MAD RACE FOR GIRL

Senator Teller's Cousin the Object of Chase.

ASYLUM WORKS FOR RETURN

Sheriff Is Pitted Against Brother Officer and Doctor, but Overtakes Them at Train and Wins by Two Minutes.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 28.—An exciting race between Sheriff La Count, of Porter County, upon one side, and City Marshal Billings, of Valparaiso, and Dr. J. C. Sharpe, of Jacksonville, Ill., upon the other, with the liberty of a young woman the stake, set this city wild this afternoon. The objective point was the Pennsylvania station, and upon the result of the contest hinged the freedom of Miss Stella Josephine Teller, cousin of United States Senator Henry M. Teller, of Colorado.

Miss Teller, after some family trouble concerning certain property, was placed a half-year ago in a private asylum at Jacksonville, Ill. She escaped from that institution three months ago, and came to this place, where she has quietly resided since her escape. Recently she engaged legal counsel and prepared to file a suit for $50,000 against one of her brothers for her asylum experience. This step revealed her whereabouts, and Dr. Sharpe, of the Jacksonville institution, came here to take her back.

Arriving here Dr. Sharpe enlisted the services of City Marshal Billings, and went direct to the hotel where Miss Teller was registered, placed her in a hack and started post haste for the Pennsylvania Station. Her attorneys were apprised of the sudden turn of affairs, and hurried to the station with a blanket habeas corpus writ, arriving two minutes before the train pulled in. The writ was signed, a notary public who happened to be a passenger on the train affixed his seal, Circuit Judge McMahon hastened to grant the necessary order, and Sheriff La Count, by a burst of speed, caught Dr. Sharpe and his unwilling protege as the train started to pull out of the station. The Jacksonville physician was compelled to release his former patient.

SURE OF SUCCESS.

torial candidate in the Pacific-Wahkiakum district. The candidate for Representative in Pacific is a fusionist, so these districts are safely Republican. So is Island, and in spite of the Democratic claim for the country district in Snohomish, the Republicans should win. Democrats claim Whatcom, but that county ought to go Republican.

Clark County is so thoroughly Republican that the Democratic prognosticators in need of votes to make their claims good do not pretend to have a chance there.

The Democrats claim a chance for three men in Pierce County. They believe they can land two Legislative candidates in the Thirty-fifth Representative District, and can beat Le Crone with C. M. Easterday in the Twenty-ninth Senatorial District. They may elect one man in the Thirty-fifth. Beyond that Pierce is safely Republican. In fact, the county ought to have a solid Republican delegation.

Some Democrats Will Win in King.

In King the election of some Democratic members of the Legislature is pretty certain, but the Democratic strength is hard to estimate. Smithers may beat Van de Vanter in the Thirty-first Senatorial District, for the district is close and Smithers is well liked, while Van de Vanter, through an active career in politics, has made some enemies.

The election of Paul Land for Senator, and J. H. Boyce for Representative, in the Thirty-second Senatorial or Forty-second Representative District, is possible. Dan Murphy may beat George W. Jeffries for Representative in the Forty-fifth Representative District. The Conway-Gilluly combination may win out against Hemrich and Levy in the Thirty-third Senatorial or Forty-third Representative District. And so W. H. Moore may beat George Piper, and one or two other Democratic candidates may get through. These fights are close; there is no certainty that either man will be elected, and neither party is, on an unprejudiced statement of affairs, claiming an assured election.

The Democrats will only acknowledge a possibility of losing 12 men on the East Side. These, they claim, may be lost as follows: Walla Walla, 3; Yakima, 3; Kittitas, 2; Spokane, 2; Asotin, 1; Columbia, 1.

Without further analysis other than to state there is a hard fight against Englehart in Yakima, and Wilson in Walla Walla, these figures can be verified to this extent: The Democrats will lose these districts. And it is pretty certain they will lose more.

For example, Spokane County, where Wilson and Turner are fighting it out, will split nearly even. The Fifth and Sixth Districts, having Senatorial candidates to elect, are Republican, the Fifth by a big majority, and the Sixth by a smaller margin. In the Fifth the Democrats base their hopes on Rasher, a popular business man and candidate for Senator. They expect him to beat Schiller and concede the two Representatives to the Republicans. But the Sixth District ought to elect Republicans, too. The other districts, three in number, with six candidates for Representatives to elect, are doubtful.

