AMUSEMENTS TONIGHT.

VALCOURT GETS OFF EARLY.—What was expected happened at the Municipal Court yesterday, when Valcourt, who Police Officer Bailey and Gibson say is commonly known as a maqueureau, was charged with vagrancy. It was claimed in White-chapel, Tuesday, that the case had been "arranged," and that Valcourt would escape by paying a $25 fine. This was what actually happened; Valcourt pleaded guilty to the charge of vagrancy placed against him, and said: "I was in jail three or four months ago, and went to British Columbia, where I was a book-keeper. I returned here about two weeks ago, and if you let me go I expect to get work next week." No policemen were called on to testify against the prisoner, who was then fined $25 by Municipal Judge Hogue. The prosecuting officer was Deputy City Attorney Fitzgerald. W. J. Hume, who was said to be Valcourt's lawyer, did not appear. City Ordinance No. 2088, when it is enforced, provides a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $100, or imprisonment of not less than five days nor more than three months. Police men say that there is no use arresting any more Whitechapel people of a certain bad reputation, if they are allowed to escape by paying into the Municipal Court a paltry fine. Under the statutes, a case under the state law cannot be made out against such offenders. They must be tried before the Municipal Court.

CHINESE BOY TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.—Special Officer Hawley, of the Boys and Girls Aid Society, exercised his official powers in compelling M. G. Han, a Chinese, to send his 10-year-old son to Vincent's Hospital, so that his eyesight may be saved. The boy's eyes were badly injured on July 4, by the explosion of a bomb. The attention of John M. Hogue, M. D., was called to the case, and on making an examination he saw that the little fellow's eyes were badly burned. They were matured, with bad drops of pus coming from them. The parents were informed that the boy ought to be sent to a hospital, where he could receive proper care and skilled treatment, but they positively refused to consent. Dr. Brooke, realizing that the boy would lose his eyes unless attended to at once, and under favorable conditions, called in the services of Officer Hawley, and, after connecting with the house at 146 Second street, where the patient was. Some Chinese women who were present cried and wailed, and said the boy could not be taken away. Officer Hawley insisted, and exhibited his star, and threatened to send for the patrol wagon. Finally, the father agreed, and the boy was removed in a hack to the hospital, and Dr. Brooke summoned an eye specialist to attend to the case.

E. G. WETZLER HOME AGAIN.—Mr. E. G. Wetzler, Superintendent of Mails in the Manila Postoffice, is home again, visiting relatives and friends after four years' service in the Philippines. Mr. Wetzler returned on the Government transport Killipatrik, which recently arrived in San Francisco. He is looking well and healthy, and gained 15 pounds on his trip across the Pacific. Mr. Wetzler went to the Philippines while Mr. Valle was Director of Posts, and lent him valuable assistance in organizing the mail service of those islands. When Mr. Valle returned to the United States and was succeeded by Mr. C. M. Cotterman, formerly Chief Clerk in the Railway Mail Service in this city, Mr. Wetzler was retained as Postmaster. His leave of absence is accumulative, and will extend over a period of several months.

NO PERJURY FOR MUNICIPAL COURT.—Fred Byers, accused of the larceny of $80, on the complaint of Mrs. E. E. Stone, was discharged at the Municipal Court yesterday, for lack of evidence. Municipal Judge Hogue intimated that the evidence furnished had been after four years' time of the court had been wasted, and that he would in the future punish people who take the witness-stand in his court and perjure themselves by uttering what is not true.

SPECIAL SATURDAY AFTERNOON SERVICES to the beaches, via A. C. R. R.: Portland-Seaside Express leaves Union Depot every Saturday at 2:30 P. M. for Flavel, Gearhart and Seaside. Round-trip tickets between Portland and the beaches $2.50, sold on Saturdays; good to return Sunday evening. Waikiki, in his position, has side, open to the public Sunday, June 13.

LAST DAY TO PAY LICENSES.—Today is the last day upon which the various city licenses may be paid, and the receipts will probably be closed at 12:00. Yesterday the receipts at the City Auditor's office amounted to $700, making a total of $7,000 collected so far. The whole amount due reaches in the aggregate the sum of $8,000, so that $1,000 yet remains to be paid.

