

PLAY TO SETTLE

Way to Clear Irrigation Field.

ARBITRATION SUGGESTED

Fair to All the Interests in the Case.

WHO WILL PAY THE BILL?

President Lytle, of the Columbia Southern Railroad, suggests that his company and Portland citizens raise the money.

President Lytle, of the Columbia Southern Railroad, who is much interested in the Deschutes Valley occupied by settlers, is inclined to the belief that, if the Government will undertake extensive irrigation in that country, larger results will be accomplished than would flow from the enterprises now on foot under the Carey act.

"I think the matter should be taken up with the Pilot Butte Development Company on a square business basis," said Mr. Lytle yesterday. "It should be ascertained what will compensate the company for its expenditures, and then we should raise the money and buy the rights and property, leaving nothing in the way of Government action under the new law. I think that money should be raised by the citizens of Portland and the Columbia Southern Railroad, as the parties most interested in the development of that section of the state. Our company will gladly do its share."

"How should the amount be determined?" "Oh, that is a matter of detail that can easily be arranged. I would suggest a competent, disinterested board of arbitration or appraisal. Men of knowledge and sound judgment in irrigation matters may be found who, upon examination of the ground, and a statement of the legal status of the enterprise, can form a reliable estimate of its worth."

"There is considerable property belonging to the Development Company that has no direct bearing upon the matter of irrigation; for example, the houses and some other houses and quite a bit of land that does not require irrigation. The company might keep all that and simply let us have what would conflict with the Government work. It is possible, of course, that the Development Company might want to sell all or none, in which case I believe in taking all and paying a fair sum for it. Our return will come directly from the development of the country. I have no sympathy with the spirit that would induce party to come to our state and then to pinch it. No one will be injured with fair and reasonable treatment, and we certainly have the right to try to get the most favorable arrangements possible."

"This comes to the nearest to a definite proposal for settlement of the differences between the advocates of the two methods of irrigation that has yet been made. President A. M. Drake, of the Pilot Butte Development Company, was asked last night what he thought of President Lytle's suggestion."

"That comes as a refreshing surprise, viewing the seeming desire to confiscate our property and throw us out of the country," said Mr. Drake. "I am impressed with the spirit of fairness. If it is really found desirable to get us out of the field in order that the Government may operate there under the new law, I have no doubt that some such method as that suggested by Mr. Lytle will reach that end. But does anybody know that the Government would not be wiser to order his wedding tuxedo before the young man proposes?"

Mr. Drake deflected a minute, and then reached into his pocket and drew out a letter, which, he said, had been received from a gentleman whose advice he had asked for just such a situation as seemed to be in process of development. The letter ran in this wise:

LAWYERS SUE FOR FEES

Hume and Hall claim County should pay them extra.

The suit of W. T. Hume and John H. Hall against Multnomah County to recover $1250 alleged to be due on a contract to construct delinquent mortgage taxes, executed in 1897, was tried before Judge Cleland yesterday and taken under advisement.

The testimony disclosed that Mr. Hall several years ago argued and won a case in the United States Supreme Court, in which it was determined that foreign mortgage companies doing business in this state could be taxed on mortgages under the provisions of the mortgage tax law. The contract made by the county with Hume & Hall in 1888, in relation to taxes, had long expired when the suit in the court at Washington was heard and determined. Mr. Hall testified that he made a verbal contract with Judge H. H. Northrup and the County Commissioners in 1897 to try the case out, and was entitled to be paid.

Judge Northrup testified that he knew Hall was going to argue this case in the United States Supreme Court, as Mr. Hall told him he was going there to represent Multnomah County, and was aware that Hall obtained bonds from a number of taxpayers that they would abide by the decision in the County Court and pay the taxes due if the county won. The witness said he told Hall the county would have to be represented, and wanted the case won. There was no order made; they simply talked it over, and nothing was said about pay. Judge Northrup said there was no contract, unless these conversations and understandings might be construed as a contract.

Philo Holbrook, who was County Commissioner at that time, testified that under appeared before the County Commissioners frequently, and they talked this case over and agreed that the county must win it.

In summing up the case for the plain-iffs, counsel argued that these actions showed a sufficient employment. Hall won the suit, and the county as a result eventually collected a large amount of mortgages, and this claim for services should be paid.

HONOR TO THE CONSUL TO NIU QHWANG, CHINA.

