Thomas Guinean, Seneca Smith,

The Board of Trade had a spasm yesterlay. The organization was very near unto leath for a while and several members nad begun to sing requiems. But timely restoratives revived the flickering life spark to a vital flame. The board is all the better for its almost mortal experiand has emerged from the affliction stronger than before.

"Everything is lovely," say its members. "It turned out all right," remarked Vice-President Killingsworth, who presided in the absence of President F. E. Beach. The turmoll grew out of the question whether to retain James M. Moore as y. He was let out after a big and Max M. Shillock was elected. It was the annual meeting of the board for election of new officers. Mr. Moore had sent out notices that the meeting would begin at 8 P. M. He had forgotten that the by-laws required the session to begin at 2 P. M. "on the second Thursday of December." But C. M. Idleman hadn't overlooked this. So at 2 P. M. he acted as a bell-wether to a flock of some 30 gen-tlemen who "butted into" the headquarters of the board and proceeded to hold the "annual meeting." Only about eight or 16 actual members were on hand. Of these, Mr. Moore insisted only six were in good standing and qualified to vote. But the other "disqualified" members vot-ed just the same and when Mr. Moore refused to receive Mr. Idleman's flock into the fold, the meeting promptly elected C. W. Miller secretary, who received them. The newcomers didn't have to be elected to membership, because the by-laws prowide that anybody may join the board by signing the roll and paying the required

Secretary Moore Let Out.

The newcomers captured the meeting and proceeded to choose officers. President Beach was re-elected and Mr. Moore was kicked out, or rather he resigned before he was kicked out. He attempted to save himself by voting 30 proxies, but his scheme was voted "out of business." Then the board adjourned to meet at 8 P. M., Mr. Moore's hour. In the evening session it reconsidered its afternoon action, but did the "same thing over again." Mr.

Moore was defeated by a vote of 26 to 19. The trouble was an afterciap of the irrigation convention. Mr. Idleman and his followers "had it in good and hard" for Mr. Moore. In that convention they had tried vainly to "do him up" and had almost wrecked the body in their attempt

Why should these gentlemen all of a sudden take so much interest in this board. Evidently we have bumped up against some graft of the gen-tlemen," and Mr. Guinean hinted at irrigation. CHINESE DEN RAIDED. Nineteen Fan-Tan Gamblers Taken and $263 Seized.

Nineteen Chinamen and $263 15 in money were captured by Policemen Roberts and Patton as the result of a raid last night at a Chinese gambling-house on Second street near Oak, within a stone's throw of the police station.

The police have been trying for some time past to effect an entrance to the house, at a time when play was progressing, but the chance did not come until about 8 o'clock last night, when Roberts and Patton observed a Chinaman slink along a dimly-lighted passage leading to the room where an exciting fan-tan game was in progress, and they walked with soft-footed tread after him. The lookout man only saw his fellow countryman, and when the policemen emerged, the look-out man gave a yell. But he did not get an opportunity to shut the heavy door, and the next moment the police were among the excited Chinamen, who were mostly standing around the fan-tan table.

All visible gambling implements were seized, also the contents of the "kitty." The prisoners were conveyed to the police station, where the dealer, Ching Yuen, was released on $100 bail, while the other 18 furnished $50 bail each for their appearance at the Municipal Court.

CROWDS AT G. A. R. BAZAAR Visitors Are Entertained by Good Musical and Literary Programme.

The pleasanter weather yesterday had good effect upon the G. A. R. bazaar. The lunch table was crowded, a swarm of peoeffect upon the G. A. R. baznar. The ple surrounded the booths all day. In the evening the usual musical and literary programme was carried out. Josish Kemp could not attend, and consequently his address, the event of the evening, was not delivered. Downs' Mandolin Club and George Houghton furnished instrumental music, and the Misses Grace and Mazie Shaw and L. Athey sang several appro-priate songs, and a recitation was given by Miss Maude Howes. The voting contest for the most popular veterans of the different wars is progressing satisfactorily. Of the Indian War veterans, Captain J. H. McMillen has received 22 votes, and Captain A. B. Stuart, 14. T. B. McDevitt leads the G. A. R. contest, with 17 votes, while M. L. Pratt has 12. Of the votes, while M. L. Pratt has 12. Of the Spanish-American Veterans, General Spanish-American Veterans, General Owen Summers leads, with 7 votes. The programme this evening will be in charge of the Spanish-American War Veterans, and several fraternal societies. Miss Tinnie and Roy Lancaster will render a piano and violin duet, while the Mandolin Club will also furnish music, and two recitations will be given.