FOR DALLAS, LITTLE, HOOVER RIVER, HOT SPRINGS, CASCADE LOCKS, TAKE REGULATOR LINE, OAK-STREET DOCK. A. M. SMALL FIRE.—There were alarms yesterday from fire boxes Nos. 35 and 135, but the damage was small in each case. The first fire was in a house at Seventeenth and Clay streets, and the latter at the works of the Portland General Electric Company, Seventh and Alder streets.

SEAMEN'S INSTITUTE BENEFIT, TONIGHT AT 8 P. M. LAMM FETE, NINETEENTH AND LOVEJOY. SPECIAL PROGRAMME, SEAMEN'S ATTRACTIONS, ONLY ONE. UMBRELLAS made in Oregon; latest styles; lowest prices. Repairing and re-covering. Meredith's, Washington & 6th. THE SEASIDE HOTEL will open Thursday, July 10. In its new place, and patrons will be well cared for.

SALE.—$1.50 pair, men's lace or congres and $7 grades. Marks Shoe Co. TRIPS FOR THE PENT. Pacific Tent & Awning Company, 37 North Third street. BARNETT, GLADSTONE PARK, TODAY, 10:30. MULLOZIAN vs. MR. ANGELO.

ROCKET STRENGTH THROUGH ROOFS.—Householders in the vicinity where the Fourth of July fireworks were set off are wondering how far the authorities will permit celebrators to go in imperiling the persons and property of citizens without warning. When the corner of Grant and Seventh streets was penetrated by five of the stems of skyrockets, and in at least one case the long stick passed so far through the roof that it protruded through the plastered ceiling of the kitchen. In the other cases about half the length of the stem passed through the roofs, leaving three feet, more or less, of a staff outside. A dozen instances of the stems were found driven into the ground from one to three feet. In any of these cases the force with which the shaft fell must have been sufficient to break a skull or other deadly injury, had they landed right on a person or animal, and it is marvelous that no greater injury than torn clothes and bruised arms resulted, when the force of the crowd is considered. A stick three-fourths of an inch square and six feet long, is a rather formidable assailant at the end of a fall of several hundred feet, and especially when the stick is a wooden one, as in the case of the one that struck a man weighing two pounds, falls to break away from its fastenings on the stem. The stems go up with the rockets, and those who set them are aware of their danger. It is much like firing a rifle over the city on the theory that no harm will be done because deliberate aim is not taken.

BRASS AT LARGE IN SOUTH PORTLAND.—A brass band was returning to her home on Grant street after taking a music lesson yesterday noon, was followed on Park and Seventh streets from Jefferson to Lincoln by a man who sought by offering her candy and money to entice her away, first for a street-car ride and then into a partially finished house at the corner of Seventh and College. The child was sufficient firm to withstand his blandishments, and finally reached home safely but in tears, while the man scudded off down Lincoln street before he could be overtaken. The man disappeared through the Seventh and College the man made the little girl stop and wait while he should go inside to see if anybody was there, but the moment he disappeared through the door he was seen on home, though he overtook her again a few doors away. An investigation was set on foot, and there were uncovered several other attempts to deceive children, all probably by the same man, who was in the custody of the police a few months ago on another charge. If the very tangible clue now in hand shall lead to establishing the identity of the beast who committed yesterday's offense, the father of the child promises that children will hereafter be free from harm from that source.

FOR CARNIVAL.—Three committees from the Elks spent a busy day yesterday, canvassing for the carnival fund, which, it is hoped, will be completed before tonight. Business men are enthusiastic over the project, and the committees were stopped several times on the streets by men who wished to make subscriptions, and others who wished to raise those already made. There is every reason to believe that the necessary $2,000 will be raised before tonight. A prominent Elk said last evening that the net proceeds of the carnival will be used as a starter of a building fund for Portland Lodge, 142 B. P. O. E. The lodge owns a piece of ground 100 feet square on the northeast corner of Seventh and Stark streets, where it is proposed to erect a fine business block, with lodge rooms in the upper stories. According to the precedent established two years ago, a portion of the gate receipts will be devoted to charity. The Elks will meet this evening, when definite plans for the management of the carnival will be considered.

