FINED FOR USING ABUSIVE LANGUAGE.—An acrimonious hearing concerning a neighbors' quarrel took place yesterday before Municipal Judge Hogue, when a little Frenchman named J. Belgbeder was accused of using abusive language toward Mrs. Mary Douglas, 28 North Twentieth street. From the evidence it appeared that the Douglas family and Belgbeder have not been good friends because of a dispute relating to the dividing line between their respective houses. Mrs. Douglas testified that her little son accidentally dropped a toy revolver over the fence into Belgbeder's property, Wednesday, that the Frenchman refused to allow the boy liberty to climb over the fence and get the toy, and that the defendant used an offensive epithet in addressing her. In defense, Belgbeder stated that he would have allowed the boy access to his ground to get the revolver, if he had entered through the front door, instead of climbing over the fence. He insisted that he had been called a name relative to the color of his skin. Attorney Dan J. Malarkey represented Mrs. Douglas. Belgbeder was fined $25, and warned to conduct himself differently toward his neighbors for the future.

FIRE FROM A CARELESS SMOKER.—A cigarette dropped from the hand of some careless smoker caused a small blaze between the planks of the Morrison-street bridge, yesterday afternoon. The blaze was soon extinguished with a bucketful of water. "We have to look out for these little blazes all the time," said one of the bridge-tenders, last night. "Cigarette and cigar smokers are apt to drop their butts around everywhere, without a thought as to what damage might be caused. During the day there is not so much danger, for some one is sure to see it at once, but late at night we must be on the lookout all the time, for the cracks are filled with sawdust and other refuse which is as dry as tinder, and a lighted cigar, if dropped in the right place, will start a fire every time. Some of these smokers would drop a cigar in a keg of powder, I think, and I almost wish they would some time."

SMALL AWNING FIRE.—The Fire Department was called out yesterday afternoon by an alarm from box No. 9, for a roof fire on Ninth street, near Everett, the house being occupied by Simon Mitchell. Shortly after the noonday hour, some one dropped a lighted cigarette on an awning in front of a grocery store, on First street, near Madison, and a small blaze resulted, which was extinguished with a bucketful of water before the firemen arrived. The crew of chemical engine No. 2, however, drove to this fire, and while their engine was being hauled over one of the car switches on First street, near Madison, there was a sudden jolt, and it was found that the front axle was broken. Driver Anderson was partly thrown from his seat by the jar, but he grasped the footboard in time.

DISCUSS PORTABLE SCHOOLHOUSES.—The School Board held a meeting at the rooms in the City Hall last evening, to dispose of some routine business and to discuss the proposition of securing portable schoolhouses to be used in this city during the coming year. The American Portable House Company, of Seattle, manufactures these houses, and is very anxious to have the board give them a trial. The dimensions for the houses are 25 by 32 feet, and they will hold a large number of pupils. Owing to the fact that the regular school buildings will be crowded during the approaching school year, it is thought that four or five of these portable affairs should be secured.

WOMEN ORDERED TO LEAVE.—Two well-dressed women who gave their names as Lottie Miller and Maud Smith, supposed to be fictitious names, were advised to leave town yesterday, by the police. They were escorted to the police station by Detectives Day and Weiner, and from their conversation they did not appear to have any lawful occupation or to be able to give a good account of themselves. They asserted that they came here to see the Elks' Carnival. Much to their dismay, they were photographed and their pictures placed in the "gallery" in the police station. They will be watched by the police as long as they remain in this city.

CAPTAIN CAUKIN'S CANDIDACY.—The Oregon delegation to the National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, at Washington, D. C., will present the name of Captain G. E. Caukin as a candidate for the office of junior vice-commander-in-chief, at the coming meeting. Captain Caukin has been so long connected with the Grand Army, and so prominent in its ranks, that it is thought there will be no difficulty in his election to that office. He has the hearty indorsement of the Grand Army men of this state.

SEPTEMBER STRAWBERRIES.—A box of remarkably fine strawberries, equal to any in size, shape, color and flavor, has been sent to The Oregonian from the grounds of Mr. L. C. Bullack, one and one-half miles from Ilwaco, Wash. For September strawberries they are astonishing. They would be fine for June, and are fit to be spoken of as among the prodigies of production "where rolls the Oregon."

