SECURED MANY RELICS.—George H. Hines, field secretary of the Oregon Historical Society, has returned from a very uccessful trip of four weeks through outhern Oregon, where he has been athering nistorical data and relics of all kinds. During his trip he traveled about 1200 miles and interviewed about 40 pioneers, making full notes of their accounts of their early experiences. He se-cured over 40 volumes of Pacific Coast papers, printed between 1860 and 1880; among them 15 complete volumes of the Sacramento Union, several volumes of the San Francisco Bulletin and 2 volumes of the Golden Era, of the time when it was at its zenith, and Bret Harte, Joa-quin Miller and others who have since become notable were serving their apprenticeship on it. He also secured two vol-umes of Harper's Weekly, printed during the period of the Civil War. He also secured an exceedingly interesting auto-graph letter of Captain George E. Pick-ett (afterward leader of the Confederate charge at Gettysburg) when he was in command at San Juan, Wash., February 12, 1861. He also collected a lot of relics pioneer days, Indian relics and curios. For the most part his work was among the people he has not visited before and in a field that should be revisited at the earliest possible moment. He says Southern Oregon is filling up rapidly and prosperity is the watchword in every part of that region. Mr. Hines will leave in a few days for a similar trip through East-

BIG BREAKERS AT CLATSOP -- A considerable number of people who have been sojourning at the seastle, Clatsop Beach, of late have been much interested in watching the extraordinary and wonder-ful tidal phenomenon, which is going on there. The rollers which came up the beach have been immense. On Friday last they came up level to the bulwark ut Grimes' and they break a mile out from the shore. These rollers increase in vol-ume daily as the moon approaches the full, and it is confidently expected by the interested crowd who watch them that in a few days they will sweep over everything along the beach. Over the raging seas can be seen Tillamook Rock looming up with the spray and spume drift breaking over the summit continuously. The nd scenery of the ocean in tim "heavy weather" is most wonderful and attractive to persons who live away from the coast. While the weather here has been very rainy, stormy and unpleasant most of the time for the past two weeks it has been comparatively pleasant and enjoyable at Clatsop, and visitors have been enjoying their stay there better, if possible, than in the Summer.

POOR SHOOTING AND HUNTING .- The rain supply having been exhausted dur-ing the night, it ceased raining yesterday orning. Fishermen took advantage of this to go out after Fall, or salmon trout, which are abundant in the Columbia Some 35 went over on the shore opposite Vancouver, and strung out along the river. Nearly all caught a few trout, but no one caught many. The fishermen said the day was too cold, but just how the fish found this out under 10 to 20 feet of water, it is difficult to imagine. One fisherman arrived in town at 2 p. m. with two nice trout. He said the duck hunters out on the Columbia slough were not doing much, as the ducks were very wild. The heavy rain the night before was enough to make them wild, and the cold high wind and the sunlight after the weather cleared up added to their shyness Close behind this fisherman came a hunter who confirmed his report. He had only a few ducks, and said the shooting all along the slough was poor all day. It is probable that "wild" ducks or shooting yesterday will be reported from all along down the river.
OREGON STILL IN THE LEAD.—An East.

ern man, who had just arrived in Oregon after spending a few weeks in California on the way, was riding up town in a crowded car, Saturday evening, when some of the passengers made remarks about the rainy weather, and said they wished it would let up for a while. "I have heard of Oregon raina," said the stranger, "but I have been spending two weeks in San Francisco, and I want to tell you it has been raining terribly there. I never saw anything like it, and don't believe that Oregon can hold a candle to California in the matter of rain." Some of the passengers smiled audibly. and if the stranger heard the rain coming down during the night he probably smiles, too, for there were several recordbreaking showers, which fairly split the shingles on the roofs. All who have lived in California know that sometimes when it starts to rain there it surprises the natives, but such efforts are spas-modic, and for a steady, continuous and copious downpour Oregon is the cham-