Addresses on Conditions of the Orient and Possibilities of American Trade Expansion There.

Fifty-six gentlemen occupied seats at the dinner in honor of Hon. H. B. Miller, United States Consul at Ni Chwang, China, at the Portland Hotel last evening. It was a gathering of representative business men, and was designed to be in the way of recognition of Consul Miller's activity in the Orient as a commercial agent of the United States Government.

HORSETHIEF CAUGHT.

J. N. Burroughs, when arrested confessed to Escaping From Alcatraz.

J. N. Burroughs, alias George Wilson, Maurice Deverney, and three other names, an ex-convict from the Philippines, was arrested yesterday by Detectives Snow and Kerrigan charged with the larceny of two horses and a buggy, on the complaint of White Bros., of Woodburn. The prisoner was arrested on a description received, and he was taken entirely by surprise.

AMERICAN CONSUL AT NIU CHWANG.

Drawn from life by Lute Pease. H. B. MILLER.

"If I had only known that you wanted me, you fellows would never have taken me," he remarked to his captors, as they walked to the Police Station. He afterward admitted that the military authorities at the Presidio, Cal., want him to serve out the remainder of a three years sentence for shooting a man while he was serving with the Army in the Philippines. Burroughs has only been in this city for short time, and he lived in a room on Fifth street, near Salmon.

Burroughs went to the Woodburn livery stable Wednesday morning, and asked for a team and buggy, asserting that he was in the neighborhood to sell pictures for a Chicago art concern, and had to drive out several miles to see customers to whom he had arranged to sell pictures. He mentioned several well-known people in this city with whom the proprietors of the livery stable are acquainted, but some surprise was expressed among the livery stable people when Burroughs, instead of driving to the hotel where he had been staying, as he had mentioned, drove furiously in the opposite direction. When the time elapsed by which he had guaranteed to return the horses and buggy, White Bros. became uneasy, and their manager, W. H. Goulet, telegraphed about the missing horses, and had to drive to this city, furnishing them with a description of the man with many names.

Bright and early yesterday morning, Kerrigan and Snow started to hunt down Burroughs, and found that he had been to a First-street stable before them, offering to sell the team first for $150, and then for $75. Burroughs was arrested shortly afterward. His description tallied closely with that of an ex-convict, who is wanted by the military authorities at the Presidio for shooting a man in the Philippines, that the detectives subjected him to a searching examination. Then he told this story: "While I was a soldier in the islands, I was arrested for shooting a man whose name I forget, and I was sentenced to three years in a military prison. I was sent to Alcatraz Island, where I escaped. Going toward San Francisco, I was caught and taken to the Presidio, where along with six or seven others I made my escape and came to Oregon." He also repeated his assertion that if he had known at first that Kerrigan and Snow were "cops," that they could not have taken him alive. He was assured that if necessary his remains would have been taken care of. Word of his capture was telegraphed to the military authorities at the Presidio. An agent of White Bros. has already identified Burroughs as the man who got the horses and buggy from Woodburn.

SESSION, OR NOT?

(Concluded on Page 10.)

as to the charter exists sufficient in itself to justify a special session.

Fourth is the Lewis and Clark Fair appropriation. I am bound to say that in my opinion there is serious danger that the appropriation measure may be involved with other legislation as well as with the Senatorial election. There might be a disposition on the part of certain politicians to use the fair appropriation bill as a club over the heads of the various delegations in order to force them to support legislation that might appear to them unpalatable, or to vote for a Senatorial candidate whom they might otherwise wish to oppose. It appears to me that the Multnomah delegation has a right to ask that the Lewis and Clark Fair appropriation be considered entirely on its merits. It is, of course not a local measure, but the delegation will have it in its special charge, and will be held individually and collectively responsible for its success or failure. I think, therefore, that we have a right to ask the people of the state to permit the fair enterprise to be dissociated from all other matters whatsoever. So I am disposed to fall in with what has apparently become a general sentiment for an extra session. And my inclination is made much stronger by my desire that the Portland charter be speedily enacted.

IN LOVE.

Here is a Model for Those Who Love Beauty of face is nothing compared with perfect physique, good nerves and happy disposition.

Philo Holbrook, who was County Commissioner at that time, testified that under appeared before the County Commissioners frequently, and they talked this case over and agreed that the county must win it.

