Portland Gets a Shut-Out by a Narrow Margin.

TACOMA PITCHER RESPONSIBLE

A Pass, a Wild Throw and Stolen Base Scores the Only Tally in the Game—Salisbury Was the Pitcher.

Table with 2 columns: Team, Score. Northwest League. Yesterday's Games. Tacoma 0, Seattle 0.

TACOMA, July 9.—Salisbury pitched a fine, steady game for the Webfoots and not a Tiger connected safely with his delivery until the sixth inning, but the exception of Hutchinson and 'Lefty' Nagle.

In the sixth inning, with two out, Andrews cracked a double over the left fence and was left on second. In the seventh, with one out, Fisher sent a hot grounder through the diamond, but he was left at first, both White and Letcher popping foul over first base, where Weed gathered them in.

Hutchinson opened the eighth with a nice single and Nagle sacrificed him to second, but a foul fly to Vigneux and a rap to Anderson left him there. For a few moments it looked as though the Tigers would score in the ninth, though McCarthy started with a two-stacker to the left corner. Keefe popped a fly to Deibel and Fisher sent a long fly to Van Buren, which was manipulated into a double play as McCarthy tried to make third.

Portland. Muller, I. f., 5, 0, 1, 2, 0, 0. Van Buren, S. f., 5, 0, 1, 1, 4, 0. Anderson, S. b., 5, 0, 1, 1, 4, 0. Weed, I. b., 5, 0, 1, 1, 4, 0.

TOOK SEATTLE ELEVEN INNINGS. New Empire Has a Hard Time With McCloskey.

SEATTLE, July 9.—Hogg was wild today and Roach had the better of the pitchers' arguments, but Butte's hitters could not connect safely with men on bases. They also exhibited poor judgment in running bases, Roach hit one man in the game, McCarthy umpired his first game and had a hard time of it, on account of the kicking of McCloskey and Ward. Score:

REFUSED CATHOLIC NURSE

ATTITUDE OF THE VATICAN TOWARD AN AMERICAN WOMAN.

Sensation at Rome Caused by the Treatment of Princess Rospiigliosi—Other Foreign News.

ROME, July 9.—A great sensation has been caused here by the action of the Vatican authorities toward the Princess Rospiigliosi, an American. Her husband is head of an ancient family of noble nobility, and his brother is commander of the Papal Noble Guard. On August 28, Prince Rospiigliosi married Mrs. Marie Josephine, daughter of the Duke of Devonshire, the divorced wife of Colonel Frederick H. Parkhurst, of Bangor, Me. The ceremony was civil, and hence was not recognized by the Vatican.

Princess Rospiigliosi, who is now on the point of confinement, engaged an English Nurse, Sister, a nurse, and the latter took up her duties. But Cardinal Machi, secretary of the apostolic briefs, hearing of this, forbade the Sister to fulfill her duties on the ground that the marriage was nonexistent. The Prince was furious and asserted his influence to overcome the scruples of the church, but without avail. Eventually he was obliged to send to England for a nurse. The incident is expected to have important developments.

(When the news of the marriage of Mrs. Parkhurst to Prince Rospiigliosi reached the Vatican, the Cardinal secretary that at first the Vatican refused to sanction the marriage because Mrs. Parkhurst was a divorced woman, but, as the Prince declared she would be his wife, with or without the consent of the church, sanction was finally given. Mrs. Parkhurst is a granddaughter of Samuel Chester Redd, who commanded the American privateer Brigadier-General, and was a member of the battle of Fayal in the War of 1812. On her mother's side she is descended from the Rowan family of Kentucky. About 10 years ago, in Washington, she met Mrs. Parkhurst, who was a member of the Maine Legislature, and of General Hill's staff, with the rank of Colonel. The couple were married and lived happily for a time, but they had two children. Several years ago they became estranged and Colonel Parkhurst sued for a divorce. The divorce was granted, and Mrs. Parkhurst left the city. At Bar Harbor she met Prince Joseph, who fell in love with her.)