VISITORS AT HISTORICAL SOCIETY.—The rooms of the Oregon Historical Society, in the City Hall, were visited and the exhibits inspected by 2151 tourists from the Pacific Coast and the East during August. According to the figures of Secretary Himes, the visitors from outside the state numbered 740, from the state 1411, from Portland 948; towns in Oregon represented, 146, and the number of visitors, 463. The largest number of visitors from other states was 57 each from California and Minnesota, 50 from Iowa, 44 from Illinois, 43 from Nebraska, 32 from Ohio, 13 from Pennsylvania, 12 from South Dakota, 168 from Washington, 13 from Colorado, 39 from Idaho, 15 from Indiana, 17 from Missouri, 12 from New York, and 27 from Wisconsin. There were 10 from Canada, 6 from England, 2 from Germany, and 1 each from Holland, Scotland, Norway and Sweden. The daily average number of visitors was 78. The city authorities have granted to the Oregon Historical Society the use of five new rooms adjoining those now occupied by the society. This will enable Mr. Himes to install and classify the library, which now amounts to over 3000 volumes. Several new objects of interest are on exhibition, and a slight rearrangement will be made in the interest of a better display.

TO IMMORTALIZE ALL SHERIFFS.—E. J. Jeffery visited the Courthouse yesterday, and during a conversation with Sheriff Storey suggested that it would be a good idea to get photographs of all the former Sheriffs and hang them, framed, in the Sheriff's office, with the dates of the service of each officer. Mr. Jeffery served a term as Sheriff about 20 years ago. Mr. Storey agreed with him that it would be a good plan, and remarked that when he was Mayor of Portland he was instrumental in having the picture of his predecessor, W. S. Mason, hung in the Council chamber, and that it would greatly improve the appearance of the Council chamber if the photographs of all former Mayors were hung around the room on the walls.

WORK RESUMED ON FOURTH STREET.—After a delay of two months the contractors who are laying the new wood-block pavement on Fourth street commenced work again Tuesday. The whole street from Burnside to Jefferson has been completed with the exception of that part lying between Morrison and Main streets. After the contractors finished the north end of the street and started on the south end they stopped for some mysterious reason and did not do a stroke of work for many weeks. The street was barricaded, and the only part that could be used was the little strip that the Southern Pacific keeps paved. Work has commenced again, however, and the street will be finished in a few weeks, or about October 1.

LECTURE BY COLONEL SOBIESKI.—Colonel John Sobieski, who will deliver an address to young men at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium on Sunday, has had an interesting life history. The only male descendant of King John Sobieski, he was heir to the crown. At the age of 5 years he was driven out of Poland and went to Italy. Driven out of Italy because it was known that he was of royal birth, he came to the United States for refuge, and at the age of 12 entered the United States service as an Army bugler. Here he remained for many years, and his efficient services gained him promotion to the rank of Colonel. Colonel Sobieski is a strong speaker, and his address Sunday will be on interesting topics.

FRUIT EXHIBITS AT OSAKA.—Now is the time to collect fruit exhibits for the Oregon display at the Japanese Exposition which opens at Osaka next March. Unless fruits are collected at once it will be too late to do so. When H. E. Dosch departed for Japan he left directions for gathering a display. Persons who feel the pulse of public spirit in their veins are requested to contribute specimens of fruit and leave them at 246 Washington street. L. N. Guy will receive them there and put them in preserving jars. There is no money available for gathering a display of fruits, and there is no time to wait for raising a fund. All kinds of fruits are desired.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS OPEN SEPTEMBER 15.—The public schools of Portland will open on Monday, September 15. Many teachers are already home from their Summer vacations, and the others will be here on time. Persons appointed as teachers in the department have filed their acceptance, but several have resigned, and one or two have been granted leave of absence. This leaves several vacancies, which can readily be filled, as there are numerous applicants for positions.

COW CAUSES TROUBLE.—Joseph Smith, of Guild's Lake, was before Municipal Judge Hogue yesterday, charged with allowing a cow under his control to roam on private land leased by Anton Gunderson, August 26. Gunderson admitted that a fence inclosed the ground. Smith's lawyer contends that the ordinance under which prosecution is begun states that the land must be uninclosed. The case was continued.

FAY WILL RETURN TODAY.—C. L. Fay and his attorney, M. L. Pipes, will return today from Mandan, N. D., where Fay was last Tuesday released from the custody of Sheriff Hess, of North Dakota. Mr. Fay and Judge Pipes would have reached Portland last evening but for a delay occasioned by the wrecking of a freight train ahead of them near Thompson Falls, Mont. They will probably reach Portland on the early train this morning.

