Portland's balltossers won a toss-up game from Tacoma yesterday, the final score being 3 to 2. The game was not sensational, but rather exciting, abounding in well-executed plays and several surprising errors. George Engle, the reliable old wheelhorse of the Portland pitching staff, did the twirling act yesterday, his opponent being the many-motioned Johnson, who pitched winning ball for the Tigers last Wednesday. Johnson showed up well yesterday, but the support accorded him was not the best, nor did the constant reprimands from Manager Jay Andrews offer much encouragement to the clever twirler. Early in the game Johnson failed to pick up a sacrifice hit, and as a consequence a Portland runner sped away to first. This was the signal for a sharp reprimand from Andrews. Another cause which contributed in no small degree to Tacoma's defeat was the miserable work of Center Fielder Letcher, who stood like a Roman statue and allowed ball after ball to drop in the territory which he is supposed to cover. Letcher claimed as an excuse an injured leg, but a man with a wooden leg, or a pair of crutches, or a boy on stilts, could have pulled in the easy ones that went rolling toward the back fence, only to be charged as hits to Tacoma's clever pitcher.

Ziegler Redeems Himself.

Some men rise and fall, but Ziegler, of the Portland team, fell and rose yesterday—not in reality, but in the esteem of those who saw the game. Before the second inning had come to an end Ziegler had made three errors, which were responsible for the two runs that the Tigers scored. Besides this, he had dropped a foul, after having it safe in his hands. All this disgusted Sammy Vigneux, who was directing Portland's policy from the bench, to such a degree that Ziegler was sent out to try his hand in right field and Harris was brought in and placed on third. Ziegler had not been in his new position five minutes when Hutchinson swung upon the ball with such terrific force that it looked like an "over the fence and clear around." The ball soared away out over the right garden, and Ziegler, who had backed up against the fence, reached high with his right and gathered it in. The play was a fine one, and Ziegler stock began to rise. After that Ziegler was the hero of the day. He gathered in other flies, made a clean hit, stole second and came home on Weed's single, for the final run that broke the tie and placed Portland in the lead.

Engle's Good Judgment.

Engle pitched a good, heady game, keeping Tacoma's hits well scattered and issuing but two passes to first. His fielding was accurate, and he used rare judgment, especially in the ninth inning, when he threw "Chick" Fisher out at second instead of retiring Smith, who was trying to sacrifice for his predecessor. Shea again demonstrated his ability as a catcher, and Harris put up a splendid all-around game. Weed was in good trim again, and the game he put up on first bag deserves special mention. In center field, Van Buren's feats stood out in marked contrast to the miserable work of Letcher, while Ziegler and Muller gathered in everything that came along. The latter's running catch of Letcher's long fly, in the seventh, was one of the prettiest plays of the whole game. Anderson's fielding was above criticism, but the popular second baseman failed to connect for a single hit, something rather unusual for "Andy." Tacoma had a strong battery in Johnson and Smith, while the infield played as a unit. Shortstop McCarthy's work was of a high order. Andrews did altogether too much talking during the game, and was fined $5 by Umpire Colgan. The latter's work was good, except on balls and strikes, the difference between which he does not seem to know. His judgment was very bad, worse even than that of Mullane.

No Score After the Third.

Each team scored once in the first inning, and once in the second, the winning run being made by Ziegler in the third. After that, scoring was impossible, although runners from both teams reached third, only to be shut off by the retiring of their sides and careful work of the infielders. The score:

BUTTE WINS THE SERIES.

Houtz, McCloskey and Zearfoss Put Out of the Game.

HELENA, Mont., Aug. 10.—Butte won the series today in a fast contest, in which Pete Dowling again outpitched Wiggs. Helena's errors were costly. Hannivan's home run, a clean line drive over left-field fence, was a feature. In the same inning, the fifth, Kane batted to right field, and the ball was lost in the grass, netting him a home run. Houtz was put out of the game for kicking on strike decisions in the last of the second. McCloskey and Zearfoss then used abusive and threatening language toward McCarthy and they were both ejected from the grounds. McCarthy received an ovation for his firmness. The score:

SEATTLE GETS THE LAST.

Spokane Plays Good Ball Up to the Eighth.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 10.—Today's game was a beauty up to the eighth inning, when Pfeister and Frary both quit abjectly, allowing Seattle to score two runs on one hit, a base on balls and five stolen bases. In this inning Drennan got first when Elsey dropped the ball and stole second, third and home. Hogg got better as the game progressed, and after allowing three hits in the ninth he steadied down and struck out the last two men, leaving two men on bases. The score:

Boston, 5; Chicago, 4.

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—Boston won today's game on Parent's single, followed by Ferris' double. Both teams put up a hard fight, but the visitors were the more fortunate. A hard rain before the game left the field in bad shape. Attendance, 4000. The score:

	R	H	E		R	H	E
Chicago	4	11	2	Boston	5	10	3

Batteries — Patterson and Sullivan; Young and Criger.

Philadelphia, 9; Detroit, 1.

