THE BAKER THEATER (cor. Third and Yamhill)-Tonight at 5:15, a correct pro-duction of Hall Caine's powerful play, "The Christian": presented by the incomparable Neill Stock Company. COHDRAY'S THEATER—Tonight at 8:15; the little American beauty, Fles. Ryan, in Fred Darcy's new comedy-drams, "Nevada." A story of the Silver State.

Cost of Helmberger's Bad Words.—
Two different stories were told yesterday to Municipal Judge Hogue in the case wherein G. W. Stewart accused George Helmberger of having used abusive language toward him. Stewart testified, that he is employed by the Banfield-Veysey Fuel Company, and that while he was hauling wood from Inman, Poulsen & Co.'s mill, the defendant called him a bad name. "I don't remember that I did." mused Helmberger, in defense, "I didn't do it; at least, not to my knowledge." "Have you a bad memory?" asked the Judge. COST OF HELMBERGER'S BAD WORDS at least, not to my knowledge. Have you a bad memory?" asked the Judge. "No. sir." "Are you in the habit of calling people such names as are mentioned in the complaint?" "No." Two witnesses, who stated they worked under Helmberger's direction, testified that they have heard him apply an abusive epithet never heard him apply an abusive epithet "Helmberger called me a to anyone. Heimberger caned me aname and I smashed him. He had me arrested and I paid the fine," testified a youth named Bert Lowrie. "I find the defendant guilty," announced the Judge. "I do not believe he has told the truth, and he ought to be punished for this. But I hear that he has a wife and motherin-law to support. Helmberger, you are fined $15, and I now warn you to be choice in the use of your language. If this court hears that you go on swearing, you will the rock-pile." FAIR SPORT FOR HUNTERS.—Duck hunters generally report having enjoyed fair sport last Sunday, but some complain that the water was so low and the weather so fine that the ducks would not come and to be shot. Some hunters out on around to be shot. Some hunters out on the Columbia bottom abandoned the duck ponds and strolled away after pheasants, and did very well. Captain W. J. Riley and his son went up to near Haisey, by invitation, to shoot on a "market hunt-cr's" place. They found the birds pienti-ful and made fine strings. Captain Riley says that notwithstanding the uncompli-mentary things that have been said about mentary things that have been said about "market hunters," he wishes there were more of them, for they take care of the birds and have plenty on their places. On the place where he was shooting, Captain Riley says there were a third more birds than there were last year, and he visited the farms of several others who hunt for market, and there were lots of pheasants on each of them. Those farmers who do not hunt for market usually hunt for themselves, and too often begin killing as soon as the first brood of young pheasants is big enough to kill. Captain Riley says that the farmer who takes cafe of the pheasants on his place till the last part of the season may be allowed to shoot for market 15 days, and will still always have plenty of birds on his place.

HARD PULL ON WET PAVEMENT .- As a team of horses tried to drag a wagon laden with sawdust up Sixth street, past Alder street, about 1 o'clock yesterday, one of the horses slipped and fell on the wet asphalt pavement. The driver alighted, and with the assistance of two other men the fallen horse was assisted to its The poor animal was trembling in every limb. Then the driver mounted his wagon and tried to get his horses to ascend the hill. This time the other horse slipped and fell, but managed to regain his feet. "You'd better go up Seventh street, driver. It's a dirt road," bawled an elderly man. "It'll soon be an asphait street, though," said another man, By dint of infinite coaxing and careful handling, the team was induced to haul the vagon up Alder street to Seventh.

BETTER PAVEMENT ON FOURTH STREET. -The Southern Pacific Company has betorn up when the new track was laid last week on North Fourth street. A firm foundation of fine gravel is tamped down between the rails, and the blocks are laid on top, in the same manner as on the other parts of the street. Hot tar is soured in between them, and they are then spread over with a coating of sand from the Grant's Pass quarry. The blocks fit closely up to the small rails that were put in for a groove, and not the slightest jar is perceptible when a vehicle passes over. They make a much superior pave-ment to the boards that were laid between the rails for some time past, and will no doubt prove more economical to the company, as they will last longer.