In summing up the case for the plain-

A DINNER FOR MILLER

HONOR TO THE CONSUL TO NIU QHWANG, CHINA.

Addresses on Conditions of the Orient and Possibilities of American Trade Expansion There.

Fifty-six gentlemen occupied seats at the dinner in honor of Hon. H. B. Miller, United States Consul at Ni Chwang, China, at the Portland Hotel last evening. It was a gathering of representative business men, and was designed to be in the way of recognition of Consul Miller's activity in the Orient as a commercial agent of the United States Government.

HONOR TO THE CONSUL TO NIU QHWANG, CHINA.

Addresses on Conditions of the Orient and Possibilities of American Trade Expansion There.

Fifty-six gentlemen occupied seats at the dinner in honor of Hon. H. B. Miller, United States Consul at Ni Chwang, China, at the Portland Hotel last evening. It was a gathering of representative business men, and was designed to be in the way of recognition of Consul Miller's activity in the Orient as a commercial agent of the United States Government.

HONOR TO THE CONSUL TO NIU QHWANG, CHINA.

Fifty-six gentlemen occupied seats at the dinner in honor of Hon. H. B. Miller, United States Consul at Ni Chwang, China, at the Portland Hotel last evening. It was a gathering of representative business men, and was designed to be in the way of recognition of Consul Miller's activity in the Orient as a commercial agent of the United States Government.

HONOR TO THE CONSUL TO NIU QHWANG, CHINA.

Addresses on Conditions of the Orient and Possibilities of American Trade Expansion There.

Fifty-six gentlemen occupied seats at the dinner in honor of Hon. H. B. Miller, United States Consul at Ni Chwang, China, at the Portland Hotel last evening. It was a gathering of representative business men, and was designed to be in the way of recognition of Consul Miller's activity in the Orient as a commercial agent of the United States Government.

Fifty-six gentlemen occupied seats at the dinner in honor of Hon. H. B. Miller, United States Consul at Ni Chwang, China, at the Portland Hotel last evening. It was a gathering of representative business men, and was designed to be in the way of recognition of Consul Miller's activity in the Orient as a commercial agent of the United States Government.

Fifty-six gentlemen occupied seats at the dinner in honor of Hon. H. B. Miller, United States Consul at Ni Chwang, China, at the Portland Hotel last evening. It was a gathering of representative business men, and was designed to be in the way of recognition of Consul Miller's activity in the Orient as a commercial agent of the United States Government.

Fifty-six gentlemen occupied seats at the dinner in honor of Hon. H. B. Miller, United States Consul at Ni Chwang, China, at the Portland Hotel last evening. It was a gathering of representative business men, and was designed to be in the way of recognition of Consul Miller's activity in the Orient as a commercial agent of the United States Government.

Fifty-six gentlemen occupied seats at the dinner in honor of Hon. H. B. Miller, United States Consul at Ni Chwang, China, at the Portland Hotel last evening. It was a gathering of representative business men, and was designed to be in the way of recognition of Consul Miller's activity in the Orient as a commercial agent of the United States Government.

Fifty-six gentlemen occupied seats at the dinner in honor of Hon. H. B. Miller, United States Consul at Ni Chwang, China, at the Portland Hotel last evening. It was a gathering of representative business men, and was designed to be in the way of recognition of Consul Miller's activity in the Orient as a commercial agent of the United States Government.

Fifty-six gentlemen occupied seats at the dinner in honor of Hon. H. B. Miller, United States Consul at Ni Chwang, China, at the Portland Hotel last evening. It was a gathering of representative business men, and was designed to be in the way of recognition of Consul Miller's activity in the Orient as a commercial agent of the United States Government.

Fifty-six gentlemen occupied seats at the dinner in honor of Hon. H. B. Miller, United States Consul at Ni Chwang, China, at the Portland Hotel last evening. It was a gathering of representative business men, and was designed to be in the way of recognition of Consul Miller's activity in the Orient as a commercial agent of the United States Government.

Fifty-six gentlemen occupied seats at the dinner in honor of Hon. H. B. Miller, United States Consul at Ni Chwang, China, at the Portland Hotel last evening. It was a gathering of representative business men, and was designed to be in the way of recognition of Consul Miller's activity in the Orient as a commercial agent of the United States Government.

