and was confined in the County Jail in default of bail. Wilson's case will be taken up by the grand jury.

WANT A WALK TO THE BRIDGE.—Business men who have stores on Front and First streets from Main to Clay are considering the advisability of constructing a footwalk from the east span of the Madison-street bridge which was not damaged by fire Saturday night to the remnants of the east approach on Hawthorne avenue near East Water street. A delegation headed by A. Shapiro and John Matthieson called on the County Court yesterday to obtain permission for the building of such a structure, but as Judge Cake was not in, nothing was done. Commissioner Showers was seen by the delegation, but he thought the project was not practicable. The delegation said that unless the walk was built the business interests of the vicinity would suffer materially, as the bridge would probably not be reopened for two or three months. Mr. Shapiro said he would raise sufficient money to build a walk for pedestrians. The Commissioners think that the rebuilding of the bridge will be completed in a short time. The cylinder piers will be examined by divers, and while the work will be necessarily slow, the Commissioners say that no time will be lost.

SENATOR KELLY WILL CONTEST.—J. A. Finch, of Albany, who was in Portland last evening, says that Senator Percy R. Kelly will contest the election of M. A. Miller, who appears to have a majority of two votes for Kelly's seat. Mr. Finch is a close friend of Senator Kelly, and took a prominent part in the campaign in behalf of the Senator's re-election. He says that the Linn County Court is Democratic, and that the Republicans did not have proper representation on all the boards of judges of election. Some errors were found in the precinct returns before the official count was completed, indicating that there may be other errors. In several instances ballots were counted that were not marked as required by law. For example, some voters scratched out all the names except those of the candidates for whom the voter wished to cast his ballot. Mr. Finch says that after considering the matter Senator Kelly and his friends have concluded that Miller is not entitled to a majority, and they will institute a legal contest.

BARKEEPER COMMITS SUICIDE.—Unhappy owing to domestic trouble and because he had lost his position, Richard Boulan, 49 years old, recently a bartender in a First-street saloon, committed suicide yesterday by swallowing carbolic acid in the room he occupied at the Quincy House, First and Madison streets. He had been recently divorced from his wife, and the court awarded her the custody of their two children, with the proviso that they could see him at intervals. At the inquest held in the case yesterday the people in the boarding-house where Boulan lived testified that shortly after 9 o'clock yesterday morning he said that he had lost his position and had taken poison. He then became violently ill, and, although medical assistance was promptly secured, he died three hours afterward. The jury rendered a verdict that Boulan had committed suicide by swallowing carbolic acid, taken while he was suffering from despondency.

WHO IS THIS MAN?—An inquest was held yesterday in the case of the unknown man found drowned in the Willamette River near the steel bridge Monday night, and after a prolonged search it was not found possible to establish his identity. The body had evidently been in the river from 10 to 15 days, and was so badly decomposed that recognition was impracticable. The body is that of an elderly man, age between 50 and 60 years, weighs about 200 pounds, stature 6 feet, blue eyes, scanty grayish hair, marks of old burns on face, dressed in dark-blue overcoat, black coat, black jean overalls, red and white striped sock on right foot, light lace shoes, gray woolen underwear, black bow tie; 15 cents in money found in pockets, with grooved iron-handled knife, and a gold watch, on the dial of which is a picture of a locomotive and the words "Engineer's special." The watch stopped at 10:16 o'clock.

BEACH RUSH ALREADY BEGUN.—The outposts of the army, which will soon go into Summer quarters by the sounding sea are already at the front, and every day several families go down to locate for the season. Perhaps because there is more general prosperity along the beaches than formerly, and perhaps because the natives have grown more honest, the people who have opened their cottages have not made the usual reports of burglaries, and are much elated in consequence. In former years the beachcombers left few houses unvisited during the Winter, and it was usually necessary for owners of cottages to send down a whole new outfit of furniture every year. If the weather is as warm as last Summer, there will undoubtedly be more people at the beaches this Summer than ever before, and hotel and boarding-house keepers are making every preparation for a big rush.

BURGLARS BREAK INTO SALOON.—Burglars entered the saloon of John Giebisch, on Washington street, near Sixth, by removing a panel from a rear door. They stole some cigars and opened the slot machines with a key, but did not obtain any money, and were evidently scared away in some manner.

WOMEN'S ALLIANCE MEETING POSTPONED.—Owing to the funeral of a member of the church which takes place this afternoon, the date of the last meeting of the Unitarian Women's Alliance has been changed to Wednesday, July 2, at the residence of Mrs. W. A. Gordon, Portland Heights.

MATINEE TODAY.
"H. M. S. Pinafore" Will Be the Attraction at the Baker Theater.
The bright children of the Pollard juvenile opera company will give, by request, a special matinee today, the bill asked for being Gilbert and Sullivan's "H. M. S. Pinafore," in which Daphne Pollard made such a hit in the role of Sir Joseph Porter early in the engagement. The opera is one of the prettiest and most catchy in the repertoire of the company, and is sung and costumed in a way which would put to shame most organizations of "grown-ups." A specialty bill is introduced into the beginning of the second act, which gives all the members of the company an opportunity to show themselves at their cleverest. Small souvenirs will be given to all the children and women attending the performance.