WOOD BLOCKS WEAR WELL -- A number of Fourth street property-owners were at the intersection of Third and Washington streets yesterday morning, examining a lot of wooden blocks with considerable interest. These blocks were used in pay-ing the intersection of the car tracks there four years ago, and owing to the new grooved rail intersection being put in place there yesterday, they were all taken up. As they had been down so long the Fourth-street people were anxious to see how they had stood the test. It was found that there was not a rotten one among them, and this was held to show that the blocks treated with carbolineum will last well, and that it is not likely that Fourth street will have to be repayed in four or five years.

FISHERMEN MAKE SMALL CATCHES .- A large number of fishermen were out the first of the week, but no large catches of trout were reported. Many went up along the Columbia, above the Vancouver ferry, but had not much luck. They say the water in the Columbia is too low, and that the fish will blte after a rain. The con-verted bass fisherman was out after his new favorite, the "bullhead," and was the only satisfied fisherman seen. He says he caught 107 "catfish," and as they are larger now than ever before, he had to stop, as he had about as many as he could carry. He saw 40 other fishermen, and they had only two salmon trout between them. If they had any bass, they kept them out of sight.

Missionary Meeting Today.—The reg-ular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Mis-sionary Society of the First Congrega-tional Church will be held in the church pariors at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Mrs. A. P. Peck, of San Francisco, president of the Woman's Board of Missions of the Pacific, and formerly for many years a missionary in China, will address the meeting. Mrs. Peck is a ready and most interesting speaker. All are cordially in-vited to attend. BOYS ARRESTED FOR JUMPING ON TRAIN.-Two boys, Michael Cooney and J. Dorney, jumped on a Southern Pacific borney, jumped on a Southern Pacific train yesterday at Fourth and Ankeny streets, and they were quickly selzed and handed over to Policeman Patton, who took them to the police station. They were asked for security for their appear-ance at the Municipal Court, and they went to their homes and deposited their bicycles with the police.

bicycles with the police. THE FIRST of the series of housekeepers' conferences to be given by the Port-land School of Domestic Science will be held next Thursday at 2:30 P. M. in their new quarters, Fifteenth and Washington. All women interested are invited.

Since the railway franchise ordinances were introduced at the meeting of the Common Council two weeks ago, the 11 councilmen have been deluged with anonymous letters, advising them to vote against nearly all of the proposed laws. One councilman said yesterday that when he arrives at his office each morning he is almost afraid to open his mail, for he is certain that from one-third to one-half is certain that from one-third to one-half of the letters will contain either un-signed appeals or advice from his "constituent" to prevent the railway com-panies from securing all the streets in his in his ward, he would like to know why the unknown correspondent has singled him out for one of the Il targets. Council-man Albee, in whose ward a franchise has been asked, is another one of the sufferers. Mr. Albee says he has not heard any objection to the line except from the correspondent, and he does not know whether the anonymous writer is aiming his remarks at the proposed road in Albina, or at one of the nine other lines for which franchises have been asked. He says he and also the other councilmen are anxious to meet the gentleman who has given them so much unsolicited advice, for they wish to hear fully all the objections that may be offered against the ordinances. As for himself, he said, he would not consider any anonymous ommunications.

THE CATHEDRAL FAIR.—There was an mmense crowd at the Cathedral Fair last night at Merrill's cyclery on Sixth street. The musical entertainment, under direc-tion of Professor Epping, taken part in by members of the cathedral choir, proved not the least interesting of the attractions furnished. The contest for the two magnificent prizes, one for the most popular of the railway conductors, the other for the most popular of the street-car conductors, is very spirited, and the friends of all the contestants seem to have something up their sleeves that they are holding for the finish. The fair will continue all this week, and those who feel charitably disposed are invited to attend. The ladies will serve a noon lunch every day, and serve an excellent meal for 25 cents. The result of the conductor's contest last night was as follows: Railroad-Veatch, 100; Glendenning, 91; Dustin, 98. Street car-Johnson, 190; Ritter, 130.

