THE ANNUAL NUMBER.-But few people in Portland appreciate the wide distribution which the Annual Number of The Oregonian regularly enjoys. Not only are thousands of extra copies read in Portland and the immediate tributary field, but additional thousands are mailed by the home people to friends and business associates in all parts of the world. On top of all this even, orders for thousands of copies are received by The Oregonian from residents of the Middle West and far East, who want to avail themselves of the opportunity the Annual Number affords these people of becoming thoroughly informed of the resources and development of the Pacific Northwestern States. Every statement made in the news columns of the Annual Number has the authority of The Oregonian itself behind it. The subject matter is always carefully prepared by The Oregonian's editorial writers, and the paper commends itself to the best attention everywhere in recognition of the intrinsic merits of its leading articles. The Annual Number of The Oregonian for 1903 will be published on the first day of the new year. The paper will be mailed to any address in the United States or Canada for 8 cents a copy, postage prepaid.

HILL AND FAHEY UP .- The case in which Jack Hill and Jack Fahey, ex-boxers, are accused of drunkenness and disorderly conduct, and assaulting an elderly man tonnuct, and assaulting an elderly man named J. R. Nuckols, was again called in the Municipal Court yesterday. Patrol Driver Johnson justified: "I was called to the Cactus saloon, as it was stated that somebody was beating Nuckols. The latter was bleeding from cuts on his head, and he said that Hill had done it. Hill had blood on his hands, and said at the time that he had had nothing to do in the matter." The defendants' lawyers argued that Municipal Judge Hogue had no juris-diction in the case, as the complainant had not been subponed to appear at the trial according to been upone to appear at the had not been subponded to appear at the trial, according to legal usage. The Judge differed from counsel, and stated that the very opposite had occurred, and that the complainant had promised to appear at the adjourned hearing, but had not done so. The case was continued until tomor-row, when the lawyers will emproper row, when the lawyers will resume their argument on legal technicalities.

AFTER STRAT DOGS .- Poundmaster Reed started out a gang of dog-catchers yester-day to round up such canines as are un-fortunate enough to be owned by persons fortunate enough to be owned by persons who do not take out licenses for them. The late long spell of rainy weather has caused such dogs to seek shelter and stay in it when found. So it has not been pos-sible to catch many, and the city is out several hundred dollars for licenses not taken out. The last lot of captured dogs, some 14, which were dispatched by assome 14. which were dispatched by as-phyxiation a few days ago, were mostly a good class of animals, such as collies. Gordon setters, and they were held several days longer than required, as it was con-sidered certain that the owners would pay the license and redeemed them, but there appears to be many new who appears to be many now who are not eager to pay dog licenses, and the outlook for the dogs of such people is gloomy, as the man with the lasso and the cagewagon is after them.

McDonald, P. Pferdner, C. Duggan. The post is in a flourishing con-dition. TO LOOK AFTER EVERETT WEATHER.

Acting Forecast Official A. B. Wollaber has received authority from Washington to establish a storm warning display sta-tion at Everett, Wash. No observer is placed at such a station, the duties of the official being to display weather flags and bulletins according to the orders of the main office in Portland. The Everett Improvement Company, whose interests are largely affected by storms and bad weather, volunteered some time ago to take charge of such a station until July I, when a paid displayman will be installed there

BOOKS ON CHRISTMAS .- A list of the best books on and about Christmas has been complied at the Portland Public Library. and the books themselves have been with-drawn from the general shelves and placed at the desk for the convenience of those who wish to take them out. The volumes embrace Christmus from every point of view, being devoted to fiction, poetry, history, biography, and, in fact, everything that ever had to do with the great holiday. Persons wishing to study up on the matter can do no better than go familiar with the play became so, but all who saw last evening's performance must to the library and look over the list.

