DEATH OF PIONEER WOMAN

MRS. J. W. MILLER SUCCUMBS TO LINGERING ILLNESS.

Well Known Throughout the State—Movement to Widen Vancouver Avenue—East Side Affairs.

Mrs. Susan E. Miller, wife of Rev. J. W. Miller, the well-known pioneer Methodist minister of the Northwest, died yesterday afternoon at 3:40 at her home on East Ankeny, near East Sixteenth street, after a lingering illness of many years. She was a pioneer of 1852, and with her husband lived at many of the towns in Oregon and California while he was on charges in the early days.

Mrs. Miller was born in Athens, Tenn., August 23, 1835, and came across the plains to Oregon in 1852. Her maiden name was Gordon. July 4, 1854, she was united in marriage to Rev. J. M. Miller, who came to Oregon in 1850. Rev. John Flinn, a pioneer Methodist minister of 1850, performed the marriage ceremony. She was an ideal minister's wife. Oregon was sparsely settled when she and her husband were married, and the churches to which they were sent were poorly provided. She shared with Mr. Miller whatever hardships he was called on to face on the frontier nearly half a century ago with cheerfulness.

Fourteen years ago in Southern Oregon she contracted rheumatism, and ever since had been an invalid. It had been nine years since she was able to walk. For several years past, since the retirement of her husband from the active duties of a Methodist preacher, she has lived on the East Side, and received Mr. Miller's constant care and attention. She was seriously ill for the past month, and for several days was hardly conscious. She is survived by three children and her husband. The former are: Oscar Miller, of the City Treasurer's office; Mrs. L. Mayer, Seattle; Cloe Miller, Portland. All were present at the end. There is also a large circle of friends in Portland and in other portions of the state who will deeply mourn her death. The funeral has not been arranged.

TO WIDEN VANCOUVER AVENUE.

Albina Board of Trade Will Bring Condemnation Proceedings.

The Albina Board of Trade will take up the matter of the widening of Vancouver avenue, between Stanton and Alberta streets, next Friday night. M. E. Thompson, chairman of the committee, who undertook to accomplish the widening of the street by securing donations from the property-owners along each side, said yesterday that this had to be given up as impossible. While a considerable number did sign the agreement to donate the required amount of land, more than two-thirds did not sign. These said they were willing to have the street widened, but preferred some other way. Mr. Thompson says he has no doubt that proceedings to condemn will go through, although it will take a little longer to reach the end to be accomplished than if all had donated enough land. There will be no delay in pushing the proceedings through the City Council.

It is desired to get this portion of Vancouver avenue in shape for improvement so that it will correspond with the portion between Russell and Wheeler streets, which is to be improved in a short time. The outcome will be that there will be an entirely new street extending from the steel bridge through Albina, dividing up the travel that now goes by way of Williams avenue. The travel through Albina on the way to the Columbia River is very large, and the need of a street extending directly from the steel bridge and avoiding the hill on McMillan street has been felt for a long time.

AGAINST SELLWOOD RESORT.

Residents Petition That the License of the Place Be Revoked.

The petition of the people of Sellwood for the revoking of the license of the beer resort on the corner of Milwaukie road and Umatilla avenue will come before the City Council at its meeting tomorrow. This resort has been a source of irritation to Sellwood for some time on the alleged grounds that it is disorderly and demoralizing to the community. The committee on health and police has already heard the evidence of both sides, and it has been referred to the City Council. The proprietor asserts that he runs an orderly place, and never tolerates the presence of minors or rough characters. He has employed counsel, and will make a fight to retain his license. However, residents make some severe charges against him. There will probably be a hot contest.

East Side Notes.

The condition of U. K. Hall, son of W. B. Hall, who underwent a severe surgical operation in St. Vincent's Hospital yesterday, was considered very favorable. He was resting comfortably, and the case was in every way satisfactory.

In the case of the seizure recently of 1200 cans of opium, United States District Judge Bellinger made an order yesterday that the informer, Bernard, be allowed 12½ per cent of the amount realized from the sale. The opium was sold for $4080, and Bernard's share will be $512.

Residents in Albina will resist the laying of a large sewer in Borthwick street. The cost per lot is about $40, which is considered too much. At the meeting of the Central Albina Board of Trade a resolution will be presented asking the City Council not to proceed with this improvement.

Fred Beattie and James Wallace, who were arrested for selling whisky to Indians at The Dalles, were arraigned before United States District Judge Bellinger yesterday and entered pleas of guilty. Both the defendants said they did not know that it was against the law to sell whisky to Indians, and, after a lecture, sentence was suspended and they were allowed to go on their own recognizance.

