CHURCH CIVES $1200

Dr. Coleman Aided by Taylor-Street Methodists.

RAISE WILLAMETTE DEBT

College President Has Received Subscriptions of Over $20,000 Toward Paying Off Indebtedness of $35,000.

Rev. J. H. Coleman, president of Willamette University, spoke in behalf of the university at the Taylor-Street Methodist Church yesterday afternoon and evening, and secured over $1200 in collections, and pledges, all of which is to be devoted to the college debt.

President Coleman has been in office but a few months, and in that time he secured over $18,000 to apply to the debt, which amounted to $35,000 when he was called to Willamette. It has been only by the hardest sort of work that Mr. Coleman has raised this amount in such a short time, and the college is deeply indebted to him for his efforts.

Yesterday's contribution of $1200 will swell the grand total of money received for the debt to over $20,000, or consider over half of the outstanding debt, Mr. Coleman will not rest until he has secured all the $25,000 necessary to give the university a clean record sheet.

THE HIGHEST OFFICE.

A. L. Venzie Speaks at the Y. M. C. A on the Daily Christian Life.

Attorney A. L. Veszie addressed an in-terested audience yesterday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. on "The Highest Office." On account of the inclement weather a smaller audience than usuall was as-sembled in the auditorium, but those who came found food for deep thought in the remarks of Mr. Veazie. Miss Stella Garner sang an attractive soprano solo and the many hymns were sung in the hearty manner always heard in the rooms of the association. "Christianity is not simply the putting on of some accomplishment, such as music or one of the arts. It is for everyone," declared the speaker. "The quotation, "Love not the world nor the things that are of the world,' is applicable here.

"This is not a Sunday message; it is a Monday messenger; for too many do not follow out their Sunday religion during the rest of the week. The beatitudes are for every man, not for anyone alone. Put your religion into your daily life and ou will be a better man.

"The one that is righteous doeth right The man that is not filled with Christianity is like the Christmas tree with many glittering ornaments that do not grow there. The highest office is to be a true and upright follower of Christ."

The Truth-Seckers' Association held a meeting last evening at which Mrs. Adh R. Smith gave a very practical demon-stration of the workings of occult philosophy and acted as a medium for spirits who were longing for communication with their friends on earth. Dr. W. E. Cope-land, of Burley, Wash., told of the first munifestations he had experienced—that a great something was in control of his mind and body. Dr. Copeland believes that this is one of his many reincarnations and also thinks that he is a descendant of the inhabitants of the submerged Atlantic. The pricets of Atlantis, he says, taught him many things in his youth, and he predicted occurrence and outcome of the Civil War in 1854. His address was interesting and was warmly ap-planded by his followers.

Mrs. Smith brought the spirits of "Mary Becker," an intangible Mrs. Darling, and a still more mysterious "Aunt Polly" into the room, and by allowing an etheric wave of vibration to guide her she singled out the persons who had desired that those spirits come forth.

Business Men and the Church.

The Men's League of the First Congre gational Church has been formed, with the idea of seeing what can be done with the much-debated question. "What is the reason the business men do not attend church?" The league is composed of business men, and they planned the Sunday ing services themselves. The objects be league are to increase the interest and effectiveness of the Sunday evening religious life and secular life are not necessarily out of harmony. The league has a strong corps of officers and committees. The latter are changed every month, so that all may have a voice in arrang

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The board of special inquiry at Ellis Island adjourned to day without taking up the case of the II Cuban children who came here Saturday on the Ward Line steamer Orizaba, destined for Point Loma, Cal., to be educated and cared for at the farm of the Universal Brotherhood, conducted under the direction of Mrs. Katherine Tingley. The children are detained on the island and Dr. Gertrude Van Holt, in whose charge they came from Santiago, is with Commissioner Williams said today that the case of the children opens an impor-tant and interesting question, which will probably be used to establish a precedent for the guidance of the department in the matter of admission of Cuban children to this country for the purpose of education. The technical point on which the children will be deported, if the board shall dewill be deported, if the board shall decide to debar them, he says, will be that they are liable to become a public charge.

