CHICAGO, July 11.-Mutual concessions by the freighthandlers and by the rall-roads have paved the way for conferences between the managers and their em-ployes, which, it is hoped, will lead to a mettlement of the freighthandlers strike. These conferences, which will be the resuit of the work of the Chicago Board of Arbitration, will be held tomorrow morninc in the offices of the respective general managers. After working all day, the Board of Arbitration made the following mendation, which has been accept-both sides:

That committees of five, four of who must be employes of their respective rail-roads and having full power to act, meet with the proper officers of the said railroads during the forenoon of Saturday, July 12, to settle the existing differences between the railroads and the freighthan-

While not so expressed in the recom mendation, it is understood by all parties that the fifth member of each committee is to be a member of the executive committee of the freighthandlers. President Curran, of the freighthandlers, has from the first vehemently opposed the meeting of the employes of any of the roads with the road officials unless an officer of the union should be with them. The railroads have insisted that they were ready at all times to listen to the demands of their employes, but would not transact the business through a third party. The agreement reached tonight is, therefore, a slight concession on both sides. After receiving the consent of the freighthandiers, the members of the arbitration board prepared a list of demands for the men to present to the railroads tomorrow morning. In drawing them up, they said they were assured that they would be acceptable to the railroads.

It was stated by one of the high officials of the union that the third demand would not be made an insuperable object of the settlement of the strike. If the roads shall make a strong fight upon it, the men will give way on this point. 'On the first two ons, however, the men will not

President Curran, of the freighthandlers, said tonight:

We have agreed to abide by the actio of the Chicago Board of Arbitration, and the three propositions which we shall sub-mit are practically the work of that body. If the railroads will not meet us fairly tomorrow morning, all the teamsters in the City of Chicago will be out before

The general managers said that they had not been consulted about the list of demands to be presented in the morning, but added that they would meet the men and use every possible means to reach a

Fifty or 60 striking teamsters today attacked a wagon londed with coffee, which was being driven along Jackson boulevard. The driver took fright and deserted his wagon. The strikers, after cutting open the coffee sacks, strewed the contents along the street. A crowd collected to witness the sport, but when half a dozen policemen arrived and gave orders to perse, the streets were soon cleared. No arrests were made.

If the conferences between the general managers and the strikers shall not lead to the settlement of the strike, it is certainty that all the members of the Teamsters' Union will go out. The drivers for the commission houses on South Water street informed their employers today that they would handle goods for the lake lines and the express companies, but they would not, after tocorrow, deliver anything to the freighthouses or haul anything away from them. This means according to the commission men, that $500,000 worth of produce, which will arrive tomorrow morning, will be al-lowed to spoll, unless the strike shall be settled before noon.

> Shopping in Pekin. Japan and America,

The Chinese are "peculiar" for many other things than those set down by Bret Harte in his immortal chronicle, and them is the extraordinary cu among the merchants of Pekin. A Japanese correspondent has recently been ex-plaining to his business-like countrymen the great waste of time incurred in shopping in the Chinese capital. Frequently a whole day is wasted in trying to find a small article of daily use. This is largely due to the fact that trading is despithe higher classes in Pekin, an merchants are scattered over the city and over a space of three miles outside the city wall. In order to purchase a quire of paper the Japanese had to go to Ling Chang, three miles outside of the city, and had also to get out of the city to buy beef. Hours a day were spent in going from shop to shop, often several miles apart. In what seems to be the shop, very few articles, and they of the lowest quality, are kept, the best goods being upstairs, and will be overlooked unless country we are receiving assurances of the customer is aware of that peculiarity financial and moral support. ROYAL PROCESSION

DATE OF CORONATION DEFINITELY FIXED FOR AUGUST 9.

King Edward Will Leave Buckingham Palace Tuesday for His Yacht at Portsmouth.

LONDON, July 11. - It is officially announced that there will be no royal pro-cession, as originally planned, the day after the coronation, there will be no pro-cession on coronation day, apart from that in which their majesties will proceed from Buckingham Palace to Westminster Abbey and return. It is now considered practically certain, in view of this announce ment, that King Edward will be crowned Saturday, August 9, since the holding of the coronation ceremony Monday, August bring further reports of the revolutionary bring further reports of the revolutionary in Nicaragua. They are responsible for a rumor that Bluefields, Nicaragua, has been captured by the revolutionary in the attendant dislocation of general business, while Saturdays are almost universally observed as half-holimost universally observed as half-holi-days. The fixing of such an early date for the coronation is regarded as an addition al guarantee of the confidence the King's physicians have in consequence of his apid recuperation.

The text of the official announcement incerning the coronation of King Edward was issued from the Earl Marshal's office,

'The King's medical advisers stated that His Majesty's recovery has been more speedy and less complicated than was at first anticipated. His Majesty's excellent constitution has played a conspicuous part in bringing this about. If the present rate of progress is maintained, and if no omplications arise, the King's medical advisers are of the opinion that His Majesty would be able to undergo the fatigue of the coronation ceremony on a day between the 5th and 12th of August. The exact date will shortly be announced. The procession through London which was to have taken place the day following the coronation, is canceled."

