GRIZZLY BEAR TAKES HIS EYE.-The handsomely mounted grizzly bearskin in the City Museum attracts much attention from visitors, especially from Eastern people. The bear is estensibly climbing a tree about as tall as himself to catch a stuffed coon. Yesterday a young man who said he was from Rhode Island spent over an hour examining the hear in every detail. He said they had no grizzles in Rhode Island. He examined the quality of the fur; critically examined the teeth and claws, looked into the animal's ears and eyes, got upon a stool and tried to look down its throat, probably to see if it had swallowed any coons, and then ex-amined the coon from the tip of its nose to the end of its tall. This gave him an idea, evidently, as he went into the waterworks office and asked what had become of the tuil of the bear. He was referred to one of the janitors, who told him that it had been shot away when the animal was killed. He also told the stranger that there was a fine large griz-zly in the City Park, which is blind, and that it was to be killed before long, and that it was to be killed before long, and mounted for the museum, and it was thought its appearance would be consid-erably improved by glass eyes. The young man said he would go out to the park to see this bear, as he thought the beauty of the one in the museum was marred by the loss of the tall.

SHADE TREES DISAPPEARING.—The tall, stately trees about the city, planted by a past generation, are rapidly disappearing, and will soon be forgotten. An old-time citizen suggests that pictures of them should be made and the history of the most noted ones put on record in memory of those who planted them. Most of these are nearly forgotten, and it will not be long till even those who remember them will be forgotten also. So the history would soon become ancient. The worst feature about the disappearance of these trees is that present owners of property have to pay for their removal instead of those who planted them and derived pleasure from their growth and the shade they afforded. There are two large poplars at Fifth and Burnside streets, planted by Frank Goodwin some 35 years ago in front of the cottage in which he lived for many years. Now it is desirable that they should be removed. The property is owned by Dr. H. E. Jones, and it is said that he has offered to pay $75 for removing them. The men in the business of removing trees say it is worth $150 to take them out. Mr. Goodwin was cashler in Ladd & Tilton's Bank for many years. One day he stuck in the earth the two slips which produced these trees, never thinking of the cost of removing them.

OUTDOOR SPORT FOR WOMEN.-Men who go fishing and sit in a boat or loaf along the bank of some slough all day angling for the innocent trout, or other men who go out and sit in a blind all day wrapped in waterproofs, in hope of killing a wagonload of ducks, imagine themselves brave and hardy fellows. The men who shun exposure to the storm wonder at the hardshood and bravery of the others. None of them is worth mentioning when out on the wind-swept links and play golf on stormy days, as a number of the women of this city have been doing of late. With stout shoes, heavy rainproof iresses, golf capes and proper headgear, Tam o' Shanters, probably, they have been swinging all sorts of golf clubs, and knocking caddles and golf balls all over the links, expanding their lungs, strength-ening their muscles and thoroughly enjoying themselves. A man who used to play golf was reproached with effeminacy yes-terday because he plays no more. He replied that he was neither old enough nor young enough for a golf player, and ex-plained that the game was suitable only for men over 70 and girls under 20 years. He declined to explain why, but said the reasons were evident, but they do not

PRICE OF BEEF TO GO NO HIGHER.-The price of beef in this market has for some time been high enough to satisfy, or more probably to dissatisfy, every ordinary flesh-eating Christian citizen, but the cat-tiemen have been trying to raise the price of the cattle they sell the butchers. They have been paid 4½ to 4½ cents, live weight, for their beeves, but were determined to have 5 cents. This would have increased the price of roasts and steaks, but for-tunately the scheme has been defeated. The Union Meat Company had a dozen carloads of fine cattle sent here from Utah, and the Northwestern Meat Company procured five carloads from the same place. The cattlemen in Oregon and Washington have now given up the idea of getting 5 cents per pound live weight, as any quantity of cattle can be got in Utah at the prices now being paid here. A dozen carloads of cattle from Butter Creek, Umatilia County, where they have been fattened on alfalfa, passed through Portland yesterday en route to Seattle. They may bring 5 cents a pound, live weight, there, but no cattle at that price

Cows' Winter Dier.-Many dairymen have built siles of late years and fill them with ensitings or corn or clover, to feed their cows at this season, and find the plan to work well. All do not do this, however. For instance, a reporter yes-terday ran across Messrs. Reynolds and Cotton, who both have a large dairy some eight or 10 miles east of Portland, a few miles apart. Mr. Cotton uses ensilage and would hardly know how to keep his large herd of cows up to their average output without it. Mr. Reynolds, who has been running a dairy for about a quarter of a century, has never used any ensilage. He feeds has cows, of which he has over 100, on clover hay, with a little oil cake, the remainder of flaxseed, after the oil has been pressed out of it, and manages to keep his supply of milk up to the average in the Winter. This is probably all right, for if all dairymen used ensilage there would be no market for their hay, and if all used hay there would not be enough of it, so the balance is maintained and everybody is happy.