CHICAGO JUDGE'S OPINION.—Judge Thompson, who recently presided at the trial of Chicago, Ill., and Colonel R. C. Stoll, of Lexington, Ky., formed a party of friends who called on the Chief of Police last night, to be shown the curfew at the police station. Judge Hogan said: "I have traveled over a good portion of this country, and I have been in a number of foreign countries, yet I have never seen a city so beautifully situated as Portland. We are on Portland Heights this morning, and I was delighted with the charming view of rivers and snow-topped mountains. I think of this cool July day!"

MEDICAL EXAMINERS MEET.—Examinations before the State Medical Board were concluded yesterday, the regular annual meeting of the board being held in the evening. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Dr. W. J. Saylor; secretary, Dr. Byron E. Miller; treasurer, Dr. W. E. Carr. All were re-elected. Several days will be required for the examination of papers, as each member of the board is required to pass on all of them. A complete list of those who passed will be published in a few days.

GOING TO FLAYE STRADY.—Mrs. Mitchell, manager of Hotel Flavel, at the beach, reports the house fast filling up with a splendid class of patrons. Many are going Saturday and Sunday. Big time Sunday. Rates $7, $10, $12 and $15 per week for rooms, with board. Portland office, 615 Marquam building. Phone Main 615.

MR. STROWBRIDGE IMPROVING.—Joseph A. Strowbridge, who was dangerously ill Tuesday, was reported to be greatly improved last night. His son, Dr. George H. Strowbridge, said that while Mr. Strowbridge had not passed the danger point his condition was a great deal better, and hopes were entertained for his recovery.

ASBURY IS CHARGED.—A. Labowitz and Phil Weisberger were arrested yesterday by Policeman Howland, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon, on the complaint of L. Rivenky.

LAWYERS' LAWYERS' LAWYERS'—TODAY AT NINETEENTH AND LOVEJOY, FOR BENEFIT OF SEAMEN'S INSTITUTE. "GOING TO THE COAST"—The "Newton," Long Beach, thoroughly refitted, now open.

MATTING AND RUGS.—We have just received a large shipment of new designs of linen wrap matting and cotton and jute rugs, selling at low prices. Also Chinese and Japanese curios, toys, etc. Andrew Kan & Co., corner Fourth and Morrison.

WHERE TO DINE.—The Portland Restaurant, 36 Washington, has a reputation as the leader.

Argentina's Neutral Policy.—BUENOS AYRES, July 9.—Argentina and Chile have signed a convention defining more precisely the objects of their recent treaties providing for arbitration and the limitation of armaments with the view of averting the possibility of future complications. Public opinion approves of the new convention. Argentina clearly announces that her policy is absolute neutrality in questions concerning Chile on the Pacific Coast. The convention explains that it is not proposed that either nation shall augment the naval equipment now afloat.

Mount Hood Government Camp.—Good hotel, rates reasonable. Safe guide for mountain climbing. Address A. M. Yocum, manager, Salmon, Or.

Klamath Hot Springs.—Most noted summer resort in Northern California. Near South Pass. Convenient for Oregon people. Address Edna Jones, Beverly, Cal.

NEW COUNTY COURT MEETS

THE ROAD SUPERVISORS PRESENT BONDS, WHICH ARE APPROVED. Attorney John Hall Presents a Claim for Services Rendered in Collecting Mortgage Taxes.

The new Board of County Commissioners held its first regular session yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Judge Webster sat in the center of the bench. Commissioner Barnes on his left and Commissioner Hogue on his right. The newly elected Road Supervisors were in attendance and presented their certificates of election and bonds, which were approved by the court. A formal order was made confirming the appointment made by the new county officials.