EVERYBODY THAT LIKES GOOD SERVICE AND FINE SCENERY,
Will make a special trip Sunday, September 7, leaving Oak-street dock at 9 A. M., for The Dalles and all way points; or if you wish, you can go to the Cascade Locks and return. Fine Sunday dinner, 25 cents. *

FEW LICENSES ISSUED.—Business at the license department at the City Hall was dull yesterday. Quite a number of dog tags were sold, but few other licenses were issued. Since July 1, collections from licenses have amounted to $51,000. There are 320 saloons, which pay in altogether $32,000. This leaves $19,000 received from the occupation tax and from other sources, which is a good showing.

DALLES DAILY EXCURSIONS by White Collar boats from foot Alder street, 7 A. M. Grandest scenery on earth. The tourist and stranger should make this trip. Tickets sold for Elks' Carnival, Portland, September 5, 8, 9, 10, 11, at rate 1 1-3 fare round trip. All tickets good seven days from date of sale from The Dalles and all way landings. See "Dalles" electric sign. Both 'phones Main 351.

TO TRY GAMBLING CASES SEPTEMBER 16.—The gambling cases against Frank Hellen, A. C. Baxter, O. J. McKenna, William Ayres, David Schiller and William Jones, who were recently arrested at the Portland Club, will be tried in the Municipal Court, before a jury, September 16. The defendants asked for a jury trial.

GARBAGE MEN ARRESTED.—Mow Sing and Ah Mong were arrested by Policeman Welch last night, charged with allowing a garbage wagon to stand at Ninth and Burnside streets. Repeated complaints have been received from residents of the neighborhood against these Chinamen's wagon.

SMALL FIRE IN COTTAGE.—There was an alarm of fire from box No. 142, at 10:20 o'clock last night, for a $50 blaze, which started in an unoccupied cottage at the southwest corner of Fifth and Everett streets. The origin of the fire is not known.

TROUT AND BLACKBERRIES.—Millard O. Lownsdale, whose face is not as familiar to Portland people these days as it used to be when he delighted them with his melodious voice, has been in the city for several days this week. He has been making arrangements for getting his arsenal in order for the duck-shooting season, and putting in a stock of wheat to feed the ducks he hopes to shoot. He has just returned from an extended and very successful fishing excursion on the Nehalem. He found the trout very plentiful, large and voracious, and had no trouble in catching as many as he cared for. It is reported that wild blackberries are very plentiful on the Nehalem, and that a huge blackberry patch extends from the west bank of the river to no one knows where. The trout eat these blackberries for dessert, and their flavor is improved thereby. They feast on fat flies all the afternoon, and when evening comes they lie along the shore under the shade of the bushes and gobble up the blackberries as they drop into the water, and they can eat a large number. The Indians who gathered berries there used to let their canoes float along under these bushes and shake off berries until their canoes were full. That was some years ago.

MONTHLY REPORT OF LIBRARY.—Gratifying progress in the work and usefulness of the Portland Free Library was shown by reports received at the monthly meeting of the directors. During the past month, 253 applicants for membership were received, making the total membership 6474. The total attendance during August has been 11,199; average daily, 405; largest daily, 636. The total circulation of books, 8096; average daily, 311; largest daily, 431. The percent of fiction was 73 per cent, larger than the past months, because light reading is more popular in Summer than at any other time. In the periodical room the total attendance was 3616; average daily, 117; largest daily, 168. In the children's room, the total attendance was 1584; average daily, 61; largest, 115. Sixty-seven joined, making total membership 1016. Two extra assistants are to be employed Sundays and holidays, to relieve the permanent force. A few extra copies of books most called for will be ready tomorrow morning.

AT THE THEATERS.

Fred Pollard—he with the silver tenor voice—who doesn't act, but is never known to sound an untrue note, was the bright star in "A Gaiety Girl," presented last night at the Marquam to a large audience. He sang "Please Let Me Sleep," a sweetly melodious conceit, first from the orchestra chairs, then from the back of the house, then from the stage, and responded to half a dozen encores. His art is captivating.

Fred, little Daphne and Willie Thomas could by themselves almost carry a performance. Supported by a stage full of clever youngsters, their work shines. The midget improves on acquaintance. Her versatility is remarkable. The Thomas boy sang a laughing song that captured the audience. Two good number fell to Miss Alice Pollard, the tallest of the name; these she sang with charm. All through the comedy, at short intervals, there are bright musical spots and a cheer that pleased.

"A Gaiety Girl" goes tomorrow and Saturday nights. For the matinee, "Paul Jones."

Portland had the opportunity of seeing the Pollards as children in every-day clothes. The whole company on a tally-ho were in advance of the Elks' parade.

Tonight the Queen of the Carnival and maids will attend the Marquam to see "A Gaiety Girl." In response to the invitation published yesterday, the following answer was sent:

Portland, Or., Sept. 4.—Messrs. Heilig and Pollard—Dear Sirs: I wish to thank you myself and in behalf of the maids of honor for your kind invitation to attend the theater Friday evening. We accept with pleasure.