Four Indian pictures in the window of "The Little Art Shop" on Alder street, between Seventh and Park, are attracting a great deal of attention. Though the dealers have neglected the title of the pictures for the public, the pictures in themselves tell a sad and interesting story of the life of the Sloux Indian.

To TELL OF TOUR OF TRAVEL.-Mrs. P. Mann will describe her travels in Russia, Spain and Egypt at the meeting of the Woman's Club on Friday afternoon, and there will be solos by Miss Lind. The programme will commence at 3 o'clock, THE annual dinner of the Commercial Club, which was to take place January 16, will take place Saturday evening, Jan-uary 24. Members desired to attend.

DECEMBER AT THE LIBRARY .- On account of the holidays December is considered the dullest month in the year around a library, but the statement read by Miss Mary F. Isom, the librarian of the Portland Public Library, at the monthly meet-ing of the directors last evening, shows that both the attendance and circulation during the past month were excellent. The total attendance is given as 11,555, the to-tal circulation as 532, and the average daily circulation as 373. The fiction de partment had the greatest patronage, for 67 per cent of the books taken out beged to that class. There are now $197 nembers of the library, and the member ship is constantly growing. The annual meeting of the Library Association will be held on February 7, and the report of Miss Isom, covering the first year of her work here, will be read. CONCERT AT SEAMEN'S INSTITUTE -- One of the most enjoyable and largely attend-ed concerts given for some time past took ace at the Seamen's Institute last night. Every chair was occupied, and there were sailor boys standing six rows deep at the back of the hall. Madame Perrari was one of those encored, and she responded with a stirring rendition of "La Marseillaise." A German sailor boy played "Der Wacht am Rhine," and his mates and the audience generally joined in the ANDERSON BROUGHT TO PORTLAND .-Fred Anderson, alias Morrow, was re-turned to Portland this afternoon by Detective Joe Day. Anderson was arrested in Salem Monday by Chief of Police Gib-son, on suspicions of being implicated in the large the larceny of a watch and some other articles from a Portland residence. When questioned by the officers today concerning the crime, Anderson admitted his guilt.

CHARGED WITH LARCENY .- For stealing watch Fred M. Anderson was yesterday brought before Municipal Judge Hegue on the charge of larceny. He admits that he took the watch and pawned it. The case

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

"For Fuir Virginia."

That "For Fair Virginia" has caught the popular fancy of the local theater-goers is demonstrated by the large crowds that are attending the Baker Theater each night this week. George Alison, the new leading man, is more than pleasing in the role of Stephan Dunbar, and is fast making friends by his easy manner and intelligent interpretation of his lines. William Bernard never falls to convince his audience that he is fully equal to any role that it falls his lot to play. He is always painstaking and always good. Catherine Countiss has a part which calls for strong emotional work, and she sustains it well. Miss Esmond is charming as Nell Esmond; in fact, is herself this week. Space will not permit the mention of the members in the cast. It may be said that the entire company is excellent. "For Fair Virginia" will be the attraction at the Baker all this week,

"The Devil's Auction" Tomorrow. Tomorrow (Friday) and Saturday nights with a popular matinee Saturday, "The Devil's Auction" will be the attraction at the Marquam Grand Theater. Among the vaudeville and other special features engaged by Charles H. Yale for the list edition of the "Everlasting Devil's Auc-tion" are Irene La Tour and Zaza, a most novel performance, and DeWitt and Burns, comedy acrobats and equilibrists. Both these acts have been brought from Europe by Manager Yale and are strong-ly indorsed as London and Continental bits. Other features are offered in Morton and Van Allen, electric musical gro-tesques, and a new novelty entitled "The Dance to the Moon." Seats are now sell-

"Charley's Aunt." "Charley's Aunt," the funnisat of all comedies, will be presented at the Baker Theater all next week, starting with the usual Sunday matines. The only time this great comedy was ever seen in Portland was when Charles Frohman's company presented it at the Marquam Grand, over seven years ago. The lines in "Charley's humor, and it is safe to say that the audience will be kept in a continual uproar during the entire action of the play. It is one of the few comedies that demands a large royalty for its owner.

"Whose Baby Are Yout" Mr. Myron B. Rice, whose comedy success "Whose Baby Are You?" will be seen here at Cordray's for four nights, starting next Sunday matinee, has secured a cast peculiarly adapted to the presentation of legitimate farce. Mr. John F. Ward, Miss June Mathis and Miss Ida Ward and a number of others well known for artistic excellence are in the company. Mr. Rice's attraction is winning as high praise for the manner of presentation as for the acknowledged merit of the comedy itself.

Coming to Cordray's. Next week following "Whose Baby Are You?" comes another season's comedy treat—"My Friend From India," which opens a three nights engagement beginning Thursday, January 29, with a mati-nee Saturday. The play has made mil-lions laugh and will be produced by a large company of comedians.

