SUSPECTED OF ROBBING A WOMAN .- P. W. Edwards, an ex-convict, was arrested yesterday by Detectives Ford and Cordano on suspicion of being implicated in the larceny of $67 from a young woman who lives in a house on Hood street near Carruthers. She and Edwards occupied different rooms in the same house, and when she mised her money, stolen from her room, Edwards was picked up on suspicion, although he denies the charge. In August, 1899, Edwards was arrested by Policeman Jamieson charged with holding up and robbing a Swede on Front and Columbia streets. He was convicted and sentenced to two and one-half years' imprisonment at the state penitentiary.

SPANISH-AMERICAN VETERANS TO MEET. —A call has been issued by E. W. Moore, commander, and J. J. Kennedy, adjutant, of Camp Harrington, No. 201, Spanish-American War Veterans Association, for all members of that association to meet Wednesday evening, October 8, at the A. O. U. W. hall, Second and Taylor streets. It is desired to make arrange-ments for a "night attack" in order to raise funds to defray the cost of the monument and to furnish rooms at the various hospitals for the sick veterans returning from the Philippines. The meeting will not be confined to business, for refreshments will be served and a general good time is promised.

NOT PARTICULAR ABOUT THE HONESTY. An old-time citizen who arrived home a few daye ago after several years' absence from Portland, met at the depot as always having been "willing to make an honest dollar." "Well, John," he asked, "are you still rustling after that honest dollar?" "Yes," was the reply, "but, confidentially, between you and me, my principal object these days is to get hold of the dollar. Shall Freight Cars Operate on Oregon City's Main Streets or Not?

OREGON CITY, Oct. 5.—(Special.)—
The people of this city are in the midst of a red hot discussion as to whether or not a franchise granting permision to the Oregon Water Power & Railway Company to operate freight and express trains on Main street should be given by the council, which holds an adjourned regular session tomorrow night to consider the matter. At present the situation has resolved itself into one where the maresolved itself into one where the ma-jority of the property owners of the improved portion of Main street object to the granting of a franchise and the merchants and large manufacturing in-dustries are with the railway company. When the proposed ordinance was first presented to the council last month it was referred to a committee of the whole headed by Mayor Dimick and their report will be given to the council tomorrow night. The ordinance as amended gives the company the right to operate a single or double track railway on Main street, and upon Third street from the right of way of the Oregon & California Railroad Company to the Willamette River, with Company to the Willamette River, with the privilege of operating freight and ex-press cars over these streets. No freight or express matter shall be discharged on Main street except at a depot which must be provided by the company, but it may be discharged on Third street west of Main street. The company is limited as to its running time of freight cars, the ordinance providing that only one round ordinance providing that only one round trip of not exceeding three attached cars shall be run between 7 A. M. and 12 M of each day; only one round trip of not exceeding three attached cars between 12 M. and 7 P. M. Between 9 P. M. and 7 A. M. cars may be run as often as the business of the company may require. The license is fixed as follows: First five years, $300 per year; second five years, $400; third five years, $500; for the remaining ten years of the life of the franchise. $600 per year. This is a brief summary of the important provisions of the ordinance which is creating so much discus-

It is interesting at this time to pub-ilsh the names of the property owners who object to the granting of the fran-chise and who have signed a remonstrance which states that the railway company now has a freight franchise and it is abusing its privilege to the detriment of the property owners. The re-monstrance is couched in strong language and goes on to say:

The most of us have been property-owners on Main street for many years, and have paid our taxes and have been assessed for street improvements so that we might have one street in the city on which business might be done. We feel that some consideration is due us in the matter, and the one business street which has cost us so much to build should not be given to any railway company to run freight trains over, to the damage and destruction of our business interests. We have no hesitancy in saying that the granting of a franchise by which freight trains will be allowed to run which freight trains will be allowed to run over Main street will seriously injure business on the street. We further feel that we who have invested our money in property on Main street and have tried to build up the business interests of the city are entitled to more consideration than any railway company, whose only interest in the matter is to get what it can out of the city, regardless of any injury it may cause to property owners or business.

get hold of the dollar. I am not so particular as I used to be and if I can get the dollar I am satisfied to take the chances as to whether the man I got it from came by it honestly or not."