BRITISH SHIP SUBSIDIES. Lord Brassey Says They Are Necessary to Maintain Her Prestige. LONDON, July 9.—Lord Brassey, Liberal, initiated a discussion on naval matters in the House of Lords, during the course of which he deplored the fact that Great Britain had lost the place she once held with her mercantile marine. The continuation of subsidies, he thought, depended on the action of the other powers. All the naval powers of Europe gave liberal subsidies, while President Roosevelt and ex-Secretary Gage had recommended the abolition of the policy. It was contrary to English policy to foster industries by bounties or protection, but to pay for a reserve of auxiliary vessels would certainly be to the public advantage.

DEFEATED AT HENLEY YESTERDAY. BUCKS STONE, giving the boats on that station great advantage. Some experts estimate that the station on the Bucks side was worth a length. The first contest was the fourth heat for the Grand Challenge cup. Although the London Rowing Club had the advantage of the Bucks station, and rowed in excellent form, Leander led all the way, London's spurt towards the finish proving fruitless. The time, 7:23, was very fast, considering the wind, and supports the generally accepted view that nobody knows what reserve power is possessed by the Leanders until they are hard pressed. The half-mile time was 3:21. The mile was done in 5:26. This opened the way for what was generally regarded as the most important event of the regatta—the Canadian's contest with Trinity, the crack Cambridge crew accepted by all as the British champions in the heats for the Grand Challenge cup. Both crews struck #9 for the first minute, and raced nose and nose. At Frawley Court Trinity forged a quarter of a length to the front, rowing grandly. The collegians drew away gradually, amid the greatest excitement. The Canadians, even when they were passed, hung on in the most spotted fashion, and spurred thereafter. The time for the half-mile was 2:21. Frawley Court was passed in 3:21. The time at the finish was 7:11.

The third heat for the Thames Challenge cup was a great struggle. The Irishmen would have won, but for their disadvantage of station. The Dublin crew got off first, and still led at Frawley Court, after which Cambridge gradually drew level. A neck-and-neck race ensued, and the Englishmen won by a narrow margin. After the lunch interval the fourth heat for the Thames Challenge cup was rowed in a downhill of rain, which sent the Summer-clad pickers in search of shelter. The School of Mines got clear away from the start, and kept the Thames oarsmen in hand the whole distance. The second heat for the Goblets was a procession, the Londoners defeating the Reading pair in hollow fashion. The third heat for the Ladies' Challenge Plate aroused unusual enthusiasm, and the Eton boys, whose special claim to this trophy is generally conceded, carried it off in a very easy manner. They had the Bucks shore, and took full advantage of the fact. Christ Church held their own for some distance, but were rowed down, and the Etonians came ashore, and won as they liked in excellent time, 7:23.

For the succeeding race, the eighth heat for the Diamond Sculls, C. S. Titus, of the Union Boat Club, New York, was a warm favorite, but he was rowed to a standstill, to the surprise of every one. The American was heavily handicapped, both in his station, which was the Berks side of the river, and by the superior weight of his opponent, F. S. Kelley, Balliol College, Oxford, who had 21 pounds' advantage. The Oxonian got away from the start, and was three lengths ahead at Frawley Court. He maintained this lead, and paddled home an easy victor. Kelley started with cutting down tactics. He put in 25 strokes in the first minute, and after the half-mile, however, Titus never flattered his supporters, and Kelley paddled home a winner by a distance variously estimated at three to eight lengths. Titus was badly used up at the finish. The Badley boys made a great showing in the fourth heat for the Ladies' Challenge plate. So far as Frawley Court the race was neck and neck. University College, Oxford, then shot ahead and gained a length advantage, which was doubled in the last half mile. In the ninth heat for the Diamond Sculls R. B. Etherington-Smith, Leander Rowing Club, took the race in hand from the start and easily beat J. Beresford, Kensington Rowing Club. Smith did no more than paddle the last half mile to slow time. The contest was so criterion as to what he may be able to do in the final against Kelley. The day's sport was concluded with the two heats for the Wifold Challenge cup. Fourth heat, for the Challenge cup—

