AMUSEMENTS TONIGHT

GILLESPIE PARK (13th and Washington sts.)—Horse racing, vaudeville and music.

FUEL FOR THE SCHOOLS.—The supply committee of the Board of Education held a meeting Saturday afternoon and awarded contracts for the supply of fuel for the various schools. The total number of cords contracted for was 174, and the value $122,250. The slowwood contract goes to the Bantfield-Vessey Company. Churchley Bros. received a contract to supply 75 cords of oak and 45 cords of fir, the total amount to be $15,000. The number of cords of slowwood and the cost, as apportioned to the schools, is as follows: Chinaman, 50 cords at $3; Brooklyn, 50 cords at $2.50; Central, 120 cords at $3; Clatsop, 120 cords at $2.50; Clinton Kelly, 60 cords at $2.50; Couch, 120 cords at $3; Falling, 120 cords at $2.50; Harrison, 120 cords at $2.50; High, 120 cords at $2.50; Holladay, 120 cords at $2.50; North Central, 50 cords at $2.50; Park, 120 cords at $2.50; Homestead, 50 cords at $2.50; Stephens, 50 cords at $2.50; Sunnyside, 50 cords at $2.50; Thompson, 120 cords at $2.50; Williams-venne, 140 cords at $2.50.

GRADUATION.—The 11th class of nurses of the training school connected with the Good Samaritan Hospital held its graduation exercises in the lecture hall of the Medical College, corner of Twenty-third and Lovejoy streets, Tuesday evening, at 8:30 o'clock. There were 31 graduates, as follows: Miss Fletcher Hammond, of Tacoma; Miss Leah M. Callender, of Athens, Ore.; Mrs. Katherine Edris, of Portland; Miss Eugene Ayer, of Astoria; Miss Caroline B. Montague, of Portland; Miss Margaret Scott, of Portland; Miss Helen M. Rich, of Toledo, Ore.; Miss Ada P. Thomas, of Turner, Ore.; Miss Alicia M. Turner, of Astoria; Miss Marie B. Seaside; Miss Kathleen Ward, of Portland; Miss Laura L. Shaw, of Salem. The address will be delivered by Dr. Rev. F. W. Taylor, Bishop of Olympia. The presentation of diplomas and badges will be by Dr. Rev. B. Wistler Morris. The public is cordially invited to attend.

HOW TO PREVENT BRIDGE FIRES.—After a close investigation into the cause of the East Side configuration fire Chief Campbell has come to the conclusion that the proper way to prevent bridge fires is to have a pipe connection made and a reel of hose placed on the approach of each bridge. In the Chief's opinion a pipe should be laid and the regulation hose reel placed at each approach and covered as to protect it from the weather. In the event of fire, the Chief says, the bridge-tenders could effectively use the hose in a way not only to save the country property, but also to prevent the buildings in which the flames may start. The cost of installing the pipe and hose reels would not, Chief Campbell thinks, exceed $100, and it might be less than that amount.

FREE SWIMMING BATHS OPEN.—Over 300 boys and men took a "dip" in the Portland public baths yesterday, in the temporary location near the corner of the Morrison-street bridge, and quite an interested crowd watched the bathers disport themselves in the water. Among the smaller boys quite a number of good swimmers were noticed. The baths will be open this morning for boys, from 9 to 12 noon, and from 1:30 to 3 P. M.; for girls, 3 to 6 P. M.; and for women, 7 to 10 P. M., who will be admitted free of charge. It has been remarked that women and girls do not patronize the baths. There is a woman attendant, and all women and girl swimmers are asked to bring their own bathing costumes. The day.

FUNERAL OF WILLIAM HUME.—The funeral of the late William Hume was held from the First Unitarian Church yesterday afternoon, the remains being interred in Lone Fir cemetery. Rev. I. E. Hill conducted the services, which were attended by many lifelong friends of the pioneer salmon-packer. The pallbearers were as follows: C. M. Alvord, H. Gladden, Russell E. Sewall, F. Freeman, Edward May, Dr. E. P. Tucker, Dean Blanchard, Anthony Palmer, J. W. Forbitt, George T. Myers, Samuel L. Elmore, E. W. Taliant, George W. Welder, Louis Blumauer, Cyrus A. Dolph, F. K. Strong.

