REVISION OF CREED HINDERS

Welcome From United Brethren, but Declare Premature Movement to Reloin Old Presbyterian Church.

The question of organic union came yesterday before the Oregon Synod of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, in ses-sion on the East Side, in the form of a report of the committee appointed the day before. Rev. C. A. Wooley, formerly moderator, was chairman of this committee as he was the mover for its appoint-ment. He said in explanation of his action that he wanted to show the United Brethren people, who were seeking to ac-complish church union, that the Cumberland Presbyterian people applauded their efforts, and at the same time to rebuke those brethren in the East who had been precipitate in urging union of the Cum-berland Presbyterian church with the mother church. The following report was read by Rev. Mr. Wooley:

Resolutions on Organic Union.

"Whereas, It is the consensus of belief emong most thoughtful Christians of this day and age that the body of Christ (the church) has been divided and subdivided into too many separate denominations, many of them holding substantially the same doctrines and usages, thus weakening instead of strengthening the cause of

"Whereas, Certain proposals have re-cently been made by the United Brethren church looking to the organic union of said church with certain other churches, among which is kindly mentioned the Cumberland church; therefore, be it

"Resolved, by the Oregon Synod now In session in the City of Portland, Or. "First-That we highly appreciate the kindly and fraternal feelings thus manifested by said United Brethren church and assure our brethren of said church of our hearty sympathy with them in this effort to bring into closer relations the churches mentioned; and sincerely pray that said effort may be the inauguration of a movement, the result of which may be of greatest value to the cause of our common Lord and Muster, 'whose we are and whom we serve. "Second-That while there may be difilties in the way, by reason of slight differences of doctrines and essential differences in point of government, that may be sufficient to prevent this consummation so far as our beloved branch of the shurch is concerned, yet the kindly offer of said brethren in Christ is none the less appreciated by us."

Explanation Not Enough.

The following part of the resolutions sim at the "Eastern men who have precipitated the movement for church union, and caused considerable discussion:
"Third-That the Oregon Synod expresses its sincere regret that any action should have been taken by any persons or Presbyterians of the Cumberland Presbyterian church looking to organic union with the Presbyterian church of the United States at this time, inasmuch as it claimed by many of the leading men of he said church that the new statement of doctrines, formulated and submitted to the Presbyterians for ratification, is not a revision but a restatement of the same moctrines taught by the Westminster Confession, which doctrine concerning election and reprobation Cumberland Presby-terians have ever held to be unphilosoph-Ical, untrue and at radical variance with the word of God."

Discussion of the Resolutions.

Mr. Wooley, chairman of the committee presenting the resolutions, was given the floor. He said in part: "I have no set speech at this time, but simply a word of explanation. I think it is conceded generally that there are too many churches ("Not by all," W. R. Bishop Interfected), and too many denominations that have very small, if any, difference in doctrines, and some of the United Brethren people have made a move to bring about union of some of the denominations, and have made some overtures Cumberland Presbyterian church along that line. Now I submit that it would be good form to show them that we appreciate their efforts by this expres-Brethren, I don't see how a Christian man can stand out against a union of the churches that have a common doctrine and government. That is my judg-ment. Now, I think that the Oregon Synod should set its disapproval on the action of those ministers of the Cumber-land Presbyterian church who started the movement for union with the mother Presbyterian church while the matter of revision is unsettled. We have it from Presbyterians that there has been no revision, and that only a restatement had been made of the creed-an explanation so that those who could not understand could be informed. Until this revision uncertainty shall have been cleared up the movement for organic union is clearly premature, and we should rebuke those who have rushed into the movement. I am not opposed to union with any denomination that holds to the true doctrines of Jesus Christ, I am not one of those, however, who fear the consequence of agita-tion. I believe in full discussion of this subject. We should meet it on large, broad and generous grounds. The Congregationalists have discussed and agitatonion, and they have lost nothing by it. I trust the resolutions will pass."

Let Themselves Down Ensily.

Moderator Van Patten said: "I am op posed to the report, for the reason that It is not consistent. At the start it advocates organic union of churches, and winds up by condemning the movement for union with the mother Presbyterian church. Now it has been repeatedly set forth here on this floor and elsewhere that this 're vision' is not a revision, but a mere restatement or explanation. Now I under stand that it is a revision, and that the great journals and leading minds of the mother Presbyterian church do so set forth. Of course, it is hard for the Presbyterian church to admit that its doctrines were wrong, and it wants to come down easy, and claim it is an explanation, when it is really a complete re-vision, and that the doctrines of 'he Cumberland Presbyterian church are admitted to be the true doctrines. We ought to be able to see whether or not it is a revision ourselves. Now, if there be any Christian body with which the Cumberland Presbyterian church should unite, certainly it ought to be with the mother Presbyterian church. I don't think the movement is premature. I am in favor of organic union. We stand midway between Calvinism and Arminianism, and the churches are coming to this standard."

W. R. Bishop spoke for the passage of the resolution. He said it was not settled that there had been a revision, and Cumberland Prosbyterians could wait until

On motion of G. N. The resolution was then passed as amended. Mr. Thompson voting against it. There was relief that the mat-ter had at last been disposed of and was out of the way for the rest of the session Although softened in wording, the resolutions are regarded as an emphatic answer to some prominent Cumberland Presby-terian ministers, who are pressing the matter of organic union at this time.

George G. Hudson had been employed as missionary, but that the work had been suspended for the reason that there was no means to continue him in the field. The report set forth the need of the work. It recommended that steps be taken to place a mission at Spokane, and also that all the churches of the synod give the matter of missions their special consideration.