Very respectfully yours,
QUEEN MAYBELLE.

Notwithstanding the large crowd that attended the Carnival last night, the Baker Theater was well filled to witness the excellent performance of the Neill stock company, in "A Social Highwayman." When an indoor attraction can draw large audiences against the Carnival and the beautiful evenings, it must be an exceptionally good show. The Neill stock company has made a host of friends during this week, and if the productions that follow are as good as the opening week, it will completely capture the theater-going public. "A Social Highwayman" will run until Saturday night, with a matinee Saturday.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

Another Week of the Pollards.

Owing to the tremendous success of the talented Pollard Juvenile Opera Company, Manager Heilig, of the Marquam, has induced them to spend their last week in America in this city, and hold the boards at his house. These clever children sail from Vancouver, B. C., on the 19th inst. for Australia direct. Monday and Tuesday evenings and Saturday matinee they will present for the first time in this city a two-act musical comedy entitled "The American Millionaire." The piece is full of excellent comedy, and quite a number of exceedingly clever and very popular specialties have been interpolated. On Wednesday and Thursday evenings they will again present their famous musical skit "In Town," in which Little Daphne does the part of Shrimp, the call boy. This was one of the company's big hits during former visits. On Friday evening they will again sing the tuneful "La Mascotte." For their farewell performance to America on Saturday evening the bill has not yet been decided. Manager Charles A. Pollard preferring to allow the people of this city to select the piece for the closing of their first very successful American tour. All suggestions regarding the Saturday evening performance should reach the theater before Wednesday morning. Popular Carnival prices, 25, 35 and 50 cents, will prevail during the entire week. Seats are now selling.

Richard & Pringle's Minstrels.

Richard & Pringle's Minstrels come to Cordray's next Sunday for three nights. Every feature is new this season, and the organization is the best effort of its enterprising management. One of the special features expressly engaged for this tour is Bonomor's Troupe of Arabian Acrobats. A special train of the company's own Pullman cars is used in its transportation, and the street parade, which takes place at 2:30 P. M. on the day of the company's arrival, is one of the most pleasing spectacles one would wish to witness, as it introduces new features, and many of them.

"Thelma," With Great Scenery.

Every distinct and novel feature of the book "Thelma," is is said, is preserved in the play of that name. A competent company of people are in the cast, which will be seen next Wednesday evening at Cordray's popular playhouse, and for four nights following, with a Saturday matinee. "Thelma" is a romance of love amid characters and scenes which are new to the stage, and for that reason, aside from the motive of the story, it has proved to be so lasting and popular among play-goers. Beautiful Norwegian scenery, which is so eloquently and vividly described by Miss Corelli, is reproduced in magnificent paintings and with stage devices that are said to be new. There is shown, among other things, the Alten Fjord, the midnight sun, Njedezgorze, the great water-fall, the land of the long shadow, Winter in Norway, the aurora borealis, the appearance of the Valkyrie to the old Viking and his subsequent death in his boat, wrapped in flames, as he puts to sea. The production at Cordray's house next week will be well worth seeing. Certain it is that no one having read the book of "Thelma" is likely to miss it.

"Mr. Barnes, of New York."

For the second week of the Neill Stock Company, at the Baker Theater, "Mr. Barnes, of New York," will be the bill. This is a dramatization of Archibald Clavering Gunter's novel of the same name. It has action and is brimful of the brightest kind of comedy. All the principals are cast for good roles, and we are promised a complete production.

Cordray's Matinee.

There is not an act in the programme of the Belasco-George Juvenile Specialty Company, playing this week at Cordray's, that will not delight children. The entire bill will be given at the children's matinee tomorrow.

Shields' Amateurs Tonight.

No. 1 of the last two amateur shows at Shields' Park takes place tonight after the regular performance. Of all the amateur acts this season, the most amusing was the pie-eating contest a week ago. This same feature will be repeated, and Julius Caesar and several others will appear.

The regular programme will be carried out just the same, and it is the strongest of the season, with the Japanese acrobats, the Thompsons, Atlantis, fire dancers and Irishman McBride as leading feature. A big bill is booked for the closing week. The park closes Sunday, the 14th.

FREE AEOLIAN RECITAL.

With customary enterprise and desire to please, The Aeolian Company will give a free Aeolian pipe-organ recital at their hall this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

This recital is for the pleasure of all visiting Elks, to whom a cordial invitation is extended. Aeolian Hall, corner Washington and Park streets.