Admiral Clark Testimonial Committee will hold an important meeting this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the directors' room of the Ainsworth National Bank. As the renewed movement to raise the testimonial fund is in fine condition, it is a good time for those who have not yet subscribed to come forward and identify themselves with the successful issue of the effort made. Contributions will be received at the meeting, or may be handed to Treasurer W. M. Ladd, at Ladd & Tilton's Bank, at any time, the sooner the better.

Buchner Was an Odd Fellow.— They argue that if the amount of license the requirements of the ordinance. saloon in Oregon City pays $400 per year and the property owners think that a large corporation should pay more for such a privilege as this franchise bestows than a sulcon.

The Oregon Water Power & Railway Company now has two suits pending in the courts. A temporary injunction restraining the city officials from interfering with the road in any way was obtained in the county court and this was modified by the Circuit Court but not dissolved. The Adams case, upon which the county court and the restriction whether the framphism rests the question whether the franchise heretofore granted to the company is valid, is in the stages of appeal. This franchise is held void by Judge McBride on the ground that it was passed at an adjourned meeting of the regular meeting at which it was introduced, contrary to the provisions of the charter. It is said that Fred S. Morris, who controls the Oregon Water Power & Railway Company, will readily agree to a dismissal of these cases if the council will give his road a new franchise. The remonstrators take the position that he should have the case dismissed before, asking for additional privileges. The petition to the council askin gfor the passage of the franchise ordinance the passage of the franchise ordinance is brief and in substance states that the petitioners believe that it would be beneficial to the interests of the city for the company to be given a franchise under which freight and express matter may be carried. ## IN MEMORY OF MRS. BOOTH Salvation Army Holds Service in Honor of Its Mother.

Memorial services commemorative of Mrs. General Booth, who died 12 years ago at Clapton, Engiand, were held last night at the Salvation Army barracks at Third and Davis streets. Mrs. Booth may well be considered the mother of the Sal-vation Army and the street. vation Army, and the great work that she accomplished during her lifetime is held up as a model to the Salvation Army workers all over the world. The services were in charge of Major Dubbin, who took for his text, "Let me die the death of the righteous." Among other things, he said:
"Mrs. McKinley, the mother of the martyred President, desired that he should have been a preacher, but it was ordered otherwise. Still in his death he preached a sermon to which the world listened, and that will live forever when he said: 'Not my will, but Thine, be done.' A like lesson was taught to the world by Mrs. Booth on her deathbed by her resignation, fortitude and the immense funeral which followed her remains to the grave."

Major Dubbin related the manner of Those who saw "The District Attorney" at the Baker Theater yesterday witnessed a first-rate play, competently acted in every particular. In some ways the performance was notable. Mr. Bernard's work in the role of Matthew Brainard, the gray-haired villain, was so very clever as to waken admiration, and Mr. Russell found the ideal of dramatic art for the space that it took him to pronounce two short lines.

The story is of a District Attorney elected by politicians to do their will. He attempts to make good his promises to the ublic of a clean administration, and in that attempt he convicts his wife's father of fraud and of willfully permitting an innocent man to spend 15 years in prison to shield his own guilty head.

Melodramatic as is the plot, it loses all the outward marks of the melodrama from the careful, quiet setting. Special pains have evidently been taken to avoid suggestion of consequences and to emphasize the passion of the moment in its relation to other passions, not to the final

Mr. Wyngate fairly loses himself in a manful role, and from first to last does excellently. Miss Countiss has an arduous part, and, while she stumbles occasionally, she does not miss the road very much. Probably the fourth act showed her at her best and worst. Miss Esmond is a very simple and effective Helen Knight, and her dress is a marvel of suggestion of the poor and honest girl. With a little comedy and a little caricature, Mr. Mower did capitally in his presentation of General Ruggles, the editor of the reform paper. Mr. Dill was so good in Vernon Holt that his excellent acting as Corrigan was somewhat of a disappointment. Mr. Siddle, who also played two parts, was consistently fair, though a stiffness natural to him hampers the full effect of his lines. As Mc-Grath, Mr. Morris was sufficiently truculent and Ninth-Ward-like to give him a share of the hisses accorded the villain. Madge Brainard, as depicted by Miss Rhoads, won more hearts than the one assigned her in the play. Miss Rhoads is a fickle persen, who is most charming when the least is expected of het.

