WHAT DR. PLUMMER MISSED.—It is not safe to leave farmhouses unprotected these days, as Dr. O. P. S. Plummer has found out. About a week ago he went out to his ranch near Bertha, as he fre-On going to his bedroom upstairs he found his crossout saw and auger lying on the floor tied up in sheets. He said several things not to be repeated, but in the morning he discovered that the best buggy harness, which he had left hanging in his tenant-house, which he also found un-locked, was missing with several other articles and he began to mistrust that something was wrong. On returning to town he told his story to Policeman Snow and gave him a description of the lost harness. Snow had seen such a harness on Front street and took Dr. Plummer down and showed him his harness and also a side-saddle which the thief had sold because he had, as he said, leased his farm and should not want them any more. The dealer described the man who sold him the harness and the doctor at ence recognized him as Fred A. Mullin, who had once been in charge of chicken ranch near his farm. A move was made for his capture, but he had been stealing other things and was wanted for lifting a lot of meerschaum pipes and the doctor found him in the City Jail and expressed his toy at the meeting and remarked that "the right man was in the right place for once, sure." "Say, Mullin, where is my clock, the wrench and other little things yen took?" saked the doctor, but Mullin, having been already committed, was having been already committed, was strictly noncommittal and the interview MOFFIT'S ESCAPE IN PORTLAND.-Robert

Percy Moffit, lately of Hong Kong, China, had a narrow escape from being arrested Wednesday afternoon, at the Union Terminal Depot, as he and his wife passed through here on a train en route for Seattle. He is wanted to answer a charge of having embezzled $2075 from the Dairy Farm Company, of Hong Kong, where he was employed as secretary of the company. He and Mrs. Moffit, traveling under the name of Mr. and Mrs. J. Perry, arrived in a steamer from the Orient, at San Francisco, at the early part of this week, and he was promptly arrested there on receipt of telegraphic instructions from the Orient by the British Consul at San Francisco, but obtained his release through a writ of habeas cor-pus, on the ground that he had been illegally arrested. Then he and his wife dis-appeared for the time being, and boarded a drawing-room car attached to a train going to this city. The train had hardly reached Portland, when James Laidlaw, the British Consul at this port, got a dispatch from the British Consul at San Francisco asking him to take means to have Moffit arrested. Mr. Laidlaw se-cured the services of Detectives Day and Weiner, and the latter ran to the depot, but the train had pulled out a few min-utes before. However, the Seattle police extradition treaty between this country and Great Britain.

HARD TO GET IRON RAILS.-Several persons standing looking at the heavy grooved rails lately laid in Third street were trying to make out why these raile had to be procured in Belgium. One said it must be because of the iron trust, as there was no iron ore in Belgium. An-other said that while the United States was making more iron goods and iron of shie to buy at the hardware stores he has some of the children and payments of the children and the blacksmith shops. The hardware man ordered them, but could not get them, all the factories being overcrowded with work. A builder said the same state of affairs prevailed here in the lumber business. While the mills are making millions of feet of lumhere in the lumber business. While the mills are making millions of feet of lumber for the Government to send to the Fhilippines, builders here have great difficulty in getting orders filled. For a special order for timbers for a large roof he had to wait three months, and all builders have to wait to get orders for lumber filled. As there is to be a large number of business blocks built in this city next season it is to be hoped that

WATER WOULD NOT BURN,-A manufacparing for a long time to use crude oil in its furnaces. It had everything in readiness to begin using the oil just before the rains began, but the rain has prevented operations being started. The company built a large tank and had many barrels of oil stored in it. The rain was so plentiful and heavy that it forced likelf through the tank four feet under the ground, and sank to the bottom. The pump used in feeding the furnaces reaches to the bottom of the tank, of course, so as to get oil when there might be only a little in the tank, and when there was water at the bottom, it just pumped out water and notwithstanding that this had been in close contact with the oil it would not burn. It took a lot of time and trouble to find and stop the weak place in the tank through which the water found its way. The tank was not of boilerplate but of cement and two feet in thickness, but Oregon rainwater is very penetrating. The pump now draws oil and the furnaces of the company will be fed with it in future. quently does, to spend a quiet night.