IN THE LONDON PAPERS. Morgan, the Speyers and a Baron Write Letters.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—Not the least re-markable feature of the "tube" railroad controversy here is the appearance of such firms as the Morgans and Speyer Bros., as contributors to the correspond-ence columns of the London newspapers. The Speyers followed up the acrimonious debate in the House of Commons "tube" debate in the House of Commons Thursday night by publishing an open letter in the London papers disclaiming all responsibility for the defeat of the Morgan bills and explaining that they had bought out the United Tramway shares in the course of usual business long before the rupture between the Morgans and the United Tramway management. The Morgans replied through the Times char-acterizing Speyer Bros', explanation "as entirely incorrect," recounting the history of the Yerkes Company and declaring that the Morgans have been purposely kept ignorance of the sale of the Union Tramway Company stock until the very moment the London United bill was with drawn before the parliamentary commit-

Curiously enough, Sir Lewis McIver, chairman of the House of Commons Railroad Commission, who was a bitter participant in the debate of October 30, writes to the Times explaining that he did not mean anything by his vigorous condemnation of the members of the Stock Exchange for connection with the "tube" tangle and declaring that he believed the purchasers of the shares in question were perfectly within their rights

FILIBUSTERING IN COREA. Arms and Ammunition Landed There by a Britisher.

He was arrested by soldlers of Barabash Barracks and a copy of the Siberian map compiled by Russian ordinance survey being found in his possession he was taken to Vladi-vostok and jailed. The three other Japanese were shop clerks engaged at Habin and were returning to Japan. Sketches of barracks seen en route were found in their possession, and this led to their arrest. Protests regarding the arrests are being made by Japanese officials.

The Pekin government is much troubled about the matter. Before dying Llu Kun Yi recommended Chan Chi Tung as his successor. Dweller on the Boundary Line Compares the Assessment and Taxation Laws.

CHETCO, Or., Oct. 20.—(Special cor-respondence.)—Seven miles or so north of Smith River Corners, I crossed the state line between Oregon and California. An oak post about 4x4 stands alongside the road, and on the hillside above the lands of Mr. Miser is a stone montarm lands of Mr. Miser is a stone mon-ument. Frank Miser's house stands on the state line, on the northern boundary of Del Norte County, California, and southern boundary of Curry County, Oregon. There are three bedrooms, half the sitting-room and half the dining-room in California and half the sitting-room, half the dining-room and all the kitchen in Oregon. Mr. Miser and family can sleep in one state and eat in the other, and he can pay his taxes on personal property in either state. His farm of 440 acres has 205 acres in California and 235 acres in Oregon.
I asked Mr. Miser: "Where do you pay your taxes? "I pay on the north half of my farm in Oregon, to Curry County, and on the south half in California, in Del Norte

"Where," I asked, "do you pay the taxes on your personal property?"
"I pay all my taxes on personal prop-erty in California."

Why?" I asked. "Because, although property is assessed lower in Oregon than California, and there is an exemption of $300 which California has not, still it pays me to pay in California, as the levy is so much lower. The Oregon method of assessment favors the man with little property, but when a man has personal property worth several thousand dollars he can save considerable by paying the taxes in Del

"What do you think of the low values placed on real estate by Assessors in Oregon?"

"I think they are making a great mis-take and hurting the State of Oregon. In the first place it injures the credit of the person assessed. If I should want a short credit from an Oregon banker or storekeeper, he would look up my assessment and find it about one-half what I am really worth, but he would rate my credit on that assessment. If I go to a banker or storekeeper in California for credit, he looks up my assessment and it is about what I am really worth, and I get my rating of credit higher in conse-quence. I believe a man should protect his credit as well as his capital. If were to have my cattle, horses, hogs and sheep assessed in Oregon, I would pay out more money in taxes on account of the high levy, as personal property is as-sessed about the same in both states. I would much prefer to have my land lying in Oregon assessed for three times its present assessed value, and the tax levy one-third, as that would cest me no more money, and yet show my true credit

Why do the Assessors place such low values on farm lands and real estate?"
"They claimed it reduced the amount of state tax each county would have to pay, but they can have no such now, as, according to a recent law, I understand the state levy is not made on the basis of the county valuation, but upon the amount each county expends lo cally, and it seems to me the Assess should now assess all property, b real and personal, at its true value, and make Oregon appear the rich state she sally is today, and bring the levy in each county down to 16 or 16 miles on the dol-

When you arrive at Windchuck bridge, just over the California line, about five sales from Chelco, and cross the bridge, the roads fork, the left-hand one leading here and the right-hand up Windchuck Valley, passing first through the dairy farm of Mr. White. In the grove along the creek is the place where Sum-mer campers from Smith River and Crescent City pitch their tents and come to and fish. Both Windchuck and Chetco Rivers have the reputation of be s used vehicles of all descriptions. It can be used. Mr. White has himself estimated that 600,000 persons visited speared a dozen salmon in one day, fine tain trout in one day. These fishing grounds extend from seven to 20 miles into the mountains, and are good right from tide water.

