THE FAT MAN BALKED .- A street car that runs on one of the lines that has been disturbed by the recent march of improvements had the misfortune to off the track the other day, while trying to cross from one track to another on an old crossover. The motorman and the conductor got out the wrecking apparatus, and struggled to get the car back on the track where it belonged, but all to no purpose. The car would go in every direction except the right one, and the carmen were just about to give up in despair, when it oc-curred to them that they might call upon the passengers to assist in the work of rescue. Most of them responded. and there was soon a string of them lined up against the side of the conveyance, ready to shows when the car began to move. The power was applied and the passengers showed, but the car did not passengers shoved, but the car did not regain the rails. One large fat man remained seated inside, and the conductor called out, "Say, Sport, come out and help." The man looked down with a disdainful air, and said, "What do you think I am, anyway, a steam crane?" The rest of the passengers looked at each other, and climbed back on the car where they waited for the men to come from the shop with jurksers was and crow. from the shop with jackscrews and crow-

To THAR DOWN A BRIDGE?-City Engl-Elliott, to whom the Board of Public Works referred the matter of looking after the condemned bridge on Holladay avenue, near East Sixteenth street, will nade further investigation before he repares a report to submit to the board. Mr. Elliott said yesterday that he did not wish to tear down the bridge until the O. R. & N. Co., over whose right of way the bridge passes, agrees to furnish flagmen so that all incoming and outgoing trains may be notified of the langer while the work is in progress. The portion of the bridge which was particularly dangerous to the trains could, he said, be torn down in a day or so if the company would co-operate by stationing flagmen east and west of the structure. The destruction of the bridge, Mr. Elliott said, would not cause any great amount of inconvenience to the people in the neighborhood. Most of the travel is over the Twelfth-street orldge and the condemned structure is of little value. WAITER CHARGED WITH KEEPING CHANGE.—The difference between a two-bit piece and a $5 gold piece has, in a measure, led to the arrest of Henry Kane, a waiter in a Burnside-street saloon, on the complaint of Emil Johnson, of Fisher's Landing. Johnson come to the city to attend Buffalo Bill's Wild West show, and yesterday morning he visited the saloon where Kane is employed and going to a side room he ordered a bottle of beer. Just then a woman came into the room and Johnson ordered a second bottle, and, he says, gave Kane $5 in gold. While Johnson was enjoying his beer, the waiter came back saying: "Gimme 25 cents more for this second bottle of beer. It was a two-bit piece, you gave me." "It was a $5 gold piece," ted Johnson. A dispute followed, Johnson hunted up Policeman Frank-Kane's arrest for larceny followed. erted Johnson.

Him Kee leisurely strolled thing in it, him Kee leisurely strolled into the Municipal Court yesterday, charged with throwing pieces of paper along Second street. When his name was called Him Kee visibly brightened and said: "Me savvy Melican," "Are you guilty of this charge?" inquired Depote City Attention City Attorney Fitzgerald, after the complaint, "Yes," "Do you understand what it means?" Yes. "You threw paper in street, and knew it was against the law?" "Yes." "It strikes me that your knowledge of the English language is very limited," continued Mr. Pitagerald. All the same, a fine of $10 was imposed and the money was paid by one of Him Kee's stolid labeling account. looking countrymen.

