TACOMA, July 13.—Portland won a nice game today in the fourth inning when a base on balls followed by fielding errors by Drinkwater and Andrews coupled with hot line-drives by Muller and Van Buren scored three runs. The Tigers scored only in the sixth, when Murdock got a clean two-bagger and scored on McCarthy's single and heady steal, Vigneux dropping a nice return of the ball to the plate, which should have retired Murdock. The work of Drinkwater and Witbeck was of equal merit. A double play by Andrews and Smith in the ninth was the fielding feature.

The Webfooters got an elegant start in the first inning, filling the bases with nobody out, yet only one run was scored, and that was earned. Muller opened the game by poking one of Drinkwater's curves in the face and Nagle fell over trying to get to the ball in the clubhouse corner, Muller taking three bases, the first triple made on the Tacoma lot this year. Van Buren drove a hot liner past Andrews to left, scoring Muller. Anderson bunted in front of the plate, and Keefe made a poor throw to first. Weed hit a hard one down in front of the plate, and Keefe made another bad throw to first. Weed hit a hard one down in front of the plate, and again Keefe threw poorly. This loaded the bases with nobody out. Sammy Vigneux came up to the bat and fanned. Zeigler came next and rapped one with whiskers on it to Andrews' corner, where it was handled nicely and fielded to Fisher, retiring Weed, who grabbed hold of Fisher, preventing what should have been an easy double play. Zeigler was declared out at first for Weed's interference, retiring the side.

Tigers also opened with energy, Letcher sending a hot grounder to center, but only to be forced out at second by Nagle. "Lefty" attempted to steal second, and made two out. Then Murdock singled to right, but he was left on base on Smith's fly to Van Buren.

In every inning but the sixth Portland got men to first base, but other than in the fourth, only got one past second, and he was left at third. In the ninth Muller drew a pass. Van Buren rapped to Drinkwater, and was out, and then Anderson walked. Weed rapped a hard liner to Andrews, who made a pretty stop, retiring Muller at third and Weed at first.

In every inning but the third and ninth Tacoma also got to bases, but only one man passed second base during the whole game, and that was Murdock, who scored. He started the sixth inning with a clean double to right. Smith then fanned, and Andrews went out on a fly to Muller. McCarthy singled to left, and Muller fielded the ball to Anderson. McCarthy kept right on going, and when half way to second headed for first again, and Anderson fielded the ball to Weed, who saw Murdock homeward bound from third and whipped the ball across to Harris. Harris made a pretty throw to Vigneux, who had his man, but dropped the ball, and Murdock was safe. Keefe's rap to Deisel retired the side. The score:

BRILLIANT GAME AT SPOKANE.

Home Team Bats Out a Victory in the Ninth.

SPOKANE, July 13.—Spokane won a most exciting game in the last half of the ninth on three clean hits, Pfeister starting with a two-bagger. Pfeister's hitting was the feature of the game. Spokane hit the ball when men were on bases and both teams played extremely fast ball. Howell's and Peeples' base-running was of the finest order, and Kelly's play at short was brilliant. INLAND EMPIRE LEAGUE.

Baker City Badly Beaten by Pendleton.

BAKER CITY, July 13.—The Inland Empire League game here today resulted in a great disaster for the local club. The Pendleton boys played all around the Baker City team, and did not allow them to make a score. The errors on the part of the local team were too numerous almost to record. The local management hope to correct the defects in the Baker club by releasing four of the men. Their places will be filled by four men out of Utah League from the Ogden team. The new men leave Logan, Utah, tonight for this city, and are due here tomorrow night. The new men will go with the Baker City team to play Walla Walla Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The attendance today was 600. Score:

Portland Iron Works Nine Wins.

HITS OFF THE DIAMOND

GOSSIP OF THE LEAGUE, THE TEAMS AND THE PLAYERS.

California Story Created a Flurry Among the Fans—McCloskey Kicks at Umpire McCarthy.

