RECORD FOR PACER

Prince Alert at Same Time Defeats Sir Albert S.

RACE IS FOR $12,000 A SIDE

Covers Half Mile in 0:57 3-4—California Horse Has Event Won Until He Goes Off His Feet on Home Stretch.

MEMPHIS, Oct. 27.—The special match race for $12,000 a side between the pacers Prince Alert and Sir Albert S., one heat at half a mile, resulted in an easy victory for the former at the Memphis Driving Park today in the remarkable time of 0:57¾. This establishes a new world's record for this distance in a race, beating the former time by 2½ seconds.

The contest was not satisfactory in all of its details. After scoring several times the horses got away from the half-mile pole in perfect alignment. Sanders immediately sent Sir Albert S. forward, and the son of Diablo led Prince Alert by two lengths. At the quarter pole Sanders increased his lead by three lengths, and the timers hung out 0:28¾ for the quarter. Making the turn for home, Sir Albert S. still in a commanding lead, broke badly, and Prince Alert, coming along like a piece of machinery, forged to the front and won by three lengths. Many horsemen expressed the opinion that had the California horse kept his feet the result would have been different and the time reduced at least a quarter of a second. The former record for half a mile was 1:00¾, held by Audubon Boy. Summary:

2:13 trot, to wagon (unfinished), amateur drivers, cup—Marique won the first and third heats in 2:12¼, 2:16. Virginia won the second heat in 2:12¼. Dr. Brook, May Alcott and Wilton Boy also started.

ALBANY SPORTSMEN MEET.

Forward Game Law Recommendations to Portland Convention.

ALBANY, Or., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—A meeting of prominent hunters was held in this city this forenoon, with Edwin W. Stone as chairman and J. S. Van Winkle, City Recorder, as secretary. The state game law was discussed informally, and it was voted as the sense of the meeting that the law be so amended that upland birds may be killed from September 15 to November 15, instead of from October 1 to December 1; that it shall be illegal to sell them at any time, and that the open season for ducks, snipe and other birds shall be limited to the same time, so that whenever a man appears out of season with a gun he will be viewed with suspicion and his conduct will call for investigation. It is believed by making the open season for upland birds two weeks earlier, considerable illegal shooting may be prevented, and that the other amendment will place the law on a more sportsmanlike basis. These recommendations were sent to Portland this afternoon for the consideration of the convention to be held in that city tomorrow. There is a strong sentiment here that they have the proper foundation for the placing of the game laws on the right basis for sport and the protection of game.

BALTIMORE TO BE DROPPED.

Ban Johnson Tells American League Plans in New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Ban B. Johnson, president of the American Baseball League, who is in this city, said, regarding the announcement just made of the list of players for the proposed new team here:

"Every man on the list has been signed by an American League Club, and, moreover, I know the contracts will be lived up to. Baltimore is to be dropped from our circuit to make way for New York, and in this city—right in Manhattan Island—we have leased grounds not only convenient, but accessible. We have made known the names of the players who will compose the New York team, and our next step will be to inform the public of the location of our park. The time is not yet ripe for us to divulge the locality, but I will do so shortly. I have been balked once or twice in my plans, but this time everything is all right, and there is nothing ahead but plain sailing."

CHICAGO HORSE SHOW OPENS.

Exhibition Will Surpass Any Ever Before Held in That City.

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—The third annual horse show opened this afternoon at the Coliseum. The exhibits greatly exceed those of former years, and all indications point to an exhibition that will surpass any ever held in Chicago. Famous prizewinners are entered from the East, and the rivalry between the East and West promises to be exceedingly keen. One hundred and thirty exhibitors are present, and the list of entries numbers 800 in all. Among the principal first prize winners were:

Coachers, mares—Millie, owned by M. H. Tichenor.

Pairs in harness—Drummer Boy and Bugler, William H. Moore.

High School saddle horses—Limestone Belle, O. D. Woodward, Kansas City.

Harness horses—Joseph, M. H. Tichenor.

ERNE NO MATCH FOR CORBETT.

Feather-Weight Champion Ends the Bout in the Sixth Round.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27.—Young Erne, of this city, managed to stay six rounds with Young Corbett, the featherweight champion, tonight at the Washington Sporting Club. During the six rounds Erne was down 24 times, but only one of these falls was the result of a fair knockdown blow. Corbett rushed the fighting from the start, and almost every time he crowded Erne, the later would go down on his knees, either to rest or avoid punishment. At the close of the fourth round Corbett caught Erne with a swinging blow squarely on the mouth, sending him in a heap to the floor. He probably would have been counted out, had not the bell saved him. Erne showed much cleverness, but was no match for his adversary.