TREES WAIT FOR FROST.-Still no frost comes to help the trees don their gaudy Autumn livery, and they stand shivering in the raw, chilly breezes, in all sorts of rags and tatters. Some trees, principally locusts, black walnuts and a few maples, are stripped quite bare. Other maples have lost their leaves, but still hold bush-els of winged seeds, which will come fluttering and whirling down after the first frost. Others are still covered with faded leaves, and here and there one is seen almost as verdant as in June. Trees of all kinds vary greatly in the matter of shedding their foliage. A striking example of this is seen in the different varieties of elms. The large elms on and around the residence block of H. W. Corbett are all stripped of their leaves. The next block south, occupied by the Falling rea-idence, is surrounded by another kind of elm—the cork-barked variety—all of which are still covered with dense foli-age, every leaf being a beautiful golden yellow, and the whole forming a beautiful

GAME FOR THE POOR .- For a number of years many sportsmen and game clubs of this city have made it a rule to do-nate the results of one week's shooting to hospitals, charitable institutions, and deserving poor people. This they look upon as a sort of thank-offering to show their gratitude for good sport they have and it is also a thoughtful act of charity, especially at this season and when living is so high. The present week has been selected for this donation, and it is to be ped that the hunters may have good luck so that there will be game enough to "go 'round." Ducke have been so plenti-ful of late that they have been fairly a drug in the market, but the inmates of charitable institutions have hardly got tired of seeing duck on the table yet, and will be able to appreciate and enjoy

HARD WORK TO FIX SEWER .-- A small gang of men, who, under the superintendence of William Braden, have for years followed the unpleasant and unwholesome business of putting in order broken or choked sewers, have been busy of late on a more unpleasant and difficult job than usual. In repairing the East Side approach to the Madison-street bridge, which was damaged by fire, the piledrivers employed by the County Commissioners played smash with several lengths of ers played smash with several lengths of pipe forming the end of the Madison-street sewer. They did not drive all the sireet sewer. They aid not drive all the piles fairly through the sewer, but some six or seven piles were driven so as to break out sections of the pipe, some on one side and some on the other. The broken pipe had to be removed and re-placed by sound pipe, and in order to do this the piles had to be hewn away to make room for the pipe to go between them. In order to do this the men have to stand and work in the torrent of sewage which flows from the whole Madisonstreet sewer district, and as may easily be imagined the work is not pleasant. Men who do such work as this take their lives in their hands, and there is serious talk among the city authorities in regard to the injustice of their doing it for ordi-

HE AWOKE IN TIME.-A well-dressed man, considerably under the influence of liquor, was the star attraction for a bad quarter of an hour yesterday afternoon, at the gouthwest corner of Third and Washington streets. After making a speech to the crowd about the evils of intemperance, he fell asleep. A choice collection of men and boys surrounded him, and nearly every other man and woman who passed stopped and asked: "What's the matter?" One elderly man was under the impression that some sort of a curbstone meeting was being held, and audibly commented on the good listeners present. Then a policeman came in sight, went up the drowsy man and shook him, but the stranger refused to talk, and the po-liceman went away. "Guess he's gone for the patrol wagon," suggested one youth. The words had a magical effect on the drunk, for he solemnly arose, saying: "Won't go paytrol, hic, wagonsh," and walked up Third street. In a few minutes the policeman, who had gone for reinforcements, came back, very much surprised that the drunk was gone. "It's a good thing for him," he said significantly.

FEW PHEASANTS TO COME.-Those who have been expecting to see the markets overstocked with Mongolian pheasants today and for the remainder of the month are likely to be disappointed. Dealers have had numerous inquiries from various parts of the Willamette Valley as to how much they would pay for pheasants, but, owing to the long spell of stormy weather, they do not expect to receive any very large number. The price will probably be $1.25 to $1.50 per pair. Sportsmen and the public generally hope that there will be no great slaughter of the pheasants. Even the dealers say they hope that not many will come to market, as there is so much talk about the pheasants being ex-terminated. They would like to have a few for customers who wish to taste these fine birds once or twice in a sea-son, but do not want to see large numbers sent in. There is plenty of waterfowl on the market of the best quality and at very reasonable prices, and occasionally suipe can be obtained, and if people snipe can be obtained, and if people would be content with these, and allow the pheasants which have escaped the hunter till this time to go free there might be more pheasants next season. HOW A PONY RACE ENDED .- Two boys each about 14 years old, mounted on shaggy ponies, caused the latter to race along Fourth street near Stark, yesterday af-ternoon, at full speed, to the imminent danger of passers-by. Policeman Parker came up with the wild horsemen, just as the latter stopped their ponics for breath. "Do you boys think you are on a race track?" he asked. "We were just having a little race." said one of the culprits, beginning to look a little frightened. "Dist from your ponies and come with was the policeman's order. Both boys were taken to the police station. and were severely reprimanded by the police officials, while their ponies looked through the windows to see what was going on. Both boys protested that they did not know that it is against the law to ride horses at a rapid galt within the city limits, and were allowed to go after promising to be more careful in the fu-