A. F. Miller, of Sellwood, who was injured in a bicycle accident while returning from Peninsular a week ago, is recovering. He is able to be out, but is still unable to use his right arm and left hand. He still suffers from pain in his back. He received a severe shaking-up.

Steps have been taken for the repairs of the Sellwood cycle path along the Milwaukie road. Near Midway, where it has settled down toward the river, fills are being made. Dirt from the street has been dumped in these low places, which will be spread out and leveled. Those who use this path will have to be careful at night, as these dirt piles make it impassable in places.

THE DEATH ROLL.

Dr. George E. Tyler.

DENVER, July 7.—Dr. George E. Tyler, secretary of the State Board of Health, and one of the most prominent young physicians in the state, died tonight of typhoid-pneumonia, after two weeks' illness. Dr. Tyler was a son-in-law of United States Senator Teller, and the Senator left Washington before the adjournment of Congress on account of the former's illness. Dr. Tyler was 33 years of age. He was a native of Washington, D. C., where he studied medicine at Howard University. Shortly after his graduation in 1898 he was married to the daughter of Senator Teller, and at once came to Denver to reside, being appointed secretary of the State Health Board the following year. He left a wife and a son 2 years of age.

Edward Bell.

NEW YORK, July 7.—Ex-Park Commissioner Edward Bell died early today from typhoid fever. He had been ill three weeks. Mr. Bell, although only 43 years old, took an important part in the life of the city. His father, Isaac Bell, was Commissioner of Charities and Correction. Edward Bell served as a member of the Board of Education and as a Park Commissioner. He was a member of the Stock Exchange until recently, in partnership with Louis V. Bell, his brother. Both retired and sold their exchange seats recently and decided to rest.

William Clark.

NEWARK, N. J., July 7.—William Clark, the thread manufacturer, died today in England. Mr. Clark was one of the largest manufacturers of thread in the world. He was born at Paisley, Scotland, in 1841. He came to this country in 1864 with his brother George and in a small way began the manufacture of cotton thread in a little building on the banks of the Passaic River, in the upper part of this city. From that beginning there grew the great works, having a branch in Paisley, and covering with immense buildings many acres on both sides of the Passaic in this city. Mr. Clark's second wife and four children survive him.

GETS A LIGHT SENTENCE

WILLIAMS GIVEN THREE YEARS FOR SLAYING HICKS.

Recommendation of Mercy Heeded by Court—Walter Wyland Released on Own Recognizance.

James Williams, alias Tom McDonald, who shot and killed George Hicks, commonly known as "Cockney George," was yesterday sentenced to three years in the penitentiary by Judge George. Williams was convicted of manslaughter. His attorney at the trial made a strong effort to establish a case of self-defense, and to show that Hicks was a very quarrelsome and dangerous man. The jury remained out for a long time, but finally reached a verdict and recommended the defendant to the mercy of the court.

Before sentence was pronounced, John Ditchburn, attorney for Williams, made a speech in his behalf to the court. The attorney said: "The court heard the case only a short time ago, and the evidence adduced at the trial is still fresh in the mind of the court. In arriving at a verdict, the jury petitioned the court to extend mercy, which tends to show that, in the minds of the jury, there must have existed reasonable doubt of guilt. The court will remember the testimony that the first words from the mouth of the defendant after the occurrence were: 'I am sorry, but I could not help it.' If the court takes the same view I do, a very light sentence will meet the requirements. The intent of the law is that punishment should be meted out for the purpose of reformation. The reputation of the defendant for 15 years past for peace and quiet is undisputed. The peculiar circumstances of the crime should be considered. I only ask the court to be as lenient as possible."

Deputy District Attorney Spencer addressed the court and took issue with Mr. Ditchburn, that punishment is merely imposed as a reformatory measure. He said punishment was administered also to deter persons from the commission of crime. The attorney said juries too often on slight pretense of self-defense are influenced and recommend defendants to the mercy of the court. Williams should receive adequate punishment for killing Hicks.

Judge George, in passing sentence, said: "The jury found you guilty of manslaughter. The punishment provided by the statute is from one to 15 years in the penitentiary, and a fine not to exceed $5000. The jury has recommended you to the mercy of the court. This was a very good jury that tried your case. It was comprised of very good men, men much above the average. This fact has considerable weight with the court in passing judgment in this case. Under the circumstances, the judgment of the court is that you be imprisoned in the penitentiary for a term of three years, and that you pay a fine of $100."