Considerable excitement was caused by the press dispatch from San Francisco announcing that Seattle and Portland intended to leave the Northwest League and join the California League. Denials are made by both the Portland and Seattle magnates, but that does not go to show that the story is a fake.

It may not be only idle rumor, as Portland has always wanted to become a member of the California circuit, even in the old days of baseball in this territory. At the close of last season a union with California was a topic of discussion among the baseball people, but Montana was taken in, and the other matter dropped.

If there was ever a chance for Portland and Seattle to join in the Southern circuit, this year is the one. First of all, California is willing to take in the clubs. Then internal difficulties in this league have tended to cause hard feeling. President Lucas has proved unpopular, and if the present league should continue the fight on the presidency next February would prove so bitter that a rupture might occur in the organization. President Lucas attempted to become the dictator in the league affairs, and the Portland Club would not stand for it. Hence the kick on Lucas. Portland was not the only club affected by the president, and the local management would find Tacoma and perhaps one or two other members of the league ready to fight him.

Financial matters would also seem to be an excuse for such a change. None of the teams, except Seattle, are making the money they did last year. The Montana towns did not prove the big drawing cards that they were cracked up to be. The attendance at Spokane and Tacoma is not paying big royalties. In fact, Seattle and Portland are the only good towns in the league. They are the best towns for attendance, and besides that they have the two best teams in the league. In fact they practically furnish the money for the whole circuit.

Another obstacle in the present league is the salaries. The present $1200 limit is entirely too small. As it is, Portland and perhaps Seattle are remaining within the limit, but the other teams are going beyond it. In order to please the followers of the game the clubs must see to it that good ball is being put up, and that cannot be done without good ball players, and good ball players cost money.

Three games won out of five played. Well, that is a good record for a team on the road, but considering the fact that Portland is down so deep in the hole it was expected that Sam would "cop out" at least another winning. But he did all right, and the town is proud of the boys. The team put up good ball in all the games with the exception of the one played Saturday. Something must have been lost on that day, as the total in the error column was fierce. If the boys can capture the big end at Spokane this week they will come home a little on top of the .500 mark.

Ziegler, Portland's new player, is still being used in right field. Just why Sam keeps him in that position no one in Portland seems to know. Vigneux said when he signed him that he was to be put on first. As it is Weed, one of the best outfielders in the league, is kept on the first bag. This is a pity, as a man who plays in right as Weed does should be kept in that position, where he has a better chance of showing up in good form. A Seattle paper suggests that as Ziegler is an infield man he should be put on third in place of Harris. Harris is all right where he is, and it is doubtful if Ziegler could do any better at the position. However, it would seem that if he was brought in to first and Weed put in his old place the change would strengthen the team.

Just why John J. McCloskey and the bunch of rowdies he carries around with him are allowed to play ball in this league is a mystery. McCloskey is the biggest kicker that ever stepped upon a Northwest diamond, and his actions are such that no umpire should tolerate. Not only does he do a large amount of "beefing," but he allows and encourages the rest of his team to do likewise. Such men as McCloskey and the Butte team do more to kill baseball than all of the bad umpires combined. During the past week he has made himself very obnoxious in Seattle, and the people there are glad to get rid of him. Manager Vigneux and other players in the league are fined and suspended for the slightest kick, whether it be noticeable by the spectators or not. McCloskey and his men are always kicking and delaying the game, calling the umpire rank names, and in many cases in audible tones, yet they still remain in the game, much to the disgust of the followers of the sport. If Mr. Lucas and the umpires wish to stand in with the people they would better do more to stop the disgraceful scenes enacted by the Butte aggregation.