THE DALLES SCENIC TRIP.—Take the White Collar Line, Daily boat 7 A. M., except Sunday, foot Alder street. "Dalles" electric sign foot Alder street, making all landings between Portland and The Dalles, passing through the gorge of the Cascade mountains; also through the Cascade Locks, built by United States Government at cost of $4,000,000. Scenery grand beyond description. Meals excellent. Officers attentive and explanatory. The best trip for the tourist; also where the citizens of Portland should take their visitors. Both phones Main 351.

INJURY IN A RUTAWAY.—Two frightened horses attached to the delivery wagon yesterday from Seventh and Stark streets and dashed down Stark street at a 2:15 rate until they reached Front, where they were stopped by Kathleen and two citizens. The owner of the team returned up shortly afterward, and was thankful that the horses were not injured and that nobody had been injured in the runaway.

WHITE COLLAR LINE, JULY 4.—Special excursion tickets. Tickets sold by all agents on basis July 3 and 4, good returning July 4, inclusive, at one fare for the round trip to and from and between all points between Portland and The Dalles and between Portland and Astoria. DOGS CHARGE A STRANGE BEARD.—Not more than one of the large down-town stores in the city has a dog which has been fitted with an endless belt system for the change boxes that are sent to add from the cashier's desk, consisting of several boxes throughout the store, where the boxes are fitted on to the belt that is operated by a small electric motor. The speed of the belt is rather fast, being about 30 feet per second, and it takes a pretty quick eye to follow one of the boxes as it races around the corners and finally up to the second floor, where the change desk is located. One of the local stores, who takes great pride in the way in which his dogs are trained to mind their own business, went into the store, and after making a small purchase handed the clerk a bill and waited for his change. The clerk put the coin in the box, put the box on the track and made the proper connections with the swiftly-running belt. The box started off, and the dog, who was watching the sight of something moving through the air after the manner of a game bird, started in pursuit. The box started for the front of the store, and the dog, with the canine close ahead, but the dog could not make the corners with the accuracy of the box, and only got around after expending a fountain of sweat, and a pile of paper money. In the mad effort to make up the lost time, a second clerk was dashed from the path with dispatch, and by the time the second clerk was reached the dog had nearly reached the change desk. A large pile of Omar Khayyam's popular "Rubaiyat" was hit at this corner, some of which have not been found yet. The last turn was an upward to the desk, and the dog, seeing no other way of getting to the second floor, started to climb the shelves, and had just succeeded in upsetting all the school book stock for the Fall trade when the brass owner caught up with his pet. The dog goes into the store now at the end of a steel chain.

A KING WILSON RETURNS FROM EAST.—A King Wilson has just returned from a trip in the East, where he has visited Boston, New York, Baltimore and Washington. He states that much interest is being turned toward Oregon, and that the indications of immigration are very marked through the East. While there Mr. Wilson made a study of principles of the West, and he expects to apply his property on the Deschutes River. He also had some important business at Washington, where he brought claim against the Government of Mexico on marine matter which he has been pending for some time. In speaking of his trip, Mr. Wilson said: "Upon returning to Portland some of our shortcomings are very noticeable. They are not in a fit condition to have a fair here. I am glad you did not burn the whole town up, and I was gone." Mr. Wilson is a stockholder in the Esty estate and lost heavily in the fire at Seventh and Gilliam streets.