ON HIS RECOGNIZANCE.

Walter Wyland Released Pending His Trial.

Walter Wyland, a teamster, who was incarcerated in the county jail awaiting trial on a charge of attempting to release a prisoner from an officer, was released on his own recognizance by Judge George yesterday, with the consent of the District Attorney.

J. H. Hitchings, who appeared as attorney for Wyland, stated that Wyland interfered to save his cousin, a small boy, from receiving rough treatment at the hands of Officer Carpenter. The attorney said District Attorney Chamberlain was willing to have the case dismissed, but certain officers interfered, which, he said, he would show at the proper time.

Deputy District Attorney Manning, who was present, smiled at the statement made by Mr. Hitchings, but said he had no objections to Wyland being allowed to go on his personal responsibility.

Judge George had Wyland brought before him, and after asking him some questions, and also seeing that he was a respectable appearing man, permitted him to go, with the understanding that he will appear in court when he is wanted.

Court Notes.

H. G. Ogden was appointed administrator in the County Court yesterday of the estate of Mary A. Case, deceased, valued at $800.

Articles of incorporation of the Proebstel United Artisans' Hall Association were filed yesterday by Clara Louise Marye, Emma Tscharner and Nellie Chipman; capital stock, $500. The objects are to erect a hall suitable for lodge purposes, etc.

Articles of incorporation of the United States Fence Company were filed in the County Clerk's office yesterday by S. B. Linthicum, H. H. Parker and A. E. Gebhardt; capital stock, $15,000. The objects are to manufacture, construct and erect steel, wire, iron and wood fences, gates, etc.

A. T. Gladisbee and Ed Johnson, the two young colored men who are charged with the murder of Louis Borgus, were arraigned before Judge Frazer yesterday and allowed until the first day of the next term of court to plead. The court appointed Neal and Sinnott as attorneys to defend them.

CITY PARK FOR '05 FAIR SITE.

Sub-Committee's Favorable Report Adopted by the Executive Committee of the Exposition.

To the Executive Committee—Sirs: Your subcommittee on scope and site of our 1905 fair begs leave to report as follows:

As the beginning of the 19th century marked the discovery by Lewis and Clark of the Columbia River and this great Northwestern country, so the beginning of the 20th century marks the development and opening up of vast territories to the west of us, trade with which is as yet in its merest infancy, and the proportions to which it may grow cannot be conceived at this time.

That the whole Pacific Coast will benefit greatly by the events of the past few years; that the next few years will see a very large increase of our population and wealth; that the attention of the entire United States, aye, of the world, will be fixed on the Pacific Slope as offering the best opportunities for the investment of capital and labor and make this a fitting time for us to hold a great fair at Portland, and to call attention to the resources, developed and undeveloped of our great Northwestern country.

"To celebrate the past and to exploit the future," your committee believes to be the purpose of the proposed fair.

Your committee has given much thought to the size and scope of the fair, and has attempted to profit by the experiences of other enterprises of like character. It believes that the country at large is surfeited with fairs, and that to expect any large attendance from the far East, or even from the Middle West, seems to us a mistake, that may cost us dear should we base our calculations too much on any such hopes.

We must rely for support mainly upon the people of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, British Columbia and California, with some help from other nearby Western States.

With this idea, any plan of a huge fair, covering hundreds of acres of ground, requiring large sums of money for preparation and maintenance, should be abandoned, since fair grounds on magnificent proportions, but poorly equipped with buildings and attractions and beggarly attendance, would lead us into a quagmire of debt and disgrace—an outcome of our efforts that no member of this board cares to contemplate, or be a party to.

Your committee, therefore, believes that we should have a compact fair of moderate size only, with attractions of the best, and that we should cut our garments according to our cloth, and, above all, see that we keep within our means.

Such a fair should have no less than 45, nor more than 60, acres of ground. In that space we can easily accommodate every foreign exhibit that we may procure, and have ample room for the display of our native resources, as well as Midway attractions. The chief resources of our country are its agricultural products, its fisheries, its lumber interests and its mineral wealth, and your subcommittee believes that as incidental to the fair, money could not be better spent during the time of the fair than in subsidizing excursions to our wheat fields, to our canneries, to our lumber camps, and to our placer and quartz mines, in order that those who may come from a distance may see for themselves at little expense that we may make no idle boast in claiming that the Pacific Northwest will be the greatest and richest part of the United States, and that, across the Pacific to the west, its countries that will consume all we can produce, and that the Northwest is the gateway to the wealth of the Orient.