BILL FOR COMMERCIAL MUSEUM.-Sen-ator P. J. McCumber, of North Dakota, has written the Chamber of Commerce, inclosing a copy of his bill to establish a commercial museum at Shanghai, China. The idea of the framer of the bill is to open a permanent exhibit at the Chinese have been gratified at the good judgment displayed by Mr. Royle in the liberties he has taken with the original text, elimhe has taken with the original text, elim-inating, as he has, everything that de-tracted from its artistic perfection. The three acts of the old play have been converted to four, the music feature open a permanent exhibit at the Chinese city, and it is the desire that $275,009 be appropriated for the purpose, with $400 a -which was unnecessary, and therefore jarring-has been taken out entirely. What is especially satisfying is that Jack year for the commissioner in charge as a salary. Senator McCumber wishes the chamber to take the matter up and send Padden, the loyal friend, gets the woman he loves after all, while Adrian, the muhim suggestions regarding an exhibit, and the best means to secure it. sician, wins the charming little Jennie Merryweather. The latter is lifted to va

MAY FORM NORTHWEST LIVESTOCK AS-SOCIATION.-The Chamber of Commerce is in receipt of a letter from R. B. Miller, of much more important position than in the original play. The company is balanced excellently. Mr. Royle's characterization of Jack Pad-den is perfection. Mrs. Royle, as Marthe O. R. & N. Co., which makes the suggestion that a Northwest livestock association should be formed. The letter guerita Otto, demonstrates her high artis-tic talent. The musical quality of her has been sent to M. D. Wilson, secretary of the Oregon Livestock Association, who the factor is extraordinary. It is regrettable that the play so subordinates the part of the leading lady, really giving five men more important work than hers. Emmett Shackelford, as Hans Otto, the old Ger-man. H. B. Bradher is now in attendance at the convention at Hillsboro, adding the request that the association name three delegates who will meet in the near future with delegates from other organizations to discuss plans man; H. B. Bradley, as John Padden, Sr., and Harold Hunting are all good. Mr. Shackelford's high-bred German acfor organization. VENDER'S TEAM RUNS AWAY .- The team of a vegetable vender indulged in what cent is exquisite. Miss Mabel Dixey, as "Jennie," is charming. may be called a fortunate runaway yes-terday. The horses took fright at a steam The Royles were here with "Friends" eight years ago. For the past three or four 'years the tempting salaries paid good vaudeville artists has kept them in that line, but they announce that they are back to stay with straight drama. They expect to visit Portland next Win-ter with Mr. Boole's new series with woodsaw at Second and Salmon streets, and pursued their wild career to Second and Stark, missing everything they met, and Stark, missing everything they had, without spilling even a cabbage. In try-ing to turn up Stark street, one of the horses fell and brought the performance to an end. Nobody was hurt, and no damage done. The yegetable man should ter with Mr. Royle's new comedy, "My Wife's Husband," and they will be welhave horses not afraid of sawing macomed.

READY TO LAY ASPHALT ON SEVENTH STREET.—The Trinidad Asphalt Company has been waiting impatiently for a chance to lay the asphalt pavement on Seventh street as far as the concrete foundation is completed, from Taylor to Alder streets, but the weather has delayed the work till they were almost sorry that it had been started. Yesterday the brick gutters between Taylor and Yamhill were as-phalted and completed, and Superintend-ent D. W. Taylor, of the Trinidad Asphalt Company was on hard and and and Company, was on hand, and said that if the fine weather continued, he should at once commence putting down the pave-ment, and would complete the street down to Alder, if possible. It is to be hoped that the fine weather may last till this is down or it will not the her this till this is done, as it will not take long, and the street has been closed to travel a long

WILL NOT INTERFERE WITH BUSINESS -As might be expected, business men on Morrison street, especially those between Morrison street, especially those between Third and Fifth, were pleading yesterday to have the commencement of work on the sewer to be built in that part of the street "ut off till after Christmas at least. When the matter was mentioned to City Engineer Elliott, he said there was urgent necessity for the new sewer, but the business man at Third and Mor-rison need not be alarmed as the work rison need not be alarmed, as the work would be commenced at the river, and it would be after New Year's before it would be and street. Work on the sewer would have been begun before now, but the high stage of water in the river has prevented this.

BIG TRAVELING CRANE IN PLACE .- The 16-ton traveling crane provided for the new station of the Portland General Electric Company, which house-movers have been trying to boost into place for several days, was safely landed on the huge tracks running along the sides of the sta-tion, some 17 feet above the floor. The trolleys at each end are in place, and the crane ready to be run from one end of the building to the other. A lot of heavy transformers stand in a row on the floor. waiting for the crane to move them into the positions they are to occupy, but the crane cannot be fully tested till the huge 20-ton machine it will have to handle has arrived.