Fifty-six gentlemen occupied seats at the dinner in honor of Hon. H. B. Miller, United States Consul at Ni Chwang, China, at the Portland Hotel last evening. It was a gathering of representative business men, and was designed to be in the way of recognition of Consul Miller's activity in the Orient as a commercial agent of the United States Government.

Fifty-six gentlemen occupied seats at the dinner in honor of Hon. H. B. Miller, United States Consul at Ni Chwang, China, at the Portland Hotel last evening. It was a gathering of representative business men, and was designed to be in the way of recognition of Consul Miller's activity in the Orient as a commercial agent of the United States Government.

Fifty-six gentlemen occupied seats at the dinner in honor of Hon. H. B. Miller, United States Consul at Ni Chwang, China, at the Portland Hotel last evening. It was a gathering of representative business men, and was designed to be in the way of recognition of Consul Miller's activity in the Orient as a commercial agent of the United States Government.

Fifty-six gentlemen occupied seats at the dinner in honor of Hon. H. B. Miller, United States Consul at Ni Chwang, China, at the Portland Hotel last evening. It was a gathering of representative business men, and was designed to be in the way of recognition of Consul Miller's activity in the Orient as a commercial agent of the United States Government.

Fifty-six gentlemen occupied seats at the dinner in honor of Hon. H. B. Miller, United States Consul at Ni Chwang, China, at the Portland Hotel last evening. It was a gathering of representative business men, and was designed to be in the way of recognition of Consul Miller's activity in the Orient as a commercial agent of the United States Government.

Fifty-six gentlemen occupied seats at the dinner in honor of Hon. H. B. Miller, United States Consul at Ni Chwang, China, at the Portland Hotel last evening. It was a gathering of representative business men, and was designed to be in the way of recognition of Consul Miller's activity in the Orient as a commercial agent of the United States Government.

Fifty-six gentlemen occupied seats at the dinner in honor of Hon. H. B. Miller, United States Consul at Ni Chwang, China, at the Portland Hotel last evening. It was a gathering of representative business men, and was designed to be in the way of recognition of Consul Miller's activity in the Orient as a commercial agent of the United States Government.

Fifty-six gentlemen occupied seats at the dinner in honor of Hon. H. B. Miller, United States Consul at Ni Chwang, China, at the Portland Hotel last evening. It was a gathering of representative business men, and was designed to be in the way of recognition of Consul Miller's activity in the Orient as a commercial agent of the United States Government.

Fifty-six gentlemen occupied seats at the dinner in honor of Hon. H. B. Miller, United States Consul at Ni Chwang, China, at the Portland Hotel last evening. It was a gathering of representative business men, and was designed to be in the way of recognition of Consul Miller's activity in the Orient as a commercial agent of the United States Government.

Fifty-six gentlemen occupied seats at the dinner in honor of Hon. H. B. Miller, United States Consul at Ni Chwang, China, at the Portland Hotel last evening. It was a gathering of representative business men, and was designed to be in the way of recognition of Consul Miller's activity in the Orient as a commercial agent of the United States Government.

Fifty-six gentlemen occupied seats at the dinner in honor of Hon. H. B. Miller, United States Consul at Ni Chwang, China, at the Portland Hotel last evening. It was a gathering of representative business men, and was designed to be in the way of recognition of Consul Miller's activity in the Orient as a commercial agent of the United States Government.

Fifty-six gentlemen occupied seats at the dinner in honor of Hon. H. B. Miller, United States Consul at Ni Chwang, China, at the Portland Hotel last evening. It was a gathering of representative business men, and was designed to be in the way of recognition of Consul Miller's activity in the Orient as a commercial agent of the United States Government.

for many days, and all sorts of bills were brought in. The state was put to a large and unnecessary expense.

Representative S. B. Cobb—I don't feel that it is any necessity for an extra session. I believe the interests of both the Lewis and Clark Fair and the State of Oregon would be better promoted by appropriating the money that would have to be expended in an extra session, for an exhibit at the St. Louis Fair. It is true that there is an immediate need of action on these matters and it is true that the objects only of having the new city charter to effect as soon as possible, but I do not believe that the time gained would justify the expense. A special session could not be called before November 15.

Representative J. S. Hutchinson—At first I paid little attention to the talk of an extra session, but it seems that the taxpayers are taking the matter up. If the taxpayers want an extra session it does not behoove the Representatives or Senators to say whether or not they shall have it. We are elected to serve the people and it is their right to have their voice heard. It is our place to hold it.

