

CONVICTS AGAIN ESCAPE

BUT TRAIL IS HOT IN THURSTON COUNTY, WASHINGTON.

Attempted to Rob a House Yesterday Afternoon—Possibly Following Criminals Closely.

CHEHALIS, Wash., June 29.—Merrill and Tracy have gone today, having escaped past the numerous guards who were keeping vigil over them during last night and today before Chehalis and near Centralia. Late this afternoon they attempted the robbery of a house between Bucoda and Tenino. Early this morning Guard Carson, of the State Penitentiary; E. K. Adams and Charles Farrell, of Bellingham, Nev., brother of one of the murdered guards, and J. C. Bush, of Chehalis, went to Bucoda and spent the day in that vicinity. The attempted robbery was reported to them, and within a short time afterward a new trail was struck. With what success this was followed it was impossible to learn at a late hour tonight.

WAS POISON FOR COYOTES.

Some of It Got Into Food With Fatal Result.

LA GRANDE, June 29.—It is a mystery how the strychnine got into the food of the Ragin family yesterday. Mr. Ragin was made seriously ill, but took an emetic of warm water and salaratus and was able to eat some food. His son Otis, however, ate one of the strychnine crystals and is dead.

MOTHER KILLED HERSELF.

Distraught Because No News Came From Absent Sons.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Mrs. Ignacia Gerardi, an elderly woman, poured kerosene over her head and set herself on fire in the presence of her family. Her daughter, Mrs. Maria Gilotti, in endeavoring to save her mother from the flames, was also severely burned. The cause of the tragedy has not yet been ascertained.

Lane County Breivites.

EUGENE, June 29.—The newly appointed mail carriers have been busy the past two days listing and becoming acquainted with the names of the carriers in the county. Every house in the county is visited and the occupants asked whether they want their mail delivered at the house or at the postoffice, and when the delivery shall be made.

PREPARING THE GIBNET.

Columbia County Murderer to Pay Penalty Next Wednesday.

ST. HELENS, Ore., June 29.—Everyting is now in readiness for the execution of August Schieve, which is to take place at noon Wednesday, July 2. On May 13, Judge McBride sentenced Schieve to be hanged for the murder of William Shulkowski, which took place seven miles west of St. Helens, December 28, of last year. Schieve was arrested December 28 and on May 25 was having a fatal murder in the first degree. The 16-foot wooden enclosure around the scaffold has been completed, and the trap door and other attachments to the scaffold lack only a few minor details.

JOHN WESLEY'S WORK.

Birthday of Founder of Methodism Celebrated in Salem.

SALEM, June 29.—Services in commemoration of the 193rd anniversary of the birth of John Wesley, founder of the Methodist church, were held this morning at the First Methodist church. In his brief address, Rev. John Parsons viewed the life of the founder of Methodism and to whom the speaker asserted, was largely due the credit for the progress of the church in this country. He also made a few remarks in which he eulogized Wesley for having given life to others and for being a man who said that the value of Pierpont Morgan and the other leading financiers of the country would not be estimated or measured by the great fortunes they may be able to amass, but by the number of trusts they may be capable of organizing and directing, but rather in proportion as they contributed their lives in behalf of their fellow-men. Some special music was given by the choir and a number of Charles Wesley's hymns were sung.

Church Rededicated.

The newly remodeled Leslie M. E. church of this city was rededicated this afternoon. The sermon and dedicatory service being preached by Bishop Charles Cranston, of Portland.

Powder in Boy's Pocket Burned.

ELMA, Wash., June 29.—Elma had a Fourth of July accident late yesterday. Ernest Woodland, a 16-year-old boy, was badly burned while setting off some fire crackers. The whole bunch became ignited and they in turn set off some powder the boy had in his pocket. His underclothes were nearly burned off and his right arm painfully scorched and bruised near the wrist.

Portland-Chehalis.

Seventy hours and thirty minutes (70 1/2) is the time of the fastest trip ever made from Portland to Chehalis. Leaves Portland every day at 9 A. M. Ticket one-third and Washington, O. R., & N.

THE BONES OF ENGLAND

MANY RESIDENTS OF LONDON DO NOT KNOW THE WORK.

Thousands Are Forced to Live With From Two to Twelve Persons in a Single Room.

PORTLAND, June 29.—(To the Editor.)—Your last Sunday's issue contained that pretty poem about "the free, fair homes of England." It was a beautiful thing, and the idea of homes thus described by Rev. Canon Scott Holland in a recent sermon in London:

"Home! The very word is a mockery to multitudes of the conditions in which they live. They know nothing of home, and if they knew it in its meaning as an ideal, it could only sound to them as the most horrible of curses. In London more than two in one room for every purpose of life—sleeping, eating, resting, washing, dressing, for all manner of intercourse and work from the loud world—one room! Think of it! One room for three or four persons; the only thing in life they have—300,000 people tonight in London have that for their home. One room for four or five to live and sleep in—300,000 people have that tonight. One room for five or six people to live in wholly, and 24,000 people will be like tonight in London—over six or 12 people to live in—the only thing they have, and 47,000 people in London tonight will have that—one room. In St. George's-in-the-East a man and his wife and three small children, most of them grown up, have all to make their home in one room. And in London so in Birmingham, 78,000 people live more than two in one room; in Leeds, 78,000 more than two in one room; in Manchester, 51,000, and in Sheffield, 40,000—one room. One room that has not only to be kitchen, drawing-room, dining-room, bedroom, laundry and workshop often, but a sickroom for the heave-tossed patient, for the man dying there, or the woman with racking cough—one room to live in, one room only to die in; one room in which the dead are laid out, and the family eat and sleep round the corpse. No place for the children in the one room; they are driven out into the street, which is their only playground, and the boys and girls hang round these haunts every Sunday of the year, anxiously awaiting the throwing open of the doors, and the boys and girls are repeated as on week nights."

Such is the condition of life for millions of human beings in this country which is just going over to the hundred million dollars in trying to crush two free republics and destroying thousands of happy homes in South Africa. These are the poor, degraded, unfortunates who are being sold as slaves who will have to pay for all. From their ranks come the 100,000 killed and maimed "veterans," and from their flesh and blood will come the 500,000 more soldiers expended in carrying on the infamous war. And yet these same people crawl out of their holes and cheer the other day in London at their own robbery and degradation, and then they congratulate themselves in joy at what they considered a victory, and had not the hand of Providence intervened, would now be "mafficking" themselves to death in honor of Majesty and for the sake of their king, instead of hanging the worthless creatures to the nearest lamp-post.

I spent several months in England a few years ago, and there are not only things of that nature, but "free, fair homes." To my mind, the Rev. Canon Holland's statements as to the condition of the English masses are conservative, to say the least. And I have done all that I could to help these people, and I am glad to say that I have expressed my views so much better than I could myself. I will simply quote them:

J. W. S. Kennedy, a Scotch Presbyterian minister and missionary, addressing a congregation in London the 29th of last November, said: "I have traveled all over the world, have been through all the cities on earth, through the most beautiful and most fertile lands, and I say to you today that not in all my travels nor in any quarter of the globe have I seen so much abject misery, degradation and misery as I have seen in the west of London."

"Ex-Attache" in the Cincinnati Enquirer says: "In London, Liverpool and other big cities of England there are not only things of that nature, but 'free, fair homes.' To my mind, the Rev. THE MAIN WAS INSANE

THAT'S WHY HE FOUGHT OFFICER SO DESPERATELY.

Had Been in an Asylum—Mother Claims Body, and Holds Poeticman Guiltless.

WHATCOM, June 29.—It develops that Gerald R. Campbell, the man shot while resisting arrest Friday by Police Officer Alvord, was insane. Campbell had been in an asylum and lived in constant fear of being returned there. A man in uniform was an ogre to him, and he was afraid from which he can obtain a full view into the glittering bars and gin palaces along the route. Every bar is crowded with noisy men and women, and for later drinking and mauling each other, shouting, dancing and quarrelling as though hell had been let loose; children hanging on by their mothers' skirts, and these degrading and degrading scenes, and the intoxication. That I could from personal observation describe things as I saw them, I have often seated myself upon the benches of the street, and in all directions, encountering the same disgusting exhibitions everywhere—women reeling with drink, with bleared eyes and damaged faces uttering foul language and generally conducting themselves more like fiends than human beings.

MINING IN ITS INFANCY.

Said of Eastern Oregon, Although Forty Years Old.

BAKER CITY, June 29.—Mining in Eastern Oregon is in its infancy, regarded by the fact that gold was first discovered at Auburn, about eight miles from this city, in 1852. Auburn was at one time the county seat of Baker County and could boast of a population of 10,000. It is estimated that in 1852, 10,000,000 was taken from the placer mines in that vicinity in the early days.

Until the past few years no well-directed effort has been put forth to work the placer mines. The quartz ledges were not permanent, that the rich quartz ore was only to be found in pockets. Some of the old-timers say that several well-known mines. Men skilled in hunting for pockets were brought here to hunt for the rich deposits, and as the hunt for the owners was demonstrated in the practical results, in that numerous rich pockets were found, no one thought it worth while to go to the depths in search of rich ore deposits. The placer mines have been worked, and practically abandoned several times, in the past 30 years, and yet it has yielded many fortunes during that period. Ore has been taken from some of the pockets found in this mine for more than 50 per cent pure gold. Some small samples of this rich ore are to be found in this city today that prove the truth of the statement.

Until the past few years no well-directed effort has been put forth to work the placer mines. The quartz ledges were not permanent, that the rich quartz ore was only to be found in pockets. Some of the old-timers say that several well-known mines. Men skilled in hunting for pockets were brought here to hunt for the rich deposits, and as the hunt for the owners was demonstrated in the practical results, in that numerous rich pockets were found, no one thought it worth while to go to the depths in search of rich ore deposits. The placer mines have been worked, and practically abandoned several times, in the past 30 years, and yet it has yielded many fortunes during that period. Ore has been taken from some of the pockets found in this mine for more than 50 per cent pure gold. Some small samples of this rich ore are to be found in this city today that prove the truth of the statement.