PLAN FOR BAR IMPROVEMENT MAY BE ADOPTED THIS MONTH.

Board Is Divided Upon Proposal of Lewis M. Haupt for a Reaction Jetty.

The Government board of engineers which will decide upon a plan for improving the Columbia bar is now in session at Washington. It met at New York November 14 to consider a proposal of Lewis M. Haupt to built a reaction breakwater on the bar. The board adjourned soon after to inspect Aransas Pass, Texas, where Mr. Haupt says his jetty has been a success.

From private sources of information it is learned that the board is divided in its opinion of the efficacy of the Haupt jetty. Mr. Haupt has written the following let-ter from Philadelphia to The Oregonian further describing his plans:

"It has been authoritatively stated that the worst grade the railroads of your state have to contend with is the bar which obstructs the mouth of the Colum-bia River, causing serious delays to the shipments of your products. This is unoubtedly true, and it has long been an interesting problem to open the channel so as to reduce this gradient to zero. "It is not necessary to review past history, which is so well konwn to your business community; but a few words of sing. There is not a dull moment in the time. The Oregonian of October 3 and 5 Miss Jessie Moore and Harry Cashman contained some illustrations showing a plan for the opening of the mouth and the fixing of the channel by natural forces, but did not state the evidence upon which the predicted results were based, so that it may be pertinent to sub-mit this evidence in the form of a photograph showing the location, curvature, depths, breadth and length of the channeis which the river, even when divided by middle grounds, is able to create and maintain, for such an exhibit is irrefut-

"Extending the investigation therefore to the site of Astoria it will be seen that there are two well-defined channels, having depths varying from 30 to 100 feet, separated by a bar which is too shallow for navigation, being bare even at high water at Desdemona shoal, and having only from 4 to 12 feet of water for over four miles of its length. It should be noted also that the deepest water is at the points where the tidal currents meet with some resistance which changes their direction and causes them to curves whose radii are approximately five miles, maintaining the depth of over 50 feet for between seven and eight miles. The most striking example of this is the reaction produced by Point Eilice, where the depth reaches 100 feet and a counter-scarp is thrown up abreast of it which canalizes the channel perfectly. Another instance is found extending from Astoria to Point Adams, but in a less degree.

"These are admirable illustrations of the results of the reaction of the banks upon the currents, and are precisely what the reaction breakwater is designed to accomplish when properly placed across the crest of the bar extending from deep water inside to deep water outside. It, however, will have the advantage of re-ceiving the joint discharge of these united currents to counteract the waves and drift, and will create such a region of activity that no drift can lodge therein. The local reaction thus created will cause the material now obstructing the channel to be scoured out and be thrown across to the north spit, where the waves and littoral currents will again attack and carry it along shore as though no breach had occurred in the continuity of the

"As every harbor inlet has its special local conditions, the solution must be worked out with reference to them, and what may be successful at one point may prove to be a failure at another. Be-cause the Golden Gate has its bar at a greater depth and farther out is no criterion for the Columbia problem, as the amount and direction of the shore drift, which is the principal factor in bar building, is quite different, so that the effluent currents at San Francisco have less work to do. The Columbia bar is deeper when the river is in flood, even though it is then more heavily charged with sediment, showing that the river slit Is of less importance than the littoral drift from which the crossing on the bar must be defended by a high-water structure, strong enough to resist the full dis-charge of the river and breakers, and protected from undermining by a substantial apron along its inner face, as was done at Aransas Pass, where the work has

