AMUSEMENTS TONIGHT.

IT WAS THE RELIANCE'S DAY,-The 2 o'clock trip of the Tahoma from Van-couver Sunday had on board all the passengers the law silowed, and they had a trest not on the bills. Just above the mouth of the Willamette the Tahoma overtook the new Reliance, of the Reg-ulator Line, going up under easy steam. Captain Arthur Riggs had taken her to St. Helens for a trial and to show a few guests what was in his boat. The two walked alongside each other for a mile, the Reliance just a little ahead, but with her safety valve blowing off ominously for the Tahoma, until just as the lat-ter's passengers were sure their hoat would best her in, the Reliance, with a saucy flirt of her tall, shot ahead, her deckhands jeeringly shoving a hawser toward those of the Tahoma. In the wide reach below Linnton the Reliance cut across the Tahoma's bow, ran downstream, and half a mile astern turned and chased her in. Then the racing blood in the White Collar's passengers warmed up as they watched the chase, which lasted to the Flouring Mills, where the Reliance completed the loop and passed on through the steel bridge the winner,

SMITH AND THE PISTOL.—The feud which broke out some little time ago between Edward Cartella, allas "Kausaa," col-ored, and George Smith, colored, came to head yesterday at the Municipal Court, a head yesterday at the Municipal Court, when Cartella appeared to answer a charge of striking Smith on the head with a pistol. Bad blood had arisen between the two men because of the fancled attentions Cartelia had paid Mrs. Smith, "It was this way, Jedge," stated Smith, "Ah'm an honest, ha'd-wu'kin' man, and dis heah Cahtella got sore at me. Ah was takin' a revolver belonging to a friend—'taint ma revolver, Jedge—an' dis friend—'taint ma revolver, Jenge heah Cahwella knocks me down, the gun falls on the street, and then Cahtella hits me on ma head. 'Deed he did." Cartella ployed, and ordered a meal. He was me on ma head. 'Deed he recital of the ejected, and the Celestial locked the door lock. I have demanded admission, smiled scornfully during the recital of the charges against him, and the case was continued to enable witnesses to be summoned. Smith served in the Cuban war,

NEW STREET-CAR RAILS ABOUT DUE .-The City & Suburban Railway Company expects its shipload of new street-car rails shortly, and preparations are now being made so that they can be laid along Third and Morrison streets as soon as they arrive. A gang of men is at work on North Third street tearing up part of the old track and replacing it with a small lot of the heavy rails that the company had on hand. At the corner of Third and Flanders streets a curved cross-over is being laid to connect the Third with the Second-street line, so that when the real work on reconstruction commences the cars can be run through town on Second street and no in-terruption of the regular service will revive long. To LAY NEW RAILS.-The Portland Railway Company will put a gang of men at work on Washington street either today or tomorrow, to remove the old track and lay the fine new rails that have been distributed along the route. Work would have commenced before now but for the unavoidable delay in securing some portable switches that were ordered by the company some time ago. As the work will interrupt the traffic on the line, prepara-tions had to be made to switch cars on the undisturbed track, and it was for this purpose that the switches were or-dered. When they arrived it was found that they would not accommodate the cars of this line and a new lot had to be ordered, causing much time to be lost. As soon as the work gets fairly started both day and night shifts of befores with both day and night shifts of laborers will be put on, so that the traveling public will be disturbed but as short a time as

SHOT A CHINAMAN.-News was received yesterday of the shooting of a Chinamar at Ontario last Tuesday by Henry Long an ex-convict and a desperado, who is well known in Southeastern Oregon, Long, according to the reports received, entered upon him. Long demanded admission, but it was refused, and he went to the back door and gained entrance. In the doorway he met the Chinaman, who tried to put him out. Long made a struggle, but as he was getting the worst of the fight he drew a revolver and shot the Chinaman two or three times. It is not known how dangerout the wounds are. Long has been convicted of horsesteni-ing in Malheur County, and he is known there as a gambler and desperad

JOHN CATLIN'S FUNERAL.

Mnny Friends Attend Services at First Presbyterian Church.

Funeral services over the remains of the late Judge John Catlin were held at the First Presbyterian Church yesterday afternoon, the rites being conducted by Rev. Edgar P. Hill according to the ritual of the Presbyterian church. After concluding hymn, "Nearer, My God, Thee," sung by the congregation, to the accompaniment of Edgar E. Coursen the remains were taken to Blyerview cometery for buriel in the family lot. The honorary pallbearers were H. B. Nicholas, Louis Nicolai, E. D. McKee, Tyler Woodward, A. S. Frank and Milton W. Smith, while H. W. Hogue, Henry F. Conner, W. Bert Mackay, E. C. Bro-naugh, J. K. Kollock and Herbert Holman served as active pallbearers. The deceased, among those present being a large delegation from the Multnomah Bar Association. George L. Baker returned yesterday morning from a trip to Los Angeles, whither he went on business in connection with the recent engagement of the Stuart Stock Company in that city. The company played at Morosco's Burbank

During his absence, Mr. Baker had frequent consultations with Mr. James Neill, who is to organize the Neill Stock Company, which is to play a protracted engagement at the Baker during the coming season. Mr. Neill is taking the greatest care to select a competent com-pany, and has already employed some of the best known artists in the profession for the Portland engagement. He is not yet ready to announce the personnel of the organization. It will, however, be pleasant news to her many Portland friends and admirers to learn that Catherine Countiss, who made such a fine impression here by her work in the Stuart Stock Company, will be a member. Mr. Baker was accompanied on his six weeks' trip by Mrs. Baker, who returned

The strike of the Banfield-Veysey teamsters seems to be the only labor trouble of any importance at the present time, and yesterday the Teamsters' Union here received word from their international headquarters that money would be fur-nished to fight the issue to an end, and that a large check was already on the road in case they were in need of funds. The planing mill strike, although not settled, is practically a thing of the past, as the mills are all running, and the union men have all secured work in other lines. There has been some dissension in the Building Trades Council of late over the action of the Plumbers' Union. and they have been denied the protection of the card system from the council unless they disavow their action in working for only members of the Master Plumbers' Association. The plumbers have accepted this condition, however, and there is no agitation at the present

The Banfield teamsters are not willing to give up their fight, and declare that they will see the union to victory before they sinck in their efforts. They were all made giad yesterday by a telegram from their international headquarters saying that a check was on the road now to pay the men their strike benefit, and that they need have no fear as to the financial part of the fight, as they would be furnished with all the funds that might be needed to win the strike. Inspired by this assurance, they are making prepara-tions to push the matter more than ever, and say they will take means to place the firm of Banfield & Veysey in such light that they will receive the least possible patronage from the people.

In the planing mill strike both sides consider that they have won a victory. "We have not forced the six mills to a nine-hour basis," say the union men. "but our men have nearly all received work in nine-hour mills, and that is all that they wanted when they went out." The mill-owners consider that the facthat they are running their mills and selling their goods with the strike and beyectt on to be sufficient proof that they have won the victory.

The plumbers' strike seems to be of a serious nature from the standpoint of uniorism. Their action in agreeing to work for only members of the Master Plumbers' Association, even though there might be firms outside of the association that were just as fair from the standpoint of the union as the firms in the association, did not meet with the ap-proval of the Building Trades Council, and, after trying every other means of decided that they would have to impo a penalty, and removed them from the list of unions among which they worked the card system, which practically mean that they will no longer be regarded as members of the council. The plumbers say that they are content with this arrangement, and that as long as their bosses are willing to give them $4.50 per day not to work for the other firms, they are willing to take the bargain, even though they be removed from the coun-