NO MERCY TO AMERICAN.

Horseman Expelled From France Will Be Conducted to Frontier.

PARIS, Oct. 27.—Le Soir says that Burns, an American horseman, who was recently expelled from France after investigations on the part of the authorities of the alleged turf scandals, having returned to this country in the expectation that his case would be reheard, the Minister of the Interior directed that he be at once expelled again. Burns was arrested this afternoon, and will be conducted to the frontier.

Decline to Call Off Prizefight.

WATERBURY, Conn., Oct. 27.—The Board of Public Safety at a meeting tonight declined to consider a protest calling the approaching "Young" Corbett-Rice fight a "prizefight." The board will not revoke the license and the exhibition will take place November 6, in spite of remonstrance, unless the state's attorney interferes. The citizens' committee met at the Y. M. C. A. and considered plans for legal steps if necessary to prevent the fight.

Academy Will Play Medicals.

The Portland Academy and Medical College elevens will line up against each other tomorrow afternoon on Multnomah field, to settle the question of local football championship. Neither of these teams has been scored against, and tomorrow's game will be doubly interesting on that account.

All-American Bowlers Win.

BOZEMAN, Mont., Oct. 27.—The All-American trio tonight met the local bowlers in a series of five games, every one of which was won by the visitors. Results:

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Oct. 27.—Mose La Fontise, a champion heavy-weight of Montana, tonight knocked out Eddie Croak, of Great Falls, in the 11th round. Croak went to the floor under a straight left.

LITTLE HOPE FOR CHINA.

Southern Portion in a Terrible State of Lawlessness.

TACOMA, Oct. 28.—"It will take 100 years or more of hard work and the expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars to civilize Southern China." This statement is made by Henry W. Huntzell, a Methodist Episcopal missionary, sent out by the Chicago Mission two years ago to the Chosong Station in Southern China. He is now on his way back to Chicago on account of ill health.

"In Southern China murder is as frequent as are meals, and it is called custom, instead of crime. Natives have little or no moral laws. There is marriage law, but it is only for the protection of male inhabitants. A Southern Chinese woman, once married to a man, can never desert him. A man can have as many wives as he likes.

"Slave traffic is rampant in all parts of the Southern provinces. Fathers dispose of their daughters and wives in the same manner as in this country we disposed of livestock. Notwithstanding conditions, within three years since our mission was opened we have made 260 converts. We have established two schools, and our meetings are well attended."

ALL DEPENDS ON PEOPLE

GEER WILL CONVENE LEGISLATURE IF THEY DEMAND IT.

Opposes the Idea, but If Occasion Arose He Would Put Aside Any Personal Objections.

BAKER CITY, Oct. 27.—Governor T. T. Geer, who was in this city today, said in effect that there would be no extra session of the Legislature called this Fall unless there was some stronger reason offered than has already been presented. He said:

"I am personally opposed to an extra session, yet, if there was a general demand and the extraordinary occasion such as the Constitution contemplates was apparent, I would put aside my personal objections and summon the legislators in extraordinary session. The principal reason for calling the extra session, viz., to avoid complicating the Lewis and Clark appropriation with the Senatorial fight, does not seem to exist now, hence I can see no occasion for calling an extra session. Still, if a contingency should arise in the near future which will furnish a valid Constitutional reason for a special session, I will comply with the demand of the people."

Governor Geer is here on a visit to friends. He left this afternoon to visit friends at Medical Springs, and later will go to Cove to visit his father.

BOY DIES FROM BURNS.

Rolled Into Fire While Camped on Needles Desert.

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Oct. 27.—Harland Aldridge, a 16-year-old boy from Denver, died in the County Hospital here today from burns sustained on the desert near Needles a few days ago. The lad and another youth whose name is not known left Denver a few weeks ago, bound for Los Angeles. At Needles their money gave out and they started on foot for Los Angeles. The first night out they camped near the railroad track, and as the night was cold they made a fire and lay down to sleep. Aldridge, in his sleep, rolled into the fire. His clothing was nearly burned off before the flames were extinguished, and so severe were his burns that it was with difficulty he reached Needles, his companion being compelled to carry him part of the way.

SANDBAGGED AT SALEM.

John Canon, a Teamster, Is Relieved of $70 in a Dark Alley.

SALEM, Or., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—John Canon, a young man employed as a teamster for the Capital Improvement Company, was sandbagged tonight and robbed of $70. According to Canon's story, he had collected about $40 today for freight due the Southern Pacific Company on hops he had carted during the day, and this sum, with $30 of his own money he carried in his pocket, was taken from him. While passing down the dark alley beside the Fuller & Douglas grocery, on State street, he was struck on the head and rendered insensible. When he recovered consciousness, nearly an hour later, his money was gone. He could give no description of his assailant.

