MUSIC HATH NO CHARMS

WIFE OF ORCHESTRA LEADER DESIRES TO LEAVE HIM.

Myrtle Driscoll Says Her Husband Pawned Her Earrings to Procure Money to Gamble With.

Samuel W. Driscoll, the popular orchestra leader at Corday's Theater, was sued for a divorce by his wife, Myrtle Driscoll, in the State Circuit Court yesterday. She charges that he has been guilty of cruel and inhuman treatment, and in her complaint specifies numerous acts of this kind. The couple were married at Oregon City February 3, 1901, and have one child, a girl 7 months old. Mrs. Driscoll alleges that about one month after their marriage Driscoll commenced a systematic course of heartless ill usage, which has continued ever since. She says he has indulged in periodical sprees, and is also addicted to the gambling habit, often remaining away from home the greater part of the night, playing faro and roulette. The plaintiff states further that he spends nearly all of his money in this manner, and neglects to provide properly for her. She alleges that on January 4, 1902, after he had gambled away all of his money, he forcibly took from her a pair of diamond earrings which she was wearing, pawned them and gambled the proceeds. On August 6, 1902, because she left him, Mrs. Driscoll asserts, Driscoll came to her mother's house, broke in the door and threatened to kill her. He also beat her. She had him arrested and put under bonds to keep the peace. She also charges that several days ago he left her, declaring he would never give her another cent as long as he lived. Mrs. Driscoll says she has a vicious disposition, is jealous, selfish and revengeful, and that she is in fear of great bodily harm, if not of her life. She alleges that he earns $100 a month, and asks that he be made to defray the costs of the suit. John F. Logan appears as her attorney.

WEALTHY MINING COMPANY SUE.
Miner Says He Is Crippled for Life Through Its Negligence.

Suit for $40,000 damages for personal injuries and malpractice was filed in the State Circuit Court yesterday by Jens P. Peterson against the Bunker Hill & Sullivan Mining & Concentrating Company. The complaint sets forth two separate causes of action. The first is that on July 17, 1902, Peterson was employed in the mine, which is located near Wardner, Idaho, as a laborer and chuck-tender. He was directed to go up on a lift or elevator, in a skipway, to fix a pulley. About 150 feet above him was a platform made of loose planks. It is alleged that as Peterson was ascending one of these was knocked out of place and fell, striking Peterson on the right leg, breaking the thigh bone and otherwise seriously injuring him. He says he was previously a strong, robust man, and for this injury he demands $30,000 damages. For a second cause of suit, Peterson avers that the Bunker Hill & Sullivan Mining & Concentrating Company employs a large number of men, and has promulgated a rule under which $1 per month is deducted from the wages of each man employed. In consideration of this monthly assessment, the company entered into a contract with him and others in case of sickness to care for them, hire competent physicians and surgeons and pay hospital charges. Peterson alleges that the company employed Dr. Hugh France, of Wardner, to set his broken leg, and that Dr. France proved incompetent and failed to set the leg in apposition, but, on the contrary, set the break so that the ends of the bone lapped. As a result of this alleged malpractice, Peterson asserts that the leg is now three inches shorter than the other one. He is crippled for life, and compelled to go on crutches. He therefore asks for $20,000 additional damages. O'Day & Tarpley appear as attorneys for Peterson. The papers were served upon Albert Burch, the manager of the company in this city. The Bunker Hill & Sullivan Mining & Concentrating Company operates one of the largest lead and silver mines in the world. There are many miles of railroad track underground, running around the mountain, and over 500 men are at work in the mine.

TOOK TRADE WITH HIM.
Laundry Company Sues Driver Who Left Its Employer.

Judge George is to decide if the driver of a laundry wagon can leave his employer and take the business of the route to another laundry. The case in point is that of the Troy Laundry Company against W. F. Williams. The company had a contract with Williams that for a period of 60 days after he should sever his connection with the company, he should not solicit the persons on the route he was covering to patronize an opposition concern. It is alleged by the Troy Laundry Company that Williams left after giving 15 days' notice, when he had agreed to give 30 days' notice, and also that he influenced the customers he had been calling upon, to patronize the Oregon Laundry, notwithstanding the existence of a written contract with the former company to the contrary. The case was argued yesterday by Attorney W. T. Muir. The manager of the Troy Laundry Company testified to the facts in the case. Williams made no defense. He previously won an injunction suit which was brought against him. The present action is for nominal damages in the sum of $50, but what the company particularly desires is a decision on the contract for future guidance. If the contract is legal, others of a like nature will hold. It is conceded that a driver may quit and go to work for another company at once and solicit orders, provided he does not do so on the route he had just been covering. In other words, he must not take advantage of his acquaintance in a business way with people to take the patronage from one concern to another.