HARD TIMES IN WRITECHAPEL -- Business, in the matter of arrests for crime, is quieter at the police station this month than it has been for a long time, due to the fact, the police say, that vice in than it has been for a long time, due to the fact, the police say, that vice in Whitechapel is now sharply regulated. "Ninety-five per cent of Whitechapel ar-rests is due to the drinking of liquor, di-rectly or indirectly," said a policeman on Third street, last night. "The people we arrest around here are either drunk, or they have been drinking, or they have got into some saloon row. All the sporting resort people along Fourth etreet say that trade is so poor they are losing money. Various saloons on my beat have only a sprinkling of customers, and as a conse-quence there are fewer people to arrest."

BRITISH COLUMBIA WILL EXHIBIT.-R. E. Gosnell, commissioner of the Lewis and Clark Exposition for British Columbia, assures The Oregonian that his gov-ernment will make an appropriation for the fair. He writes: "I understand that the Dominion government has under consideration the advisability of making exhibit, and, if so, it is possible that the Dominion of Canada and the Province of British Columbia would co-operate. The jolly play of Hoyt's, "A Contented Woman," now at the Baker, is a very good example of the power of pure fun. It is a comical hit at the woman suffragist, and its many scenes turn on the adventures of two factions in a municipal struggle. One is headed by Holmes, who is the "reform" candidate for Mayor; the other is the woman's faction, and its candidate is Mrs. Holmes

The full strength of the cast is brought out, so far as comedy goes, and Mina Gleason as Aunt Jim is a giorlous success. Her work displays not only talent but artistic skill of the highest type. Mr. Wyn-gate's role is good humor, with an occa-sional chance for genuine acting. His manner is very good, and his scenes with Miss Countiss are both sharp satire and comedy, Miss Esmond as Mrs. Ebbsmith is effective in the most unexpected way That shows Miss Esmond's art. Miss Sutton and Miss McNeill are heroically comical, and their somewhat artless exhibition of how a man is supposed to do things is extremely good, better than they know. Miss Helen Holt (Calliopa Ayers). who is a beginner, speaks out clearly and shows talent. A little better control of her hands would benefit. There are many features, among them a ttio of woman's right apostles, who vent their aspirations in a pathetic ditty that brings tears of undiluted joy to the masculine heart. Then Miss Rhoads proves and one worth cultivating with care. The vaudeville specialties are clever and amus-ing. The duo by Sylvester and Jones is as good as can be asked anywhere. Miss Dorothy Bernard made a deserved hit. The facial control of Mr. Siddle as Boyle Dowell, the prize-fighter, descrives special notice. He very nearly absorbed the attention of the whole house during a part of the first act.

The whole performance is good, indeed, and it shows careful restraint in that it is played legitimately throughout. Every one does well, and two crowded houses displayed their enthusiasm in repeated

EAKE HAIR PREPARATIONS to Fall Out.

Do Hair No Good, but Often Cause It

Many hair preparations are "fake" because they are merely scalp irritants. They often cause a dryness, making the hair brittle, and, finally, lifeless. Dandruff is the cause of all trouble with hair, It is a germ disease. The germ makes cuticle scales as it digs to the root of the hair, where it destroys the hair's vitality, causing the hair to fall out. To cure Dandruff, the germ must be killed. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Newbro's Herpicide is the only hair preparation that kills the dandruff germ, thereby leaving the hair to grow luxuri-antly. For sale by all druggists. Send antly. 10 cents in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.