SPANISH PERU DUCKS ON ROOT.—People who had nothing else to do yesterday afternoon stood on the corner of Seventh and Washington streets and watched two English sparrows teaching their young one to fly. The old birds had quite a time in giving the necessary instructions, and two or three times they had to be interrupted by a bull pup which tried to seize the young sparrow. Then the family quarrel was called off and both the male and the female pounced on the pup and came down Washington street. A bird dog came along soon after, and he, too, was after the same. When last seen he was making tracks up Seventh street, and the cock sparrow with his bill full of hair, was in close pursuit. The next victim was another bull pup, which, after a bout with the sparrows, was glad to seek refuge in the arms of its owner, J. K. Hoeman Franklin, charged with the larceny of $2 from F. Sunberg, who was in a condition to give evidence for an action for $50 had for their appearance in the Municipal Court tomorrow. Sunberg was arrested Saturday afternoon, and appeared when wanted, but it is doubtful if he will be on hand to give evidence. He told the police that Fallon held him, and the cock sparrow with his bill full of hair, was in close pursuit. OBITUARY.—About 50 members of the Ohio Society met at the George's court room Saturday evening, and an enthusiastic meeting was held. It presented the general opinion of the members that should extend into all counties of the state, and a committee consisting of Judge P. H. Ward, Captain J. P. Shaw and Mr. J. W. Johnson, was appointed to take up the matter of extension. It is likely that permanent secretaries will be appointed in each county in Oregon. Judge M. C. Moore, president of the society, spoke on the subject of the extension to the 1906 fair, and the members hope to make some showing in the way of an exhibit building or clubrooms at the Exposition. The following directors were elected as follows: Dr. Byron E. Miller, J. W. Bell, C. M. Ideman, Mrs. J. P. Shaw, Mrs. Frank Brook. The next meeting of the society will be held in September.

NEW CITY OFFICERS TAKE CHARGE WEDNESDAY.—The newly elected city officers will take their office Wednesday morning, as provided by law. Several have already taken the oath of office, and among them are J. J. Fitzgerald and J. P. Kavanaugh, who will act as deputies under City Attorney-elect McNary. The new Council will hold its first meeting on Wednesday. It will have a firm grasp of matters which were under consideration at the last meeting, for all the members were regular attendants at the sessions of their predecessors. The new Council will not be an inexperienced body, for among its members are C. E. Rummel, who served from 1898 to 1900, and B. P. Cardwell, who has many times been a representative in the City Legislature.

NO NEW CONSULAR OFFICERS.—The Chamber of Commerce has received a letter from Senator Mitchell in reply to the application made by it for the appointment of a consular officer to examine into the commercial conditions in China. He in his letter to the Chamber says that the State Daniel J. Hill, saying that he has authority of law for the appointment provided for in an act of Congress known as the Department and Consular bill. This bill has been passed and is out of the way of this session of Congress, so it will be impossible to get such an addition to the service as the Chamber of Commerce desired.

ARRESTED FOR FIRING OFF TOY CANNON.—A boy named George Snyder was arrested Saturday night by Policeman Hunter in the neighborhood of Twenty-third and Washington streets, charged with firing off a toy cannon which looked like the young mountain gun. "I fired off the gun in my yard," explained the boy. "I didn't know you were 'pulling' boys and that the Fourth of July is so near. I thought it didn't matter now." "You'll see we mean business before we get through with you," said a police official. The boy was allowed to go on his furnishing security for his appearance tomorrow at the Municipal Court.

SUMMER SCHOOL. In the Y. M. C. A. building, term opens today. Work especially arranged for public school pupils (boys and girls) who wish to skip a grade or fall to classes in English, reading, spelling, grammar, geography, penmanship (Professor Wesco, teacher), arithmetic and all the grammar school branches. There will also be manual training, gymnasium and swimming classes. The fee is so arranged that interest is maintained by varying from book study to shop work and recreative exercise. Students can take one or more subjects and pay accordingly.

INTERESTING STRAWBERRY FACTS.—From positive and very pleasant knowledge the Oregonian is able to give testimony respecting the quality of strawberries grown on the P. A. Jones place, 12 miles up Hood River, at an elevation of 250 feet, where the snow falls to a depth of from two to four feet each winter. Most of the Hood River berries are grown at an elevation of from 200 to 300 feet, hence the crop of the Jones place does not come in until the greater part of the crop is out of the way. Mr. Jones put in his place of four and a half acres, in October, 1900, setting 10,000 plants to the acre, and this year he is getting fine returns, fortunately at a time when prices are somewhat advanced as compared with the height of the season. The Davidson Fruit Company are this year setting out some 30 acres of late berries in the same general locality. At the Jones place, picking was begun on June 21, and on Monday of last week the highest score for picking and packing ever made in the valley was recorded there. Nine pickers and two packers put up 75 crates of 24 pounds each. The high picker turned in 45 pounds, and the packer packed 30 crates, or 900 pounds. This work has never been equaled in the Hood River district. In the valley fields 25 crates is considered a fine crop, and it rarely goes over 50 pounds in a day. Mr. Jones estimates that he will get 300 crates per acre this year, for which he expects to get something better than $1.25 per crate. After deducting the elements of cost, which he figures at 75 cents per acre—certainly not a bad profit. These facts explain why good berry lands in the Hood River district is bringing from $200 to $300 per acre.