McBride May Have Hurt Ticket.

The Seventh District, in Whitman County, has always been Republican. Unless McBride has hurt the ticket materially, it ought to be so this year. The death of Lattrum in the Eighth District has hurt the Republican ticket. Though the district is Democratic, Lattrum was very popular.

The result in Stevens County, where a Senator and two Representatives are to be elected, will be influenced largly by the size of the Socialists' vote. They are stronger in Stevens than anywhere else in the state, and may poll a vote sufficient to defeat the Democratic ticket. Republicans count upon this factor, while Democrats are anxious.

In Ferry County, George Hurley, Republican candidate for Joint Senator, the district, including Okanogan and Douglas, will have a big majority. The result for the House is doubtful. Douglas may elect a Democrat, but the Republicans are making a determined fight for the place.

M. E. Field has become involved in a factional fight in Chelan, and the probable election of Adams, the Democratic nominee, is conceded by Republicans. Okanogan is doubtful, and so is Adams, though the Democrats claim both counties by good majorities. Lincoln will elect two Democratic Representatives.

SLAIN IN THEIR OWN HOME

RANCHER AND HIS MOTHER MEET A TERRIBLE DEATH.

Heads Are Beaten Into a Jelly—Some Suspect Trainrobber, Others a Demented Woman.

BUTTE, Mont., Oct. 28.—James Conn, a wealthy ranchman, on Willow Creek, was found shot to death in his home today. His mother lay upon the floor with her skull crushed in and cannot live. The murderer is believed to be the lone bandit who held up the North Coast Limited Friday morning.

A member of a threshing crew on an adjoining ranch had occasion to visit the Conn ranch. When he entered the farmhouse a terrible sight presented itself. On the floor, with the brains oozing from his head, lay James Conn dead with a ragged bullet hole through his temple. Near him lay his mother, her head crushed in with a blunt instrument, presumably the butt of a revolver.

At the time of the hold-up of the Northern Pacific train bloodhounds were put upon the trail of the robber, and the dogs followed it for several miles in the direction of the Willow Creek district, but lost the scent. Those familiar with the country declared at the time of the robbery that in all probability the outlaw would attempt to escape that way, as the country is such as to afford an excellent opportunity to evade capture, being heavily timbered.

The discovery of the crime was made at 4 o'clock this afternoon, and officers are now at the scene. Near the stable the threshing men met a demented woman who had lived with the Conn family for some time. This woman killed her husband about 20 years ago, and it is suggested that perhaps she committed the tragedy. The scene of the crime is also about 30 miles from Bearmouth, remote from the wires, and details are meager.

LOOKS DARK FOR MOLINEUX.

Handwriting Experts All Give Very Damaging Evidence.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28—Herbert L. Twichell, an assistant teller at the Chase National Bank, testified as an expert in handwriting today in the trial of Roland B. Molineux. He said he had carefully examined all the handwriting exhibits in the case, the conceded and disputed writings, including the poison package address, and he believed that all were written by the same hand. Edwin B. Hay, a handwriting expert of Washington, agreed with the other experts who have been called that all the writings in the case, disputed and admitted, were made by the same hand.

After recess Charles E. Colver, formerly paying teller of a Newark bank, where Molineux had an account, identified the writing "H. Cornish" on the blue paper as Molineux's.

Alvin A. Harpster, a friend of Molineux, testified as at the previous trial. The prosecution alleges that the hostility manifested to Harpster by Molineux was a part of the hostility defendant manifested to Cornish, and that such hostility showed the motive for the alleged attempt on the life of Cornish which resulted in the death of Mrs. Adams.

Mr. Osborne told the court he intended to offer the testimony given at the last trial by Mamie Melando, the first witness at that trial to connect Molineux with the blue crescent paper, and by Joseph Farrell, a policeman of Newark. "Our papers show," Mr. Osborne said, "that these persons are in Newark, and without the jurisdiction of this court."

Ex-Governor Black argued that the testimony of former witnesses may only be read under the criminal code in case of the death or insanity of the missing witnesses. Further argument followed, and at its close Justice Lambert declined to render his decision offhand. He said he would announce his ruling tomorrow.