NO HUMOR IN THIS.
Amateur Editor Sues for Damages Because He Was Thrashed.

Dr. Paul J. A. Semler yesterday filed suit against August Eschle in the State Circuit Court for $2500 damages on account of a beating he received at the hands of the defendant on January 21, He alleges in his complaint that by reason of the injuries inflicted upon him, he has been unable for some time to attend to his business and was thereby damaged to the extent of $100. He also asks for $2500 damages, because of the bodily pain, mental anguish and humiliation which he suffered.

GOOD NAME INJURED.
Defendant, Acquitted of Larceny Charge, Now Wants Recompense.

Leslie G. Merrill, by his guardian, Charles Merrill, has sued Fred Metzger of Gresham, in the State Circuit Court for $5000 damages for false arrest and imprisonment. Merrill was arrested on December 13, 1902, on a warrant issued by Justice of the Peace William Reid, charging him with larceny. The complaint was made by Metzger. On December 20, Merrill had a preliminary hearing and was discharged from custody. He alleges in his complaint that his arrest was without cause, and that his good name was injured. Metzger is a butcher, and while he was absent from his place of business, Merrill called to collect some money. Metzger's daughter went over to the house to get it. Afterwards a considerable sum of money was stolen from Metzger's house, and Merrill was suspected of having taken it.

Wants Roadway Closed.
Testimony was heard by Judge Frazer in the case of Mrs. Alice Thomasina against Mrs. M. M. Taylor to enjoin the defendant from using a strip of land 39 feet wide as a public roadway. Mrs. Taylor said the right to use the land as a road was given to her by the former owner, and Mrs. Thomasina testified that subsequent transfers of property this grant was excluded from the deeds. Considerable evidence was introduced concerning transfers, and the ownership of the strip.

Court Notes.
Judge Sears will announce decisions today in the following cases:
S. H. Davis vs. I. D. Boyer et al. On merits.
Marjorie Coles vs. James W. Coles. On merits.
Mollie Wolf vs. City & Suburban Railway Company. Motion for a new trial. Articles of incorporation of the Plateau Farm Company were filed in the County Clerk's office yesterday by William B. Brady, J. C. Planders and S. B. Linticum, capital stock, $25,000. The objects announced are to buy, lease and operate agricultural, timber and other lands.

Nora M. Grant has commenced suit against Eben B. Grant for a dissolution of the matrimonial bonds, because of cruel treatment. She alleges in her complaint that they were married in Minnesota in July, 1898; that he is insanely jealous and has abused her shamefully. Mrs. Grant asked to be restored to her maiden name, Crandall.

NEW YORK'S GREAT DAY
Will Celebrate What Father Knickerbocker Did Years Ago.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—The committee of Aldermen in charge of the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the conferring of municipal powers on the original site of New York, and the 100th anniversary of the building of the City Hall, has made preliminary plans for the ceremonies in May. There will be a display of historical pictures and relics by stereopticons at night simultaneously in public places, a similar display in all of the public schools, with a lecturer in attendance to explain the views, and an elaborate celebration in the Aldermen's Chamber, which will be artistically decorated, as will also the entire outside and inside of the City Hall. The Mayor, the Aldermen and all the other city officials will be present, as well as the prominent descendants of the old Knickerbocker families identified with the city affairs at the time of its incorporation. A large collection of pictures and historic relics will be placed on view in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, these to be lent by historic societies and other owners. Three doses of Hood's Sarsaparilla daily after meals for awhile will build you up.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

This preparation is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough and influenza and has become famous for its cures of these diseases over a large part of the civilized world.

It can always be depended upon and is pleasant to take. It not only cures colds and influenza, (grip) but counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia.

It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given to a baby as confidently as to an adult.
