GATHERING AT CAPITAL

SENATORS AND REPRESENTATIVES GETTING ON THE GROUND.

President Sees Several of Them—Henderson Says Little Will Be Done Outside Appropriations.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Senators and members of the House of Representatives are beginning to arrive in Washington preparatory to the meeting of Congress a week from tomorrow. Most of the leaders will be here during the early part of the week, as the President desires to confer with them before putting the finishing touches on his message. Today's arrivals included Senators Spooner, Allison, Fairbanks and Bailey, and Speaker Henderson. Senator Spooner spent some time at the White House tonight in conference with the President.

Speaker Henderson expressed the opinion in an interview tonight that there would be little legislation at the coming short session aside from the passage of the appropriation bills. He added, however, that the President would have the first inning. The Speaker to some of his callers expressed his belief that a Constitutional amendment would be the only means of dealing with the trust question.

Senators in Indian Territory.

GUTHRIE, O. T., Nov. 23.—The Senate committee on territories today visited Oklahoma City and Shawnee, in Oklahoma, and South McAlester and Muskogee, in Indian Territory, spending the night at Vinita. The committee will conclude its tour tomorrow.

REFORMS IN RUSSIA.

Demand for Them Does Not Meet Much Encouragement.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 23.—Tremendous effect has been produced in Russia by the unanimous demand of the agricultural inquiry commission for constitutional reform and political liberty to the foundation of economic well-being. In spite of Minister Witte's encouragement to speak boldly, "because the Emperor wants to know the entire truth," the Minister of the Interior, Von Plowhe, has begun arresting the members of the commission, including among them a physician named Martinovis, for the authorship of the resolutions presented to the local committee of Verenzeh, demanding a national congress, and two other members of the agricultural commission named Michaelovik and Nikoviv, of Tula, for advocating a remission of the peasant land payments. Martinovis' collaborator, a school teacher named Bonivok, is now awaiting sentence.

It is rumored that the students yesterday sang a number of revolutionary songs and shouted "Down with the autocracy," at a ball given in the hall of the nobility. None were arrested. Arrests of students and workingmen are, however, frequent here and have been so in various cities recently.

The breach between Minister Witte and Von Plowhe probably will be smoothed over for the present, as Von Plowhe has promised to call a conference of the executive committees of the Provincial Zemstvos to consider agricultural relief, which is a concession to Minister Witte's policy.

WOULDN'T STAND THE SONGS.

Didn't Strike Popular Feeling and a Riot Followed.

TOURS, France, Nov. 23.—A violent riot broke out this evening in the Alcazar Music Hall, owing to the singing of anti-military songs. A party of officers belonging to the garrison of Tours, who were occupying the stalls, hissed the songs, while the public in the gallery applauded and threw missiles at the officers, wounding several of them. The occupants of the galleries then invaded the floor of the hall, where a free fight ensued, the police finally clearing the building.

An anti-military demonstration in the streets followed, a crowd escorting the offending singer home and singing revolutionary songs. The rioters attempted to mob all the officers they met on the way, but a squad of police and infantry succeeded in protecting the officers, and order finally was restored.

TO COMBAT WHITE SLAVE TRAFFIC

Austrian Minister Approves the New League.

VIENNA, Nov. 23.—With the approval of the Minister of the Interior, the Austrian League to combat the white slave traffic will establish branches in all the important towns and frontier stations of Austria and take active means to suppress the traffic.

Czar and Czarina All Right.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 23.—Advices from an absolutely trustworthy source which reached here yesterday from Yalta, Crimea, report that the Czar and Czarina are in excellent spirits, and that there is no change in the affectionate relations between the imperial couple. Neither revolutionists nor the Conservatives credit the rumors that the Czar intends to abdicate, nor that there is a question of his divorcing the Czarina. The stories that the Czarina's mind is affected are also rejected as unworthy of credence.

Large Prize for Scientist.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—It is stated that Major Ross, the principal of the Liverpool School of Tropical Medicine, will be awarded the Nobel malaria research prize of $15,000. Major Ross headed several expeditions into the mosquito-breeding districts of West Africa.