It is expected that Queen Alexandra and Sir Francis Laking, physician in ordinary to the King, with His Majesty's nurses will accompany the King on board the royal yacht Victoria and Albert. It has not yet been decided whether His Majesty will go to Portsmouth by rail or wheth the racht will be brought to Sheerness to shorten the route. Ill Feeling Caused in England by Brutal Pictures. BERLIN, July 11.—The government of-ficials here are taking cognizance of the ill feeling in Great Britain toward Ger-many caused by the brutal cartoons and pleasantries here on King Edward's illnique, July 11.-There was a fresh erup- ness. The North German Gazette reproduces an article severely censuring th mic papers for their malevolence in the treatment of foreign politics, saying that millions of Germans take their views of foreign affairs from the illustrated papers in the cafes and beer gardens. These rm so much more a feature of German life here than elsewhere that millions of citizens get their only impressions of events and persons from the cartoons, hence the enormous influence of the prese of Germany. The Foreign Office has been showing unusual sensitiveness over what is print. ed in England about Germany. the British Ambassador, Sir Frank C. Lascelles, left Berlin for the coronation the Secretary for Foreign Affairs, Baron von Richthoften, conversing with him at the British Embassy about the attitude of the correspondents in Berlin of English newspapers, produced copies of severnl dispatches written in an anti-German tone. The Ambassador read them, touched a button and had a scrapbook ought to him. He then pointed out to Baron von Richthoften two or three articles, clipped from the German press of the most outrageous character against Great Britain and the British royal family. The Baron put his own clippings in his pocket and changed the subject.

PRENCH PROTECTORATE ENDED. Turkey Recognizes German and

Italian Claims at Holy Sepulchre. JERUSALEM, July 11 .- A sensationa trial here, the result of the clash between Greek and Latin monks in the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, surmounting Christ's tomb in November last, has resulted in the sentencing of 34 Greeks, including 12 priests, to terms of imprisonment ranging from a week to nine months. The most interesting point which developed after the disturbance was the fact, not generally known, that Germany and Italy, in supporting the claims of their wounded monks, obtained an irade from the Sultan recognizing their right to protect their respective subjects, and that thus France's claim to an exclusive protectorate over all the Catholic clergy in the East is no longer admitted.

The dispute between the Franciscans Greeks arose on the question as to which community had the right to aweep the church. Troops had been posted in the vicinity for several days previous to the outbreak in order to prevent the anticipated collision, but the were suddenly outnumbered and over-powered by the contending parties. There were several casualties on both sides.

London Social Plans Upset. NEW YORK, July 11.-While King Ed-ward's restoration to health is assured the social season is in extremis, says a London dispatch to the Tribune. Official entertaining continues in connection with the Colonial and Indian guests, and charity fetes are conducted on an unexampled scale, but social functions were paralyzed by the shock of the postpone ment of the coronation. Not only are the few halls and parties which had not been deferred dull and spiritless, but there also is an unsettled feeling of restlessness. Membere of Parnament are harassed by the uncertainties of a so-cial senson; they will be equally prepared ness. As stated in these dispatches last night, Tracy arrived at the sawmill plant of the Covington Lumber Company, a mile from this place, at midnight. Deputy Sheriffs J. A. Bunce, Fred C. So much for the primary motive for the probable slaving of Merrill.

Another Probable Incentive. The immediate motive is even more easily understood.

All observers of human nature know how hardship stimulates the mean, base fortable, character of men. Only a few men have that control over themselves which keeps them from becoming devils or demon when exhaustion preys upon them or hunger gnaws their vitals. At such times a word, a look, a gesture, a trifle will stir up discord and instigate crimes that men would otherwise shrink with horror from doing. If the understanding between Mer rill and Tracy was disrupted, nothing would be more likely to occur than just thim.

Tracy No Philanthropist.

For Tracy, under his present difficulties to try to save Merrill is regarded as improbable. A man in such straits, of from Westminster to Epsom in 12 or 14 Tracy's temperament, is no philanthropist. Tracy, if caught, will die. Merrill, if caught, might live. If Merrill should aid in Tracy's capture, his chance for life might be good. It is not likely that Tracy would contribute to Merrill's escape.

Dear Siret-I picked up one of your circulars on a table about a month ago and read it through. After reading I went out and bought a bottle of your whiskey, which helped meright away. I am now on my third bottle, using it for so-called incurable consumption, and I feel-like a new man. I think that if I had known of your whiskey when I was at home in Chicago, I would have never came out here for my health. ED. SCHURARTH, 1808.

There are thousands of cames just like that

There are thousands of cases just like that of Mr. Schuharth and Mrs. Allington, where the patients thought they had incurable consumption until their doctors prescribed Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, Duffy's Pure Mait Whiskey is absolutely pure and possesses more curative power than all other medicines. It contains no fusel oil, so common in other whilekeys, and which is a dangerous ingredient whiskey, especially for the di m, when the poison takes effect.