Umpire McCarthy made a hit with everybody in Seattle, with the exception of one John J. McCloskey and the few men he packs around with him and calls gentlemen. Of course, Old John had to kick, and he kicked hard in every game except in the one that Butte came out on top. Until a better chance to judge, Seattle's word will be taken that McCarthy is a good man to rule the field. A Seattle paper says:

"Umpire McCarthy has made a good impression in the few games he has umpired here. McCarthy was an outfielder of high class in his day as a ball player, and if his throwing arm had not gone back on him he would be in the game today. He has a good voice, gives his decisions quickly, and uses good judgment. He is the only umpire in this league who takes the trouble to go down the base line with the runner in order to judge the base decisions. He is right on top of the play every time. Because McCarthy has shown himself to be such a hard-working official, the actions of McCloskey and his men in trying to intimidate him the first time he appears on the field are all the more disgusting.

"Spec" Hurlburt got funny with Manager Dugdale, and was retired to the bench Saturday. Hurlburt wanted to play with Everett in an exhibition game with Butte, but Dugdale objected, as he was afraid his great center fielder might get hurt. He also informed McCloskey that Hurlburt was under suspension, and the Butte manager stood by him by refusing to play if Hurlburt played. Hurlburt only watched the game, but Dugdale took the "will for the deed" and kept him on the bench Saturday and put Stovall in center. Hurlburt is hot, and threatens to leave the Clamdiggers and go to Yakima to play ball.

The latest averages of the big leagues show that in the American the great Lajoie has a hot rival in the person of Delahanty, of the Washington team. Both men were tied for the top place with a percentage of .407. Delahanty seems to have the best of the game, having played 53 games, while Lajoie has played in but 23. Tannehill, of the Pittsburg Nationals, heads the list for that league, with an average of .417 for 13 games, but he will most likely take a tumble before long.

NEW MANAGER FOR NEW YORK NATIONAL LEAGUE TEAM

JOHN J. M'GRAW.

John J. McGraw, new manager for the New York National League team, salary $10,000—that is the latest sensation in the big league circles. Andy Freedman engaged him last Monday to handle the New York team, and try to pull it out of the big, deep hole it is now in. "Murphy" McGraw is one of the best-known men in the business today. He became prominent when Ned Hanlon made Baltimore famous in the National League, and was his right bower. When Hanlon went to Brooklyn and Baltimore was dropped from the big league McGraw joined St. Louis, but was not there long. The following year the American League was organized, and McGraw took command of the Baltimore Club, which he has handled ever since. But, though a stanch supporter of the new league, he has found it difficult to travel with Ban Johnson, who has suspended him time and again for fighting with the umpires, which is his one weakness. He is known as a hustling ballplayer, being to the diamond pretty much what our "Teddy" is to the political world. Now that Mugsy has gone back to the league which he once tried to ruin, the fans look for him to take back the best men of his Baltimore team, and Joe Kelley, who has also had his troubles with Ban Johnson, is named as one. If McGraw gives New York a winning team he will strengthen the National League wonderfully, and, with his large salary, he will be a cheap player for Freedman.

DUFFEY'S RECORD WILL STAND.

Sprinter Who Ran 100 Yards in 9 3-5 Seconds.

In the July Outing Casper Whitney makes the following comment on Duffey's great 100-yard run, which recently lowered the world's record:

"Marvelous as it was, Mr. Arthur F. Duffey's sprint of 100 yards in 9 3-5 seconds, at the Berkeley Oval track, at the intercollegiate championships, on May 31, was only logical in view of the fast running he has been doing for two years. Twice in 1901 he covered the 100 yards in 9 4-5 seconds. Twice this year he had already equaled that time, and with such margin as to suggest even greater speed when conditions were just right. In his trial heat at Berkeley he again finished in 9 4-5, and when in the final he ran with obvious determination and marvelous apparent speed, the 9 3-5 was half expected. Only one other man has ever been credited with running 100 yards so fast, i. e., Donovan, the professional, and of the authenticity of his performance there is room for doubt.