Your committee believes that to be a success the fair must be located near the center of population, in order that the attendance of our own people shall be as great as possible, and that it should be easy and quick of access from the hotels and boarding-houses.

Facilities for reaching the grounds must be ample, and the fewer obstacles to surmount in transportation to and reaching the grounds the better for the attendance.

Your committee, therefore, concludes that the choice of sites is narrowed down to two locations—the Hawthorne Avenue and the City Park.

That, as there should not be expended a great deal of money in improving the property of individuals, and as the cost of the Hawthorne tract would absorb a large sum of money which might be used to better advantage for the ultimate good of the city and our country, and as the bulk of travel to and from the fair would have to cross our bridges—already much congested with travel—not to speak of any possible accident to the bridges, your committee concludes to recommend as a site the City Park.

Granting that the Postoffice is the center of the city, the park is within easy access. What money may be spent upon improvements remains permanently the property of the city, and there should be no difficulty in arranging for further additional street-car facilities for the transportation of the public.

In conclusion, it is the opinion of your committee that the park, especially that section south and west of the upper reservoir, admits of the arranging of a fair of the most unique character, different entirely from anything ever attempted in any of the similar enterprises of the East.

Its unsurpassed natural scenic beauties can be utilized to the most excellent advantage. The buildings can be so arranged that they be seen from almost anywhere in the city at daylight—giving the heights the most picturesque appearance, and when they are lighted up at night and the electrical displays are in operation, they will look like an enchanted city, built upon the heights above the town, and yet within the reach of every one.

Those within the grounds will be able to look down upon our fair city, with its background of snow-clad mountains, with our magnificent river, with its prominent buildings, and with its houses large and small, as within a beautiful garden rich with green and full of fragrant roses.

Your subcommittee has not endeavored at this time to enter into any detailed computation of possible earnings and expenses, but has tried as briefly as possible to report its opinion upon the site and general scope of the fair.

Naming Corrigan's Successor.

NEW YORK, July 7.—The congregation of the propaganda, which will have to examine and report to the pope about the propositions for a new archbishop of New York, will only hold two more sittings before taking a Summer vacation, cables the Rome correspondent of the Tribune. So important a question as the successor to Archbishop Corrigan should not come before the congregation until Autumn; besides, all the documents are not yet here. Especially lacking are letters from American archbishops giving their views on the proposed candidates. An appointment is not expected before November.

No Financial Trouble in France.

PARIS, July 7.—Contrary to reports circulated in the United States, there is nothing threatening in the financial situation here. The Minister of Finance, M. Rouvier, will present a bill in the Chamber of Deputies tomorrow converting the 3½ per cent rentes into 3 per cents, and he would hardly choose a threatening moment for such an operation. Both 3½ and 3 per cents made a slight advance today, and the Bourse was generally calm.

Vacation of Shaw Family.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Secretary of the Treasury Shaw, accompanied by his wife and two daughters, has gone to a small place on Lake Champlain, near Burlington, Vt., where Mrs. Shaw and the Misses Shaw will spend the remainder of the Summer. The Secretary will be with them about a week. He will then return to Washington, but expects to rejoin them later.

No New Trial for Jessie Morrison.

ELDORADO, Kan., July 7.—The County Court today heard arguments on the motion for a new trial in the case of Jessie Morrison, found guilty June 28 of murder in the second degree for killing Mrs. Olin Castle. Adjournment was taken till tomorrow morning, when the motion will be overruled, and sentence probably will be pronounced at once.

Minnesota Social Democrats.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 7.—A state ticket was nominated by the Social Democrats of Minnesota in convention here tonight. J. E. Nash, of Minneapolis, was named for Governor.

MAYOR FIGHTS TO STAY IN

But His Successor Calls on Police and Gains the Office.

SAN JOSE, Cal., July 7.—The most sensational scene in the history of the local city government was enacted today. An attempt of Mayor Martin, City Clerk Cottle and the old Council to retain possession of their offices resulted in failure. Martin and Cottle were in the Council chamber, and served notices on Mayor-elect Worswick, with Clerk-elect Belloli, and Councilmen-elect Hubbard, Murray and Matthews that Martin and the old board of officers intended to hold their seats on the ground that the election of May 15 was illegal and void. Martin rapped for order and ordered the roll call, when Worswick stepped forward and announced that he was the legally elected Mayor, and ordered Chief of Police Haley to remove Martin and Cottle. Haley proceeded to do this amid the greatest confusion, the room being packed with people. Martin resisted and had to be choked and carried out bodily. Cottle also resisted and was dragged out. The crowd cheered lustily over the proceedings.