American Found Guilty.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—A dispatch to the Daily Chronicle from Brussels announces that a man named Fillette, alias Vinette, a naturalized American, has been sentenced to two years' imprisonment for taking part in the white slave traffic.

Kitchener at Aden.

ADEN, Arabia, Nov. 23.—Lord Kitchener has arrived here on his way to India, and has conferred with the commandant, General Maitland, concerning the campaign which is proceeding against the Mad Mullah in Somaliland.

Evacuation of Shanghai.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 23.—The evacuation of this city by the foreign garrisons has begun, the Japanese being the first to withdraw their troops.

Argentine's Alien and Sedition Law.

BUENOS AYRES, Nov. 23.—The Senate and Chamber has passed a bill which authorizes the expulsion of undesirable foreigners.

Old Pope Is Hopeful.

ROME, Nov. 23.—The pope today gave a farewell private audience to Archbishop Bruchesi, of Montreal. His holiness afterwards went to the throneroom, where Monsignor Bruchesi presented to him all the Canadians now in Rome, numbering 60. The pope said he was delighted to see the Canadians and gave his benediction to them all.

On leaving, Archbishop Bruchesi said: "I hope to see your holiness on my next visit to Rome three years hence."

The pope promptly replied:

"I will wait for you."

Objections to Bishop Spalding.

ROME, Nov. 23.—The decision of the propaganda regarding the appointment of a new archbishop of Chicago to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Archbishop Feehan has been postponed, principally on account of objections received from several American bishops concerning the doctrines held by Bishop Spalding. It has been decided that the question shall be discussed at the meeting of the propaganda, December 15. Bishop Spalding continues to be considered the most likely candidate for the post.

MAY TROUBLE BROKERS.

Stocks and Bonds in Chicago Mail Robbery.

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Chicago's mail wagon robbery of last night will cause several New York stock brokers considerable inconvenience, as it was discovered today that one of the stolen mail pouches contained several packages of stocks, bonds and some securities, which it was intended should reach New York in time to be used when the stock exchange opens Monday. One man, a member of the Chicago stock exchange, whose name is not made public by the Postoffice authorities, is said to have mailed a paper of the face value of $100,000, which was in one of the missing sacks. This paper is not negotiable, but its loss may cause a great deal of annoyance.

As near as can be estimated by the postal authorities, the robbers secured between $12,000 and $13,000 in cash, certified checks and other negotiable paper. Of this amount, $300 belonged to the postoffice, the receipts of one of the sub-stations during the day. No trace of the robbers has yet been found.

UNION MEN MAY OBJECT

San Franciscans Expect a Time on Arrival of Elder.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.—When the Oregon Railroad & Navigation steamer George W. Elder, now due here, arrives, there is likely to be excitement on the Pear-Street wharf. The Elder is carrying a full crew of nonunion engineers, firemen and deck officers as a result of the recent strike in Portland, where the Elder and her sister steamship, the Columbia, have been tied up for some weeks past.

Only Two Men Burned to Death.

ASHLAND, Wis., Nov. 23.—Investigation today shows that the deaths due to the burning of the Wisconsin Central ore docks here yesterday number three. Those who jumped into the bay were rescued or swam ashore, while many workmen who appeared to the onlookers to be cut off by the flames from possible escape, managed to reach places of safety.

Suicide of a Somnambulist.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 23.—George S. Shelby, aged 26, great-grandson of Isaac Shelby, first Governor of Kentucky, killed himself today with a revolver as he lay in bed. He was subject to somnambulism, and it is said that he fired the fatal shot while in this state. He always kept a pistol under his pillow. There was no known cause for suicide.

Laborers Condemn Assassination.

TELLURIDE, Colo., Nov. 23.—The Telluride Miners' Union has adopted resolutions condemning the "cowardly assassination" of Arthur L. Collins, general manager of the Smuggler-Union Mining Company, "as being wholly opposed to the policy and spirit of organized labor."