A. F. Duffey.

"A dozen years ago 9 4-5 seconds had begun to be considered impossible to the amateur; then, like a bolt out of a clear sky, Mr. John Owen, Jr., on October 11, 1890, at Washington, ran the distance in the figures that athletes had been trying to reach for years, and established the world's amateur record of 9 4-5 seconds. Following him, several years later, came Mr. B. J. Wefers, a sprinter whose perfect form has never been equaled. He reached Owen's record of 9 4-5 seconds on September 21, 1895, and again on August 27, 1897. Two Western men, Messrs. J. H. Maybury and J. H. Rush, also equaled this time at Chicago, on June 5, 1897, and June 18, 1897, respectively. But faster time seemed beyond the human machine until Mr. Duffey appeared.

"There is no question of the authenticity of Duffey's performance. Four of the most experienced timers in the country,—Messrs. Robert Stoll, Mortimer Bishop, Evert Jansen Wendell and C. C. Hughes, held the watch. Three of the watches registered 9 3-5 seconds, and one, Mr. Hughes', 9 2-5. The track was immediately measured and found to be one inch long, and there was no breeze of sufficient strength to matter one way or the other. Such a burst of speed as Duffey exhibited in the last 40 yards of this record-making 100 yards has only been equaled by the flight with which B. J. Wefers finished his world's record-making run of 220 yards in 21¼ seconds."

BACHELORS WIN AT CRICKET.

Defeat Benedicts on Multnomah Field Saturday by 59 Runs.

The married men were strictly not "in it" when they faced the bachelor members last Saturday on the occasion of the annual cricket match of the Portland Cricket Club, played on Multnomah Field, the bachelors being easy victors by 59 runs. The benedicts went first to bat, and great things were expected of Lawrence, but he skied a catch to Cleland, who held on to it, and Lawrence fell for 11 runs. Another heavy batter, Scott, fell a victim to Cawston's bowling at an early stage of the game. No other batsman of the benedicts succeeded in reaching double figures, and the bachelors' fielding was so good that only three extras were allowed.

With only 27 to make, the gay, festive bachelors sent Lumgair and Seager to face the bowling, and before very long Lumgair hit out the number of necessary runs himself. His 33 runs were got by pretty cricket, until he stood in front of his wickets and was hit by a pitched ball from Lawrence. Seager, Wilkinson and Captain Cawston fell victims to Lawrence's seductive curves before they had time to score heavily, but Willis fooled all the bowlers who opposed him and retired with 23, not out. By this time the dejected married men knew that defeat was in store for them, and their only anxiety was to keep down the score, which they did. Both elevens fielded well, and there was a snap to the play which speaks volumes for the success of the Portlands this season, when they face out-of-town clubs shortly.

VICTORY GOES TO UPCHURCH.

Fidelity Nine Is Defeated by Heavy Hitting—Score 14 to 6.

Fifteen hundred people went to the baseball park yesterday and saw the Upchurch nine do things to the Fidelity aggregation. The final score was 14 to 6, and the error column was so full of figures that the scorer came away with a sick headache.

The game started off nip and tuck between the two rival nines, neither of which scored until the third inning. At the end of the fourth, the score stood 3 to 2, in favor of Upchurch, but in the fifth Fidelity went to pieces, McGinnis was pounded all over the lot, and an error by Stutt let in three of the five runs that the inning netted for Upchurch. After that it was all off with the faithful ones, and Upchurch batted away for dear life. In the ninth, there was another outburst of fireworks, and five Upchurch men came across the rubber.

McGinnis pitches a good curve, and has fair control, but goes up in the air at critical moments. Haines pitched a fairly good game for Upchurch, and the work of Catcher Swope was first class in every respect. Swope takes all sorts of chances, seldom missing any ball that comes his way. He is also an able hitter. Allen, at shortstop, put up his customary brilliant game for Upchurch, while Archie Parrott distinguished himself by making two three-baggers and two tallies. R. Pargott, who represented Upchurch in the left garden, landed on McGinnis for a single, a double, and a three-bagger, made four successful put-outs and played an errorless game. Ed Rankin, who umpired, gave unbiased verdicts, although he was often hissed by the small boys and rowdies present. The score:

Upchurch	14	13	6	Fidelity	6	10	10

Batteries—Upchurch: Haines and Swope. Fidelity: McGinnis and Brown.

