WILL REJUVENATE THE SOIL

Returns From Wheat Are Falling Off, and All Acknowledge That the Time for Diversified Agriculture Has Arrived.

NORTH YAMHILL, Or., Aug. 15 .- (Spe cial correspondence.)-The man who invented the famous "pigs-in-the-clover" puzzle a few years ago should come to the Willamette Valley a year or two hence if he wants to see not only pigs, but sheep and cattle, reveling in a wealth of clover such as few Oregonians ever expected to see growing in the state where an "inexhaustible" soil would produce 40 bushels of wheat to the acre, and where "crops never fall." Pigs will be up to their eyes in clover, and how they got there will not be a puzzle. Cows will not eat green clover all Summer. There will be clover for pesture, clover for hay, and clover for seed. Then when this crop has rejuvenated the soil, cleaned out the foul seed and established Oregon agriculture upon the modern basis of rotation of crops, the land will again produce its 40 bushels of wheat per acre, and graingrowing will be highly profitable once more.

At every town up and down the Willamfarmers are going to raise clover. Many ing the coming season, and that crop will be in its best yielding stage in 1904. Almost every farm will have its clover field and in a few cases half the area of the cultivated land will be producing this crop. It is reported that one man who recently bought a 160-acre farm in Yambill County has seeded the whole tract to clover, intending to get what He will try to sell off only so much of ginning to sow clover will use it on land that would otherwise be Summer-fallowed ..

ty, will produce a crop of wheat in almost any kind of a season. The soil is ago is to be expected, even though the well drained and rich, as, in fact, is most rain should continue four or five days. of the Willamette Valley. But faith in the never-failing qualities of the Yamhili County farm has been shaken in the last few years, when the yield of 30 to so bushels per acre has dropped to about is or 20. This year much of the land willproduce 14 to 16 bushels, and few fields will yield 30. So great has been the change that T. W. Perry, who has lived 10 years in Yamhiil County, and for 20 years operated a grain warehouse at this place, exclaims, as he views the decadence of wheatgrowing: "It would have been better if the farmers had never raised a bushel of wheat." He kept the warehouse when 160,000 bushels of wheat were hauled to North Yambill every year, and when large quantities had to be piled outside because the warehouse wouldn't hold it all. This year the wheat houled to North Yamhill will not be more than 40,000 bush-

But Mr. Perry forgets what wheat her done for Yamhill County. The hills and dales of this beautiful land are one continuous panorama of well-kept farms The comfortable dwellings, the spacious barns, the unbroken fences, the shady groves, the graded highways, all testify to the wealth that has been drawn from the soil through the roots of the wheat stalk and gathered by the farmers in the abundance of golden grain. It was wheat that made Yambill County what it is, and if the farmers have lost money by growing that crop in recent years, it is because they have been too confident of the ability of the soil to go on producing one crop without change. stalk and gathered by the farmers in ducing one crop without change, Soil Is Not Exhausted. Nothing is further from the truth than to say that the productiveness of Yamhili County soll has been exhausted. The fact is that by the constant growing of one crop the soil has been temporarily depleted of those elements which are essential to the production of that crop in profitable quantities. The land needs a change, not a rest. It needs a change which will tend to renew its natural strength, and then it will be found to be as productive as ever. The growing of clover will supply the reader of the grand tribunal was af-firmed. This involved a question of facts in a claim for benefits. Judgment of the clover will supply the needed change. The clover roots will go deep down into the soil and bring to the surface materials which are far beneath the reach of rials which are far beneath the reach of such plants as wheat. Much of this material will be added to the surface soil.

Besides thus enriching of the surface, the subsoil will be loosened. The clover will ant West, of the Army Artillery Corps. take nitrogen from the air, and through its roots supply this needed element to the soil. The production of clover will prepare the land for further growing of wheat.

All Clover Will Be Consumed.

There is little danger of an overproduction of clover. The farmers of the Willamette Valley are giving more and more attention to the growing of stock, especially sheep, hogs and cattle. The great difficulty in dairying loss been to keep up the flow of milk during the dry Summer season, when the price of butter is high. The growing of clover will obvide and correspondence when the price of butter is high. The growing of clover will obvide and correspondence when the price of butter is high. The growing of clover will obvide and correspondence when the price of butter is held to grant the price of butter high. The growing of clover will obviate this difficulty, and in the increased yield of milk during the Summer the farmer will get his return for the feed.

The high prices paid for beef, pork and mutton will make it profitable to feed of Westberford, Tex. sheep, hogs and calves on clover, and probably the greater part of the crop will be consumed in this way. In every part of the Valley siles are becoming numerous, and these will be filled principally with this leguminous plant as a means of providing succulent food for stock when needed. Should the yield of clover food value. In round numbers, 100 pounds of hay made from leguminous crops contains nearly twice as much protein as 100 pounds of hay from the ordinary grasses. The following statement, based upon a yield of two tons of hay per acre from ordinary grasses and three tons from clover, shows the amounts of food material in each, these figures being the results of Government experiments:

Redtop at two tons per acre yields 138 pounds of protein, 1520 pounds of carbohydrates and 38 pounds of fat.

