SPOKANE, Wash., July 17 .- Spokan won, 6 to 3, in a game replete with bril-liant plays, fine hitting and wild pitching. Both boxmen were erratic, Corcoran hit ting four men and Hawley three. They would fill bases and then fast play would would fill bases and then fast play would occur and stop run-getting. It was Kel-ly's magnificent batting that turned the trick for Spokane. Four times up and four safe ones including a triple and a double, every hit scoring at least one run, and in one instance two, was his record. He was also all over the field against Portland and retired the last man up by a beautiful step and a wild throw, which Elsey scooped just in time. Howelfs cut off a brace of runs by catching an ap-parent two-base hit from Weed's bat, retiring the runner at second. In the first inning Reitz caught a savagely-hit ball and doubled a Portland runner at third. Portland hit the ball hard and often, orseshoe luck prevented much run-g. Several times, with the bases populated and only one man out, a play would come up to either hold men on bases or double up somebody. Balls were hit hard right into the hands of Spokane fielders, or would just strike foul. Both sides were full of ginger and accepted many difficult chances, Weed's hitting was a cature of Portland's bat-ting, both carries hitting the fence the being lodged in deep left in the being lodged in deep left in the beautiful deep left in the beaut seem to be a bad one, for he played the game out and did not seem to limp

Dugdale sus-pended him recently, but when the ban was removed. Hurlburt wanted more of the coin of the realm added to his semi weekly dividend from the Seattle Base ball Club. Dugdale wouldn't see the ball Club. Dugdale wouldn't see the The following is the Post-Intelligencer account of the affair: "Until yesterday afternoon Manager

Dugdale was under the impression that he had suspended 'Spec' Hurlburt, the centerfielder, but when he notified Hurlburt before the game yesterday that the suspension was off and the fielder could play if he wanted to, he found out that he was up against a strike for higher

"Dugdale was informed that it would take a National League salary to get Hurlburt into the game again, so the suspension was put on once more, and Dug-lale got busy with the wires hunting up a good outfielder. He says he has prac tically signed a first-class man, who will be here in about three days. "Huriburt offered to pay $100 for his release yesterday, but was told that he could not get it for $1500. As Huriburt cannot sign with any minor league in the United States, except in California, so long as he is suspended, he will have to join one of the semi-professional teams if he wants to play ball the rest of the sea-

MOODY'S "BROOM" IN ACTION Secretary of Navy Is Clearing His Department of Barnacles.

WASHINGTON, July 17. - Secretary

Moody, of the Navy Department, is young and vigorous. He also has that characteristic of success—the desire for hard work. Secretary Moody is now being termed the "new broom," by certain beaurocrats. It seems that he is trying to "sweep clean" the department from naval barnacles that have so long found soft berths, either in the bureau proper or in the numerous adjuncts attached to the Navy. Through the influence of certain high officials, Senators. Representatives and politicians, certain naval officers have been able to fru-strate all orders which would send them to sea or upon detached duty. The Secre-tary has found this out, and has deter-mined that influence shall not keep them any longer away from the duty that they are supposed to perform on board ship. The officers are those who have been in the Naval Observatory, in the War College, in the Navy Bureau, in the Hydro graphic Office, at various yards and docks throughout the country; in fact there have been a great many more of these officers stationed on shore than there was any necessity for. Much of the duty that they perform could have easily been performed by ordinary clerks, as their work has been largely of a cierical nature. Some of these officers have been able to continue in these places with perhaps a short sen service. other officers have had to take their reg-ular three years' cruising on disagreeable ington that one sees an officer here year after year. Then he will be absent for a few months, and he is sgain back holding down a chair in one of the bureaus. He has simply been at sea on a pleasant sail-ingacruise for a short time, and his "pull" has put him back in a soft place. Secretary Moody has determined that there shall be an equalization of all this, and that naval officers must go to sea in their regular turn, and they cannot wait until a real soft assignment offers itself. He has made himself very unpopular by this move among the beauto crats, but there are a great many good sailor men serving on board ship in the Philippines, in the South Atlantic, Europe and in other places that will applaud his action. Secretary Moody has the idea, which beaurocrats do not indorse, that men ought to have some sea experience in order to be properly fitted for duty in case of emergency. The Secretary does not believe in so much theoretical navi-gation, but that actual work at sea is ng the human race a kindness by pre-nting any one from playing a bad piano. If Tracy doesn't know that this plano-tid not come from Ellers Finno House, it's because he's been locked up so long. But every person acquainted with pianos would know it—simply because we sell would know it—simply because we sell only good pinnos.

We have as our leaders the finest planos that money can buy—the pick, in fact, of the entire world.

Our leaders are the great and celebrated Chickering, of Boston, the beautiful Weber, of New York, and the now famous and superb Kimball, of Chicago.

In addition to these great planos we have about 25 other leading makes, so that we are in a position to meet every taste that enters into the selection of a plano.

We sell planes much lower than other Western houses can afford to do. An in-strument that will cost you not less than $500 elsewhere we sell for $400; $246 takes $500 elsewhere we sell for $400; $246 takes from us a fine plano that you will pay at least $500 for anywhere sele. We are enabled to make these prices owing to the fact that our facilities are so much larger than those of other plano houses in the West. We buy for the four largest and busiest stores on the Pacific Coast. We have many exclusive advantages, and our customers get the benefit of it.

We sell planos upon more liberal terms than you can get elsewhere $10.00 down and $5.00 a month takes from us the choice of a most beuntiful stock of superb instruments.

of a most benatiful stock of supero instruments.

More planos, better planos lower prices, better terms—these are the things that have snabled us to do the largest business during the post three months of any plano house in the United States.

Can you afford to disregard these facts, if you are thinking of buying a plano?

Do you care to own the best instrument?

Do you care to save money?

You do. Of course, you do. Then you will see Ellers Plano House, 251 Washington street, opposite Cordray's Theater, Four fine, busy stores—Portland, San Francisco, Sacramento and Spokane.

Haying Under Way in Lane County. EUGENE, July 17 .- The hay harvest is now in full swing and the crop is the largest ever produced in this county. The acreage is very large and the yield good, so that there is plenty of hay everywhere. No great damage to it resulted from the last rain. Suit Against Dunsmuir.

VICTORIA, B. C., July 17.—Edna Wal-lace Hopper is here with her attorney, Judge Coyne, of New York, to begiff her action against Hon. James Dunsmuir, Premier of British Columbia, for her mother's share of the Dunsmuir estate, her mother having married Alexander Dunsmuir, the younger brother of James. At the time of Mrs. Dunsmuir's death James Dunsmuir made a settlement with her, allowing her an annuity. Miss Hopper claims that at the time this agree-ment was made her mother was not in her right mind, and wishes to have the agreement set aside and have Alexander Dunsmuit's share of the estate awarded to her. Mrs. Joan Dunsmuir, mother of James and Alexander, is also suing James for Alexander's share of the estate, on the ground that it is hers, Alexander having simply held it in trust for her.