MRS. RYKEMAN FINED $30.-Mrs. Hattle Rykeman was on time in the Municipal Court yesterday afternoon to hear wit-nesses testify that she assaulted Jacob Danner last Saturday at the Chicago Danner last Saturday at the Chicago Hotel, East Side. At the previous hearing Mrs. Rykeman admitted striking Danner in self-defense, because, she asserted, he first assaulted her and refused to leave the premises after she ordered him to go. Yesterday's hearing was tame, the Danner witnesses agreeing that Danner and the woman had a mix-up but there appeared to be doubt mix-up, but there appeared to be doubt in their minds as to who struck the first blow. Mrs. Rykeman was fined $20, and Lieutenant-Colonel Forrest A. Hatha-way, U. S. A., who has just assumed his duties as Chief Quartermaster of the Department of the Columbia and Distributing Quartermaster for Portland, is a veteran of the Civil War, and has been veteran of the Civil War, and has been connected with the regular Army since 1855. He enlisted in the Vermont Volunteers in 1862, and served until the conclusion of the war, when he was appointed into the regular service. Colonel Hathaway has just finished a term of seven months as Chief Quartemaster in the Department of the North Philippines. Prior to that time he was connected with the Department of the Missouri, with the Department of the Missouri, with headquarters at Omaha. Colonel Hathaway is a man of medium build, perhaps but this fact was not discovered until 55 years of age, and possesses a most plensing manner. He has been in Port-land for several days, but will probably take up his residence at Vancouver Bar-racks. Colonel J. W. Jacobs, who has been in charge of the Quartermaster's office bere for some years, will leave shortly for his new post of duty at St.

NEW PHASE OF SMITH-GUNDERSON FEUD.—Another phase of the Smith-Gunderson feud at Guild's Lake turned up yesterday at the Municipal Court, when Joseph Smith was accused of allowing his cattle to roam at large on the prop-erty of Antone Gunderson. Smith was released on his depositing $5 bail for his appearance before Municipal Judge Hogue this afternoon. The Gunderson brothers were recently before Justice of brothers were recently before Justice of the Peace Reid charged with poisoning 300 chickens and a cow belonging to Smith, and were placed under bonds to keep the peace. Frosh trouble casued, however, when Mrs. Smith found out that her missing cow had been taken by some unknown person to the City Pound, and she was forced to pay $5 before the cow got her liberty. Then according to cow got her liberty. Then, according to the complaint, Gunderson's cattle began to make their home on the Smith farm, and another inwault is the result. WEATHER BUREAU GETS NEW INSTRU-MENT.—The nethoscope, a new instru-ment for the observation of clouds, has been received by Forecast Official Beals from the Department of Agricul-ture, and will soon be installed as a permanent fixture in the local office of the Weather Bureau. The nethoscope is a mirror-like reflector by which the weather officials may ascertain the direction of moving clouds and the rapidity of their movement, so that more definite information as to the approach of storms from the Coast may be given. The de-partment at Washington decided to place it in a few stations throughout the country and Portland was one of the places selected. So far as known it is the first that has been received on the Pacific Coast. When it is installed Pacific Coast. When it is installed, which will not be until some additional apparatus is received; observations will be taken several times a day.

LAWYERS AWAIT NEW CODE.-Members of the legal fraternity are anxiously awaiting the time when they can pro-cure copples of Bellinger and Cotton's new Oregon Code. Mesers. Bellinger and Cotton are also anxiously awaiting the completion of the code and hope that copies will be ready for distribution be-fore long, but they are not able to furnish any definite information in the matter. It is known that at least five-sixths of the printing is done, but just how soon the second volume will be ready for the binder, or how long it will remain in his hands no one can tell. The two volumes will contain about 5700 sections. which is about 1500 sections more than there are in Hill's code. It is possible that copies of the code may be obtainable within the next month, and it is pos-sible that it may be two months before any can be had. PORTLAND ACADEMY NOTES .- The new PORTLAND ACADEMY NOTES.—The new boarding hall of Portland Academy is progressing rapidly to completion and will be ready for occupancy by September 15. The gymnasium will be in place by the same time, but will not be fully equipped before October 15, when regular instructions will begin. Percy W. Blanchard will be in charge of the bhysical culture instruction. He is a physical culture instruction. He is a late graduate of Amherst College and will besides assist in mathematics. Owing to the resignation of J. F. Wilson, of the Latin department, Mr. John K. Mackie will have charge of the first-year work. Mr. Mackie was classical fellow in Princeton University from 1901-1902, and has besides traveled in Europe. Principal J. B. Wilson will return from