When he went to unlock the door he found that some one had unlocked it for him. Nothing appearing disturbed, he made a good fire and read until bedtime. On going to his bedroom upstairs he found his crosscut saw and angar lying on the bis crosscut saw and angar lying on the CRAWFISH NEED PROTECTION .- A large them at this time of the year, or they will soon be exterminated, as they should now be stowed away in their Winter quarters under stones or in the mud at the bottom of streams. The crawfish have been in great demand in this city for several years past and all the streams within many miles have been fished for them till they are exhausted. Tons and tons of them have been brought in from the Tualatin River, and many thousand dol-lars have been paid for these "insects." The edible contents of a crawfish will hardly pay one for the trouble of extract-ing them, but when highly spiced and seasoned many pay a liberal price for a plate of them. What is needed now is a aw to protect crawfish.

FIRST HEAVY FROST.-The first heavy frost of the season made the sidewalke slippery Wednesday night. The mercury slid nown the tube to the 34-degree mark and late travelers of the streets turned up the collars of their overcoats and said it felt like Winter. The rains which have fallen over the Northwest during the past few days have now reached Southern California, where their rare presence has been heartily welcomed. The Willamette is already receding from the high stage eached Wednesday, for the water stood at the 10-foot mark yesterday morning, showing a fall of six inches. The river has been dotted for the past few days with drift of all kinds brought down by the high water. Frost may come almost any night, for it is their open season now. The one Wednesday extended to the coast and North Head reported the same temperature as this city.

CAME FROM ISLAND OF JERSEY .- Mention was made in these columns a short time ago of a bough loaded with remarkably fine, long-keeping pears from an old orchard in Washington County, and it was added that it has been impo-ascertain the name of the pear. respondent writes from Kerby, Or., sug-gesting that the pear may be the Char-montelle, grown on the Island of Jersey, in the English Channel. These pears de not begin to ripen until Christmas or later, and at that season, Z years ago, a shilling each (Z cents) was the price for them in Covent Garden Market, London. It is to be hoped that many grafts from the trees bearing the pear will be used next Spring, so that the species may be kept from dying out here. Whatever the name may be the pear is a remarkably fine one, and an extraordinary keeper, LOGGERS RESUME WORK .- The owners of Benson's logging camp, who have been laying off waiting for weather it is possible to work in, started back to camp but the train had pulled out a few minutes before. However, the Senttle police were communicated with over the longdistance telephone, and when Moffit arrived in Seattle Wednesday night, he was arrested on a fugitive warrant, under the longers to start work again as the supniv of lors has pot been keeping up with ply of logs has not been keeping up with the consumption. "If I had a hundred the consumption. "If I had a hundre million feet of logs in the river now. said Mr. Benson yesterday, "they would all be grabbed up within 24 hours." The men from all the logging camps closed down by the storm are getting back to camp and, if the weather is at all favor-able, they will all be at work in a day or

The old favorite, "The Belle of New York," now at the Marquam, seems as fresh as of old. It always appealed to certain widely separated tastes, and the old frank call to enjoyment is still heard gladly.

Scenically and musically, this comic opera is of the best. There is nothing distinctly imperative about any of it. But he is a sober soul who cannot get out of very scene a pleasant moment. And so far as the singers go, there can be little complaint. Miss Della Rosa, the viva-cious and delicate Fift, is a singer of no mean ability. Her voice is thin, clear and sparkling, and her management of it good. Miss Redledge has a voice with far more sweetness, more tenderness, and her work in the final scene is almost robbed of its tricky lightness by her splendid and powerful acting. The men in the cast are, for a wonder, mostly men of musical taste. Mr. Nye was especially fine, and his very con-sistent playing aided throughout in helping the audience to cling to the thread of the plot. For, as everybody knows this opera has a plot. It is a good one too, and the climaxes were well brough