Duffy's Pure Mait Whiskey not only drives out consumption germs and heals the lungs, but it builds up new tissue and renovates the entire system. It aids digestion, stimulates and enriches the blood, tones up the heart, in-

THE ART OF CAMPING. Some Practical Advice for Women Given by Martha Coman,

Outlook. Rubber mattresses are good and sleep-ing bags are excellent, but in all my experiences as a camper, I have found nothing so satisfactory or so comfortable as the bed built of fresh pine boughs. When these beds are carefully constructed there isn't, to my mind, a hair mattress in the universe that can compare with this primifive but deliciously comfortable affair, If you are stopping only two or three nights in one spot, and then going on in your search for game or for scenery, your guide will not take the trouble to make upon him. But if he were captured with bed in a very thorough manner. He will simply heap up some freshly cut pine boughs and arrange them with the soft green needles for the top layer of the bed. Into this low box are piled, first, large freshly hewn houghs to build the bed up to the height of the box sides, top of these boughs softer ones are laid, with the new green parts on top to form a covering for the springy moss. When plenty of the soft green needles are put the other boughs, you have a bed that is at once deliciously soft and com The best part of it is that the and the elasticity of the bed lasts for days,

THE OLD-TIME DERBY.

And How It Differs from the Meet of These Rushing Days.

It is strange, indeed, to look back upon the manners and customs of the racing world in the year of the first Derby and 1780 there was the journey down to the little Surry town; and a coachman thought himself lucky if he could force his way hours without dislodging a wheel en rot None but the richest class could afford to drive there at all, for those were the days when tradesmen thought, like John Gilpin, an outing once in two years as much as they could afford. In those days, too, a visit to Epsom meant making a Lodgings had to be taken in the town by those who were not fortunate ough to be invited to share the hospi-

It has carried the blessing of health to hundreds of thousands of poor sufferers. Many have tried to imitate it, and unreliable dealers have been known to try to sell their custamers some cheap substitute because there was more profit in the substitute. So we caution our patients to be careful and see that "Duffy's Pure Mait Whiskey" is on the label, and that it is our own patient hottle, with the name blown in the bottle. This is the only way Duffy's Pure Mait Whiskey is sold. If offered in bulk or in finake it is a fraud. in bulk or in flasks it is a fraud.

PHILIPPINE WHISKY.

A Doctor Tells Its Nature and Its Effeet on the Soldiers.

Philadelphia Medical Journal, Vino is manufactured in the nipa swamps around Manila Bay and the con-tiguous lageons. Nipa does not grow inland or in the higher lands. The greatest nest of distilleries is in the vast swamps in the delta of the Rio Grande. The parent stalk of the nips fruiticans is tapped and the sap collected much in the same manner that we collect maple sup. A native fits out his banka (wooden dugout), which is 18 to 30 feet long and 30 inches beam, with 10 to 12 clias, or earthen bowls, holding from three to five gallons each. and paddles through the narrow water-ways between the small islands densely overed with the nipa palm, and frequently without leaving his position in the banka can jab a tube into the spongy stem and tie fast a section of bambon to lect the sap. Making his rounds again he empties these containers into his ollas and paddles off to the distilleries; where it is disposed of for a few centavos.

At the distillery the sap is mixed with the juice of the sugar care—about 25 per cent of the latter being used—fermented, distilled and in a crude way rectified. The product is vino, taking that name from the Spanish word for wine. Vino is a pungent, coloriess fluid exhibiting an alcoholic strength of from 50 to 80 per cent and showing some butyric ether, but I never saw a trace of amylic alcohol (fusel oil). cities, who have adopted civilized habitstives we had in our command we never had a case of drunkenness. The only case of intoxication that I ever saw among the Maccabebes was our "major domo," or head servant, when we lived at Colonel Blanco's, and he had surreptitiously emptied a bottle of cocktails that belonged to he commanding officer.

The native never drinks vino as it is in the market. He dilutes it with water, adds sugar and oil of anise and drinks it as "anisette," in the manner that his civilized brother takes a cordial. For a "long drink" he has bottled heer, made at the native breweries of San Miguel in Manin, or imported Japanese beer.

The intoxication from vino is purely profound insensibility of the toxic dose of alcohol. The American soldier saw in vino a substitute for whicky, and, to the amazement of the native, took it raw and

DON'T GET IN A SWEAT

Perspiration - "sweat" is what the Bible and we common people call it - is a way nature has of driving out of the body refuse that has no business there. We sweat more in summer, because, in the overheated bowels, undigested food ferments more quickly than in winter and produces irritating acids and gases. The bowels, overworked, try to relieve themselves by violent convulsions, causing terrible gripes and colics, and diarrhoeal discharges so acid as to make you sore, and leaving the intestines weak and worn out. Nature assists body-cleaning by sending the filth out through the pores of the skin. It is not safe to stop perspiring altogether but most of the impure matter should be sent out by the natural movements of the bowels, and the offersive, illsmelling, linen-staining sweat done away with. Keep your bowels strong all summer with the pleasant, candy cathartic CASCARETS, that clean the system and don't allow the excrement to be sweated out through the pores. Take a tablet every night, before going to bed. They work while you sleep and make you feel fine and cool all day.