MEET AGAIN AFTER MANY YEAPS.-City perintendent of Schools Rigier received call on Monday from one of the party of Eastern bankers who have been visit-ing the city. The caller proved to be Hugh Eastburn, of Doylestown, Bucks County Pa., a lawyer and banker. When Mr. Rigler was hunting for a position as teacher of a country school, 27 years ago, Mr. Eastburn was school superintendent of Bucks County, and Mr. Rigler came before him for his first examination and received his first certificate. They had not met for the past 26 years, but had kept track of each other. Mr. Eastburn got out of the school business and has become a banker, while Mr. Rigler is still connected with education matters and is not a banker.

TWO CASES OF SMALLPOX .- One of the two smallpox patients who have been in the County Hospital for some time was discharged the first of the week. At once two new cases were reported to Health Commissioner Biersdorf, who, on investigation, found the disease to be genuine, but of a light character. One of the sufferers was Thad Potter, an attorney, who had been practicing in court at Eugene, and had contracted the disease there. He and had contracted the disease there was quarantined. The other patient was Lawrence Olson, a laboring man, who was sent to the hospital. His wife, who also showed symptoms of the disease, was also showed symptoms of the disease, was isolated. Several cases of scarlet fever have been reported to the Health Commissioner lately

HORSE FALLS ON HARROW .- A distressing accident to a horse, which led to his death, took place yesterday on Front street, near Taylor. The horse, which was attached to a wagon, took fright and started to run away, and in his alarm fell on the upturned spikes of a harrow, in front of an agricultural store. He tore himself loose and ran down Front street to Washington and fell helpless, dripping with blood. The owner of the horse and Policeman Parker held a consultation, and as it was seen that the horse could not possibly recover, the animal was shot by Policeman Parker, to put him out of his misery. The horse's body was afterward removed to the city crematory.

> QUARTER BLOCK BRINGS $25,000-John Matthiesen, the proprietor of the Rhein-falz Hotel, has purchased the quarter-block at the southwest corner of Front and Madison streets, from W. Hoelbing for. $25,000. The property is occupied by two brick structures, one of one story and the other of two. The buildings were once in an excellent business location, but the trend of trade has left them behind, though for some purposes they are yet valuable. It is seldom that so extensive a piece of property in that part of town changes hands, and what disposition the purchaser intends to make of the ground could not be learned.

WHITE-HOT SALVATION CAMPAIGN.-In connection with Commander Booth's ar-rival in America, the Salvation Army will institute a "white-hot" campaign, and the opening maneuvers in Portland will be commenced next Saturday night at 8 o'clock, at the headquarters on Davis street, near Third. Colonel French, of San Francisco, will be in charge of the meeting. The programme will consist of meeting. The programme will consist of appropriate songs and addresses, and a baby will be given away. On Sunday at II A. M. there will be a holiness meeting at Barracks No. 2, on East Oak street, also conducted by Colonel French. The ward. As no franchises have been asked in his ward, he would like to know why the unknown correspondent has singled Alder, and on Monday there will be a grand rally at the Davis-street hall, being the Colonel's last meeting in the city. Oregon City, Salem, McMinnville and Corvallis will be represented at this meeting. Doughnuts and coffee will be served after each gathering, and no admission fee will CARRIAGE BUILDING SOLD -The purchase has been announced by the Meier & Frank Company of the three-story brick structure on the corner of Seventh and Taylor streets, now occupied by the United Car-The building was owned by Van B. De Lashmutt, and was erected several years ago at a cost of about $27,000. The Carriage Company has a lease that expires on the first of the year, and it will evidently be compelled to build a new structure or secure an option on an old one. The purchase price paid by the Meier & Frank Company is said to have been $35,000. At present it is not known to what use the structure will be de-voted, though it may still be used as a stable, to be occupied by the many delivery wagons of the department store.

BARBERS' BOARD ADJOURNS .- The Barpers' Board of State Examiners adjourned yesterday after a tour of inspection through the shops of the city and a visit to Oregon City. They have not yet de-cided just who have passed the state examination, but say that a good proportion of the applicants will be successful, After their tour last night they reported that they had found everything in good shape, "The barbers heard that our board was to meet," they said, "and were was to meet," they said, "and were cleaned up and ready for us. When they know that we are coming after them they are on their best behavior. There are a few places we have not seen yet, but some of us will make the tour complete and see that all of the shops are in good shape."