DEFEATED AT HENLEY YESTERDAY. BUCKS STONE, giving the boats on that station great advantage. Some experts estimate that the station on the Bucks side was worth a length. The first contest was the fourth heat for the Grand Challenge cup. Although the London Rowing Club had the advantage of the Bucks station, and rowed in excellent form, Leander led all the way, London's spurt towards the finish proving fruitless. The time, 7:23, was very fast, considering the wind, and supports the generally accepted view that nobody knows what reserve power is possessed by the Leanders until they are hard pressed. The half-mile time was 3:21. The mile was done in 5:26. This opened the way for what was generally regarded as the most important event of the regatta—the Canadian's contest with Trinity, the crack Cambridge crew accepted by all as the British champions in the heats for the Grand Challenge cup. Both crews struck #9 for the first minute, and raced nose and nose. At Frawley Court Trinity forged a quarter of a length to the front, rowing grandly. The collegians drew away gradually, amid the greatest excitement. The Canadians, even when they were passed, hung on in the most spotted fashion, and spurred thereafter. The time for the half-mile was 2:21. Frawley Court was passed in 3:21. The time at the finish was 7:11.

The third heat for the Thames Challenge cup was a great struggle. The Irishmen would have won, but for their disadvantage of station. The Dublin crew got off first, and still led at Frawley Court, after which Cambridge gradually drew level. A neck-and-neck race ensued, and the Englishmen won by a narrow margin. After the lunch interval the fourth heat for the Thames Challenge cup was rowed in a downhill of rain, which sent the Summer-clad pickers in search of shelter. The School of Mines got clear away from the start, and kept the Thames oarsmen in hand the whole distance. The second heat for the Goblets was a procession, the Londoners defeating the Reading pair in hollow fashion. The third heat for the Ladies' Challenge Plate aroused unusual enthusiasm, and the Eton boys, whose special claim to this trophy is generally conceded, carried it off in a very easy manner. They had the Bucks shore, and took full advantage of the fact. Christ Church held their own for some distance, but were rowed down, and the Etonians came ashore, and won as they liked in excellent time, 7:23.

For the succeeding race, the eighth heat for the Diamond Sculls, C. S. Titus, of the Union Boat Club, New York, was a warm favorite, but he was rowed to a standstill, to the surprise of every one. The American was heavily handicapped, both in his station, which was the Berks side of the river, and by the superior weight of his opponent, F. S. Kelley, Balliol College, Oxford, who had 21 pounds' advantage. The Oxonian got away from the start, and was three lengths ahead at Frawley Court. He maintained this lead, and paddled home an easy victor. Kelley started with cutting down tactics. He put in 25 strokes in the first minute, and after the half-mile, however, Titus never flattered his supporters, and Kelley paddled home a winner by a distance variously estimated at three to eight lengths. Titus was badly used up at the finish. The Badley boys made a great showing in the fourth heat for the Ladies' Challenge plate. So far as Frawley Court the race was neck and neck. University College, Oxford, then shot ahead and gained a length advantage, which was doubled in the last half mile. In the ninth heat for the Diamond Sculls R. B. Etherington-Smith, Leander Rowing Club, took the race in hand from the start and easily beat J. Beresford, Kensington Rowing Club. Smith did no more than paddle the last half mile to slow time. The contest was so criterion as to what he may be able to do in the final against Kelley. The day's sport was concluded with the two heats for the Wifold Challenge cup. Fourth heat, for the Challenge cup—

ATTITUDE OF THE VATICAN TOWARD AN AMERICAN WOMAN.

Sensation at Rome Caused by the Treatment of Princess Rospiigliosi—Other Foreign News.

ROME, July 9.—A great sensation has been caused here by the action of the Vatican authorities toward the Princess Rospiigliosi, an American. Her husband is head of an ancient family of noble nobility, and his brother is commander of the Papal Noble Guard. On August 28, Prince Rospiigliosi married Mrs. Marie Josephine, daughter of the Duke of Devonshire, the divorced wife of Colonel Frederick H. Parkhurst, of Bangor, Me. The ceremony was civil, and hence was not recognized by the Vatican.

Princess Rospiigliosi, who is now on the point of confinement, engaged an English Nurse, Sister, a nurse, and the latter took up her duties. But Cardinal Machi, secretary of the apostolic briefs, hearing of this, forbade the Sister to fulfill her duties on the ground that the marriage was nonexistent. The Prince was furious and asserted his influence to overcome