"The County Fair" at the Marquam The advance sale of seats will open toomorrow morning at 10 o'clock for "The County Fair," which will be presented in this city one night only, Thursday, October 9, at the Marquam Grand Theater, Mr. Nell Burgess positively appearing in his original role of Abigail Erue. Three imported race horses are used in the race scene, and both jockles and animals show an exuberant zeal in this mimic struggle. an exuberant zeal in this mimic struggle, that had necessitated emphatic lecturing and constant rehearsal for producing the required result. As soon as they strike the revolving stage and begin moving, the horses are selzed with an all too natural spirit of emulation, the riders also feeling spirit of emiliation, the riders also feeling the spur of rivalry a little more than is requisite. It is fairly possible for the best man and mount to win, and it has taxed all the stage manager's disciplinarian energy to check a genuine scramble for first place. Tim and Cold Molasses have to win, else Miss Abby's mortgage will not be lifted, but the others suffer awfully in holding down to the in holding down to the programme.

Sousa's Band Coming to the Marquam The attraction at the Marquam Grand Theater Friday afternoon and night, October 10, will be Sousa and his famous concert band. The advance sale of seats open Wednesday morning at 10

In spite of some terrific scenes, there is little in "Down Mobile," now at Cordray theater, to endanger the health of those suffering from cardiac weakness. Mr. Carter, the author, is to be congratulated carter, the author, is to be congratulated upon the sobriety, calmness and simplicity of his plot. The incidents include shootings, perjuries, blasphemics, ravishings, hideous intrigues and a brilliant case (fully proven) of arson. Yet the most delicate individual could find no fault with the atmosphere of Sabbath etillness that broods over the whole performance. The acting is guite up to the standard. The acting is quite up to the standard set by the lines and situations and the only possible criticism would turn on the

WILL TEST SALOON LAW.

Four Men to Be Tried for Giving Away Drinks.

The four saloon-keepers who were arrested by the police early yesterday morning, charged with keeping open their places of busines after 1 o'clock A. M. will probably have a hearing before Municipal Judge Hogue this afternoon, when the ordinance governing the case will be tested, and it is just possible a decision may be rendered as to the saloon-keepers' contention that they can sell a lunch after 1 o'clock A. M. and give a glass of eer free of charge.

It was stated yesterday that one lawyer It was stated yesterday that one lawyer had told the saloon people to go ahead and keep open, as it was not possible that a jury would convict the liquor-dealers on such a proposition. He advised his clients that they were not selling the beer, but giving it away. On the other hand, the police assert that under city ordinance No. 1890, no alternatives. No. 16904, no saloon-keeper or his agent can give away beer from 1 A. M. until Section No. 6 of the ordinance referred to says:

"No licensed liquor-dealer shall in his salon, barroom, drinking-shop or place salon, barroom, drinking-shop or place . . . sell or give or permit to be sold or give away any intoxicating liquors to any person siready intoxicated, or to any person under the age of majority, or to any person between the hours of 1 o'clock A. Another lawyer who was seen stated:
"Any person who sells a lunch in a liquor saloon after 1 o'clock A. M. is 'trying to saidon after I o'clock A. a. is trying to evade ordinance No. 10904, and ought to be punished accordingly. If the saloon men do not want to pay a fine, they had better keep closed after I o'clock A. M." Various customers of the saloons where the arrests took place were interviewed last night, and they were indignant at what they called the revival of an old blue law. One man said: "We might as well be living in Puritan New England. I feel that if I wish a glass of beer after 1 o'clock and am able to pay for it, it is nobody's business but my own."

"Buy the beer the night before," suggested a listener, but the veteran only Other men who were seen said that their business was such that they worked until an early hour in the morning, and that they had been accustomed to ge a lunch, washed down with beer, on their way home. Women generally were glad that the all-night saloons were closed, as they can now except their with closed, as they can now expect their male relatives home earlier in the evening.

Other saloon men are complaining through lack of trade, to pay their $400 license?" iIe also argued that the profits he made during the day and early evening only sufficed to pay his rent. salaries

ATTACKS OLD CHURCHES. Teacher of Dowleism Holds Forth in Portland.

The Christian Catholic Church in Zion better known as the Dowleites, held services yesterday afternoon in their hall, at Grand and Hawthorne avenues. The church has no ordained pastor, but the leader of the meeting, C. H. Merryman, delivered a sermon attacking the ortho-dox denominations and explaining the workings of Dowielsm.

workings of Dowielsm.

"Too little credit is given to the Bible," he said, "in the newspapers and elsewhere. I often see quotations in our papers from the Bible, but the writer almost invariably falls to give credit to the source of his thought." In speaking of the Roman Catholic Church, he said that that church was the mother of all the denominations, and then it had a few more denominations, and that it had a far more effectual hold on the hearts of the people than any of the Protestant churches.