REDMOND MAKES REPLY.

American Fund for Parnell Monument Never Came Into His Hands.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—John Redmond, of the Irish Parliamentary party, made a statement today concerning the fund collected first to buy the Parnell estate, and when that plan fell through, to erect a Parnell monument. In a letter to the Irish Times, Mrs. Dickinson, a sister of Charles Stewart Parnell, demanded an accounting from Redmond. A London dispatch on Saturday last said Mrs. Dickinson had made public all the correspondence she had with Mr. Redmond on the subject. Mr. Redmond's statement today follows:

"The funds collected by Lord Mayor Tallon and myself never at any time passed through my hands. They went to the Parnell monument committee in Dublin, and have been invested in government stock for the treasurer of that committee by the most eminent stock broker in Dublin, James McCann. As far as I know, the only actual expenditure has been in the purchase of a bronze bust of Parnell, which was required by the sculptor who is making the monument, and in the purchase of the Avondale library. These funds were collected for the purpose of creating a memorial to Parnell. This memorial was to consist of a monument in the streets in Dublin and, if possible, the purchase of the mansion house of Avondale, to be held for the nation, much as Washington's birthplace is at Mount Vernon. At the sale of the estate two years ago, the committee bid for the house, but was outbid by a Dublin butcher, who paid for the whole estate, including the house. It afterward transpired that he was acting in unison with John Parnell, and that he paid the latter $10,000 in addition to the $40,000 paid as the price of the estate.

"It being no longer possible to purchase the house, the committee made a contract with Augustus St. Gaudens to build a monument. There has been some regretable delay, but the model is now complete, and Mr. St. Gaudens is coming here tomorrow to show it to me. I hope the work will now proceed rapidly, and that the monument will soon be in its place. The funds at hand are not enough to complete the payment for the monument, but there will be no difficulty in obtaining the necessary remainder when required."

SALUTES AT SEA.

Courtesies That Must Be Observed by Ship Captains.

London Standard.

In the days before cannon, and indeed until comparatively recent times, a vessel made its salutation by lowering its flag. This is the oldest and most honorable greeting which a ship can give, and it ranks before the booming of guns, however many. This salute has always been demanded by English seamen, and its exaction has burned the hearts and the powder of generations of naval commanders. For a foreign ship, whether merchant or martial, to enter an English port without veiling topsails or lowering its national flag was to court the chances of war, though the profoundest peace existed. Without warning or argument the shore defenses or a man-of-war sent a round shot across the bows or between the masts of the insolent intruder, and if the offending flag came not down instanter the foreigner was brought to her senses by being raked through and through. Such was the reception accorded by John Hawkins to the Spanish Admiral who in time of peace sailed into Plymouth Sound without veiling his topsails or striking his flag. The Dutch vehemently resisted the British demand, and it was not until 1673 that they finally agreed to strike the English colors in home waters. The same honor was formally assented to by France in 1704, although it had been long exacted by Britain.

Until modern times it was regarded as a high misdemeanor for a merchant vessel to pass one of His Majesty's ships without dipping its ensign, and the consequence was that a shot across her bows compelled her to heave to while her Captain's name was taken, the Admiralty instituting a prosecution against him for his negligence. The trading ship dips her ensign and waits for the man-of-war's dip in return. Then she dips again, and after that, in strict etiquette, she ought to dip a third time, but this is seldom done now. The maritime supremacy of Britain is still enforced by the refusal of any British war vessel to dip its flag to any foreign ship until the latter has first lowered its colors, and this acknowledgement of precedence is required not only in home waters, but in all seas.

But naval salutes are now essential matters of etiquette, and are exchanged under an elaborate code arranged between foreign powers and the Admiralty in 1876. The number of guns to be fired under all conceivable circumstances is minutely stipulated. Second to the salute of 21 guns in honor of royal personages and national flags are the 19 rounds given to Ambassadors. Colonial Governors, foreign possessions and fortresses receive 17 guns, and envoys extraordinary and Ministers plenipotentiary 15. Two guns less are fired for lieutenant-governors. Charges d'Affaires are treated to 11, Consuls-General to nine and a mere Consul to seven. The salute for Admirals of the fleet is 17 guns, and for Admirals simpliciter 15. Vice-Admirals are greeted with 13, and Rear-Admirals with two less, while nine guns are fired for Commodores—Captains and lower officers being classed as not worth the burning of powder.

CAME TO OREGON IN 1853

Allen Bond.