It is true that business propositions that come before the Legislature are often defeated by political aspirations. If the Governor could call an extra session and specify in the call that only such matters as the initiative and referendum and the 1906 fair were to be taken up, it would make political manipulations of the kind that are now being made, and the consideration of these matters. There seems to be some doubt as to whether or not the initiative and referendum is self-operative. I think that it was drafted to be self-operative, but the fact is now any reason for doubt in the matter, it should be removed by the Legislature taking such action as would be necessary to make it effective at the earliest opportunity.

Senator Andrew C. Smith—While I am in favor of all that the advocates of the special session wish to accomplish, I think that it would be better to call a session as well as a regular session. The time saved by a special session will not compensate for the extra expense and the inconvenience to the members of the Legislature. The expense of an extra session and the members would be called from their business. I do not believe they should be asked to hold an extra session unless there is a pronounced need for it. I am in hearty accord with everything that is expressed by Congressman-elect Williamson will prevail, and that but few, if any, of the members of either house will practice such petty politics as to obstruct legislation concerning the fair for the interest of their own aspirations, either Senatorial or legislative.

Representative John Gill—I think it is true that an extra session will cost the state a lot of money, and it would be better to treat these matters at a regular session if it could be done fairly. I do not think, however, that it would be safe to leave them to the regular session. There are many political considerations that will enter into the matter at that time. Eastern Oregon is in favor of the extra session, and will not support the appropriation and other local matters will come up. At first I was opposed to the extra session but since looking into the situation I believe that it is in the interest of economy to call one. Besides it will facilitate the business of the regular session.

Representative A. A. Bailey—Personally I am opposed to holding an extra session. I think it will incur an unnecessary expense, but if the people want it I am willing to go. I fail to see how an extra session would be any more expensive than the regular session. If favors are to be exchanged, they can be exchanged at an extra session as well as at a regular session. It is a matter of mere expense for the state.

Senator F. P. Mays—I do not still oppose to an extra session. I am not thinking of an extra session which might come from it would justify the expense, nor do I believe that the situation is such as to make an extra session necessary or even advisable.

Senator Alex Sweek—I am not at all favorable to an extra session. It would entail expense to the taxpayers which would not be compensated by the benefits. Besides, it would needlessly take up the time of the members of the Legislature. In my opinion the benefits to be derived from enactment of the charter at a special session would be secured at the regular session. Possibly the session might help out the Lewis and Clark appropriation, but I am by no means convinced that it would.

Representative W. W. Banks—The time saved by enactment of the charter and Fair appropriation bills, in my opinion, would not justify the expense of the special session. I am in favor of the regular session for the session, but I think that the arguments against it are stronger. As to the question of the initiative and referendum, I think that the Legislature should be taken into account, and they should be a person deliberates over them. The purpose of the amendment is good, but I am not yet sure that it has been accepted. I am in favor of the amendment, but I think that the Legislature should be taken into account. If a special session I shall waive my doubts about its expediency and willingly follow their desires.

Representative George M. Orton—Really I do not see that any advantages will come of a special session, except perhaps to the Fair, and yet I have serious doubts as to this, also. In my opinion legislation disposed to hold up the appropriation will try to do so as promptly in special as in regular session. Of course, if the appropriation were made in a special session it would give the Fair a great boost. But I believe that the appropriation can be obtained as readily in regular session. As to the charter, I think that the Legislature should be taken into account. If a special session I shall waive my doubts about its expediency and willingly follow their desires.

Representative C. W. Nottingham—Yes, I have favored an extra session from the start. A special session would be either safer for the Fair appropriation because it would keep that measure free from political considerations. If an extra session, an early appropriation will set a good example before other states. An extra session would also hasten the enactment of the new charter, which we desire to have in force as soon as possible. It would help out the cause of flat salaries.

Opposed to Extra Session. EUGENE, Oct. 23.—Considerable discussion is heard among prominent business men and politicians here on the subject of the proposed extra session of the Legislature which the Taxpayers' League of Portland is sponsoring. The almost universal opinion here is that an extra session for the purpose named in the petition is wholly unnecessary, and that the object sought will probably have as little chance of success as if left for the regular session. Members of the Legislature do not give their views on the subject for publication, but it is commonly heard in conversation that the Legislature has a duty toward the Lewis and Clark Exposition, and there is no reason for supposing, as the extra session proposition is understood to intimate, that the Legislature will not do its

IF YOU WANT TO KNOW WHAT SMARTLY DRESSED MEN WILL WEAR THIS SEASON ASK BEN SELLING ABOUT IT. WHAT ABOUT THAT OVER-COAT FOR THE LITTLE FELLOW? These cool mornings are likely to produce coughs and colds which are apt to last all winter. Don't you think it advisable to come in and make your selection NOW while choosing is at its best?