The chorus was trained and effective its ensembles, perhaps, might bear a restraining hand, especially in the Maruam. However, there can be little complaint. "Hunting for Hawkins." amusing farce-comedy, "Hunting lawkins," entertained the audience for Hawkins," at Cordray's last evening. In this play no other effect is sought than to raise a laugh, and no imaginable effort is spared to secure that result. The action is rapid, and the audience laughed or grinned, according to individual temperament, throughout the evening. A feature of the occasion was the attendance of a large number of the delegates to the Irrigation Convention, by invitation of Man-ager Cordray. They were marshaled to the theater by Colonel Hawkins. All persons who like "phun of the phast and phurious" variety may find a perennial spring of it in "Hunting for Hawkins," as produced by Gray and Heckert. Although the play has appeared here before, it is new to many. The plot is simple-a rock on which to hang a lot of laugh-provoking situations John E. Cain, as Owen Touchem, the professional relative who "can use $5" at every period in every act, skipped blithely through all complications. He is a clever comedian. Miss Blanche Newcomb was Bertha Ashley, in love with the artist. She made a hit in a couple of song specialties. Laurence M. Weaver, as specialties. Laurence M. Weaver, as Hawkins, the obliging friend who gets into so much trouble, had no difficulty in keeping the audience wide-awake. Eugene Topping, as Dick Singleton; Seth C. Halsey, as Dr. von Winklestein; Miss Kate Griffith, as Mrs. Ashley; Miss Minnie Carroll, as the old maid, and Miss Bertha Conway, as Mrs. Hawkins, all ontributed successfully. The company will conclude here Saturday night, with the usual Saturday after-

Hoyt's Comedy Makes a Hit. Catherine Countiss as Grace Holmes in Hoyt's clever comedy, "A Contented Woman," has a part to which she is well suited, and is making a host of friends this week at the Baker Theater. The rest of the company are exceptionally well cast, and the comedy goes with a dash. There this very successful Hoyt play.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

Robson in "Comedy of Errors." Stuart Robson, who has revived "The Comedy of Errors" on a most elaborate scale for the present season, and who will be seen in his famous part as the Dromio of Syracuse at the Marquam Grand Theater next Wednesday night and Thanksgiving Day matinee, November 26 and 27, plans to make the present season his last in Shakespearean com-edy, or in any of the other plays with which his name has been closely associated during his 40-odd years on the stage. Mr. Robson has become a rich man through his profession, is now reputed to be worth more than $1,000,000, and, according to Daniel V. Arthur, his manager, intends to devote the rest of his years on the stage to the creation of absolutely new parts.

Thanksgiving Week Seats on Sale. At the Baker Theater next week, in addition to the regular performances there will be a special Thanksgiving matinee of "A Gold Mine" on Thursday, November 27, on which occasion the Neill stock company will no doubt play to the largest house that has ever witnessed a theatrical performance in this theater. The seats go on sale this morning. "A Gold Mine" was written for Mr. Nat C. Goodwin by Henry Guy Carleton, and is one of the best com edies ever produced by that eminent come-dian, and the one in which he made his first great success. Commencing with Sunday matinee, this splendid comedy will run all next week at the Baker, and the business will surely be most gratifying to the management. "One never knows" and "You can't be too careful" are two English aphorisms which are applicable to almost every contingency, as Joseph Arthur good-humorediy quoted when the relative merits and money-making powers of "Lost River" were being compared with his earlier success, "Blue Jeans." Events have proven that "Lost River" is even

plicity and pulse-quickening sensations. Whether viewed from a box-office or auditor's standpoint, it fills the exchequer and auditor alike with satisfactory results. It would seem as if "Lost River" was destined to flow peacefully on at the full tide of success it maintained during its phenomenal six months' run in New York, when the standing-room-only sign was nightly used, to the envy of less for-tunate attractions. "Lost, River" will appear at Cordray's Theater for one entire week, commencing Sunday matinee, November 23. There will eb a special Thanksgiving day matinee.

Sale for "Hearts of Oak." This morning at 10 o'clock the advance sale of seats begins for James A. Herne's beautiful play, "Hearts of Oak," which comes to the Marquam Grand Theater next. Monday and Tuesday nights, No-vember 24 and 25.

We have said that the excellence of the Martin guitar comes from its honest construction. In detail this means:

First—That, being a musical instrument, tone is the main consideration. Not only is the wood selected and well seasoned (that can be said of many other guitars), but it is gauged with special care, and the inside all finished off. Note the number of braces inside a Martin top, and how they are shaped.

Second—Notwithstanding the thinness of the wood, it is so well secured that it is very durable. Martin guitars fifty years cld and in good condition are common.

Third—the finish is suitable. The styles are rather plain, but the material is fine and does not tire, We will be glad to show them.