IRVING, Or., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—The subject of this sketch was born in Shenandoah County, Virginia, in 1833, and at the age of 3 accompanied his parents to the State of Indiana. They located on the Wabash River, near the southern boundary of the state, where young Bond resided until the Spring of 1853, when he was married to Miss Rachel Robinson, and at the same time started on the then formidable task of a journey across the plains to make a home in the wilds of Oregon. After a long and perilous trip and undergoing many privations and hardships they landed in the Willamette Valley in October of the same year, and settled on a half section of land near the present site of Irving, where they resided continuously until about five years ago, when they left the farm for the purpose of getting relief from its burdens and care to himself and wife, who were both badly broken down in health.

Mr. Bond was universally respected by all who knew him. He was a man who always took an active interest in public affairs and enterprises, and gave freely of his means for the advancement of educational interests and all enterprises calculated to be for the best interest of the public. He was a lifelong Republican, and took a lively interest in state and National politics, and in 1876 was elected to the State Legislature from Lane County, which position he filled with credit to himself and honor to his constituents. During the last few years of his life, on account of failing health, he led a very quiet and retired life, although frequently importuned by friends to accept positions of honor and trust. He declined them all, preferring the quiet of his own peaceful home.

CARIBOU MURDER.

The Newfoundland Fishermen Kill Hundreds for Salting.

Outing.

Newfoundland is probably the only country in the world where venison, salted or fresh, is a staple article of diet for the masses.

The coastfolk make their plans with method and deliberation.

From the harbors where they reside they go in their boats to the rivers and fiords which strike into the interior. When navigation is no longer possible they debark and continue on foot to the deer country. They carry barrels filled with salt and sometimes go in large companies. When the rendezvous is reached they camp. Then they ambush themselves along a promising "lead," or deer track, armed with long, six-foot, muzzle-loading sealing guns, which they charge with about "eight fingers" of lead, fragments of iron or bits of rusty nails, whichever they have. They fire point blank into a herd of caribou, as it passes, and being usually good shots, contrive to kill almost anything they aim at, or to wound so badly with these dreadful missiles that it soon collapses. Then they skin and cut up the meat, for these men know a little of every trade, and pack it in the barrels with the salt as a preservative.

Runs Over Five Hundred Plows.

W. B. Peebles, of Vienna, Ala., is one of the largest planters and most prominent men in the South. He runs over 500 plows on his plantations. "About five years ago," he says, "my infant daughter began cutting teeth, and as is often the case, her bowels became deranged and it run into chronic dysentery. I had her treated by three of the best physicians in Pickens County, but her case baffled the skill of all of them, and my baby became so weak and emaciated that she had to be nursed on a pillow. The nurse would sometimes have to change her napkin as often as twenty-five times a day. At last we got hold of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and by using one bottle of it she was entirely cured of her trouble. I consider it the most valuable remedy on the market for all bowel troubles." For sale by all druggists.

WEBSTER AT BUNKER HILL

An Alabama Man Who Was Among His Hearers in 1825.

Birmingham News.

How many of the 75,000,000 inhabitants of the United States heard Daniel Webster deliver his address at the laying of the corner-stone of Bunker Hill monument, and saw Lafayette uncover himself in the presence of the acclaiming multitudes on that occasion? One of them lives in this city. Today (April 29) he is enjoying the 91st anniversary of his birth in a pretty cottage on the South Highlands, happy in the ministrations of a sweet-faced daughter and the memories of a life of probity and usefulness. He is James Brazer, of No. 1729 Fourteenth avenue, South.

"I'll tell you how I came to be there on the 17th of June, 1825," said Mr. Brazer. "My father was a Mason and had a part in the parade, and I went with him in his chaise. I remember my uncle, Caleb Butler, was one of the most prominent Masons, and carried a golden box in which there was a lock of General Washington's hair. I was only 14 years old, and, boy-like, I paid more attention to the crowd than I did to the ceremonies.

"Lafayette? Well, he looked to me like a polite and refined man, just as a Frenchman should be. As for Webster, he was solid and intellectual in appearance. I had seem him before, for that matter. What I recollect particularly is the fact that a number of soldiers of the Revolution were there, and among the number was my father's uncle, who was in the battle of Bunker Hill.

"By the way, my grandmother's father, Captain Henry Farwell, was at Bunker Hill, and on the retreat was shot in the breast, mind you, with his face to the foe. The commanding officer, believing he was mortally wounded, ordered him removed to the roadside, but he raised himself on his elbow and cried: 'I am not dead; I will live to see my country free!' And he didn't die until 33 years afterward. Before that he had been in the colonial contingent in the war between England and France, and was at the taking of Cape Breton."