SAILOR SUITS - from $1.95 up to $10. SCHOOL SUITS from $2.50 up to $5. OVERCOATS - from $2.95 up to $12. SNAPPY STYLES—Excellent Fabrics. PERFECT TAILORING. MODEST PRICES—The choosing is at its best NOW.

Our Men's Raincoats and Overcoats ARE UNRIVALED. Prices $12 to $30. Take time by the forelock and make your selection while the stock is unbroken. BEN SELLING LEADING CLOTHIER LEADING HATTER

ILLEGAL LIQUOR-SELLING

CHARGES AGAINST SIX MEN INVESTIGATED BY GRAND JURY. County Said to Have Lost Heavily—Some of the Accused Are Old Offenders.

W. R. Blyden Opposes. ALBANY, Or., Oct. 23.—Hon. W. R. Blyden, of this city, a prominent Democratic member of the next state Legislature, declares himself as emphatically opposed to an extra session of the Legislature. He believes the regular session will be able to take care of the business of the state and is not in favor of placing this extra cost upon the people of Oregon. He is in favor of submitting the question to an appropriation to the people of the state under the referendum, which he believes is operative without an extra session; but should it come to a vote in the Legislature, without the referendum, he will oppose any appropriation exceeding $100,000.

Raley Opposes Extra Session.

PENDLETON, Oct. 23.—I strongly favor adequate appropriation for the Lewis and Clark Fair, I think, however, that the needed legislation can be obtained at the regular session. J. H. RALEY.

FILIPINOS' FIRST NEED.

Influential Native Lays All Stress on a Stable Currency.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—Raymond Reyes Lala, a native Filipino, graduate of Oxford and naturalized American, has arrived here on his way from Manila to investigate the needs of the Philippines. "Legislation is much needed for the Philippines," said Lala, when seen at his hotel. "We poor Filipinos need a stable currency. We cannot do business with the States without having a fixed standard of money. In the old days silver was generally worth three-fourths as much as gold, and at the worst two for one. But now silver is worth only one-third of its former value. To secure $100 in gold when silver is worth only $30 is a hardship. The worst of it is that there is no stability in the ratio. The commission can make it anything it sees fit.

FOR MURDER OF LUM GAU.

One Chinaman Indicted and Two Others Held as Witnesses.

Ung Gow, jointly indicted with Leon Kwee and Leong Quan for the murder of Lum Gau, was arraigned before Judge Sears yesterday and allowed one week to plead. Leon Kwee and Leong Quan, the two other defendants, have not yet been brought before the court. The arraignment was made by Deputy District Attorney John Manning, and George C. Stout appeared as attorney for the defendant. At the request of Mr. Manning, five Chinese witnesses were placed under $500 bail each, to insure their appearance at the trial. If they are unable to furnish it, they will be held in custody.

MASONS WILL REPAY TAXES

Chicago Association Satisfied Its Officers Used Money Wrongly.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—At a meeting of the directors of the Masonic Temple Association held tonight, it was decided to pay the taxes upon the property of the association amounting to $25,550. Captain Edward Williams, manager of the association, is now on trial in the Criminal Court on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the county out of the taxes due. He received $20,000 with which to pay the taxes, and returned to the association a receipt which the County Treasurer swore in court was a forgery. The evidence given during the trial satisfied the directors that no money had been paid for the taxes and they decided that the amount should be paid as soon as the trial of Williams is concluded. Williams has declared that he paid the taxes, and the money has been put into the hands of the County Treasurer. The directors of the association also decided to commence action against Williams to recover the $20,000 paid to him by them for the taxes.

OUTCOME OF GAMBLING GAME.

Schiller Says He Offered Indemnity to Bank for Nelson's Money.