HIS OPINION OF THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.—An amusing incident occurred yesterday when the girl at the other end of the telephone expressed her opinion of the Chamber of Commerce, and the Weather Bureau, and things in general. At a late hour the telephone bell at the Chamber of Commerce rang, and a "Hello," said the man who answered the call. "Can you tell an anxious young lady who wants to go on an excursion tomorrow whether or not it is going to rain?" said a sweet voiced girl at the other end of the line. "That is hardly my line of business," said he. "Isn't this the Weather Bureau?" said the voice at the other end of the line. "No, it is the Chamber of Commerce," said he, "and we don't know anything about the weather here." The sweet voice let it ring. "Oh," said she, "I am sure that the Chamber of Commerce, the Chamber of Commerce don't know anything." "Well, you are fortunate that central didn't connect you with any one worse than the Chamber of Commerce," said the man. "Yes," said the girl, "I am sure the Chamber of Commerce don't know anything." "Well, you are fortunate that central didn't connect you with any one worse than the Chamber of Commerce," said the man. "Yes," said the girl, "I am sure the Chamber of Commerce don't know anything." "Well, you are fortunate that central didn't connect you with any one worse than the Chamber of Commerce," said the man. "Yes," said the girl, "I am sure the Chamber of Commerce don't know anything."

PATENT STREET INDICATORS.—The Portland Railway Company has equipped some of their Washington-street cars with patent street indicators for the convenience of strangers who do not know the names of the streets crossed by that line. These indicators are entirely automatic in their action, consisting of a long roll of white cloth, which is printed with the names, wound around a drum which is placed in a box at one end of the car. The reels are operated by a fifth wheel that runs along the track, causing the cloth to pass over a pulley in the front of the box. The machine has not been entirely perfected as yet, some difficulty being found in making the wheel run at the same speed up and downhill track.

"BOB" PATTERSON ARRESTED.—The notorious "Bob" Patterson, the proprietor of the Favorite saloon, Fourth and Couch streets, and his bartender, Thomas Fallon, were arrested Saturday afternoon by Policeman Franklin, charged with the larceny of $2 from F. Sunberg, who was in a condition to give evidence for an action for $50 had for their appearance in the Municipal Court tomorrow. Sunberg was arrested Saturday afternoon, and appeared when wanted, but it is doubtful if he will be on hand to give evidence. He told the police that Fallon held him, and the cock sparrow with his bill full of hair, was in close pursuit. COMPLAINT FROM SPOKANE The Effect of Whipping Prisoners as Practiced by a Civilized Nation.

SPOKANE, June 27.—(To the Editor.)—The terrible crimes committed by escaped convicts, Merrill and Tracy, to make good their escape, brings up the question as to whether the punishment of whipping is just and humane as a proper one for a civilized nation. The American Nation is supposed to be, to practice in their prisons or anywhere else, for that matter.

Criticism know when they commit crime they will be punished by imprisonment and accept it as a just law; but they also know that whipping is an ancient and barbarous custom, resorted to mainly by the uncivilized races. It not only lowers the heads of our Nation in the estimation of the world, and any one should value the good opinion of even a convict; but it is a cruel and unjust infliction on the minds and hearts of those convicts the thought of revenge and undying hatred.

Whipping is not only one of the most humiliating, but one of the most brutal punishments ever meted out to humanity, and instead of having the effect of stamping out crime, increases it. Those who are responsible for the Chamber of Commerce have as much of the criminal tendencies in their make-up as the helpless prisoners. It is just and honorable that a nation should make laws whereby its unfortunate subjects, instead of being whipped and just examples in life, are brutally tied to the whipping post with their helpless manacled hands strung above their heads and lashed by the scolding tongue that bring blood with the first blow, then the quivering, bleeding flesh is covered by the coarse prison garments to irritate and ulcerate until the victim is crazed beyond endurance.

