C. T. U. DISCUSSES CHILD SLAVERY. -At the yesterday afternoon meeting of Central Union, an article was read by one of the members relating to "Child Slavery in the South," showing how little children are abused in the factories of South Carolina. These factories are owned by Northern men, mostly from Massachusetts, who employ these chil-dren at 10 cents a day, that they may make large dividends on their capital invested. From 6 in the morning until 7 at night these poor little children are kept at work some of them not over 6 years of age. In a short time they become completely stupid, and it is said that they converted they they converted they become that they cannot learn to read after a short time, and many of them die in two years, if not sooner. All effort at legisation fails, it is charged, because the Northern millowners buy the Legislature to prevent such laws being enacted. An carnest appeal was made to forestall any such slavery in our own state by necessary legislation. Special mention was made of the excellent work done at the International Sunday School Convention held at Denver, by Mr. I. H. Amos, who was a member of the lesson committee. Next meeting will be held two weeks from Wednesday at Y. M. C. A. rooms. BOT AND HORSE FALL .- A boy who said his name was Brown had a thrilling es-cape from death about 8 o'clock last night. The youngster had been out horse-back riding, and when he was coming down Sixth street the horse became frightened and broke into a gailop. Run-hing close to the curb near Yamhill street, the animal suddenly shied at some object in front of him, and made a clear leap from the street to the concrete sidewalk. He slipped when he struck the smooth pavement, and both he and his rider went to the ground. Neither moved muscle until a dozen men and women rushed to the scene, and then the horse regained his feet and ran up Yamhill street. Then the boy arose and started after him, but he did not have to go far, for an expressman brought the animal to a standstill. The boy said he had not been hurt except about the right shoulder and leg, and his only fear was that his horse had been injured. His fears on that point were soon removed, for the horse was as lively as a racer.

DEATH OF OLIVER SETMOUR PHELPS. Oliver Seymour Phelps, who was well known in Portland in the '78s and the sarly '80s, died at his home at Viola, early '80s, died at his home at Viola, Clackamas County, yesterday morning, at the age of 85 years. The body was brought to this city for burial, and the funeral will take place from Holman's chapel. Mr. Phelps was a native of Canada, but for many years before he came West he had been a resident of Ohio, and once he controlled a large part of the grain shipments over Lake Erie. When be arrived in Portland he engaged in the grocery business, and he served two terms as a Justice of the Peace. He was twice married, and his first wife was for many years a teacher in the public schools. She died in 1888, and a few years afterward he was married to a Mrs. Kitterman, and they made their ome at Viols. His widow and a son by the former marriage survive him. The son, Frank Phelps, is now a resident of San Francis CREAMERIES IN THE VALLEY.-Less than four years ago C. H. Markham, who was then general freight and passenger agent of the Southern Pacific, began to preach of the Southern Pacific, began to preach the gospel of creameries for the Will-ametre Valley, and to give every en-couragement to the promotion of the new industry. Figures recently compiled by the Southern Pacific show that there are now in actual operation 29 creamer ies, nine skimming stations and six cheese factories, the aggregate output of which is valued at about $400,000. The industry is now regarded as having passed the experimental stage in region, and large expansion is looked for. The Bouthern Pacific is still lending it every encouragement, the latest move being to get more pure-bred dairy stock in this field. In this respect General Freight and Passenger Agent Coman is continuing the policy that was so effici-ently inaugurated by Mr. Markham.

REMINDER FOR PAPA.-The following etter from one of Portland's juvenile citizens at the coast shows in which di-rection the desires of Young America lie, and also the forceful way in which these desires are brought before the mind of the fond and admiring parent: "Seaside, Or., July 20, 1902.-Dear Papa: As mamma is writing to you. I thought, as I was down here, it was a good time to write and thank you for the fruit you sent; and send some more (and plenty of it) as it goes pretty quick with so many fruit-eaters. Be sure you send the pa-pers with it, as reading matter is scant. I was sorry you were not on the train inst night to throw off a paper, as I was at the gate. I must close now. Send fruit and papers. Your loving son. — P. S.—Send the fruit often."

In a few days this work will be completed, and when the heavy rails are laid to Gilsan street the cars will run up nd street, and the inconvenience transferring at Flanders street will be avoided.

About 20 more of the Mazamas returned from Mount Adams yesterday, arriving in Portland on the afternoon boat from White Salmon. The attention boat from White Salmon. They report that the largest party reached the sum-mit of the snow peak on Monday, the party consisting of no less than 20 climbers, more than has ever been assembled on the mountain at any one time before. The cold wind that caused so much inconvenience to the Sunday party had died down by Monday, which accounted for the larger percentage reaching the top than on the previous day; otherwise the two climbs were identical. There are about 30 Mazamas st the lake and at White Salmon, most of whom it is thought will arrive in Portland today, or tomorrow at the latest. A few will remain at the lake several days longer. The moving of such a large body of people over such a diffi-cult road is a matter of time, and great patience must be displayed by the weary travelers, who wish to get home as soon as possible. Conveyances in that part of the country are few and far between and most of the Mazamas will have to walk or ride on horneback, both rather inconvenient modes of transportation for

It oftens happens that a small and nelsy quadruped, of the kind familiarly known as "whiffet," pursues with shrill latration a larger quadruped, of equine, bovine or elephantine type, which his barking fails to interest or even to secure from it the cold tribute of a passing glance. The larger animal keeps on his course, un-moved. Then it is at once comic and pa-thetic to remark the spasms into which the smaller is thrown by the failure of his efforts to attract attention. In his passion at finding that he can find no-body else to take seriously him who takes himself so seriously, he sharpens the pitch and multiplies the number of his barks, he leaps at the nose, horns or trunk of the apathetic object, he twists and turns and falls all over himself in the frenzy of his disappointment. It is very funny, and yet, as we say, not without pathos. Not being endowed with the gift of speech or the art of writing, the quadru-pedal whiffet does not afterward publish his disappointment. In that respect he differs from Mr. Erving Winslow, secre-tary of the New England Anti-Imperialistic League. It was at the protuberance of Mr. Grover Cleveland that Mr. Erving Winslow launched himself. "Say, why Winslow launched himself. "Say, why didn't you talk anti-imperialism? Ki-yi!"