E. Schiller, in answer to the suit of Ladd & Tilton to enjoin him from making legal steps to collect two certificates of deposit for $100 each, indorsed in blank by Edward Nelson, says he offered to indemnify the bank from loss if it would pay them. Schiller avers that he received the certificates in the ordinary course of business. Nelson stopped payment on the ground that he was intoxicated when he indorsed the certificates. It is understood that this occurred in a gambling game. The bank has offered to pay the money into court and let the contestants, including Nelson, fight it out.

ILLEGAL LIQUOR-SELLING

CHARGES AGAINST SIX MEN INVESTIGATED BY GRAND JURY. County Said to Have Lost Heavily—Some of the Accused Are Old Offenders.

The grand jury was engaged yesterday in investigating the cases of numerous persons conducting saloons in various parts of the county without license, thus causing the county to lose a revenue of several thousand dollars a year. The lowest penalty provided for this offense is a fine of $50.

Persons who appeared before the grand jury, supposed to be engaged in unlawful traffic, were: M. B. Hano, Alhington; Robert Wiltze, West Portland; Caswell, Seven-Mile House; Joe Latourette, Troutdale; Max Ruhle, Ten-Mile House; and Lars Larson, Sandy Bridge.

Larson and Ruhle were arrested for this offense about a year ago. Refano has not paid any license for two years. H. Miller was arrested a year ago, and then took out a license. Subsequently, he either went out of business or forgot to renew the license. He is now circulating a petition for a license, and is said to have made a deposit with the County Treasurer.

Decision Today.

Judge Sears will announce a decision this morning in the case of James S. Buckenstien against the City & Suburban Railway Company, on the motion to make the complaint more definite and certain.

Trainmen's Demands Considered.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—A meeting of the directors of the Union Pacific was held at the offices of the company here today, and the demands of the trainmen, who have threatened to strike, were considered. Nothing was made public as to what, if any, action had been decided upon.

When the head feels dull and heavy, the skin appears sallow and greasy, and the stomach refuses food, take Carter's Little Liver Pills. Don't forget this.

Trainmen's Demands Considered.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—A meeting of the directors of the Union Pacific was held at the offices of the company here today, and the demands of the trainmen, who have threatened to strike, were considered. Nothing was made public as to what, if any, action had been decided upon.

When the head feels dull and heavy, the skin appears sallow and greasy, and the stomach refuses food, take Carter's Little Liver Pills. Don't forget this.

When the head feels dull and heavy, the skin appears sallow and greasy, and the stomach refuses food, take Carter's Little Liver Pills. Don't forget this.

When the head feels dull and heavy, the skin appears sallow and greasy, and the stomach refuses food, take Carter's Little Liver Pills. Don't forget this.

When the head feels dull and heavy, the skin appears sallow and greasy, and the stomach refuses food, take Carter's Little Liver Pills. Don't forget this.

When the head feels dull and heavy, the skin appears sallow and greasy, and the stomach refuses food, take Carter's Little Liver Pills. Don't forget this.

When the head feels dull and heavy, the skin appears sallow and greasy, and the stomach refuses food, take Carter's Little Liver Pills. Don't forget this.

When the head feels dull and heavy, the skin appears sallow and greasy, and the stomach refuses food, take Carter's Little Liver Pills. Don't forget this.

When the head feels dull and heavy, the skin appears sallow and greasy, and the stomach refuses food, take Carter's Little Liver Pills. Don't forget this.

When the head feels dull and heavy, the skin appears sallow and greasy, and the stomach refuses food, take Carter's Little Liver Pills. Don't forget this.

When the head feels dull and heavy, the skin appears sallow and greasy, and the stomach refuses food, take Carter's Little Liver Pills. Don't forget this.

When the head feels dull and heavy, the skin appears sallow and greasy, and the stomach refuses food, take Carter's Little Liver Pills. Don't forget this.

When the head feels dull and heavy, the skin appears sallow and greasy, and the stomach refuses food, take Carter's Little Liver Pills. Don't forget this.

When the head feels dull and heavy, the skin appears sallow and greasy, and the stomach refuses food, take Carter's Little Liver Pills. Don't forget this.

When the head feels dull and heavy, the skin appears sallow and greasy, and the stomach refuses food, take Carter's Little Liver Pills. Don't forget this.

When the head feels dull and heavy, the skin appears sallow and greasy, and the stomach refuses food, take Carter's Little Liver Pills. Don't forget this.

When the head feels dull and heavy, the skin appears sallow and