C. A. Wooley commended the recom-mendations. He thought a synodical missionary should be placed in the field, who would be able to hold revivals and visit the churches.

W. R. Bishop read his report on the "Needs of the Synod," which was that the churches needed more spiritual life. The report was exhaustively discussed and adopted.

In the course of the discussion E. E. Thompson spoke of the idle ministers, who should be up and at work in some fields. There was a shortage of men, he said, to fill the churches. Many were doing nothing. There were enough men, ordained preachers, but they were not at work. He told of the experiences at Albany, Leb-anon, Coburg and elsewhere. "We must have men who will move," he declared. Remarks were made by Moderator Van Patten, in which he said that something should be done that would put life into the dormant churches. Dr. Dalton, N. The height limit of awnings is fixed from Seventh street eastward, and one of the members said that he knew of awnings within the proscribed district of less than

"Governor Dole was placed at the head of the table, with Senator Mitchell at his right, and Senator Eurton at his left, while at the other end of the board Judge M. M. Senator Mitchell responded to the single toast, "The President of the United States," and in the course of his remarks

"Forty years ago, when I was a mem-ber of the Senate of the State of Oregon, it was my pleasure to introduce a resolu-tion calling upon our Senators and members of Congress to use their best efforts to secure a treaty of reciprocity with these islands. I had the pleasure later, when a member of the Senate of the United States, to see that treaty consummated, and in company with the Hon, Hannibal Hamlin, of Maine, and the Hon, A. A. Sargent, of California, I had the honor to advocate the treaty of reciprocity, by which the interests of these islands were so greatly aided. But for that reciprocity treaty, in my opinion, today this territory would be a part of the British Empire, instead of being a portion of the United States.

Senator Mitchell was to leave Honoluly September 30 on his way home.

ANSWER TO VANCOUVER.

Federated Trades Council Defends Its Action on Drydock Question.

At the regular meeting of the Federated Trades Council last night a letter was framed in answer to the communication of the Vancouver Merchants' Protective Association in regard to the action in the drydock case. The Vancouver people were opposed to the action, and stated that they would do their trading with other places than Portland if the case was followed out and the drydock taken from them. In answer the union people declare that there is nothing against their neighbors of Van-couver, but that they are bringing the suit because the awarding of the work to Vancouver is contrary to law, and the tax-payers of Portland are entitled to the benefits of the money that will be ex-pended in this work. The communication of the Federated Trades Council, signed by A. R. Lawton, secretary, is as follows: I am instructed by the Portland Federated Trades Council to wake the following reply to the resolutions adopted by your organization: Our contention is that the express provision of the statute creating the Port of Portland Com-mission requires that it "shall have power to, in its discretion, sequire, own and hold a site dock at and within the boundaries of the Port time that they may be needed. We cannot refrain, however, from congratulating the laboring men and mechanics of your city upon the possession by them of so able a protector of their rights and interests as the prompt action of your enterprising association has shown you to be. Had our business asso-ciations shown the same watchful care of Portland's interests, the interference of the Feder-ated Trades Council in the present controversy would have been unnecessary. The committee that was appointed to arrange for the lecture to be given by J. T. Morgan in behalf of the coal-mine workers reported the expense that would have to be incurred, and after some discussion it was decided that no lecture be given. Word was received from the Federated Trades Council of San Francisco that there was still a strike on in the Leatherworkers' Union, and in response to its request a number of California leather firms were placed on the unfair list.

STEP BY STEP Coffee Gets In Its Fine Work.

Watch coffee drinkers and observe that practically every one of them has some form of incipient or fixed disease.

F. N. Wright, of San Francisco, Cal., tells her experience: "I was 20 years old before I ever knew the taste of coffee, and before I commenced drinking it I never was troubled in the least with nstipation, but after drinking coffee for one year I became constipated to such a degree that I had to resort to drugs to After three years drinking coffee I had cultivated a chronic state of constipation other annoying symptoms became ifest. The first thing in the morning I had a headache come on, a feeling of nausen, and these symptoms would per-sist until I had drunk a quantity of coffee. At first I did not associate these symptoms with the habit of coffee drinking. I thought my system must be run down, and I felt glad that coffee, instead of prescribed drugs would relieve the weakness. Like many people, I did not reason from cause to effect.

"About this time I had an elderly nurse in my employ, who complained every morning of similar symptoms, and when I suggested mineral water, for her biliousness, she said, 'Nothing in the world but my coffee will relieve me when I feel so badly. My husband be-gan to complain, if he did not get his coffee at a certain time, of queer tions in the stomach and head. came alarmed at these coincidences, and came to the conclusion that coffee had as strong a hold on us as whiskey has with the veriest drunkard. About this time I was taken ill with inflammatory rheu-matism and the two doctors who attended me told me I would have to stop drink-ing coffee or remain a cripple, as they could not treat me if I persisted in using drug stronger than the drug I needed. "My husband and I agreed to try an experiment and commenced the use Postum Food Coffee. The effect was mar-velous and taught us some valuable truths, and now we would not touch a cup of coffee for anything. His business demands the utmost concentration of brain force continuously. He now looks like a new man; he has had no headaches or billous attacks for some months, and digests all his food without any distress. I feel sure that he would have been a wreck if he had kept on with coffee.

"After I began using Postum I soon recovered from my attack of rheumatism, and in a few weeks I bould walk about again. I am no longer troubled with con-stipation, headachee, nausea or rheuma-tism. I firmly believe that the continued use of coffee becomes in time as hurtful to the human system as alcoholic stimulants. I know my case and my husband's both demonstrate this clearly."