Mayor Worswick and Clerk Belloli are now in office.

The ex-Mayor and his supporters threaten legal action to have Worswick ousted from the Mayoralty.

Indian Torture Dances Stopped.

GUTHRIE, O. T., July 7.—The Cheyenne Indians near Calumet, in Canadian County, are reported to be holding a council of war, angry over an order issued by Major Stouch, Indian agent, prohibiting them from practicing the tortures, so-called, incident to their sun dance. The Indians are excited, and the whites near Calumet are becoming frightened. Major Stouch has apprised the War Department of the situation. About 2000 Indians took part in the dance last week in celebration of their religious festival, and the tortures were to have closed their doings. This is the first time that the dances of the Cheyennes have been stopped by the Government authorities.

Smelter Strike Declared Off.

HELENA, Mont., July 7.—The trouble at East Helena between employes of the American Smelting & Refining Company and the corporation this afternoon was adjusted and the men will go back to work tomorrow. The union is not recognized, but the company agrees to give preference to old men and to discriminate against none of them. The men on their part agree to work one year from May 1, 1902, at the old scale. The strike has been formally declared off. About 600 men are affected.

Southern Pacific Shopmen Walk Out.

HOUSTON, Tex., July 7.—Five hundred and fifty employes of the Southern Pacific shops at Houston walked out today on the refusal of the company to grant them an increase of 10 per cent in wages. The company first offered 10 cents a day increase, and afterward 6 per cent increase for all men who are not receiving more than $1 29 per day, but this was refused by the men, who based their demands on concessions made to the shopmen at Algiers some months ago.

Haggallon Located.

ASTORIA, July 7.—Charles Haggallon, whose wife attempted suicide in Portland a few days ago by jumping from a window, was located in this city last evening. He was occupied here as a fisherman, and had heard nothing of his wife's troubles. He went to Portland at once to be with her.

Cholera Spreading in Manchuria.

BERLIN, July 7.—It is announced here in a dispatch from Port Arthur that cholera is spreading in Manchuria, and that the mortality rate is very great. Out of 396 cases at Inkau 334 were fatal.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

Except a few light showers in Northeastern Washington and Northern Idaho, no rain has fallen west of the Rocky Mountains during the last 24 hours.

It is slightly warmer in the Willamette Valley, but elsewhere the changes in temperature have been small and unimportant.

The indications are for fair weather in this district Tuesday, with slowly rising temperatures.

THE RIVER.

The river at Portland reached a stage of 16.2 feet today, and it will probably rise to about 16.8 feet before it comes to stand again. The river at Umatilla is now falling, and the flood crest should pass Portland by Wednesday afternoon. The Upper Willamette is falling at all stations.

FORECASTS.

Portland and vicinity: Tuesday, fair and warmer, with northwest winds.

Oregon and Washington: Tuesday, fair, warmer, except near coast; northwest winds.

Idaho: Fair and warmer.

FELL SIXTY FEET

AND ESCAPED WITHOUT EVEN A BROKEN BONE.

John Rogers Tumbles From the Roof of a Three-Story Building to the Pavement—A Ladder Breaks His Fall.

While working on the roof of a three-story building on Detroit street, John Rogers, of No. 165 Alabama street, Cleveland, O., lost his balance and fell sixty feet to the ground.

He was drawing up gravel, and while leaning over pulling on the guy rope it broke and he fell. About 36 feet from the sidewalk he struck a ladder which stood against the building. This broke the force of his fall. But he fell upon the pavement head foremost, and his fellow-workmen picked him up unconscious.

The ambulance was summoned and he was taken to St. John's Hospital, where it was fully 10 hours before he regained consciousness. No bones were broken, nor did he sustain any internal injuries as was first feared. To a reporter he said:

"I grew very nervous as a result of my fall, and was fast running into nervous prostration. I was under a doctor's care, but did not get any real benefit, and I was becoming very much discouraged.

"Then I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I could see a decided improvement in a short time, and by the time I had taken eight boxes I was fully restored to health. That was over a year ago, and now I am perfectly well and strong again, with nerves as sound as anybody's. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People cured me when doctors' medicines failed."

The nervous system may be deranged from any of a number of causes. A physical shock, as was the case with Mr. Rogers, or a mental shock, may bring it on. More common causes are worry, overwork, excitement, lack of rest and dissipation. Whatever the exciting cause, the results are largely the same, and the remedy that cured the one will cure the other.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold by all dealers, or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price, fifty cents a box, or six boxes for two dollars and fifty cents, by addressing Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.