Paving Plant Burned.

DENVER, Nov. 23.—The entire plant of the Colorado Paving Company was destroyed by fire today, which originated from an explosion of boiling asphalt. Loss, $50,000.

Umbrella Factory Burned.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 23.—A fire today in the umbrella factory of Gans Bros., caused $200,000 damage to the building and stock. Both were fully insured.

GOOD POINTS IN UNIONS

PRESIDENT ELIOT SPEAKS OF THEM IN AN ADDRESS.

Recognizes What They Have Done, as Well as Certain Tendencies That Should Be Corrected.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 23.—In an address at a private meeting of the Colonial Club, of this city, President Eliot, of Harvard, made a comprehensive statement of his views on labor unions. He said that the work of the labor unions must be counted among the efforts to make the lot of mankind more satisfying and happier, and that their strength lay in their belief in this work as that mission. He then enumerated the conditions which he designated as humane conditions of employment—those to which laboring men rightly aspire. First was a rising wage based on increased experience, attainments and age; second, steady employment after adequate probation; third, the opportunity for the laborer to establish a permanent home; fourth, conditions which enable him to give his employer generous service and to take pride in it; fifth, the right to a pension on disability, which gives throughout life relief from one great anxiety, and that public consideration which goes with a steady job and a self-respecting though humble career. These five conditions of human employment, President Eliot said, were realized today in Harvard University. Plainly they were not realized in the great American industries employing unskilled labor, where the terms of service were often those of "instant dismissal."

Another source of difficulty with American employment was that it was spasmodic. Complaints from employes were often made the ground for dismissal.

The present antagonism of employers and the unions was, he said, the fault of both parties, but on the whole the former were more to blame because their situation was more comfortable and their education superior. The industrial community was under many obligations to the unions for the evils they have mitigated, such as poor sanitary conditions in factories, an unreasonable number of hours of work, child labor, and the company store. The oligarchy of capital had combined effectively, and the corresponding combination of laboring men was a wholesome check upon that oligarchy.

There was no question, President Eliot said, that the labor union had come to stay. On the other hand, its cause was injured by certain evils which were subversive of fundamental doctrines of American liberty. One of these was the limit put upon the number of apprentices in the learned professions, where encouragement was given to the training of novices. Another condition was the limiting output, which destroys the self-respect of the efficient workmen, and the uniform wages, which has a cruel reaction on the less capable workmen, because with a uniform wage he loses his job at every slack in business, whereas, if he were paid according to his earning capacity his employer could afford to keep him the year around. A fourth evil was the violence which was an inevitable feature of every strike in industries employing unskilled labor. The unskilled laborer on strike had no other weapon unless it were the boycot, which was a cruel, cowardly interference with the rights of all the people.

President Eliot declared that he saw grounds for hoping that the relation of capital and labor would be improved in spite of their present unintelligent antagonism, partly by frank public discussion of abuses, partly by prearranged agreements for conciliation and arbitration, and partly by the service which labor unions would render to capital through their constant command of the labor resources of which capital comes in need.

CLOTHING-MAKERS' FIGHT.

Likely to Paralyze the Industry in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Strife that will paralyze the clothing industry of Chicago is expected to break out tomorrow as a result of the difficulty on Saturday of the American Federation of Labor on the controversy between the United Garmentworkers of America and the American Special Order of Clothing-Makers. The fight for supremacy, which tied up the clothing business in Chicago a few weeks ago, will be renewed with more vigor than ever, according to members of the Special Order union. When a truce was declared after the latest trouble it was to allow the National Federation to pass upon the merits of the controversy. By the decision of the convention in New Orleans the charter granted the Special Order Clothing-Makers' Union must be revoked and the United Garment-Workers of America be given complete jurisdiction. The Special Order Workers say they will not accept the decision. A strike will be declared tomorrow, it is said. The union is composed entirely of girls and is the largest in the city.