Along Chetco and Windchuck Rivers are found deer and bear. A person can go out any time, I am told, and raise a deer within two miles of the wagon road, and black and brown bear are found about six miles back in the mountains, and are particularly abundant just after the acorns fall, when they are fattening up for Winter. Black bears feed on blackberries, huckleberrries and acorns, which are very plentiful. It may be mentioned in this connection that acorns are fine feed for hogs, and when there are fewer bears here, many more hogs will be raised. A black bear's hide, when propfrom $10 to $25, and a bear will weigh from $00 to $25, and a bear will weigh from 300 to 500 pounds and makes very good meat. Of the fur-bearing animals there are coons, mink, skunk, otter, marten, lynx, wild cat, fox and cougar for California. Head and the cougar for California. (or California lion), and there are many here who make their entire living from trapping. Coons in particular are very abundant. Years ago elk were abundant and could be seen in large herds, and one man reports having seen, in 1854, as many as 500 together on Lone Ranch, about eight miles from here. At the present time elk are seen only occasion-ally, and then two or three together. There are said to be some elk in the redwood timber and on Pistol River, north

Copper and Gold. Prospectors tell me there are ledges of copper and gold rock on the headwaters of Windchuck, Chetco and Pistol Rivers, and the gravel bars along each of these streams all contain more or less gold and some of them are worked every year. Very little prospecting has been done, as there are not even trails to follow and the country is rough, and until a rail-road is built or the Chetco harbor is improved, it will be impossible to develo these ledges without expending a great deal of money, which people here do not have. So the mineral country will wait for the prospector's pick and shovel un-til he can see his way clear to realize on what he may find within a reasonable time. The indications are said to be very favorable for them, there being sor large gold and copper ledges developed in the mountains in Curry County.

. Beautiful Scenery. What struck me particularly as I traveled the wagon road along the coast in the vicinity of Chetco was the beauty of the scenery. The farm lands lie along the shore of the ocean and extend back to the foothills, distant from a half-mile to two miles, and the county road leads along the foothills and you look out across the farms and pasture lands, which have a gradual slope towards the ocean, out across the bosom of the Pacific, while behind you tower the mountains, hundreds of feet high and bare of timber until near the summits. It seems as though Nature had prepared the land and water so as to combine them in a beautiful landscape, which might be con-veniently and easily enjoyed by man. You can look down the coast and se waves breaking on the shore as far as Point St. George, near Crescent City, and California. One year ago the labor unions elected by a large majority the Mayor farming increased tenfold.

Verge

Of Insanity Despite Doctor's Care. Nervous Cramps in

Hands and Feet. Dr. Miles' Nervine Was

My Salvation.

Sleeplessness is at once a symptom and a disease. Just as soon as the nerves become deranged the patient suffers from sleeplessness. Deprived of their natural rest the nerves soon lose all force and vitality and white sleeplessness is a symptom in such cases it frequently becomes chronic and remains the chief effect of disordered nerves. Dr. Miles' Nervine quiets the nerves and strengthens them; soothes the tired brain and permits sleep; restores lost energy and vitality and brings sleep, health and strength. "Previous to our coming to the territory.

"Previous to our coming to the territory three years ago, we lived in Virginia, and it was there that I got acquainted with the wonderful powers of Dr. Miles' Nervine. I had been under the doctor's care and taking his medicine for over two years, but the nervous trouble that was gnawing my life away grew steadily worse. I had nervous cramps in my hands and legs, which would draw up and pain me so that I could not sleep at night. Often I never closed my eyes for days and nights together. The doctor finally told me he could do nothing more for me and that I was on the verge of insanity. He told me I might try your Nervine as a last resort, and it proved to be my salvation. When I had used four bottles of the remedy together with the Nerve and Liver Pills I had regained my former good health."—Mrs. MARTHA J. SHEFFER, Omer, Oklahoma.
