Athletics Capture Association Pennant by Narrow Margin-Pittsburg Has Walkaway-Milwaukee Wins Western.

The seasons of the principal baseball leagues throughout the United States have all been brought to a close, and the pennant-winners decided. The only exception is the California League, which has sev-eral weeks more to run, with Oakland virtually the winner. The season of 1902 has been successful in most of the leagues and has been prolific of many close races. The American League.

The organization that attracted the bulk of the attention of the baseball world was the major American League. That league opened its second campaign April 39, and from start to finish the race was one of the most remarkable in the history of major leagues. Every one of the eight clubs was in the race at one time or another, and for two months Philadelphia, St. Louis, Boston and Chicago had a nerve-racking struggle. The final vic-tory of the Athletic team, which for half the senson appeared to have but little ing, and added greatly to the financial success of the league. Cleveland finished in fifth place at the head of the second division, after a remarkable season. The team started in with bright prospects, but rapidly fell to the bottom of the list. Then and Flick, the club soon rose to fifth place, and after a hard fight barely missed landing in the first division. Detroit is the only team in the league that under-went any financial loss. The final standing of the clubs, which has a range of less than 100 points in the percentages of those in the first division, is:

Pittsburg had even a g	renter	walk-	away

In the race this year than it did in 1901 In fact it was a race in name only. Pitts-burg had the pennant well in hand at the start, owing to the weakness of the other teams, caused by the wholesale raids made upon them by the American League Clubs. The 29th campaign of the National League opened April 17, and Pittsburg wor 108 games, a record-breaker for a cham-pionship team. The only race in the league was among Brooklyn, Boston, Cincinnati and Chicago for second place, and after a hard struggle they finished in the order named, with but 50 points' range in their standings. Financially the success of this league did not compare with that of the American. Pittsburg, New York, Chicago and St. Louis all made money; Brooklyn broke about even; Cincinnati lost slightly, while Boston and Philadelphia came out heavy losers. The follow

Western League. Kansas City captured the penpant at the end of the third season of the Western League after an exceedingly close race. Omaha appeared to be the winner until the season was two-thirds over, when Mil-waukee came up from the bottom and took the lead. Then Denver went into the top place. When the season lacked but two weeks of completion, Kansas City took the bit between its teeth and wor three points behind. Three more points down the list found Milwaukee in third place, and a drop of 10 more showed Denver. This is one of the closest basebal races in history. American Association.

This year marked the first season of the outlaw American Association. The race was between Indianapolis and Louisville, and was so close that it was necessary for the two teams to complete their season's schedule by playing three games each on the last day. These two teams were really the only ones in the race. The associa tion enjoyed a very successful season, finished in good shape all around, and will be in the field again next season. The Southern League.

Sporting Life gives the following ac-

'The second annual campaign of the Southern League ended with Nashville again the pennant-winner by even larger percentage than last year, when the strug was so close that the pennant was in doubt until the final series with Little Rock. This year the race was between Nashville, New Orleans and Little Rock from start to finish, and for the last two months of the season Nashville maintwined so great a lead as to leave no doubt of the final result. No club outside the three mentioned had even a look-in for the pennant. The remaining five team were so much outclassed as to make the race the remaining teams, and could only finish a poor fourth. The season was spoiled in its latter half by the contumacy of the Memphis club, which persisted in playing Vrain, the reserve-jumping pitcher, and Babb and Evans, the American Association deserters, in defiance of the or-ders of the National board and of the Southern League; and which club further involved itself and the league in vexatious, expensive and needless litigation conceivable purpose, inasmuch as the players were not worth the sacrifice of money and principle entailed by the long physical and legal struggle against law and order in baseball. Following is the complete record of the season without regard to the complications caused by the

Building Without Permits.

Deputies of the City Engineer have been at work the past few days securing the names of contractors and others for vio lating the ordinance requiring people who are erecting houses or making repairs or alterations to take out building permits. Some people, many of whom are contractors, appear to believe that it is not necessary to secure a permit unless they use the streets, and many of them begin work without authority and the city loses the $1 fee. The inspectors will eall upon all the contractors who are working with-out permits, and inform them of the re-quirement of the ordinance. If the permits are not taken out promptly, the of-fenders will be placed under arrest, as has been done in the past.

The Cathedral Fair in Merrill's Cyclery was crowded to the doors last night, and all the numbers in the musical programme were received with generous ap-plause. For the most part, interest centered around the voting contests for the most popular railway and street-car conductors. The demand which transportation companies and a number of other important industries make that their employes remain etricity temperate has resulted in a movement which probably accounts for more real temperance reform than could be gained
