FOURTH PLACE SURE

Portland Lands There in Pennant Race.

SCORES THIRD SHUT-OUT, 3 TO 0

Inability to Hit the Foxy Mr. Slagle-One Run in the Past Thirty-six Innings and None in Twenty-

For the third time in succession Portland was yesterday shut out by the fate-ful scohe of 3 to 0. The Helena team repeated its performance of the day before, and now the Webfooters are in fourth place to stay, at least until after the records of the season of 1902 have faded away. Well, in it all there is one satisfaction, that is, as long as the team cannot head the first divisoin and get the pennant it can carry off the honors in the second di-vision. Since the team made il runs in last Thursday's game with Butte, the boys have made but one tally. One run in 38 innings and none in 27—there is certainly something wrong with the batting eyes belonging to the dozen or more baseball players who turn out in the gray uniforms players who turn out in the gray uniforms of the Portland club. Cheer up! Cherries are not ripe, but there are still four more games to be played. Maybe the team can

Yesterday the Portland sphere-chaser again demonstrated their inability to hit the ball. Six Webfoots came to the bat and either fanned the air at Siagle's curver or else stood still and let his straight balls sail over the plate. In all but eight Portland men got on the bases—three on hits, three on errors, one on a pass and Manager Vigneux because the ball just tipped his finger. Two of these men were nailed trying to steal second, and two ore were forced out at the same bag The four others were left on the bases, and not one of them got to third. On the other hand, George Engle, in the box for the locals, was hit hard and often, and his strike-out arm came far from be-Twice did the Heleny batters land on him for earned runs, and these, with one coupled with Anderson's error, gave the visitors all and more than they needed. As usual, the fielding honors went to the locals, and the boys in gray did some fast, snappy playing, Anderson caught several men at first after Engle had let the ball go through his fingers, see Engle, Weed and Stovall together nade a speedy double. Weed got in an unassisted double, but there was nothing fast about it. On the contrary, it was a case of some very stupid base-running on the part of one Thiery, who had reached second. Single sent a fly to Weed and Thiery made a run for third and did not try to return to second, although he had

Helena started in the scoring business in the second, when Sullivan was given life at first by Anderson's error. Hanni-van sacrificed him to second. Shaffer came up with his telephone-pole bat, and lined the ball out to Weed, who fielded it nicely but could not recover himself in time to get either Sullivan at third or Shaffer at Sullivan scored on Thiery's rap to right field, which came near to being fieldd in time to retire the side.

Peoples opened the fourth by putting a fly into the right garden out of reach of the fielders. Shaffer ran for him and was the helders. Shaffer ran for him and was put on second by Holly's sacrifice. A hit to center field sent Mr. "Happy Hoollgan" scurrying across the plate ahead of Van Buren's short throw home. A hit to short put Thiery on first in the fifth, and a sacrifice sent him along a notch further. Slagle got in a lucky hit which landed on the left field foul line, and while Muller was expecting Lynch to call "foul" Slagle got along to second and stayed there, Schmeer rapped a smart grounder to Weed, Schmeer rapped a smart grounder to Weed, and before that worthy could get it to the plate Thiery had scored. Peeples and Holly were retired before any more damage could be done.

If the pitchers are taking their regular turns at the slab work, today's contest should be a David and Goliath affair, with the long, lean and lanky Wiggs in the box for Helena and the diminutive Mr. Kostal doing the stunt for Portland. Yesterday's score:

SEATTLE, Oct. 8 .- (Special.) - Johnson was easy enough today, but Wellington was a snap. When Seattle grew tired of swatting the ball, the big fellow who succeeded Johnson filled the bases with his wild ones, and in one inning gave the locals a run without permitting any of them to even touch the ball. He filled the bases with yellow ticket men and allowed one of them to register on a wild pitch. Ten to one was the final count. , The affair this afternoon was a batting matinee, in which Seattle made up for all the games in which Dugdale's men falled to make the circuit often enough to win. They drove Johnson to the bench in the fifth, and Manager Andrews sent Wellington out to bring the Tigers home. Wellington had plenty of steam and curves, but neither was on the variety that located the plate, so the picnic con-tinued. When they came over, Seattle hit them: when Wellington kept the ball away, Seattle men walked Tacoma put a crippled team into the field, for three regular men were out nursing bruises. Andrews took his medicine chest into the grandstand and gave Ikey Rokenfield the third corner. Chick Fisher was unable to limp out to the park, so Nagle was dragged in from the outfield to second, and Treadway was given an afternoon's work in the Ira Harmon, who pitched the day before, filled a star engagement in left gar-den, and to complete the change of bill Andrews introduced Jack Flannery's castoff, Wellington, for the last half of the game. There was never any doubt about the final result, for the locals hopped onto Johnson as soon as the curtain raised. They collected three runs off a batting rally that held good during the innings to come. Klopf's spectacular stop of a drive inside the third base line was the fielding feature of the game.

JUDGE MORROW'S DECISION ON OREGON KING MINE.

Covers the Vital Point in the Case Which Governed the Verdict of the Jury.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 8.—(Special.)— Judge Morrow, of the United States Cir-cuit Court of Appeals, reversed the deciof the lower court in the Oregon King Mine case, on the ground of errone ous instruction to the jury by the judge in the lower court, in regard to the mark-ing of the boundaries. The District Judge in charging the jury said that the boundaries should be so marked by monuments daries should be so marked by monuments that anybody going on the ground could readily find them, but Judge Morrow ruled that it is not necessary for the locator to erect monuments, the specific purpose of which shall be obvious to everybody who passes over the ground.

(This evidently refers to the claim marks of G. M. Wilson, from whom the Oregon King Mining Company derived title. I could not refer to the claim of Plaintif Brown, for that would inevitably lead to reaffirmation of the judgment of the lower court. Brown alleged that he eslower court. Brown alleged that he es-tablished a mining claim on practically the same ground previously taken by Wilson, and that Wilson's marks had not been sufficiently definite and plain to indicate that he held the property. On that theory Brown's claim would be good and those holding under Wilson would be ousted; and that was the result of the trial in Judge Bellinger's court. But Judge Morrow evidently held that Wilson's marks were sufficient to put other proe-pectors on notice, and therefore sufficient to destroy the good faith of Brown's lo That was the point upon the case hung. Ever since Manager Dugdale Schwartz to the clubhouse and refused to let the little captain play second base, be cause he was in no condition to play with his bad knee, trouble has been expected. The following from a Seattle paper shows what happened:

what happened:

Manager Dugdale has suspended Charile Schwartz, formerly second baseman and captain of the Scattle team, for insubordination. The other day, when Babbitt had to leave the game on account of sickness, the manager asked Schwartz to go into right field and allow Campbell to come in and take Babbitt's place. Schwartz refused, saying that if he could not play second base, he would not play at all. Mr. Dugdale promptly asked for the uniform, and Schwartz has since been a spectator at the game.

Even when in his best form Schwartz canno have been in his best form schwartz cannot play second base with Hulen, and it would have been the height of folly to place him there in a crippled condition, when there is a man like Hulen to play the bag. If the sounding-board is rightly made and set, it will take up the tone and add to it volume, strength and vibrancy. If these are not right, alas, the keys will click, there will be a metallicring to the tone, and a fishness and general disappointment to the sound of the instrument. All depends on its make and material. These carefully selected and properly seasoned, shaped and combined are what constitute a good plano.