"The design which has been submitted for the improvement of this entrance will be found to be based upon a careful analysis of the available natural force which will be utilized to create and maintain the channel, instead of upon an attempt to remove the obstruction by mechanical de-vices which would be enormously ex-pensive, if at all practicable. The effort to remove the bar by projecting the con-centrated discharge of the river upon its inner slope has been tried without suc-cess, and a repetition of the same by the use of two jettles would merely repeat the experience, at more than twice the life study, attaining a thorough colle

ENGINEERS TO DECIDE cost and with the same ultimate result. The bar would elude the jettles, and no dredging would be possible beyond them. "This solution is therefore offered in the education, having the degree of bachelor of music conferred upon her at the Chi-cago Musical College, and later receiving instruction under the most famous teachfirm belief that it will accomplish all that is predicted for it, as shown by the chaners in the East. No teacher has done more for her chosen art in Portland than more for her chosen art in Portland than has Miss Soule during her four years here nels which exist today in consequence of the reaction, not velocity, created in the bed of the stream. Strong Emotional Drama. "Shall We Forgive Her?" will be the offering at the Baker Theater all next week starting with Sunday matinee. A problem play, dealing with the old and ever new question of sex vs. sex, as does this splendid play, may invariably be depended upon to draw immense houses despite the expression which is often heard, that the modern theater patron heard, that the modern theater patron does not care to be forced into thinking by what is seen in mimicry. Life is ordinarily so serious and complex that w pretend we do not want the playwright to hold up the mirror to that side of human nature that is the least pleasant and harrows the deepest sympathics of

After witnessing a play like "Shall We Forgive Her?" the conclusion of the aver-age playgoer is that it is a play of more than ordinary merit. It calls for the sterner qualities that are in man and woman in this battle of human sympathies with that Puritanical sense of the eternal fitness of things. There is some which brings forcibly to mind that chap-ter in "Tess"—"The Woman Pays"—and so she does.

So much has been said about it, its magnificent settings, startling electrical effects, etc., that local theater-goers will be grat-ified to know that it will be presented at Cordray's Theater for one week, begin-ning with a matinee Sunday, December 7. The story is an old one, always new, of love and devotion, but given in an en-tirely new way, and brimful of those touches of nature which make all the world akin. Laughter and tears are close together, and there is not one dull mo-ment in the four great acts of the production. The company has a strong cast, and the production is the talk of the season. The usual ladies and children's matineo will be given Saturday.

This Week-A Phenomenal Rec-

Owing to the exceptional inducements, in the way of piano values and in terms, that we are offering to club members under our new co-operative pian, a great many wide-awake people are joining our clubs daily and as a result but a very limited number of memberships remain. Clubs "A." "B" and "E" are filling up most rapidly, and in these three clubs but is memberships remain and these will all be taken up before the end of the week. Club "D" which at first made rather slow headway compared with the other clubs, is now rapidly nearing the iso mark, yesterday's mail alone disposing of eight memberships in this club, one going to McMinnville, Or., one to Salem, Or., two to Goloendaie, Wash., one to Pendleton, Or., one to Cascade Locks, Or., still another to Newberg, Or., and one to Tumwater, Wash., and from present indications not a single membership will be left on Monday morning when the popular piano clubs will have passed into history. Anyone desiring to take advantage of the exceptional values offered under our co-operative club plan will do well to be on hand bright and carity today, for delay now will suresy mean disappointment. There positively will be no more piano clubs. If you do not want your piano delivered until Christmas we will be glad to arrange this for you without additional cost to you.

BLOWN UP WITH AIR-PUMP Cruel Practical Joke on Fellow-Workman Proves Fatal.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.-Harry Ruit, an employe of a locomotive works in Peterson, N. J., died today as the result of a practical joke played on him by five of his fellow workmen. They were arrested, charged with causing his death. It is alleged that they "blew up" Wright with a presumatic tire numm having a with a pneumatic tire pump, having a pressure of 110 pounds to the inch. The young man's stomach became greatly distended, and, after several hours of great suffering, he died.

When the men accused of having caused Ruit's death were arraigned in court in Paterson, the dead boy's father rushed at one of them named Dorn, knocked him down and started to kick him. The father was restrained by the court officers.

The accused men were held without ball on a charge of manslaughter.
