LOSSES BY FIRE

$12,767,100 in the Two States.

IT WAS A BAD SEPTEMBER

Forests Burned Through Carelessness.

600,000 ACRES DEVASTATED

Oregon's Loss Was Much Less Than That of Washington—Some of the Timber May Be Saved by Early Sawing.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Nov. 20.—The Bureau of Forestry, after careful examination by a field agent, estimates that September forest fires in Oregon and Washington caused a total loss of $12,767,100, of which $3,910,000 fell in Oregon. This includes the value of timber, farm property and sawmills and their products which were destroyed. Owing to its nearness to market, however, much of the burned timber in Oregon will be saved, reducing the total loss as above set forth. It was found that 86 Oregon families were rendered homeless, while 200 others suffered partial losses. In that state farm property worth $315,000 was burned, and sawmills suffered losses aggregating $149,000. It is estimated that 2,124,000,000 feet of standing timber went up in smoke in Oregon, largely Douglas fir, spruce, cedar and hemlock. The total loss in timber alone was over $3,000,000. In all, 170,000 acres were burned over, all of which, save 50,000, were well timbered.

In Washington 434,000 acres were burned over. The timber was fully as heavy as the Oregon timber, and of better quality. It is estimated that 5,026,800,000 feet of Douglas spruce alone was killed, representing a value of $5,026,800. Other timber to the value of $725,000 was destroyed. The total loss in Cowlitz, Clark and Skamania Counties, where the fires were most disastrous, was $6,600,800, and in the other burned areas, $2,256,500.

A singular chain of circumstances combined to make the fires so destructive. Not only was the Summer very dry, but the two preceding Summers were wet in May and June, thus interfering with the burning of slashings and allowing an unusual amount of debris to accumulate. The most direct cause was carelessness. This is shown distinctly by the fact that practically no damage was done in the Cascade forest reserve, which is patrolled by forest rangers.

In many instances the fires smoldered for considerable periods without attracting attention, and this in the face of the fact that the past season was one particularly favorable for forest fires. Many blazes started from the unextinguished campfires of berry-pickers or hunters, others resulted from careless burning of slashings, and one was known to have originated from locomotive sparks. With the exception of this case, reasonable precaution on the part of individuals would have prevented the loss of millions of dollars. It is the opinion of the bureau, after tracing many of the fires to the origin, that most of them could have been extinguished before they became serious.

PORTLAND POSTOFFICE PLAN.

To Be Prepared by the Department—Work in the Spring.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Nov. 20.—Senator Mitchell had a conference with the Supervising Architect of the Treasury Department today in regard to the Postoffice building at Portland. The Supervising Architect and the department hold that the plans submitted for the improvement by Postmaster Croasman cannot be adopted, for the reason that a building on this plan would present architectural features that would be an eyesore. The department is preparing plans of its own which will be adopted. The building will be nearly square in form, and will make suitable provision not only for the postoffice but for the Federal Courts and all other offices now in the Postoffice building. It will be necessary, therefore, to secure temporary quarters for the postoffice and other offices. The building will be enlarged and remodeled by contract as a whole, and it will perhaps be two months before the proposals will issue. Work cannot be commenced before the early Spring.

NOW NICARAGUA ROUTE

Friends for That Canal Are Picking Up Courage.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The check in the negotiations with Colombia relative to the Panama Canal has given great encouragement to the friends of the Nicaragua project, and the first evidence of renewed activity on their part was the appearance at the State Department today of Senor Corea, Nicaraguan Minister to Washington.

Secretary Hay has several times called the attention of the Colombian Government to the fact that under section 4 of the Spooner act, if he is unable to obtain control of the necessary territory in Colombia by treaty, then he is required to obtain such territory from Costa Rica and Nicaragua. It is now said to be probable that to emphasize the repeated declaration that the action of Congress in the passage of the Spooner amendment did not finally commit the United States to the acceptance of the Panama route, Secretary Hay may proceed to draw up a treaty with Nicaragua and Costa Rica and submit it to the Senate along with such a treaty with Colombia as he may be able to conclude. In this way the Senate itself might decide whether or not the Colombian treaty is satisfactory, and if it should decide in the negative, then it will have at hand the Nicaraguan-Costa Rican treaties so that there will be no excuse for delay in the canal project.

As for the Columbian negotiations, it can be stated that the United States has now gone to the practical end of the concessions it is willing to make. The Colombian Minister here has been notified of the decision reached and is expected to make further reply either accepting or rejecting our last proposition. One of the objections lodged by Colombia is the difference over the tenure of the United States in the canal strip. Prominent Senators who have been consulted by the State Department have indicated their strong opposition to the acceptance of a hundred years' lease with provision for renewal as sufficient to meet the provisions of the Spooner act. Nothing less than "perpetual control" as set down in the act will satisfy them. The Colombians say that would be a violation of their constitution. But a careful reading of the Colombian constitution by the officials here does not satisfy them that there is any such prohibition against alienation of territory as is represented.

SHORT SHRIFT FOR NEGRO

Identified as Ravisher of Two White Women.