THROWN OUT OF BUGGT.-A horse driven Second and Jefferson streets, took fright last night on First street, near Main, and started to run away. Before he had gone many yards ideiman was pitched out of the buggy and badly stunned, but after being cared for at a neighboring drug store, was able to proceed to his ho street for a time yesterday, when Mrs. Trenkman and her mother returned from shopping expedition and found that burglars had been preparing to run away with about $100 worth of their belongings. They had returned in time, however, and the thleves left their plunder to make good their escape. Upon returning home the two ladies went into one of the sleeping-rooms, and there found that all of the bureau drawers were taken out and ransacked. In the middle of the room lay an apron in which were piled silverware, cut glass, valuable articles of clothing and other plunder to the value of about $100. Of course the ladies were greatly alarmed and decided that a man must be summoned at once. George H. Howell, president of the Typographical Union, lives next door, and was the first man to enter their minds, and later to enter the house in quest of the bold, bad robbers. Excitement reigned supreme about that time, as no one knew that they had left the house.

"They are in the cellar," said one of the ladies, "I heard them go down there. Rush down and catch them, Mr. Howell." The president thought of the great work that he had on hand and of the ness and quiet. An open door at the back of the house showed where the rob-bers had escaped, and Mrs. Trenkman is now glad that she came home when she

"The Liberty Belles" at the Marquan last night proved to be a most entertain-ing affair. The music has been picked up ing affair. The music has been picked up everywhere, not always in the interests of noveity, and the girls are individually sweet and collectively stunning. The plot of the drama, if drama it may be called, is an extremely simple one, turning on the innate depravity of young women and curmudgeon uncles. The comedy opens in the dormitory of a female seminary and at night. A lot of pink humanity lies slumbering (in spite of the orchestra) until a maiden rushes in with news of a supper. Developments begin, and before long a midnight jam and pie feast is well long a midnight jam and pie feast is well under way. The tragic result gives a chance for everybody to look charming. Various things happen in the second act, among them some delicious foolery on the part of Harry Stuart as Jack Everleigh, a cadet at Annapolis, and of Percy Leach, as Phil Fullerton, Columbia, The young women are not far be hind, and Miss Marie Twohey, who lispa was very piquant. The last act is most-ly specialty work of much variety, and here Miss Millington as Dorothy Grey sang "Good Old Summer Time" in a way that brought the house to its feet. Encore after encore was greeted by new versions until finally Miss Millington took everybody into her confidence, and the house sang "Good Qld Summer Time" un-till it was entirely out of breath.

Among such a number of lovely maids there were none that disappointed expec-tations. While many of them played parts of no lines at all, they kept many eyes blinking at unaffected youth and beauty. One, Marie Twohey, "who lispe," has the true talent, and her im-pulsive, buoyant manner is indescribably fetching. Maybelle Adama played the violin nicely, and besides made a most wonderful chorus girl. She is blessed with the face and fewer of a lune and with the face and figure of a Juno and a demure, stately manner gives her the advantage over the ordinary fluttering femininity that poses and fidgets in most

COMING ATTRACTIONS. "King Dodo" at the Marquam.

"King Dodo," the pretty comedy opera which Mr. Henry W. Savage is exploiting this season, will be the attraction at the Marquam Grand Theater tomorrow, Fri-day night and Saturday matinee. "King Dodo" is one of the latest productions of Pixley and Luders, and it seems to have duplicated the success of their first piece,
"The Burgomaster." Author and composer have gone back 40 years for the title and inspiration of the opera. In music and libretto "King Dodo" is said to suggest the old style of Strauss-Offenhach creations, more than bach creations more than the modern musical comedy. In place of cakewalks and ragtime there are Amazon marches and conspirators' choruses. In the com-pany headed by Raymond Hitchcock are Cheridah Simpson, Flora Zabelle, Greta Risley, Margaret McKinney, Arthur Dea-gon, William Corliss, Arthur Wooley and Albert Juhre, A sprightly chorus of 50 well-trained voices and an augmented orchestra of master musicians make up most pretentious organization.