A NEW RUSSIAN CRURCH

Dedicated With Imposing Ceremonies in New York City.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—With imposing ceremonies, to which extraordinary splendor was lent by the presence of many gorgeously-vested ecclesiastics, of the members of the Russian Embassy in brilliant uniforms, and of a guard of Cossacks fully armed, the new Russian Orthodox Church of St. Nicholas was consecrated today by Archbishop Tikhon, of San Francisco, assisted by Archimandate Rafael, the Arabian Abbot, and 15 priests. The church was thronged, so great being the crush that the guards at the door were swept aside by the crowds that pressed forward for admission.

Count Cassini, the Russian Ambassador; Nicholas Ladygensky, the Russian Consul General in New York with their suites, and other Russian diplomatic and consular officials, stood at the left of the altar throughout the services.

The ceremonies were opened by the entrance in procession, and the Archimandate Rafael clad in white, and wearing their mitres, and the priests, including Archpriest Alexander Hotovisky, the rector of the new church.

The ceremonies were closed with a benediction by the Archbishop, and the proclamation of long life to the Czar, the Imperial house of Russia, the President of the United States, the Most Holy Synod and the founders and builders of the church. Archbishop Tikhon delivered an address in English. Among those present were the Countess Cassini, Mlle. Desplanques, of Paris; Alexander Pauloff, Russian Ambassador to Corea; M. Struve, Russian Consul to Canada; Karasoff, Vice-Consul at New York; M. Tucker, Vice-Consul at Philadelphia; Bishop Grafton, of the Episcopal Church of Fond du Lac, Wis.; the Rev. Dr. Huntington, of Grace Church, New York; Mayor Low and Recorder Goff.

After the services Archbishop Tikhon held a reception in the residence of the Rector, where he bestowed his blessing upon many members of the Russian Church, including the Countess Cassini. Following the reception, a luncheon was tendered to the Russian diplomatic and consular officials, the visiting Russian clergy and members of the Russian colony. Toasts were drunk to the Czar, to Russia, and to the Archbishop.

Professor of Latin Strangled Himself.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Nov. 23.—Dr. Otto Siemon, professor of Latin at Concordia College, the Lutheran Institute of learning in this city, took his life today. He had been suffering from nervous prostration for six months and strangled himself with bedclothes.

400,000 Socialist Voters.

GIRARD, Kan., Nov. 23.—The Appeal to Reason, having completed the canvass, places the socialist vote in the United States at the recent election at 400,000. The heaviest socialist vote was polled in Massachusetts, 36,435.

HUNTER'S SUCCESSOR.

On His Way to Take Charge in Central America.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—The recent tragedy at Guatemala City, in which William Fitzgerald lost his life, may have the effect of hurrying to his post Mr. Combs, of Louisville, the new Minister to Central America, who succeeds Dr. Godfrey Hunter, the retiring Minister. It is recognized here that Dr. Hunter's position at the Guatemalan capital can hardly remain tenable, in view of the tragic events of the past few days, and for this reason he no doubt would like to be relieved very soon. Mr. Combs' original intention, as understood here, was to be at Guatemala City by the first of the year, but Friday's developments may cause him to change his plans. The suggestion has been made that the State Department may find it expedient to wait his arrival there, in order to obtain a satisfactory account of the shooting, as the information already received has been conflicting in its character.

The Unknown Boy.

Spectator.

There has been very little written about school boys that is really worth reading—a curious fact in these days when a new "field" would be worth a great deal to a writer of fiction. But the fact remains, there is hardly anything today that is more written about than education, and there is hardly any subject which has been less understood by writers of fiction than the schoolboy.

The launching of the French steel cruiser Kleber, which took place at Bordeaux the other day, has given rise to an amusing dispute. La Lanterne and some other aPrès papers strongly urged Camille Pelletan, the Minister of Marine, to affirm his convictions by forbidding the religious ceremony of christening the vessel. A crusade on the other side was started by the reactionary organs. The latter gained their point. The Kleber was solemnly baptized and blessed by Abbe Hermann. M. Pelletan is now accused of being a man without the courage of his convictions by the socialistic and free thought press.
