AMUSEMENTS. MARQUAM GRAND THEATER-Matinee to-day at 2:15 o'clock, Mr. Stuart Robson in "The Comedy of Errora." Evening at 8:15, "The Henrietta."

THE BAKER THEATER-Matines at 2:15, ovening at 8:15, Neill Stock Company in "A Gold Mine."

RECOMMENDS ANTISEPTIC 'PHONES.—Dr. Biersdorf, Health Commissioner, having succeeded in inducing the street railway companies to fumigate and disinfect their cars at regular intervals, is now trying to get the telephone companies to adopt an antiseptic mouthpiece for their public tel-ephones in public offices and other places where they are liable to be used by all south of people. It must not be supposed that there is any danger of contracting diseases by talking to a sick person over a telephone, but consumptives and others suffering from infectious diseases leave disease germs in the mouthplee they use and these may find lodgment in the next person using the 'phone. The danger from this source of contagion can readily be seen in the health office which is visited by persons afflicted with all kinds of dis-eases and many of them have to use the telephone there. The antiseptic mouth piece has a covering over it and an anti-septic solution inside, which is intended to prove fatal to any disease germs which may find their way into the machine. CHARGED WITH RIPLING CASH REGIS-TER.-Two young men, H. Hastings and W. Smith, were arrested last night by Detectives Day and Weiner, charged with stealing $26 50 from John Cook's galoon, Farst and Pine streets. Part of the plunder was a $10 gold piece. The police afterward found out that Smith was seen in a saloon on First street, near Morri-son, exhibiting more money then he was ordinarily supposed to possess. The ar-rest of both men followed. It is stated that Hastings engaged the attention of the bartender, while Smith rifled contents of the cash register. When Smith was first searched at the police state little or no money was found on but the detectives were not satis-and Jalier Johnson searched the prisoner by removing a portion of his clothing, and a $10 gold piece rolled from one of the legs of Smith's trousers. He noisly protested his lancence, and insisted that he had carned the $10 from the O. R. & N.

GOODNOUGH FOR A HOTEL? - Certain persons have been trying to negotiate a leass of the Goodnough building, at the corner of Fifth and Yamhill streets, for a term of 10 years, for the purpose of making it into a hotel. The building, which is six stories in height, is owned by H. C. Leonard, the D. P. Thompson heirs and the John Green heirs, one-third each. It is estimated that to make the changes that would be necessary in the building to fit it for a hotel would gost from $10,000 to $15,000. It would have to be wired all through for bells and the two large rooms on the sixth story, occupled by a business college, would have to be partitioned off into bedrooms. Since attention was called to the fact that more hotels are needed here, many people seem to have taken in hand the matter of sup-

GIFT TO MR. PRATT.-A party of Royal Shriners who visited this city last Sum-mer received many attentions and courte-sies from Professor I. W. Pratt. When going away one of them asked him what kind of a souvenir he would like from the South, and he replied: "Anything from a bale of cotion to an alligator." Yesterday he received a package from Memphis, Tenn., containing miniature specimens of both, and also an earthenware alligator with a little colored boy in his mouth.

The alligator is about a foot long and is to be fed semi-occasionally. It is a very pretty little pet, but it will be diffi-return of all premiums paid and $5137 30 in addition, to say nothing of the protection of $10,000 of assurance for 20 years. The fact that this deposit made by him came through three different panies in safety must also be considered. L. Samuel, Manager, Equitable Life. Strongest in the world. 306 Oregonian building.

MACHINERY ARRIVES.—The first install-ment of the new machinery which is to replace the present lighting system of the Portland General Electric Company has arrived, in the shape of four transformers of 500 horsepower each and six trans-formers of 200 horsepower each, which are now being installed in their new station on Alder street. They are now awaiting generators to correspond, as the old ma-chinery is to be entirely displaced.

SKETCH CLUB EXHIBIT.—The eighth annual exhibition of the Portland Sketch Club will open this afternoon in the lec-ture-room of the Portland Library. There will be a large number of sketches from nature and life, still life, studies and orig-inal compositions by the members of the club. All persons interested are invited. The exhibition will be open Friday and Saturday afternoons and Friday and Sat-

B'NAI B'RITH OFFICERS TO COME.-The local lodges of the Independent Order of B'nai B'rith are arranging for a grand reception to be tendered to the grand officers of that order, who will be in Portland about December 8. The party will consist of Grand President Marcus Rosenthal, Grand Orator M. S. Levy and Grand Secretary I. J. Aschheim, all of Grand Secretary I. J. Ascinetin, an of San Prancisco. This will be the regular annual visit of the grand lodge officers. The following committees of the different lodges have been appointed to act joint-ly in receiving the grand officers: Ore-gon Lodge, N. Goodman, David N. Moses-sche and P. Generitz, Partiend Lodge, S. sohn and P. Gevurtz; Portland Lodge, S. Julius Mayer, S. Herman and S. Sichel; North Pacific Lodge, L. Gumbert, I. Gevurts and J. Asher; and Sabato Morals Lodge, I. Sweet, P. Stein and J. M. Ricen. The grand officers will be met at the depot by a committee consisting of S. H. Friendly, S. Herman and David N. Mosessohn.