"We are too apt to speak of everything-and everybody as being 'all right.' It is an expression which we hear constantly. The people to whom this is applied are more likely to be all wrong than 'all right.' In the same way many doctrines are said to be 'all right.' When we were 'kids' we were always told that when we died we should go to hell. God is every-where, watching over both the just and the unjust, and He will not allow His people to suffer in such a way.
"That miserable denomination to which once belonged, the United Brethren, is trying to induce other struggling church-es to join it, but they have not yet become united themselves."

In speaking of the crusade against vice now going on in the city, he said:

"This fight against gambling is nothing but blow and bluster; in fact, it is nothing but a fittle preachers' row. Chaplain Gilbert, who went with the soldiers to the Philippines and actually fought against the natives now presents to be against the natives, now pretends to be teaching the people the Word of God." The speaker told of the seriousness of

The speaker told of the seriousness of taking the oath of Dowleism. "When you take the oath." he said, "the church henceforth becomes the main proposition in your life. Family ties must be subordinated. You must remember that the Christian Catholic Church in Zion is a very different proposition from that little bushwhacking mission, the St. John's holiness outfit, and, once taken up, it becomes the leader of one's life."

R. will begin here tomorrow and with the meetings of the various organizations affiliated with the main body will continue until now Sweet Swe until next Sunday. Preparations for the gathering are complete and Washington is ready to entertain the throng, which will make the city their headquarters during the week. The local committees have taken every precaution for the safe-ty of life and limb and the housing of those who will be unable to find hotel accommodations. For indigent veteran large tents have been erected on the white lot and several floors of the new government printing office have been utilized. Great crowds of visitors have been pouring into the city throughout the day and at the rallroad stations it is said that the number of persons coming to the encampment is greater than eve before was brought to the city. Early last night it began to rain and this forenoon it poured in torrents, later giving way to a slow drizzle. Probably fair weather is predicted by the weather bureau for tomorrow. The business houses and private residences along Pennsylvan-la avenue and other main thoroughfares of the city have been appropriately dec-orated for the encumpment season. The display of flags and bunting is very

Tomorrow there will be an automobile parade, a regatti on the Potomac River, the dedication of Camp Roosevelt on the white lot, at which Secretary of State John Hay will make the chief address, and a grand camp fire at Convention hall. Tuesday the naval parade will take up the morning, while the afternoon and ev-ening will be devoted to receptions and reunions. Wednesday will occur the big parade of the G. A. R. and in the even-ing a number of receptions will be held. On Thursday, Friday and Saturday will occur the meetings of the National encampment and the various auxiliary bodies and also reunions and receptions, A fitting preliminary to the gatherings of the veterans at Camp Roosevelt during encampment week was the holding of a religious service this afternoon and tonight in Grant tent. The rain interfered with the attendance, yet many veterans were present. Tonight the exercises were under direction of the Young Men's Christian Association. This morning Commander-in-Chief Torrence and members of his staff at-tended religious services at the New York Avenue Presbyterian church. They occupied the President Lincoln pew. Then they were guests of Mrs. John A.

Logan at a dinner.

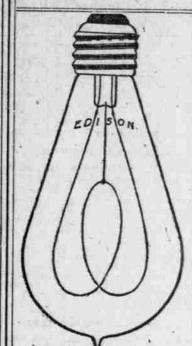

President Can't Review Parade. WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—President Roosevelt will not review the parade of the G. A. R., for which it was expected he would occupy the reviewing stand in front of the White House. The official statement issued last night that he would have to exercise extreme care indicated that it would be impossible for him to review the veterans, and the direct state-ment that he will not do so was made on official authority today. The President has not yet been able to rest his foot on the floor, and his physicians have forbid-den him overtaxing his strength as he has done in the past. done in the past.

GAMBLER'S VIEW OF CASE Has Family to Support and Must Keep Up Business.

"I have a wife and two children to support," said a well-known gambler-"I have a wife and two children to support," said a well-known gambler—who has been in business here many years—yesterday, "and I have got to do something as long as I stay here." He went on to say that the authorities complained that suppression of gambling did not suppress it, which was true, as there were more gamblers who, like himself, hed families to support and they were obliged to keep doing business. obliged to keep doing business.

He was surprised, he said, to think that the scheme of fining gamblers has been