Timothy at two tons per acre yields 118 pounds of protein, 1480 pounds of carbohydrates and 30 pounds of fat. Red clover at three tons per acre yields 69 pounds of protein, 1887 pounds of carbohydrates and 99 pounds of fat. Willamette Valley Prosperous That the residents of the Willamette Valley are in prosperous financial conditions is everywhere shown by the improvements that are being made. In every Valley town new buildings are being erected, and in such cities as Eugene, Salem, Corvallis and Albany this work is quite extensive. That the general prosperity extends to the farmers is shown nowhere better than in the old town of North Yambill, where there is entire dependence upon the farming commu nity for business. Old business buildings have been remodeled, several new store buildings have been constructed, a new hotel three stories high is being pushed to completion, and a bank is to be opened here in a few days. These improvements are going on in a town that has been at a standstill since the hard times began nearly 10 years ago, and this work would not now be under way unless the financial condition of the farmers in the vicinity gave assurance that business will be brisk. AN ABERDEEN PHOTOGRAPHER MAKES RIVAL HAND OVER 81.50.

Young Lady Who Witnessed the Gun Play Is Completely Prostrated for Some Time.

ABERDEEN, Aug. 15.—(Special.)—Professor A. Gylfe, a photographer of this city, was compelled to pay an alleged debt of $1.50 this afternoon at the point of a revolver by A. J. Merwin, a rival artist. The demand from the lrate creditor was accommonied by a torset of professive and ompanied by a torrent of profanity and abusive language, which resulted in his arrest on the charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill.

There has been bad blood between the two men for some time, caused, it is stated, by Merwin returning here and opening up a studio after he had sold out his business to Gylfe with the provise that he would not engage in business again in this part of the country. Late this afternoon Merwin entered Gylfe's reason with him and to explain his ignorance of the debt, Merwin drew an ugly-looking gun, held it under Gylfe's nose and again demanded his money. Gylfe told him he did not have any change, but would get it, and started for his work-room, closely followed by Merwin, who continued to hold the revolver in close proximity to Gylfe's head. Procuring a couple of dollars from his desk, Gylfe handed the money over to Merwin, who at once left to get the required change, while Gylfe hastened to the office of the City Attorney, swore out a warrant for the arrest of his assallant, and in a short time the belligerent was in the custody of the officers. Justice Pearson held him for a preliminary hearing Monday in $100

Latter Are Driving Flocks Out of Lake County District-Trouble Is Sure to Come,

LAKEVIEW, Or., Aug. 15.—(Special.)— Cattlemen of Bly, Klamath County, have threatened trouble for the sheepmen of Lake County. Fifty stockmen armed to the teeth came to Dave Edler's sheep camp the first of the week for the estensible purpose of ordering him to move his sheep back from the range they allege belongs to the cattlemen. Finding no one with the sheep, the stockmen proceeded unceremoniously to drive the sheep away at a speed not calculated to produce any fat on the hungry sheep. The herder fat on the hungry sheep. The herder and camp-tender were not far away, and on seeing what was up, hurried to their camp and procured their rifles, and were soon in a place where they could command the situation. They remonstrated with the cattlemen for running the sheep, and said if they didn't stop there would be trouble. The sheep were allowed to move more slowly, but were not allowed to remain in that vicinity.

Batcheller & Grob's cheep were record.

Batchelder & Grob's sheep were moved in the same way, the owners not being there to protest, and the herder was not anxious to make a stand against 50 armed cattlemen.

DISEASES OF MEN

And Their Certain Cure

J. HENRI KESSLER, M. D.

There is a certain cure for these dis-eases without renorting to those unpleas-ant and uninful methods still used by many, which aggravate, rather than give rollef. With the same certainty as that of a perfect diagnosis, I adapt my special French treatment to the radical cure of

Stricture, Prostatis, Inflammation of the Bindder, Private Disorders, Varicocele, And all Genite-Uniary Diseases

And all Genite-Unlary Diseases
It affords instant relief. I remove every vestige of disease witchout resorting to those painful processes usually employed and which do not give satisfaction. It is not reasonable to suppose that a man can exercise the essential functions while the urinary channel is blocked by stricture or other disease, which destroys the vital power-and which becomes more aggravated under inaproper treatment. These diseases, while they last, always detruct from the sexual and bladder functions, and an early cure is always advisable.

THE DISEASE.—An enlargement of the veins surrounding the spermatic cord, a twisted, knotted, wormy-like or swollen appearance of the acrotum. This CauSE.—Sometimes self-polisition, but often blows, falls, strains, excessive horseback or bicycle-riding.

THE EFFECT—At times a dull, heavy, dragging pain in small of back, extending down through loins into the parts, low spirits, weakness of body and brain, aervous debility, partial or complete loss of sexual power and often failure of general health.

THE CURE—If you are a victim of this dire disease, come to my office and let me explain to you my process of treating it. You will then not wonder why I have cured, to stay cured, more than foe cases of VARICO-CELE during the past II months. Under my treatment the patient improves from the very beginning. All pain instantly ceases. Soreness and swelling quickly subside. The pools of stagnant blood are forced from the dilated reins, which rapidly assume their normal size, strength and soundness. All indications of disease and weakness vanish completely and forever, and in their stead comes the pride, the power, and the pleasures of perfect health and restored manhood.

I also cure to stay cured forever, Stricture, Syphilitic Blood Poison, Im-restored manhood.

I also cure to stay cured forever, Stricture, Syphilitic Blood Poison, Impotency and all associate diseases and weaknesses of men. To these maidles alone I have carnestly devoted my whole professional life.

If you cannot call at my office, write me your symptoms fully. My home treatment by correspondence is always successful. My counsel is free and sacredly coalidential, and I give each patient a legal contract in writing to bold for my promise. Address