"A Gambler's Daughter" at Cordray's Cordray's cozy theater held another large audience last night, who showed by numerous encores and cheers how well pleased they were. This well-acted play continues through the week and a special ladies' and children's matines will be

Y. M. C. A. WORK GROWS

DIRECTORS HOLD THEIR ANNUAL BUSINESS MEETING.

Association Has Over 1600 Members -Secretary Cook Urges Need of $100,000 Endowment,

Results of the year's work were com pared last night at the annual business meeting of the Board of Directors of the Young Men's Christian Association, and progress was reported all along the line, The meeting convened at 6:15 o'clock, when tea was served, General Secretary Stone presiding in the unavoidable ab-sence of President William M. Ladd, These seven directors were elected in ace of those directors whose terms of office expire at this time: A. L. Venzie, I. H. Amos, William Wadhams, Fletcher Linn, Frank Dayton, Robert Livingstone and R. F. Barnes. The complete Board of Directors will meet February 10, when they will elect president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer. The present offi-cers are: President, William M. Ladd; vice-president, J. Thorburn Ross; treasrer, John Bain; secretary, A. L. Venzie It is practically certain that these officers will be re-elected at that time. They have filled these offices with credit to them-selves and the association for the past eight years, General Secretary Cook's report showed in part: "The Portland Y. M. C. A. has done the largest amount of work of its kind in this country during the past year. We have over 1900 members. About 1000 men used our physical department during 1902, over 600 registered in the different educational classes, and 256 men and boys were enrolled in the systematic graded Bible classes. In all three of these departments the association is doing the largest work of any association west of Chicago, Our new building is so crowded for room that a number of classes met in rooms next to the roof. In the boys' department there are about 400 boys, under the charge of Roy Campbell, who is the first boys' secretary to devote his entire time to this branch of the work in this country. Our expenditures for the year amount to $24,-369 91, met by the receipts, less an over-draft on the bank account amounting to $15.55. The greatly increased work, espe-deally in the educational and religious cially in the educational and religious de partments, has caused the expenses to grow faster than the receipts, so the man-agement is compelled to report for the first time in six years an overdraft on the first of the year. This condition, considering the close economy that has been practiced, clearly emphasizes the necessity of an endowment to provide for this large and growing work. It would seem little less than a crime to have to drop any of the departments of work that have grown up in the association. The shortage on the building fund account is $112,995.26, mostly caused by subscriptions that have not yet been paid in. Our association requires $100,000 to begin its en-dowment fund,"

The 33d annual report of the association. just issued, is printed in an attractive form. On the cover views are given bearing the captions: "The Oregon River, That Produces Fish"; "Oregon Trees, That Produce Lumber," and "The Port-

HOPE TO GET HIGHER WAGES Carpenters Present New Scale to Master Builders.

The carpenters have as yet heard nothing from the Master Builders' Association concerning the new wage scale presented to the builders at their meeting Tuesday evening. The scale asked by the carpen-ters, to begin April 1, is a minimum of $3.50 per day, an advance of 50 cents over the wages previously received. The builders will say nothing officially, but it is understood that they are prepared to grant the wage asked. The Master Builders' Association represents about one-half of the contracting builders of the city, and the notice was served upon all the contractors individually. Both parties are confident as to one particular, and that is that under no circumstances will a repetition of last year's strike occur. The disastrous efects of that trouble are still fresh in the memory of the members of the building trades, while on the other hand the contractors do not wish to injure so seriously their business again.

One of the prominent contractors of the city said yesterday he did not regard the new scale of the carpenters as exorbitant, and that he expected the contractors would grant it without much opposition. Even if the Carpenters' Union does consider that a walk-out is the only means of gaining their scale, they will be opposed by all the other building trades. According to the laws governing the unions, no strike can be declared unless two-thirds of the members of the allied trades vote for a strike. In this case every building trade in the city is absolutely opposed to a strike under any circumstances, and the permission to strike would be denied the carpenters, should they wish to bring one

The new scale of wages of the carpen ters, however, has been approved by the Building Trades Council, as it is considered a necessary and legitimate request. The Carpenters' Union held a meeting last evening, but nothing was received from the contractors, either individually or from the Master Builders' Association, Six new members were received into the of incorporation of the Kopp-Bain Lumber Company were filed in the County Clerk's office today. The capital stock is $100,000, divided into 1000 shares of $100 each. The demand for logs in the Lower Coumbia River district continues strong and the price has gradually advanced from $8 per 1800 a few months ago until recently as high as $9 was paid for a choice lot. While the output of the camps last year was fully 100,000,000 feet more than during the year previous, the excellent de-mand for lumber has resulted in more than a proportionate increase in the cutting capacity of the mills and the scarcity of logs is expected to continue until after the pleasant weather opens next Spring.

The money will be paid out in checks at the same time, and the various banking institutions of the city are preparing for a rush of busitess. All the needs have been executed, and the final details of the transaction are about complete. Hundreds of families are seeking homes as a result of the transfers, and the great scarcity of houses is causing much inconvenience.