Ashland Defeats the Alerts.

ASHLAND, Or., July 13.—The first of the series of three games of baseball for a purse of $500, between the Alerts, of Grant's Pass, and the Ashland nine, was played at Neuber and Taylor's grounds at Jacksonville this afternoon before 1000 people. Large delegations from Ashland, Grant's Pass and Medford were in attendance, going on special trains. The game was a well-played and well-contested one, and resulted in favor of the Ashland nine by the score of 7 to 5. The next game in the series will be played in Ashland next Thursday.

In the sixth inning Frank Entrekin, the center fielder of the Grant's Pass club, while at the bat, was hit on the side of the head by a ball delivered by Pitcher Somers, of the Ashland team, and seriously injured. He was carried from the field, and bled profusely from the ears and remained unconscious for several hours.

BUYING PIANOS

HOW TO GET THE BEST INSTRUMENTS AND SAVE MONEY AT THE SAME TIME.

Some Timely Suggestions From Eilers Piano House That Will Be Appreciated by Every Thoughtful Person Who Is Considering the Purchase of a Piano or an Organ.

We can't expect to convince you here and now that we have the best pianos that money can buy.

That would be expecting too much from one short talk.

We depend on a thorough examination of our pianos and a comparison of them with the others in the market to do that for us.

But we want to be honest with you and state some things here that will prove of actual benefit to you if you want a piano or an organ.

We can tell you what we think and what we do.

Then it will be for you to say whether you can see your way clear to buy from us.

We believe we save our patrons money on every piano or organ that we sell.

We started in to do this.

Because if we sell for less money than other houses we must inevitably do the largest business.

But we could not sell for less money than others unless there were some features in our own particular business that would justify it.

Selling pianos in the West is largely a question of freight rates. Unless you do business on a big scale, the freight rates will be so high that the price on pianos must be increased in order to make good the extra expense.

Everybody knows that this is true.

We overcome this difficulty by shipping in carload lots, and in cars specially prepared to receive pianos without boxes. We save by this method about $125 on each carload of pianos.

Then we have four stores—one in Portland, one in San Francisco, one in Spokane and one in Sacramento.

This means we order pianos and organs for four stores instead of one.

And this means, in turn, that we save big sums in the amounts that we have to pay the manufacturer for his goods.

Everybody knows that you save money when you buy in large quantities.

Briefly, then, these are some of the reasons why we can afford to sell you a piano for less money than you must pay elsewhere.

We believe that we have the best pianos that money can buy.

Back of this belief are 25 years' experience in the piano business, with an accurate knowledge of every piano on the market today.

We simply have to state the names of our leaders, and those who are intimately acquainted with the merits of pianos will bear us out in our belief.

One of our leaders is the celebrated Chickering of Boston, the piano made by the oldest established factory in America, and one that has for all these years—close on to a century—maintained its high standard.

Another of our leaders is the great and beautiful Weber, of New York, the piano that from the first day it was produced up to the present moment is made to conform to a musician's ideal of tone. And always wherever a beautiful tone is the thing required, the Weber stands unrivaled.

Another of our leaders is the now famous and superb Kimball, of Chicago, the piano that today is the embodiment of all that money, art, ingenuity, system and economy can produce. We believe it to be as perfect an instrument as human agencies can construct.

In addition to these three great pianos, we have about 25 other leading makes, comprising 300 to 350 new instruments, from which to make a selection. We are in a position, therefore, to suit every conceivable taste that enters into the selection of a piano.

One very important thing to bear in mind when you purchase from us is that you run no risk of being dissatisfied.

If your piano is not exactly right; if it does not please you in every respect, there is always the distinct understanding that we will take it back and allow you a new selection.
