JOBBERS HAD GOOD WEEK

HEAVY TRANSACTIONS IN LINES OF MERCHANDISE.

Grocery List Has Upward Tendency—Hops Firm and Active—In the Produce Markets.

The jobbing trade had another successful week of it, with an immense volume of business passing, especially in merchandise lines. In produce transactions the activity was less even. This was particularly the case with fruits, as it is between seasons in this line, and a busy day is frequently followed by a quiet one. Saturday being a Jewish holiday, a number of the grocery and commission houses were closed, and Front street in the afternoon had a deserted look.

The principal item of interest in the produce line was the announcement from the East that cranberries had advanced $1 per barrel. The rise has not affected the Portland market yet. Peaches have been in good supply, and receipts of grapes have been heavy, not only from California, but from the East as well. Oregon grapes from around Forest Grove are on the market. Tomatoes have been coming in pretty strong, and have not cleaned up very well.

The poultry market was oversupplied most of the week, and more or less will be carried over for this week's opening. Prices are down to a reasonable basis, but even at that it is necessary often to shade to make sales. Eggs continued firm during the week, advancing to 27½c for fancy ranch, storage selling at 22½@24c. Butter and cheese were both strong.

The hop market was unusually active and firm during the week, and there was no let up in trading Saturday, between 500 and 600 bales being sold on the closing day at 22c and 23c. Growers are anxious to sell at the ruling prices. There were no new developments in Eastern or foreign advices Saturday.

Prices in the grocery line are generally upward. Beans advanced twice in the week, whites now being quoted at 4½c. Canned fruits are strong under a good demand. With the exception of peaches and pears, stocks are pretty well cleaned out of first hands, and on many lines prices have been withdrawn. All grades of apricots except standards are very scarce. The European demand for apricots has been much heavier than was expected. Tomatoes are strong. The pack in California will be large, but the shortage in the East is heavy. As it looks now, all canned vegetables will hold strong throughout the season. The Maine corn crop is only about one-third the normal, and nearly every other heavy-producing canned vegetables state reports a shortage.

Meat prices ruled steady, with a good movement. Side meats are away up, and other provisions are strong. Lard showed a decline.

The week closed with a fairly active wheat market, exporters quoting the prices give below as the proper figures for exporting prices. At the same time, wheat has sold at an advance over the exporters' quotations.

EASIER ON CROP REPORT

BUT GOOD BUYING ORDERS LATER GAVE STRENGTH TO MARKET.

St. Louis Was Reported as Being on the Buying Side, and Shorts Covered Freely.

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—Wheat opened easier on what was considered a bearish Government crop report, together with weakness in corn. Markets in the Northwest, however, were strong, and with good buying orders from that source, commission houses turned active buyers and the market here became strong. St. Louis was also reported as being on the buying side, and shorts covered freely. December opened ⅛@¼c lower, at 69⅝@69¾c, advanced steadily to 70⅜c, where it closed with a gain of ⅜c.

Corn was active. The opening was easy on bearish statistics, but predictions of rain caused a firmer feeling. December closed strong, a shade higher, at 47⅝@47¾c.

Oats opened weak, with general liquidation by longs, influenced by the large increase in the crop as shown by the Government report, which indicated the crop would be the largest on record. December closed ½@⅝c lower, at 31⅝@31¾c.

Provisions were steady, with higher prices for hogs and light receipts at the yards. January pork and lard gained 15c, and ribs 7½@10c.