DETROIT, Aug. 10.—Mullin was hit hard in the seventh and ninth and the locals' poor fielding accounts for the visitors' other runs. Hustings was very effective. Elberfield was put out of the game in the first inning. Attendance, 3200. The score:

	R	H	E		R	H	E
Detroit	1	7	6	Philadelphia	9	11	2

Batteries—Mullin and Buelow; Hustings and Powers.

St. Louis, 6; Washington, 3.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 10.—St. Louis won another easy game today from Washington. A home run in the fourth inning by Lee, with two out, saved the visitors from a shut-out. Donahue pitched a first-class game, and was well supported in the field. Orth did fairly well, but his support was weak. Attendance, 9406. The score:

St. Louis	6	10	1	Washington	3	6	2

Batteries—Donahue and Kahoe; Orth and Clark.

Walla Walla, 5; Pendleton, 3.

PENDLETON, Aug. 10.—(Special.)—Walla Walla took the last of the series here today in an interesting game. Salisbury was in the box for Pendleton and pitched fine ball, no runs being earned from his delivery. However, he made a wild pitch which let in two runs. Three hundred people came from Walla Walla by special train. Buchet of Walla Walla umpired the game, and did good work. Attendance, 1000. The score:

Batteries—Salisbury and Adams; Gatch and Swindells.

La Grande, 13; Baker City, 5.

BAKER CITY, Or., Aug. 10.—The ball game between Baker City and La Grande was a walk-over for La Grande today. Breeden, the regular umpire, was not satisfactory to the Baker City rooters from the start, and they kept demanding that he be removed. At the end of the fourth inning the uproar was so great that Breeden, who was sick, refused to finish the game. J. Mahaffey and Russel were substituted for the regular umpire. The score stood 13 to 1 in favor of La Grande up to the last half of the ninth inning, when Baker, with two men out, made four runs. Attendance, 500. The score:

HITS OFF THE DIAMOND

WHY DOESN'T PORTLAND "ROOT" FOR THE HOME TEAM?

Hoodlum Hurley and His Bad Break—Manager Andrews' Trouble With Tacoma.

Has the Portland baseball team any home? That is a question often asked. From the support the team receives here it is certain that the boys could hardly call this city their home. In Portland there seems to be a strong organization known as the Society of Home-Team Knockers. At every game this crowd turns out and does nothing but roast the Portland aggregation. Just because the team is not winning as it did last year these "knockers" take it upon themselves to roast the team, from the water-carrier to the president of the club. It is to be noticed that the greater part of that class are a lot of soreheads, who, when the league was first organized, predicted that it would not last one season, and would do nothing to help the sport. However, when the season of 1901 proved to be such a success and these would-be "sports" didn't happen to have any stock in the club, out came the big hammer. One of the most prominent leaders in the Society of Home-Team Knockers, who may have as many as three shares in the club, was blowing around town at the end of the last season that there would be a great change when the annual election of club directors came about. He was going to run the whole show, as, besides his own "big" interest in the club, he would hold a controlling interest in the proxies. He showed up at the meeting with his three shares of stock, but he never had a word to say.

In this league there are six clubs, and any one should be able to understand that all six cannot win. Just because Portland won last year is no reason that it can always do so. The boys get out and play as well as they can, and they should receive support from the local baseball fans, no matter how good or bad the team is. Did any of the fans ever stop to think just how discouraging it would be to play ball on the home grounds and have the great majority of the spectators yelling for the other team? It doesn't serve to put much life in the boys. It's all right to applaud the visitors when they make a good play, but to take their part against Portland is a mistaken idea. Now, if the fans will jolly up and stand by the team, yell for them, win or lose, and stop the continual growling at the players and the management, it would certainly help the boys along, and maybe the Portland nine could get a leg over that .500 mark. At any rate, it will do no harm to try.

When it was announced that Umpire Harry Colgan was to come to Portland to officiate in the Tacoma-Portland series, the fans heaved a sigh of relief, and fully expected to have general satisfaction. Colgan seemed to have made a good reputation in all of the five other towns, but just where his good umpiring lies did not materialize in the series last week. During the first four games, he might have been called a fairly good umpire, but his balls and strikes were very bad. In the fifth game, Saturday, he showed himself up as away off. Strikes were called that were far off from the plate or too high or too low. And balls that fairly floated over the plate straight across the middle and at the players' belt line, were declared balls. His base decisions were awful. Then, again yesterday, his work was rank. He called a strike on Johnson when the batter would have had to use a stepladder to get to it. It was at a time when the player already had three balls, and he should have gone to his base. That was only an incident in yesterday's contest. Colgan rendered a dozen or more decisions equally as bad. For a man who has made a great name as an umpire, Mr. Colgan is a wonder. Cunningham could do better than he did without watching the plays.