The petition signed by G. Shepherd and 49 others, for the relocation of a road near Fairview, was read, and it was decided to view the road later on. Bernard A. Haffey presented a petition for a license to sell beer at Fairview, which was referred to Judge Webster. A few matters of minor importance were talked over. An old claim filed by Attorney John Hall for $125 for alleged services performed in collecting certain mortgage taxes, was called up before the new Board of County Commissioners yesterday, and the matter was set for hearing Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

H. H. Northrup, when he was County Judge, and the other members of the County Court, entered into a contract with Mr. Hall by the terms of which the latter was to receive 10 per cent of all mortgage taxes due which he should succeed in collecting. There was then a very large amount of such taxes due the county. Mr. Hall carried a case to the United States Supreme Court and obtained a decision to the effect that mortgages, etc., of foreign companies doing business here could not be taxed. Afterwards other attorneys obtained a decision by the Oregon Supreme Court that a mortgage tax is a lien on the land, and the construction of the mortgage taxes have been collected. Mr. Hall contends that some suits were pending which resulted in the taxes being paid to the county, and that he is entitled to compensation in these cases. The statement was made to the Commissioners yesterday that Mr. Hall expended $700 in carrying the case to the Supreme Court. County Auditor Pope, as one of his last official acts, on Monday morning sent to the County Court a report adverse to Mr. Hall's claim, as follows:

To the Honorable County Court of Multnomah County: The claim of Hon. John H. Hall for $125 for services rendered on a contract made July 22, 1895, which was referred to me, seems to have once been passed upon by a former Board of County Commissioners who were properly and thoroughly informed as to the facts, and after mature consideration and taking legal advice as to the construction to be placed on the contract referred to, the board declined to pay it. I do not see, after this lapse of years, that the construction should be changed.

After gathering what information I have in regard to the contract and the meaning thereof, I fail to discover that it makes any sense whatever to the defending of suits brought against the county, or, in fact, to any proceeding which has subsequent to the first day of August, 1895, and for which Mr. Hall now claims. The commission on collections prior to that date amounting to $608 was duly paid, as shown in Mr. Hall's statement of account. If he was employed by the county subsequently to defend certain actions against the county he does not so state, but on the contrary claims the services were rendered to the county. The contract, on June 18, 1895, I sent the claim to the District Attorney with the contract and asked his opinion. His reply has just come to hand.

I heartily coincide with the District Attorney's suggestion that the validity of the claim should be determined by the justice of the court of competent jurisdiction before drawing a warrant on our County Treasurer in payment thereof.

Wilson Suit on Trial.—The trial of the case of James Wilson against Guy W. Holmes, which was transferred from the State Circuit Court to the United States Circuit Court, was begun before Judge Bellinger yesterday. The plaintiff seeks to recover the sum of $670, which he alleges is due him for services performed in the selection and sale of timber on the estate of Guy W. Holmes. The plaintiff has entered a general denial to the complaint. But a small part of the testimony was taken, and the trial will be resumed this morning.

Court Notes.—C. A. McKee has filed an attachment suit in the State Circuit Court against Loren Seward, and seeks to recover $200 on account of cordwood sold and delivered at La Center, Wash. The full amount of the account was $700, and it is alleged that only $500 has been paid.

William M. Ladd, administrator of the estate of A. H. Johnson, deceased, filed a petition in the County Court yesterday, stating that it is advisable to sell certain real property in Yamhill County. The claim against the estate is $200,000. The estate comprises much valuable real property in Portland and elsewhere, and the petition states that it will be necessary to sell all of the property to pay the indebtedness. Ladd & Tilton are principal creditors. The heirs comprise numerous children and grandchildren.

A Famine of Silver.—Des Moines Register. The Senate has just acted on the Hill bill providing for the coinage of more subsidiary silver, first out of the bullion in the Treasury, and then by recoinage of standard silver dollars. This bill was framed to meet a curious emergency which has barely enough subsidiary silver now to meet the demands of trade. Not long ago the demand was greater than the Treasury supply could furnish, and a few days ago at any time. The increased demand of subsidiary coins by the country has averaged about $5,000,000 a year in the last few years. Unless this coinage authority increased coinage, the demand will exceed the supply under the present limit before another Congress can meet.

The history of the bill is that the coinage of subsidiary silver to $50,000,000 is curious. There is no reason on earth why this kind of coinage should have other than the natural limit of trade demands. It is not legal tender beyond $5 and is redeemable at the Treasury whenever presented in sums of $20. It could not possibly outrun legitimate demand. There never was a limit on the coinage of subsidiary silver before the war. When fractional paper currency was issued, it was needed, of course, to limit the amount. When subsidiary silver was substituted for fractional currency after the war, the act, curiously enough, followed the language of the fractional currency act, and established a limit of $50,000,000, which was increased in 1890 to $100,000,000.