JOCULAR CARPENTER SENTENCED.-W. H. Reynolds, charged with having oplum in his possession, tried to make a bet with Municipal Judge Hogue yesterday, but the Judge wasn't "on." Reynolds pleaded gulity. "Were you ever in this court before?" queried the Judge. "Never. I bet you," said the defendant. Finally he bet you," said, the defendant. Finally he admitted he had been, once upon a time. "How would four months' imprisonment do this time?" asked the Judge. "Oh, I don't know. I will split the difference with you if you like and call it two." "Two months do you mean?" asked the Judge. "Shake hands. It's a go," said Reynolds, stretching out a grimy, unwashed paw, but the Judge would not shake hands and said in a tone

ADMIRAL CLARK'S SWORD CHOSEN.—J. C. Ainsworth, Paul Wessinger and Colo-nel David M. Dunne, the committee appointed to arrange the final details of the Admiral Clark testimonial sword, met yesterday in conference with Albert Felden-heimer and decided to expend $1250 upon the sword. They privately arranged the detail ornamentation and inscription and partially decided upon the exact mate-rials. The design in favor with the detall committee differs widely in some re-spects with the same design as first sub-mitted, the tendency being toward plainness, while several of the trimmings will be of solid gold instead of gilt, as in-tended. The general committee will meet in a few days and the design in detail be submitted.

TURKEYS FOR STREET-CLEANING DE-PARTMENT.—The men employed by the Street-Cleaning Department do not have the most agreeable work in the world, but they felt better-pleased with man-kind in general yesterday when each of the 47 received a turkey from Edward Holman, who has been in the habit of do-ing this for several years. The turkeys weighed from 7½ to 10 pounds each, and the man with the largest family received the largest turkey. Superintendent A. M. Donaldson has promised the men a half holiday today, that they may more thor-oughly appreciate their turkey dinner.

LEBRARY TO BE OPEN TODAY.—The Portland Library will be opened today from 2 till 6 only, and no books can be taken out. The children's department has been prepared for Thanksgiving by the issuance of a bulletin, and all the books on the annual day of thanks have been collected and placed in easy access for the little folks. All the Scandinavian books have been catalogued and are now on the library shelves. library shelves.

THE LADIES working and soliciting for the bazaar in the interest of the soldiers' monument, to be erected in Lone Fir cemetery for the Veterans of the Mexican, Civil, Indian and Spanish-American Wars are doing very nicely and are kindly received by the business men of the city. The bazaar will be held in the Fred T. Merrill Cyclery, 165-111 Sixth street, from December 1 to 9, 1902.

To KEEP THE PRISONERS IN.-An fron door has been placed on the outside of the window at the southwest corner of the city jail to prevent passers-by com-municating with the prisoners. Two months ago a shed covered up this win-dow, and when this was removed only a dilapidated screen remained between the prisoners and freedom.

ROSSA TO KEEP THE PEACE.-When the case against Charles Rossa was called yesterday at the Municipal Court, charged with threatening to kill Frankie Risor, the latter said she did not wish to prosecute if Rossa were placed under a bond to stay away from her and keep the pence. Rossa agreed to do this, and $190 ball was furnished.

CHARGED WITH THEFT.-Nettle Clayton was arrested last night by Policemen Balley and Gibson, charged with stealing $20 from John Jack in a room connected with the Favorite saloon, Fourth and Couch streets. The woman denied the charge. She was released afterward on $100 ball for her appearance at the Municipal Court.

The most natural atmosphere envelope the "Comedy of Errors" as given at the Marquam last night by Mr. Stuart Robson and his company. Were it not for the in-imitable lines and the familiar plot, one could so easily fancy that here was a masterplece of some modern. But it is an old saying that Shakespeare wrote for all time.

There is apparently about one-fourth of the original play cut out. This has been done with reasonable skill, and, while one misses several long-known scenes, there is no hitch in the continuity. In the case of one omission the whole effect is strengthened, for, if left in, it would to the modern uite disgust and therefore impair. Robson's work is no longer fair ground for criticism. But appreciation may go so far as to mark his especial dis-tinction in the "Comedy of Errors." Throughout he displays an almost tran-scendant art in making himself perfectly the saucy, humorous, rather subtle servi-tor; familiarity without commonplace and drollery without anything of the buffoon. The work of Mr. Holt and Mr. Jackson is profoundly similar; so much so that one wonders at the depth of the art that can dissolve so completely personality. Apart from this there is not much in the acting of either to attract especial notice. But standing out in brilliant contrast to this twin embodiment Miss Barry's exquisite talent wakens admiration of the fullest quality. She has passionate power, splendid impulsiveness, and, above all, a voice of thrilling beauty. Her very walk is queenly; a feature of her art that is beyond praise. Not many actresses have the ability to show deep emotion in silent step-ping back and forth. Miss Mayo, as Luciana, lacks vibrant quality and poses throughout instead of acting. Still, the role is mostly a pose, and there is no de Separated from Miss Barry by a universe of life. Miss Thompson, as Phryne, is so compelling, so marvelously heartless and weak and abandoned that one is forced to acknowledge her ability in terms of high praise. Much is due her make-up; more to her queenly witchery.

The others are effective, Mr. Leigh especially so. But it was noticeable that in the final scene Mr. Robson lost some of his distinction in order to make more obvious the similarity. This seems unnecessary, for Mr. Leigh is quite capable of maintaining the level himself.

The scenery is superb. Every detail has been carefully looked after, and in effectiveness it is beyond anything seen here this season. And the incidental music is of a loveliness, though the orchestra played somewhat too loudly for the comfort of the audience.

The "Comedy of Errors" will be presented this afternoon, and tonight Mr. Robson

THE MARTIN MANDOLIN

It is easy to understand that when mandolin playing became popular some years ago users of Martin guitars looked for a mandolin to match. None was to be found. The fine Italian ones cracked and domestic makes were lacking in something or other. Then came the Martin; far from perfect at first, it yet showed that painstaking effort which always wins. Today it yields precedence to none. The appearance is fine, the construction is durable and the tone is free from that strident quality which makes a mandolin disagreeable to the musical ear. It is a fit companion to the Martin guitar. Six styles, from $30 to $100.