SULLIVAN, Ind., Nov. 20.—George Moore, the negro who criminally assaulted Mrs. Mary Davis, of Sullivan County, and Mrs. John Lemon, of Knox County, on Tuesday last, was hanged to a telegraph pole one mile east of John Lemon's farm at 8 o'clock tonight by a mob. Moore was captured at Lawrenceville, Ill., late yesterday, after a battle with the Town Marshal, during which the negro was shot three times and severely wounded. He was then taken to Robinsonville for safekeeping.

John Lemon, husband of one of the women who had been assaulted by the negro, with a party of friends, went to Lawrenceville last night and identified him as the woman's assailant. Late this afternoon he was brought to Sullivan in a wagon by the Sheriff and his deputies, to be taken before the woman for further identification. The Sheriff and his deputies attempted to slip into the town with the prisoner, but a mob of 40 or 50 farmers, heavily armed, took the prisoner away from them and started the investigation themselves. The negro was taken to the home of Mrs. Davis, where he was identified, and then the mob started with the negro for the farm of John Lemon, 10 miles from this city. The mob in the meantime had swelled to enormous proportions. The negro was identified by Mrs. Lemon. The crowd then started back to Sullivan with the prisoner, but one mile east of the Lemon farm a rope was thrown over the arm of a telegraph pole and the trembling wretch was quickly jerked into the air. The Governor had ordered out the Vincennes militia to protect the negro, but his instructions were received too late.

After hanging the negro, the mob quietly dispersed. It was composed mostly of farmers, but was largely augmented by citizens of Sullivan, Oaktown and other towns of this county.

It was learned late tonight that the negro who had previously given his name as James Dillard and his home as Kentucky, just before he was hanged, told members of the mob that his true name was George Moore, that he lived in Indianapolis and asked them to ship his body there to his mother.

INSANITY THE DEFENSE.

John McGeary Case Will Go to Jury Tomorrow.

ANACONDA, Mont., Nov. 20.—Judge J. L. Wines, of counsel for the defense in the John McGeary murder case, testified as the first witness in the District Court this morning. The attorney testified that he had asked McGeary the question: "John, what was your idea in making a different statement on the stand regarding what took place on the day of the trouble than you made to Mr. Trippet and me?"

The attorney testified that McGeary answered: "You deceive me."

Then the witness said he asked: "McGeary, who do you mean?" but his client said no more.

This testimony of the counsel and that from Dennis McCarthy, Charles Gallagher, James Leary, Dan Gartland, J. Peronet, ex-Deputy Sheriff Joe Daly, Miss Thompson, the Hearst librarian; William Tolan, Thomas Maguire and Margaret McGeary, the latter relatives, was all for the purpose of showing the defendant insane. Dr. Ignatius Donnelly and Dr. Norcross, of Butte, testified that they believed McGeary is and was on the day of the shooting laboring under an illusion of persecution, in which he believed William G. Evans, whom he killed, was the persecutor. The case will go to the jury Saturday.

Had Warned the Daughter.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 20.—James McFarlane, father of Florence McFarlane, who was killed, it is alleged by Mrs. Frank Young, at Rochester, N. Y., Monday, learned of his daughter's death upon his arrival here today. Mr. McFarlane was preparing to telegraph his daughter a birthday present when the news of her death was broken to him.

DENVER, Nov. 20.—A special to the Republican from Rifle, Colo., says Charles Dykes and a man named Murphy terrorized that place for some time this afternoon, "shooting up the town," holding up saloons, capturing and disarming two Deputy Sheriffs, and shooting a young ranchman named David Morford in the leg. They then rode out of town. The Sheriff and a posse is in search of them.

TO PUSH THE TARIFF

Active Campaign for Revision at Coming Session.

PRESIDENT IN FAVOR OF IT

But He Does Not Believe in Putting Measure Forward Until There Shall Be Assurance Republicans Will Not Beat It.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Nov. 20.—An active campaign in behalf of tariff revision is to be commenced at the beginning of the coming session of Congress, and is to be continued throughout the session. The object of the effort will be to arouse sentiment in Congress, and especially in the Senate, in favor of amending some of the tariff schedules alleged to be unnecessarily high and putting them on a strictly protective basis. Some politicians who are familiar with President Roosevelt's attitude on the subject believe that he would be glad to have Congress, at as early a date as practicable, enter upon the work of revision, provided there can be assurance beforehand of making a clean job of it.

At the last session the President several times stated to Congressional visitors that he did not want Congress to take up the subject of tariff revision until the way was clear in both houses for carrying it through. In other words, if he should recommend and a majority of the Republicans of the House should concur in the proposition that it was wise and necessary to revise the tariff, and then a coterie of ultra-protectionists in the Senate should succeed in frustrating the effort, the Republicans would suffer more than if the attempt had not been made. That has been the President's argument right along. He insists that the work should not be commenced until all possible obstacles to its completion shall have been removed. In plain English, that means until the ultra-protectionist Senators can be convinced by the majority sentiment in the Senate. It may be said frankly that the time has not arrived when it seems that this can be done.