O great O honored America! the home of the brave and the land of the free! Not only will this, but other laws as base and brutal, be taken from your pages before you can stand unshamed before the world.

JOHN JUSTICE, 26 Sumner street, Taunton, Mass.

Pacific University Funds. TWANA, June 23.—(To the Editor.)—In a recent number of the Oregonian the following appeared:

It is only a little while back that a group of the best men in this or any other country met at the Hotel at University Park, and it was not a great while before that painful incident that the professional body at Forest Grove paid up their arrears of salary, and generally based on the college grounds out of a solemnly entrusted endowment—all, of course, in the sweetest business innocence.

CHURCH CONVENTION ENDS

EPISCOPAL DELEGATES FINISH THEIR DELIBERATIONS. No Action Taken on Proposal to Sell B. S. A. Building and Grounds and Move to Suburbs.

Interesting missionary meetings yesterday concluded the annual convention of the Protestant Episcopal church in the diocese of Oregon, and today those who took part in its various deliberations will have gone to their respective homes. A proposal to sell the present building and site of the Bishop Scott Academy and to erect a new building in a more convenient location in the suburban portion of the city was urged in a strong speech made by Dr. Joseph at Saturday's session, but no action was taken. Dr. Joseph spoke on the report of the committee on the board of school trustees, and he reviewed the management of this board and recommended the sale of the property of the Bishop Scott Academy, with a view to the removal of all indebtedness outstanding against the schools of the diocese. He urged the establishment of the Bishop Scott Academy in one of the suburbs. The general trend of the discussion was that the success of the schools of the diocese has been remarkable, considering the many difficulties and strong opposition confronting them.

The reports of the several committees to whom was referred the reports of the several standing committees were yesterday read and acted upon. A committee of two was elected to be designated a committee of apportionment to whom will be committed the work of making the assessments upon the various parishes and missions for the support of the diocese. Rev. E. T. Simpson and T. H. Burton were elected alternate delegates to the missionary council to be held in Louisville, Ky., in the Fall.

A reception was given Saturday night by Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Morrison at their home, 525 Everett street, to the visiting bishops, Rev. Dr. J. P. Potwin and Rev. H. D. Chambers, of the Church of the Good Shepherd. The offertory was for the child's comfort cot No. 2 at the roll of white cloth. Last night Rev. Mr. Goodheart, a clergyman from Eastern Oregon, preached an interesting missionary sermon on church work in the regions east of the Cascades.

TO HONOR CAPTAIN WYETH

Secretary Reed Seeks for Historical Data and Portrait.

For some time, Henry E. Reed, secretary of the Lewis and Clark Centennial Fair, has been gathering historical data that will prove of interest to those who study the history of Oregon. Mr. Reed has had particular attention to the doings of Oregon's early explorers, among whom was the late Captain Nathaniel J. Wyeth. Last month, Mr. Reed sent the following letter to Mrs. Mary J. Fish, a niece of Captain Wyeth, who now lives at Taunton, Mass.

Portland, Ore., May 21, 1902.—Mrs. Mary J. Fish, Taunton, Mass.—Dear Madam: In regard to the portrait of Captain Wyeth, the history of "The American Fur Trade in the Far West," I noted that you furnished a short biographical sketch of Captain Nathaniel Wyeth. It seems to me that as Captain Wyeth was one of our earliest explorers, a much more extended sketch of him by you would be appreciated by the people of Oregon. Our knowledge of his life is very meagre, and your journals were published only a few years since in the series of "Sources of the History of Oregon," but nothing, I think, written by one so qualified to write as you. A photograph taken from a painting of Captain Wyeth would also be acceptable.

Kindly let me hear if you know of any one in Massachusetts who might have a portrait of Hall J. Kelly. Yours very truly, HENRY E. REED, Secretary.