It's now up to President Lucas to punish a most cowardly and dirty piece of ball playing. The offender is First Baseman Hurley, of the Seattle team. The offense charged against the ball player is throwing his bat at Umpire Fisher and being otherwise abusive. It was a most dastardly piece of rowdiness. The trouble all came about in Thursday's game, when Fisher called one of his batted balls a foul. Hurley thought differently, but there was absolutely no excuse for his actions. That foul made two strikes on the Seattle batsman. The next ball pitched cut the plate neatly, and naturally Fisher called it a strike, and then Hurley was out. Then the little fellow lived up to his prize-fighting face and became brutal. In his rage he swung his bat around his head and then let it fly at Fisher. That did not satisfy him, so he started for the umpire, but a look from Fisher showed him to be the coward he was, and Hurley for the instant backed down, put his tail between his legs and sneaked away. He did manage to scare up courage to make another pass at the man, but he evidently knew that he would be stopped. Hurley got a fine of $5 and was put out of the grounds.

It will be remembered that Hurley acted in a somewhat similar manner when the Seattle team was last here. The little bully got hot at something done by Umpire Smith and came at him with a bat. He was not punished that time, although he should have got the limit. The reputation of the whole Seattle team is somewhat unsavory. Every club that has come here this season says that Seattle plays the rowdiest ball of any team in the league. They gave somewhat of an example when they were here, and forced the Portland boys to come on the field in a body to look after their own interests. Manager Dugdale promised that he would allow nothing of the kind to happen again, but it seems to have come in spite of him. If he should suspend Hurley, it might stop things somewhat. Certainly President Lucas can see his duty clear enough. A full season's suspension without pay would not be too much for the president to hand Hurley. If he lets this case pass he will let others pass, and then where will the discipline of the league be?

There seems to be a possibility of something happening to the Tacoma baseball team when it returns home this week. From reports in the Tacoma papers, it would appear that there is some friction between President Baker, of the Tacoma club, and Team Manager Andrews. The matter seems to have broken out over one Zimmerman, who was signed as catcher for the team. This man was secured by President Baker without consulting Andrews. Although Andrews does not seem to hold that up against the president, it looks as if it were a very poor piece of judgment on the part of Mr. Baker, who, when he has a manager for his team, takes it upon himself to select his own players. Andrews ought to be in a better position to judge of a good player than is Mr. Baker. Andrews ought to know a baseball player, while Mr. Baker has had but little dealing with that class of people, and might be easily buncoed. If President Baker goes in for making any radical change at this time of the season, he is likely to get himself into hot water. When he comes to look for good men with whom to strengthen his team, he will find that they are not to be had. About the only thing Tacoma, or, in fact, any other team in the league, can do, is to make the best of what they have and fight it out as they are.

Feifers' Union Wins.

OREGON CITY, Aug. 10.—The Feifers' Union defeated the Sunnyside Woodmen at Canemah Park today in an interesting game of ball by a score of 4 to 3.

Rowing Club May Have a Home.

There will be a meeting of the Portland Rowing Club, at the clubhouse, tomorrow evening, to consider the advisability of a proposition to purchase a permanent home for the club, an option having been secured on a very desirable piece of property.

Salt Lake City Filling Up.

SALT LAKE, Aug. 10.—This city is being rapidly filled with delegates to the annual convention of the B. P. O. E., to be held here Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

The Allegheny, Pa., delegation, to the number of 125, arrived at 8:30 o'clock this morning, and smaller delegations continued to arrive throughout the day. The New York delegation of 400 Elks will arrive at midnight. The big rush is expected tomorrow, and it is said at headquarters tonight that 4000 delegates will arrive within the next 24 hours. George P. Cronk, of Omaha, it is now conceded, will be elected by acclamation to the office of grand exalted ruler. Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Richmond, Va., and Baltimore are the announced candidates for the 1903 convention.

CRICKET TEAM CHOSEN.

Portland and All-Oregon Players Will Meet Vancouver.

The players who are to represent Portland in the two days' cricket matches Friday and Saturday at the Multnomah Club grounds, when Vancouver, B. C. and Portland will face each other, were picked from a number of candidates Saturday night. This will be Friday's team: Cawston, Lawrence, Lumgair, Barfoot, Willis, Fenwick, Scott, Smith, Dakyns, Wilkinson and Gilman. The players for Saturday's game, when the eleven to oppose Vancouver will be known as the All-Oregon eleven, will be: Cawston, Lawrence, Barfoot, Lumgair, Willis, Scott, Fenwick, Smith, Pattullo, Astburg and Gakyns. The game each day will be called at 11 o'clock, and there will not be any charge for admission. The Vancouvers are stated to be one of the strongest cricket elevens on the Pacific Coast, and they have about 50 or 60 players to select from. It is possible they may play their own ground bowler, a man who is said to have a speedy delivery, with a break. The result of this match will be keenly awaited in cricket circles. The Portlands are working hard for the occasion, and will have practice matches Monday and Wednesday evenings.

Vanderbilt's Horses Third.

DEAUVILLE, France, Aug. 10.—William K. Vanderbilt's Nettle got third place in the race for the Prix de la Societe d'Encouragement. His Marigold was third in the contest for the Prix Yacowles.

Twenty-Round Contest.

BUFFALO, Aug. 10.—The International Athletic Club has signed Kid Carter and Tommy Ryan, of Kansas City, for a 20-round contest, to take place September 15.