At the joint suggestion of all the counsel the court dismissed the jury until tomorrow, that he might hear more extended arguments from the lawyers on the question of the admissibility of testimony of Farrell and Mamie Melando. The arguments of counsel were brief, and Justice Jambert then formally adjourned the court for the day.

BANK SAFE BLOWN OPEN.

Robbers Take Their Time, While Pals Hold Few People at Bay.

DES MOINES, Ia., Oct. 28.—At Prairie City, early this morning, robbers dynamited the safe of the Iowa State Bank and secured an amount approximating $4000. They exchanged an fusillade of shots with local officers and escaped.

Night Watchman Erskine discovered four men approaching the bank at 1 o'clock. One of the men cornered him and kept him covered with a rifle for three hours, while another broke open the bank door and worked on the safes. The other two men patrolled the street, and by a system of signals were able to hold at bay several citizens attracted to the scene. Five dynamite shots were fired by the man in the bank before he succeeded in getting at the cashbox.

At 4 o'clock the men escaped after firing a number of shots to terrify the citizens and shooting through a door at Erskine, who had opened fire. A posse was quickly formed and is now on the trail.

ANDREWS' BOND NOT GOOD.

Detroit Bank Wrecker Still Occupies a Cell in County Jail.

DETROIT, Oct. 28.—Attorneys for Frank C. Andrews, the convicted vice-president of the wrecked City Savings Bank, announced today that they had secured three bondsmen to make up the $100,000 bail fixed by the Supreme Court for Andrews' release, pending the hearing of a motion for a new trial. J. Elisha Windor, of Los Angeles, Cal., and ex-Sheriff James Hanley and David Neiderlander, of Detroit, called at the Recorder's Court to qualify on the bond. The sum total of real estate offered by these three as a pledge amounted to but $190,000, Windor $75,000, Hanley $50,000 and Neiderlander $65,000—while Judge Murphy ruled that Andrews must furnish two bondsmen who shall each be able to qualify for $100,000. Judge Murphy also ruled that Mr. Windor could not qualify on account of his being a non-resident. Accordingly, Andrews remains in the Wayne County Jail.

MOB CALLS HIM "TRACY."

New York Man's Rescue Presents a Hard Task for Police.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Two men, shot through the legs, are in Bellevue Hospital, and one man is locked up as the result of a fusillade of bullets fired in a shooting gallery in a basement in Ninety-eighth street and Third avenue. The prisoner sought the protection of a policeman after he had been chased up Third avenue and through Fourteenth street by a crowd who were shouting: "Tracy, the outlaw! Kill him."

With a rifle over his shoulder, his face cut and bloody, his collar ripped off and his shirt torn, the man, when captured, said he was David Wemmer, proprietor of the shooting gallery, and declared he had shot no one. One of the injured men, William Saunders, was passing the gallery when the bullets began to fly into the street. Louis Rassler, the second wounded man, Wemmer declared, was the cause of the trouble.

The shooting gallery man explained to the police that he had quarreled with his wife recently, and that she had left home. In his search for her, he inquired at the home of one of his acquaintances. The latter, with several friends, came to the gallery, he said, and started a fight. The rifles lying about were caught up and a fusillade followed. He fled into the street, rifle in hand, but he did not shoot. The crowd took up the chase and in a few moments 250 persons were howling at Wemmer's heels. The police had great difficulty in making the station with their prisoner.

NOT THE TRAINROBBER.

Man Charged With Northern Pacific Hold-Up Released.

BUTTE, Mont., Oct. 28.—A special to the Miner from Missoula says that Vanhazendoct, who was held on suspicion of being the lone bandit who held up the North Coast Limited on the Northern Pacific at Bearmouth last Friday morning, has been released by the authorities. Trainmen who confronted the prisoner today were unable to identify him as the robber.

Another Man Held on Suspicion.

BUTTE, Mont., Oct. 28.—A man giving his name as Michael Mucahy is in jail here under suspicion of being the one who held up the Northern Pacific train in Mulkey Canyon Sunday. The police say he exactly answers the description given by the passengers on the express and by the train crew. He refuses to speak or to give an account of himself during the past three days. He will be held for examination.

Acquitted of Murder of Husband.

FAIR PLAY, Colo., Oct. 28.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Uplide Valley, charged with complicity in the murder of her husband, today brought in a verdict of "not guilty."