Last week Mr. Reed received this reply from Mrs. Fish: Taunton, Mass., June 2, 1902.—Henry E. Reed, Portland, Ore.—Dear Sir: Please excuse delay in replying to yours of the 25th ult. I shall be most happy to do anything in my power to aid in the preparation of a portrait of my uncle, Mr. Nathaniel Jarvis Wyeth, in your proposed Lewis and Clark Centennial of 1905, in which I am much interested. Nothing can, however, be done after his death, and I have plans of myself personally at the time of his expeditions, beyond that gained from his published letters and journal of the time. My remembrance does not extend so far back, nor do I know of any one now living who can recollect him then. Most unfortunately, a large correspondence, which for over the past twenty years has been kept up with those interested in Oregon upon which he was considered authority, was destroyed before his papers came into my hands. In view of letters which remain, and the extent and probable interest of that correspondence. His friendship with John McLoughlin was lifelong and fervent. Copies of letters to him after that are still extant in that line, if you will inform me in what way you order to use it, that I may give myself accordingly. The only pictures of him are copies of an engraving and a crayon, taken from a daguerrotype of him after death. It is the same portrait of him published in Harper's Monthly in September, 1822, appended to an article contributed by his cousin, Dr. J. A. Wyeth, of New York City. I will send you a copy if I can get a good one. Of Hall J. Kelly, I can give you no definite information, nor have I yet found and reference to him, except in connection with my uncle. I will try in one other direction, and if I can find anything of interest, I will send it to you. He did reach Oregon some time after the Wyeth expedition, alone and almost destitute, so one authority states. It is for good reason that I do not wish to forget the memory of my uncle in Oregon. He loved it to his dying day, and always hoped to return and die here. He was the kind and generous man, and a true friend to youth, whom I dearly loved. Sincerely yours, MARY J. FISH, 26 Sumner street, Taunton, Mass.

or even any funds, for the treasurer pays them on the order of the trustees. M. ELLIS, Assistant Secretary Tuulatin Academy and Pacific University.

We print this letter gladly, of course, but in justification of the publication to which it refers it must be said that the information came some years ago directly to an Oregonian writer from an officer of the University Association. The name of this officer is not given, and the reasons for withholding it are not stated, but it is possible that there could be a mistake as to the fact—a matter which it will be easy to demonstrate to any interested person who may care to pursue the inquiry in a personal way. Nothing was lost to the endowment fund on account of the incident, because there was then living a business friend of the university who was neither willing that the "college should suffer" nor that it should "go a dishonorable thing." Through the prompt aid of this friend the wasted fund was instantly restored. It is right to add that in the original reference to this matter there was no thought critical or in any way unfriendly to Pacific University or any other of our schools. Simply this, it was sought by illustration to exhibit the business disqualification of a class of excellent persons not accustomed to definite business responsibilities and not trained in precise business methods.

CROWD AT SHIELDS' PARK. Standing Room Only Sign Out Last Night—New Hill Makes a Hit. Standing room was at a premium at Shields' Park last night, and the audience enthusiastically applauded all the numbers on the programme. The Matsuda troupe of acrobats, consisting of three men and three boys, gave a wonderful exhibition of jugglery and other feats, receiving the undivided attention of the spectators. Edward Shields gave an illustrated talk of his trips across the continent and his humorous illustrations were applauded. Songs by George Jones, a member of the Ernest Hogan company, and an understudy of Mr. Hogan, were warmly received and proved that Mr. Jones is a singer of merit. Ernest Salinger made a pleasing appearance, and the polycope was an attraction that helped to keep the audience interested for three hours.

PORTLAND ACADEMY. Fourteenth Year. Will open Monday, September 15. The academy fits boys and girls for the colleges of the East and West. Its programs include courses in English, mathematics, Greek, Latin, French, German, chemistry, physics, vocal music and drawing. The school includes a primary and grammar school, which receives boys and girls as early as the age of 6, and prepares them through a course of six years for entrance to the academy. The earlier years of this course are devoted chiefly to reading, writing and spelling; the later years to arithmetic, geography, English and history. Vocal music is systematically taught from the beginning of the course. One of the principals is at the academy daily from 9 A. M. to 12 M.