The Senate is likely to hesitate over this bill because it seems to limit the coinage and circulation of silver dollars. But it would be great folly to buy bullion in order to coin subsidiary silver to meet a public demand, when there are 34,000,000 ounces of silver bullion in the Treasury. We can make no other use of this bullion but to coin silver dollars, which the people do not want and will not have, except in the form of certificates. It is estimated that this Treasury bullion will last seven or eight years, if the mint is permitted to coin out of it all the subsidiary silver demanded by trade conditions. After that, the proposed legislation would authorize recoinage of standard dollars into subsidiary silver, as was needed.

WORK OF HOTEL THIEVES Systematic Methods by Which They Make Their Calling Profitable. Washington Times. "Hotel thieves are dangerous," said an old Washington detective in talking of some recent local operations by crooks of this class. "for they always have their places in hotels and fashionable boarding-houses, they must be prepared to meet any unexpected emergency. As a rule they are men of respectable appearance and of good address, and to be successful must be cool and daring. Some of the fellows follow their vocations in the morning, others come in the day, and still others operate under the shadows of night. In other respects also they have different methods of procedure."

can without noise be forced in at the proper time. "More astute than his brother hotel workers is the thief who looks for his prey about the high-class boarding-houses. He is generally an entertaining talker, secures all the information about the other guests before he has chatted with the landlady many hours, and is prepared for work. In the dining-room he can usually see the display of jewelry, and the eyes of these men rarely mistake the real jewel. At breakfast or dinner time shortly thereafter the thief remains upstairs, and before the other guests have finished their repast their rooms will have been ransacked. Thieves of this class are rather hard to follow, but when apprehended scores of complainants can generally be found to prosecute them."

"Mother Gray's Sweet Powders For Children. Mother Gray, a nurse in the Children's Home in New York, has children successfully with a remedy called Mother Gray's Sweet Powders for Children. They are harmless as milk, pleasant and never fail to carry valuable jewelry and trinkets, bankers and bride parties, and all persons likely to carry valuable jewelry and trinkets or a large amount of money in this way are noted and are objects of special importance and solicitude. Until he has been head in the purpose of the thief, he pursues his prey from one establishment to another persistently.

"Much ingenuity in getting into rooms is often shown by these men, who, in working, run all sorts of risks and take desperate chances. Sometimes he may secure entrance into an apartment without trouble, while at others it is necessary to use a slender and a small piece of crooked wire to slide back the bolt, or a pair of nippers to turn the key. As many as a dozen rooms in the same hotel have been known to have been plundered in one night, and no one saw or heard the thief. The crafty worker can carry his entire outfit in his vest pocket, and can literally laugh in his sleeve at the common bolts and bars.

"It takes only a few minutes for an expert to enter a room, and the door in most instances can be opened without making any noise. It is to show how it is done that the thief takes out a pair of small nippers, a bent piece of wire and a piece of silk thread, which are about the only tools any men use. By inserting the nippers in the key-hole the lock bolt can easily be twisted, and the bolt can then easily be located by prying up the door. The piece of thread is then attached to the wire, making a sort of bow, and it is pushed through the key-hole and carried up or down to the bolt. The looped head threads the pin into place, and the wire is then moved sideways until it grasps the pin, and then the bolt is slid back out of the nosing.

"Where the doors of hotels are protected by iron bolts, the thieves spend their leisure time 'fixing' the rooms. One of these, known as the 'thumb bolt,' needs to be tampered with beforehand. This is done by removing the screws, after which the thumb plate is removed and a slot filed in the spring bar. Then the operator replaces the plate and screws and marks on the outside of the door, by a slight indentation in the woodwork, the exact point at which to strike the filed slot when the door is locked. It is comparatively easy for the expert to 'fix' a room. Often months elapse after a room has been 'fixed' before a robbery is accomplished.

"Another plan, and the one which is generally adopted by the rogues who prowls about hotel corridors in the daytime, is to draw the screws of the nosing of the bolt and lock. By boring the screw holes larger and moistening the screws, the latter are replaced and maintain a sufficient grip not to be displaced by the ordinary jar. As the wood becomes dry the door