The campaign from now on will be for the purpose of convincing the men who are standing in the way of revision that the welfare of the Republican party in the next election depends upon something being done in the way of revision in the mentime. Pains will be taken to show that this is not a movement toward free trade, but a step to preserve the integrity of the protective principle. It will be urged that only the schedules which go beyond the point of affording protection will be pruned, and that they will not be pruned below the point of protection. It will be contended that such action will meet the popular demand and prevent more radical action later, if something be not done in the near future.

KING LEOPOLD SPEAKS.

Last Days to Be Devoted to Liberties of His People.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 20.—King Leopold made a somewhat striking reply today to a deputation from the Chamber headed by the President, who presented His Majesty with an address of congratulation on his escape Saturday from the anarchist's bullet. After thanking the deputies the King continued:

"The times are very troubled. Agitators are constantly stirring up their followers to disturb that order which is the guarantee of public liberties. Without order only license remains, which leads inevitably to despotism. These agitators find in their path firstly the heads of states. If they fail to reach them they attack their wives, as in the case of the horrible drama at Geneva. Their blows are also aimed at Ministers, as in the case of Senor Canovas, and they also blow up the houses of private individuals. They want to intimidate us, but they will not succeed. Even if they struck down the head of the state it would make no difference, as we would soon be replaced.

"In addition to revolver shots, they employ the pen, which can write what calumnies they please. I am nearing the end of my life. I do not know how long I shall live—how long they will let me live, but I can assure you all the rest of my existence will be devoted, within the limits of my constitutional powers, to the good of my country and the protection of its liberties."

CRUELTY OF A MOTHER.

Magistrate's Wife Charged With Abusing 7-Year-Old Daughter.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Extraordinary charges of cruelty on the part of a mother to her child, recalling the Montague case, in the North of Ireland, and which created world-wide interest about 10 years ago, are now being heard at the Old Bailey. In the present case, Mrs. Annie Penruddocks, of Compton Park, Wiltshire, the wife of a magistrate and a large landed proprietor, was charged with brutally assaulting and ill treating her 7-year-old daughter. The court was filled with fashionably attired women, many of whom were leaders of the county society of Wiltshire and close friends of the defendant. Several of the best-known counsel were engaged. According to the statement of the Crown Prosecutor, which was corroborated by governesses and servants, the cruelties had been going on for two years, and included beating the child with nettles, systematic neglect, ill treatment, assault and partial starvation. One form of punishment was to make the child, which is named Letitia, stand on the bough of a tree in inclement weather for hours at a time.

MEMBER OF PARLIAMENT MOBBED.

Irish Don't Take Kindly to His Land Scheme.

BELFAST, Nov. 20.—Mr. Russell, the Unionist member of Parliament, was stoned by a mob after he had addressed a meeting at Dromore last night. The rioters attacked the hall where Mr. Russell had made his speech, and caused him to seek refuge in a neighboring house, whence he tried to escape in a carriage. The mob discovered him and bombarded the buggy with stones. Mr. Russell was struck on the head, but not seriously injured.

(Thomas Russell, Liberal-Unionist member for South Tyrone, began another land campaign near Belfast early in October. He declared that 80 per cent of the landlords were ready to sell their land under a fair scheme, and suggested a new basis for land purchase, under which the state would give $50,000,000 for the benefit of the landlords. Mr. Russell is opposed to home rule for Ireland.)

AMENDMENTS OFFERED.

Scramble to Get in Early on the Education Bill.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—The completion of the first stage of the education bill in the House of Commons tonight was the occasion of a curious scene. On what was thought to be the final decision being taken, a knot of members came racing into the House, in order to be the first to hand amendments for the report stage of the bill, the foremost being Lord Hugh Cecil and Sir Charles Dilke. Hats rolled on the floor, and one member fell down in the scrimmage. It then appeared that there was still another division to be taken, when the same scene was repeated. Sir Charles Dilke, an old athlete, beating many of the younger men in the race.

The clerks at the table were almost overwhelmed by the mass of amendment papers, which will afford Premier Balfour a fine opportunity for the "guillotine" process.

WYNEE, Ark., Nov. 20.—Lige Wells, a negro, charged with assaulting Max Campbell, an Iron Mountain passenger conductor, with a knife and slightly wounding him, was taken from the officers tonight by a mob of armed men, and it is rumored that he was lynched. The officers had just boarded the train with their prisoner at this point to take him to Forest City, when a dozen masked men entered the coach and forced the officers to give up the negro. The mob left for the swamp country to the south of Wynee with the intention of lynching Wells. Information received tonight tends to show that the mob carried out its plans.

Fortifications for London.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Efforts of a far-reaching character have been set on foot to fortify the metropolis against a possible attack in case of war. In a conference with the Mayor the manager of the factories belonging to the Havana Commercial Company refused to recognize the strikers' union and declared that he would treat only with individuals. It is estimated that only 10,000 to 15,000 workers are out on strike.

The proprietor had been a victim of robbers, and catching a glimpse of the bottle, which he mistook for a pistol, in the brakeman's hand, suspected another attempt at hold-up. Securing a revolver, he fired twice before discovering the error. Both bullets took effect, and the brakeman sued on the ground that he was so crippled that he cannot pursue his former vocation.
